To the President, Directors and Shareholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company:

GENTLEMEN,—In presenting this report for the year 1890 of the work done and improvements made during the year, and the advantages gained thereby, it is gratifying to see the town has recognized the efforts of the Directors in laying the sidewalk on Crescent street to the cemetery gate, between the two rows of trees, which in the course of a few years will be the most delightful avenue to be found. In the spring about 100 trees and shrubs were planted, and the dead parts of cedar hedge at entrance were replanted, all of which are in a thriving condition. Further up the entrance, where the cedar hedge is planted in a semi-circle, the large blank space of gravel has been removed, and good soil substituted and sodded over, and flower beds made and planted, making a pleasing entrance. This work and sodding and repairing terraces required 3500 superficial feet of sod.

In section N, east of the single grave plot, about ½ acre was levelled down, the swamps, stones and rubbish removed and seeded with lawn grass seed, and ½ of an acre in back part of cemetery was levelled and sown with lawn grass seed, which will make good sod for future use.

On range avenue, running east from the chapel, the gully in the centre of road was filled in with broken stone and gravelled, the road cut to regular width and watertabled. Also the soil on all the roads in cemetery has been cut and made even and regular. Maple avenue and part of Chapel avenue and the road at entrance have been gravelled with fine gravel which required forty-three square yards.

Ravine avenue running north from Range avenue has been coarse gravelled, which took thirty-4-8 square yards.

In section L on the hillside about 1½ acres which has been a rough spot as near the centre of the cemetery, has received good attention the past year. The stumps and stones have been removed, the under brush and some trees which would come on the paths grubbed out and ploughed twice, which leaves it in good condition for grading next season. Also the river bank at the east side of the cemetery has been cleared of the old stumps and brush, the trees trimmed up, and when a little grading is done will give the cemetery a respectable appearance to persons passing up and down the river.

Along the water edge there has been some very important improvements made, four flights of strong cedar steps having been set at convenient points for the convenience of people coming to the cemetery in boats, and one pier for landing boats. These steps have been found very serviceable.

There was planted out by the Cemetery Company in the flower beds, in lawns and along walks, 225 geraniums, 250 coleuns, 100 achyranthus, 400 alternanthera, 100 echeveria, 60 dusty miller, 250 golden feathers, 40 perilla, 20 dahlias, 15 ferns, 5 begonia rex, 40 coxcombs, 350 phlox, and about 300 other annuals.

I would recommend that a larger safe be procured or a vault built, as the safe at present in use is unfit for the protection of our valuable books and other property belonging to the cemetery.

And also that a drain be made and laid with tile along Ravine avenue, running north from Range avenue, and some cross drains to intersect said drain on Ravine avenue, as this part of the cemetery is in need of draining.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. H. FOORD,
Superintendent.

There was also a large attendance of ratepayers, the seating capacity of the Chamber being taxed to its utmost.

After routine, the Clerk read the minutes of last meeting which were adopted.

Wright and Wm. Deacon, collector of taxes; John Craig, sanitary inspector, overseer of streets and bridges and constable, salary $225. These applications were dealt with later.

W. H. Robertson offered to supply the council with stationery for the year for $50.—Received.

A communication was received from Jeremiah Coughlin in reference to a dog tax, which was left over for another meeting.

OFFICERS APPOINTED.

Messrs. A. D. Russell and Thos. Clithero were appointed auditors for the year 1891, at a salary of $8 each.

The council appointed Messrs. J. Stephenson and F. Dover, assessors for 1891, at a salary of $40.

Mr. J. T. Wright was appointed tax collector at a salary of $60.

There was some excitement over the appointment of street inspector. Councillor Throope moved that Mr. Agnew be reappointed. Councillor Craig moved in amendment that Mr. John Craig receive the appointment of street inspector, sanitary inspector and constable. Councillor Throop then moved in amendment to the amendment, that Mr Agnew be appointed to these positions. Finally the motion appointing Mr. Craig at a salary of $225 was carried.

OTHER BUSINESS.

The Bell Telephone Company sent in a map of the village, marking the streets in red ink on which they wished to place their wires. This was laid over till another meeting.

Mr. Pollock appeared before the council in reference to a sand pit near his residence on Stewart st., north, which was flooded with water every spring to the depth of 7 or 8 feet, and the sidewalk bordering on it had no railing on the side, to protect pedestrians from falling into the water, and on motion of Mr. Calcutt, seconded by Mr. Throop, a railing was ordered to be built on said sidewalk.

Mr. Craig moved, seconded by Mr. Calcutt, that the whole council be a Street and Bridge Committee, with Mr. Wand chairman.—Carried.

A Charity Committee was also formed, comprising the whole council.

It was moved by Mr. Craig, seconded by Mr. Throop, that the rent of the new town hall be fixed at $7 for one night, and for two consecutive nights or more, $6 each night.

Two recommendations were received from parties unable to pay their taxes, and a rebate was made.

The council ordered that a step be placed at the door of the new town hall, and that the sidewalk on Concession street, in rear of St. Joseph's Hospital, be made passable.

Personal.

Mrs. W. H. Brownscombe, of Port Hope, is making a two weeks' visit among friends in Peterborough.

Mayor Stevenson is in Toronto to-day on business connected with the Edison suitage.

Mr. F. H. Gemmell, of the Guelph Dye Works, is spending a few days in town.

The Listowel Banner says: The Rev. I. Campbell, Ph.B., lectured at Cromarty on the evening of the 12th inst. His subject was "The Sins of the Few." The evening was very stormy, and on that account the audience was not as large as it would have been had it been a fine night, but as it was a large number were present. The Rev. gentleman lectured for an hour and a quarter to the entire satisfaction of the audience. Mr. Campbell, undoubtedly, is an able man, both on the platform and in the pulpit, and is bound to succeed. If ever he comes back to Cromarty he will be sure of a full house.

Students Beware.

It cannot be too deeply impressed on the mind, that application is the price to be paid for mental acquisitions, and that it is as absurd to expect them without it as to hope for a harvest where we have not sown the seed.

There are many, however, who, by a too constant application to mental knowledge are shortening life and losing all its joys. There are hundreds of law, medical divinity and arts students, who, through ignorance or carelessness, are daily allowing disease or troublesome maladies to gain a mastery over them physically, while they are constantly applying themselves to an acquisition of a thorough education in the professions. Many of these hardworking students, before they graduate, become almost physical wrecks from an overworked brain, unstrung nerves, insomnia, dyspepsia or indigestion. All these troubles can be easily cured, if, when the first symptoms show themselves, Paine's Celery Compound be used. This Compound is the most perfect brain and nerve food ever given to suffering humanity, and is a strengthener and restorer of the entire system, giving a strength, a vitality and a vim that is absolutely necessary for the student who wishes to excel in mental studies. A well known educationalist has said:—"Let us keep the mental and nervous system of the ordinary student in a healthy condition, and no proper course of studies will be too arduous for him."

CONDUCTORS QUIT WORK.

THE CHICAGO & ERIE RAILWAY TIED UP.

Six Hundred Despatchers and Conductors Go Out in a Body in Consequence of the Alleged Wrongful Dismissal of Despatcher Scott.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—The Chicago & Erie Railway has a serious strike on its hands. The strikers are the conductors and dispatchers. The strike was planned to extend all along the road from Chicago to Salamanca, N.Y. To-day a committee of four representing the Order of Railway Conductors arrived from Huntington, Ind., and went into conference here with the company's officials. The results were unsatisfactory to the committee and they departed, leaving the following ultimatum addressed to General Manager Tucker:

Believing that bad faith had been shown on the part of the company in dismissing C.C. Scott at the expiration of the term for which he was suspended unless he is reinstated before that time all members of the O. R. C. and despatchers in the employ of this company will retire from work at 10 p.m. Jan. 20.

Mr. Scott was a despatcher at Huntington and about a month ago it is alleged gave orders which if carried out would have resulted in a collision. Scott was suspended.

The general manager wrote to the O.R.C.: "Mr. Scott's reinstatement at the end of that time would probably have followed as a matter of course, but the very radical stand taken by yourself and conductors and engineers wherein you demanded that Mr. Scott be reinstated unconditionally and threatened serious troubles if the demand was refused, has led to a more careful consideration of the facts." The letter says that in view of the fact that Scott has been in suspense he is allowed full pay up to date of dismissal.

Scott is a member of the executive committee of the Order of Railway Conductors. The dispatchers at Huntington and elsewhere promptly quit work. It is understood the road is completely tied up with the exception of passenger and freight trains in transit. General Manager Tucker said the engineers, firemen and brakemen refused to take part in the strike.

This is the first strike of any size to occur on the Chicago & Erie and upon that road alone form Marion, Ohio, to Chicago will involve 6,000 men. The employes of the New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and the New York, Lake Erie & Western as far east as Salamanca endorse the movement and will aid the men here.

KING KALAKAWA DEAD.

The Sable Monarch of Hawaii Died at San Francisco Yesterday.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20—King Kalakaua died at 2½ this afternoon.

There has been no hope of the King's recovery since Sunday, though his alarming condition was not generally known until last evening, when attending physicians announced his malady was Bright's disease of the kidneys and uræmia. Kalakaua's visit to this country was made on account of his failing health. He commenced to gain strength soon after his arrival here, but the improvement was only temporary and soon after his return from his trip to Southern California last week his condition became worse. During the last few days the King was unconscious nearly all the time and his life was prolonged only by the use of stimulants. The King's remains will be embalmed at once. It is probable funeral services will be held in Trinity Church here Thursday and the remains will leave for Honolulu on the United States flagship Charleston before the close of the week and it is probable the first intelligence of the King's death will be received by the Hawaiian people when the body arrives at Honolulu. The flags on all public buildings here were placed at half-mast above the Palace Hotel.

David Kalakaua was the seventh king of the Hawaiian Islands. He was born in Honolulu Nov. 16, 1836, and was consequently 55 years of age. He was the son of Ki Kapaakea and Keohokalole and is descended on his mother's side from Keawe, an ancient king of the Island of Hawaii. He received an English education with about 15 other hereditary chiefs in the royal school at Honolulu. On the death of Lunalilo in February, 1874, without proclaiming a successor, both Kalakaua and the Queen-dowager Emma, relict of Kamehawa IV., announced themselves as candidates for the throne, and the Legislature elected Kalakaua, and he was installed as King the same day.

His successor will be his sister, Princess Lilinokalani, who has been acting as queen regent during Kalakaua's absence from the islands.

CAITHNESS' EARL DEAD.

The Reaper Has Been Busy of Late in the British Peerage.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Earl of Caithness is dead.

George Philip Alexander Sinclair, 15th Earl of Caithness, was born in 1823, and succeeded to the title and estates in 1881. He sat in the House of Lords as Baron Barrogill. He was an extensive landowner in the county from which he took his title. His seats were Barrogill Castle and Tister House, near Thurso in Caithnessshire.

The death of the Earl of Caithness is the fourth within ten days in the ranks of the British peerage, the Duke of Bedford, the Duke of Somerset and the Earl of Devon.

A Babe With Horns.

CHATHAM, Minn., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Sarah A. Martin, a respectable lady of Boone Bridge, Waught county, has given birth to the most remarkable monstrosity ever heard of in this part of Minnesota. The people who have visited the house call it the devil. The mother, when she saw it, went into hysterics, and has been sent to the asylum at St. Peter in a hopeless state of lunacy. The devil was born four weeks ago, and has developed so rapidly that it weighs 22 pounds. Its display of intelligence is something wonderful, and exceeds that of ordinary children from 13 to 18 months old. Its body is covered thickly with auburn hair about two inches long. It has two horns, a tail like that of a cat, and feet which are partly like those of a man and partly like those of a dog.

Skated Into An Air Hole.

WINDSOR, Jan. 20.—The 9-year-old son of Mr. George Clarke of Amherstburg was drowned on Sunday afternoon while skating on the river a mile from Amherstburg. He skated into an air hole. There were a number of boys on the ice, but they failed to rescue him. The body has not yet been found.

An Incorrect Report.

HAMILTON, Jan. 20.—There is no truth in the despatch from London to the effect that Mr. Charles Stuff, superintendent of the Western division, Grand Trunk Railway, will be transferred to London, and STRIKING RAILWAY MEN ASSAULT AN ENGINEER.

Extraordinary Accident in France—Confessing a Crime Committed in Paris More Than a Decade Since—The Japanese Parliament Buildings in Tokyo Destroyed by Fire.

GLASGOW, Jan. 19.—The fifth week of the strike along the lines of the Scotch railroads opens with but poor prospects of an early settlement of the matters in dispute. Both the railroad companies and the strikers seem resolved to fight to the last. All efforts to bring about some compromise arrangement seem to have failed. A few of the Western men who had been prevailed upon to return to work have, it is announced today, listened to the persuasions of the strikers' pickets and have once more joined the ranks of the strikers. Otherwise, according to the railroad officials, matters, so far as they are concerned, are improving.

It is stated this morning that the employes of the Great Western Railroad are threatening to go out on strike. These men are dissatisfied with their hours of work and are asking to have them shortened or that extra pay be granted for the extra work which they claim they have to do.

The engineer of the train known as the "Flying Scotsman" was to-day struck by a stone thrown by a supposed striker from a bridge at Calder. The engineer was severely injured, his collar bone being broken. The indications at present are that more of the South western Railroad Company's employes in this city will leave their work and join the ranks of the strikers.

To Seize "The Roof of the World."

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 20.—The Novoe Vremya urges Russia to seize the Pamir Plateau, the extensive table land of Central Asia, called by the natives the "Roof of the World," in order to prevent the British from occupying it.

TOKYO, Japan, Jan. 20.—This city of conflagrations has experienced another destructive fire, the House of Parliament, a spacious wooden building, which was only opened by the Mikado in November last, having been totally destroyed to-day.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT.

Four Women Choked to Death in France By Beet-root Pulp.

LILLE, Jan. 20.—A distressing and extraordinary accident took place this afternoon at Wambrechies, a small town near this place. It appears that a distribution of bread was being made to the poor on the occasion of the funeral of a charitable and much-respected lady. The intending recipients of this charity were awaiting their turns at the door of the Bureau de Blenfaisance, when a large, heavy wagon, filled with beet-root pulp, which was passing, by some inexplicable misadventure was overturned, the contents fairly overwhelming and smothering a number of the people collected at the spot. Bystanders hastened to render what aid they could, but, in spite of all their efforts, four women, choked by the beetroot pulp, expired before they could be extricated from the semi-liquid mass. Seven or 8 other persons were seriously injured. A heartrending scene ensued. Among the rescuers was the husband of one of the women who perished, and his grief on recognizing the dead body of his wife rendered him delirious. It was with the utmost difficulty that his friends prevented his committing suicide. The accident has produced the greatest consternation in the neighborhood, the victims being the mothers of large families.

ALL HAIL! THE GUINEA PIG.

Thousands of the Little Brazilian Rodents Sacrificed to Science.

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—Further details have been learned of Prof. Koch's experiments with his lymph. They show that many thousands of guinea pigs which had been experimented on have been cremated after the work of vivisection had been completed. The bodies of the animals are burned in a huge furnace situated in the Hygienic Institute. The researches which are being carried on with the new remedy are attended with considerable danger. It is reported five scientists died after testing the glander bacillus, and that three medical men working on cholera microbe subsequently suffered from a violent attack of the disease. It is explained that Professor Koch and his assistants owe their immunity from sickness to the increasing precautions they take while pursuing their experiments.

Saved by the Priests.

MULLINGAR, Jan. 20.—Timothy Healy, M.P., delivered a lecture here last evening and a riotous scene was the result. A strong force of sympathizers with Parnell gathered outside the hall and threats of violence towards Healy were freely uttered. When the latter emerged from the hall he was greeted with a storm of hoots and yells and a rush was made by the Parnellites in his direction. A number of priests who had been at the meeting interposed between Healy and the mob and thus enabled Healy to escape from rough handling.

Peace! Peace!

VIENNA, Jan. 20.—The Neue Freis Presse says it cannot over-estimate the importance of the visit to St. Petersburg of Prince Ferdinand, ruler of Bulgaria. The latter's journey, according to the Neue Frais Presse, is made in connection with the preservation of peace, and it is a gratifying political symptom of the friendly relations existing between St. Petersburg and Vienna. According to the Neue Freie Presse the prince's visit will show that the Czar does not think of listening to Panslavist influences while Austria is disposed to live peaceably with Russia.

"Drowned" by an Earthquake.

GENEVA, Jan. 20.—Slight shocks of earthquake were felt here to-day. Three persons were drowned soon after while skating on the harbor, and it is believed the earthquake so disturbed the ice as to cause their being drowned.

Socialists Favor Revolution.

SARAGOSSA, Jan. 20. — At a large Socialist mass meeting here to-day the orators declared, amid considerable applause, that it was utterly impossible for Socialists to realize their ideal form of government except by revolution.

Bulgarian Nihilists.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 20.—Russia has protested through its Geritsky against the harboring and employment of Nihilists by the Bulgarian Government.

Three of a Kind—All Girls.

WINDSOR, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Martine Nicholas of Petite Cote Sunday night gave birth to three girls. The mother will make application for the Queen's bounty of $5 for each child.

DEATH DUE TO SUICIDE.

THE DUKE OF BEDFORD DIED BY HIS OWN HAND.

While Temporarily Insane the Richest Man in England Took His Own Life—Both Sides of the Irish Party Will Protect Evicted Tenants.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—It transpires that the late Duke of Bedford shot himself during a temporary fit of insanity and while suffering from extreme pain and weakness. A verdict in accordance with the facts has been rendered.

TOSSED BY A COW.

Forty-nine Children Injured—24 Pupils Hurt by a Roof Collapsing.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—While a large number of children were playing in a school at Nantwich yesterday an infuriated cow charged upon them, tossing some in the air and trampling others under its hoofs. Forty-nine children received more or less serious injuries.

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—The roof of a school for boys at San Demetrio gave way beneath its burdens of snow and ice and the whole mass went crashing into the schoolroom below. Twenty-two pupils were injured.

A Chemist of Venezuela Who Killed a Man in Paris Ten Years Ago.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—The police of this city have just received advices from police authorities in Venezuela saying that a chemist in Caraccas, known by the name of Welser, has confessed to committing murder in Paris ten years ago. Welser says that he then murdered a master chemist and his maidservant in a house in the Place Beauveau. An assistant of the murdered chemist named Waller disappeared at the time of the murders, and the police failed to track him.

At the same time it was ascertained that the sum of 40,000 francs, the property of the murdered chemist, was missing. The police evidently believe that Welser is identical with Waller and that Waller now hopes to avail himself of the ten years' prescription provision in French criminal law.

The Salvation Army in Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 20.—The Salvation Army in Russia is doomed. The Imperial Government views with extreme disfavor the continued propagation of General Booth's ideas which have of late taken deep root in various parts of Russia, principally in Finland, and also in St. Petersburg itself. It is only a few days since a painful sensation was caused in aristocratic circles here by the action of the Princess Sergius Gagarine, who it will be remembered wished to have the religious service at the funeral of her late husband performed in accordance with Salvation Army notions, and ordered the minister of the Greek orthodox church out of the house. In consequence of this and other cases which have been brought to the notice of the authorities, they have determined to take energetic measures to check the further extension of Salvationism.

A British Plenipotentiary.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—It is announced that Lord Salisbury has intrusted the British Minister to Portugal, Sir George Glynn Petrie, K.C.M.G., with power to arrange for the settlement of all matters in dispute between Portugal and England. Sir George Glynn Petrie is now in Lisbon, and it is understood that everything in connection with the African dispute, so far as Great Britain is concerned, is now in the hands of the gentleman mentioned.

In Spite of "General Winter."

PARIS Jan 20.—Lieut. Winter has accomplished his self-imposed task of walking from St. Petersburg to Paris, and is now the lion of the hour here. Fired with ambition to emulate the achievement of the Russian Lieutenant, two French lieutenants of cavalry have decided to accompany Lieut. Winter back to St. Petersburg. The return journey, however, will be accomplished on horseback.

General Booth's Practical Charity.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—General Booth, the leader of the Salvation Army, has asked the Lord Mayor of London to allow destitute persons to sleep in the various municipal buildings during the present severe weather. The General says he will undertake to feed everybody thus sheltered and to see that good order is preserved.

Another Home Rule Bill.

DUBLIN, Jan. 20.—Mr. Parnell returned to this city last evening. Mr. Parnell, in a letter to The Freeman's Journal, urges the attendance of the Irish Parliamentary party at the re-opening of Parliament. He says it is especially important that there be a full attendance of the Irish members when the Land Purchase Bill reaches the committee stage.

It is officially stated that 900 tenants in Kilkenny, who adopted the plan of campaign, have paid their rents since the split in the Irish party, and 30 per cent. of the tenants are now anxious to come to terms with the landlords.

Mr. Thomas Sexton urges that a full meeting of the National League should be convened in order that a decisive vote should be taken.

The Bishop of Belfast has written a letter for publication in which he condemns Parnell and praises Thomas Sexton, member for West Belfast. The Bishop also asks the National League members if they desire to see Tory members of Parliament representing Belfast.

Evicted Tenants to be Protected.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—Mr. John Dillon, Mr. T. P. Gill and Mr. and Mrs. William O'Brien will leave for Boulogne-sur-Mer to-morrow. "I am happy to state," said Mr. Dillon, "that both sides, including Mr. Parnell, have agreed to an arrangement whereby persons evicted from their homes will be protected, quite apart from the dispute in regard to the leadership."

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Daily Chronicle (Liberal) says it believes Parnell has received informal assurances from Mr. Gladstone of his (Gladstone's) intention regarding another Home Rule Bill.

Demonstration to Parnell.

WATERFORD, Jan. 20.—At a meeting here to-day of delegates from the Trades and Labor Federation it was decided by 291 to 28 to attend en masse a public demonstration which is being organized in support of Parnell.

Even to Becoming a Fenian.

DUBLIN, Jan. 20.—The Express says that judging from Parnell's bluster and defiance he intends to continue leader of the Irish party even if he has to become a Fenian. The Express is also of opinion that Parnell has dropped constitutional agitation and has become a Separatist.

THE TALE OF A CHECK.

That Was Sent to Father Ignatius, but Was Promptly Returned.

NEW YORK, Jan 19.—Episcopal churches here have been discussing a serious misunderstanding which seems to have arisen between Father Ignatius and the Rev. Dr. Rainsford, rector of St. George's Church, and formerly curate of St. James' Cathedral, Toronto. It appears Dr. Rainsford wrote to Father Ignatius informing him that although it would be out of order at St. George's to give a collection towards the endowment of Llantholy Abbey, he would be happy to give a personal donation if Father Ignatius would preach in his church. This the latter did and $25 was subsequently forwarded to him by Dr. Rainsford. Father Ignatius was so shocked at the smallness of the "donation" that he returned the check "with his Christian love." Dr. Rainsford retorts by saying that Father Ignatius had offered to preach for nothing "for the Master's sake."

A Spreading Rail Causes Considerable Excitement Among Passengers.

OTTAWA, Jan. 20.—The passengers on board the Toronto train coming east on the Canadian Pacific Railway and due here at 6 o'clock this morning were thrown into a state of great excitement at 5¼ this morning through the train jumping the track a few miles west of Mountain Grove, near Sharbot Lake. The jump was caused through a spreading rail. The train consisted of the engine and six cars, namely, the express, baggage, second class, first-class, the Montreal sleeper and the Ottawa sleeper. All but the engine and express left the track and were pulled some 300 yards on the ties before the train was brought to a standstill. As none of the cars were capsized, no injury outside of a shaking up was sustained by the passengers. The train was detained there till 8 o'clock when a special arrived from Smith's Falls with a couple of cars and they were transhipped and arrived here at 11¼ this morning. Among those on board were Sir Richard Cartwright and about a dozen Normal School students.

CAUGHT IN A SHAFT.

Fatal Accident to a Farmer's Daughter—Her Leg Crushed to a Jelly.

WALKERTON, Jan. 20.—Miss Rivers, daughter of Richard Rivers, a farmer of this neighborhood, was stepping over the shaft of a horse-power which was working in the yard, when her skirth caught in the shaft and she was instantly wound under it and one of her legs crushed to a jelly. The limb was amputated above the knee, and the young lady is in a very low condition.

SUICIDE IN A CABIN.

A Son of Admiral Turner of the U.S. Navy Shoots Himself.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Jan. 20.—Lieut. E. P. Turner, son of Admiral Turner of the U.S. Navy, shot himself four days out of Vancouver on the Abyssinia from Caroline Islands, on her way to San Francisco. He left a statement giving an account of the killing of his cousin in a duel. He was observed to be in the habit of taking drugs. Turner fired two shots while in the cabin and expired immediately. The body will be embalmed and forwarded to Jersey City.

The Discriminatory Duty Imposed on Tea Imported From the United States.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The House Ways and Means Committee ordered a favorable report to-day on a bill to impose a discriminatory duty of 10 per cent. on all teas imported from countries which discriminate against the United States. The object of this bill is to meet a discriminatory duty of 10 per cent. which Canada, in order to benefit Canadian railroad and steamship lines, imposes on tea imported from the United States. A provision to impose a duty of 10 per cent. on teas imported from west of the Cape of Good Hope was stricken from the bill.

The committee gave a hearing to H. H. Finley, representing the Buffalo Brewers' Association, and who urged favorable action on a petition against the use of substitutes for barley malt and hops in the manufacture of beer. He declared beer was now very generally adulterated with articles detrimental to health, and asked the passage of a law to compel the branding of beer and the labeling of it with a formula used in its manufacture.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Secretary Blaine says that the recent war excitement in England in connection with the Behring Sea matter was caused by a Philadelphia despatch to The London Times, stating that the American naval force on the Pacific was to be increased to 23 ships with 113 guns and 3000 men. The Navy Department has informed Mr. Blaine that the naval force on the Pacific is smaller than at any time for the past 10 years, consisting of only five ships with 31 guns and 856 men. Mr. Blaine thinks the correspondent of The Times owes an explanation to the American people. It is stated at the Navy Department that any one making enquiry there could have received definite and accurate information on the subject and there was no excuse for sending erroneous statements to Europe.

Shook His Fist at the Speaker.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The House to-day was the scene of wild confusion, precipitated by the refusal of the Speaker to allow debate on the question of the approval of The Journal. Mr. Mills (Texas), in a very excited manner, ran down the aisle shaking his fist at the Speaker and denounced him as practising a fraud upon the House. But the Speaker was immovable and called upon those opposed to approving The Journal to rise, and counting "one, two, three" declared the motion to approve The Journal carried by a vote of 97 to 3. Further demonstrations were made by Mr. Mills and by other members on both sides of the House, and a personal collision between the opposing sides seemed imminent.

Fires at Clinton and Owen Sound.

CLINTON, Jan. 20.—At about 3½ o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the tannery of Hugh Moore, and although the steam engine was quickly on the scene little could be done other than saving adjacent property from destruction. The tannery being frame was completely destroyed. Some of the stock was saved, but about $800 worth which was to have been shipped today was destroyed. The buildings and plant valued at between $5000 and $6000 are a total loss, there being no insurance. How the fire originated is not known.

OWEN SOUND, Jan. 20.—Early this morning fire broke out in the Superior block in Division-street. The losers: Charles Richardson, drygoods and gentlemen's furnishings, loss about $6000. Insured in the Quebec Assurance for $1000, in the Phœnix for $1000, and in the Eastern Insurance Company for $2500. Miss Piante, dressmaker, loss about $300; no insurance. On the building, which is owned by Mrs. Griffith, and which was badly gutted, the loss is about $4000; insured in Lancashire Insurance Company for $2000, and in the British America for $2000. The fire is generally believed to have been the work of an incendiary.

Carelessness Caused This One.

LONGUEUIL, Jan. 20.—This afternoon about 5 o'clock the residence of Mr. Duquette, grocer, was burned to the ground. The fire was started by Mr. Duquette's little boy dropping a lamp on the floor. In trying to extinguish the lamp Mrs. Duquette was severely burned about the face and hands. Very little was saved from the building, it being only a short time after the fire started before the house was in ashes.

Occasioned $13,000 Damage.

MONTREAL, Jan. 20.—A fire broke out tonight in the premises 305 St. James-street, occupied by J. Tigh & Co., auctioneers, Standard Card Company, H. Kellert, clothier; A. Jacobs, woolens; and J. W. Nelles. The damage will amount to $15,000, covered by insurance.

Died at Her Devotions.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—The body of Ann Kiernan was found in her apartments in the rear of No. 784 Dean-street, Brooklyn, last evening by a policeman of the Bergen-street Station. The body was found on a sofa and the hands of the dead woman clasped her prayer beads. She was evidently stricken while engaged in her devotions.

Scalded to Death.

DRESDEN, Jan. 18.—Mr. J. W. Grece received the sad news of the death of his son-in-law, John Murdock, which took place at Seymore, Conn. He was scalded to death in a silk plush factory. The body was taken to Hespeler, Ont.

The Business Tax.

Copy of the By-Law Proposed to be Adopted in Peterborough.

Following is a copy of Mr. Davidson's Business Tax by-law, introduced at the council meeting Monday night:

Whereas, by the Act of the Legislature of the Province of Ontario, passed in the fifty-third year of Her Majesty's reign, chapter 55, it is provided that the council of any municipality may pass a by-law substituting in respect of any class or class or classes of mercantile business a Business Tax for the taxes on so much of the personal property of the ratepayers as belongs to the business, and it is expedient to pass such a by-law in and for the Town of Peterborough.

The Corporation of the Town of Peterborough by the Council thereof therefore enacts as follows:

1. In the case of any person or persons carrying on any class of mercantile business in the Town of Peterborough for the sale of goods, wares or merchandize, except as hereinafter mentioned, a business tax shall be levied in respect of such business and shall be substituted for the taxes on so much of the personal property of the ratepayer as belongs to the business in accordance with the said recited Act.

2. Such business tax shall be levied at the rate of seven and a half per cent of the annual value of the premises in which the business is carried on as ascertained and fixed in accordance with the said Act, that is to say, that the annual value of the premises in which the business is carried on shall be taken to be an amount representing seven per cent. on the assessed real value of the said premises.

3. The provisions herestofore contained shall not apply to any business which is on the whole or in the main part a wholesale manufacturing business or to the business of blacksmiths, carriage makers and photographers.

Evening Institute Meetings.

Farmers and Females at the Evening Gatherings.

In the East Riding especially, the evening sessions at Keene and Norwood were, if not the most profitable, at least the best attended and most enthusiastic. The judicious mixture of learning and relaxation, instruction and entertainment, the programmes presented, made them most delightful.

THE NORWOOD EVENING SESSION.

The evening session was very largely attended, the ladies forming a large share of the audience, and the programme was of a more literary character, due regard being had to the aspirations with an agricultural tendency.

Mr. Keating, of Warkworth, gave a recitation, "The Tiller of the Soil," and Mr. Bigsard, M.PP., warmly commended the Farmers' Institutes. Miss Paterson and Miss Richardson and Messrs. Herring and Chandler rendered a quartette as well they were recalled, Mr. Callender responding with a well sung solo.

Mr. P. C. Dingey gave an address on farming, full of his characteristic practical good sense.

Mr. Gidlogly, of Hastings, sang in excellent style a song, "The Ivy Green."

Mr. Fraser spoke sensibly and instructively on "The Mistakes of Farmers," pointing out the means to avoid them, and drawing in his pleasant manner on the rich resources of knowledge in farm matters his intelligently experience had brought.

Miss Cooper, of Hastings, gave a recitation in a most effective and artistic manner. This young lady shows considerable elocutionary talent as well as ability.

Dr. Harrison's patriotic "Our Country" was an effort worthy of the subject. He paid a high tribute to the extent, resources, government and institutions of Canada, and presented them in such a pleasing manner that every true Canadian breast must thrill with a higher pride of country after hearing the eloquent doctor's address.

An address on ensilage by Dr. Cowen, V. S., a well sung solo by Mrs. James Meikle and a very pleasing duet by Mrs. Meikle and Miss Pettigrew brought a very pleasant evening's entertainment, and a very successful session of the Farmers' Institute, to a close.

THE KEENE EVENING MEETING.

There was a very large attendance, including very many ladies, at the evening meeting; the hall was crowded. Mr. F. Birdsall occupied the chair and introduced a very pleasing programme. Mr. T. Blezard gave a brief address, emphasizing the importance of the establishment of creameries as a department of profitable farming. An improvised glee club, composed of Messrs. R. McCamus, Jas. Bryce, Jas. Moore and M. Kennedy, rendered "God Save Canada" in a very creditable manner, Miss Lendrego presiding at the organ. Prof. H. H. Dean gave one of his lucid addresses on butter-making, and Miss Kennedy and Mr. McCamus gave a nicely rendered duet, "The Larboard Watch." Mr. Fraser's address on the mistakes made by farmers was much appreciated, as were also Mr. Dean's remarks on social development, and Mr. Dempsey talked entertainingly on flowers and fruits. Miss Birdsall's recitation, "Tel-el-kebir," was well done. The other musical selections were, "A Home by the Sea," by the Glee Club; a solo, "Around the Camp Fire," by Mr. Kennedy, and songs by Miss McCamus, Mr. Kennedy and Mr. McCamus. The singing of "God Save the Queen" brought a delightful evening to a close.

A Wonderful Discovery.

A Canadian Druggist Makes a Discovery Rivalling that of Dr. Koch.

The civilized world has recently been deeply agitated over the announcement that Dr. Koch, an eminent German physician, had discovered a lymph for the cure of consumption. This discovery has been heralded throughout the world, and is looked upon as one of the greatest achievements of modern medical science. Of equal, if not greater importance, is a discovery made by a well-known Canadian druggist, which, while it does not pretend to cure consumption after the lungs have been affected, is offered with every confidence as a preventive of that disease. Medical testimony bears out the statement that more than two-thirds of the cases of consumption, occurring in this country annually, are of catarrhal origin. The trouble begins with a cold in the head, which the sufferer treats as a light matter, and too frequently neglects. This is time invariably develops into catarrh; the mucous membrane becomes thickened, inflammed and hardened, and there is a profuse discharge of watery and poisonous matter from the nostrils, or else the poisonous secretions become clogged and hardened. In either case the breath is inhaled over this poisonous matter, and produces baleful results. The inflammation gradually extends to the bronchial tubes, and thence to the lungs, which, already poisoned and weakened by the foul breath inhaled, are ripe for that dread disease—consumption, which ends in death. A remedy that will prevent these disastrous consequences must be regarded as a boon to mankind, and, as already stated, such a remedy has been discovered by a Canadian druggist. There is no case of cold in the head which it will not instantly relieve and permanently cure. Do not, for an instant, neglect a cold in the head, for by its prompt treatment, you will prevent its developing into catarrh—the second stage on the road to the grave. If, however, catarrh has already developed, the use of this great remedy will prove equally beneficial, as it affords speedy relief, and will effect a certain cure, even in the most aggravated cases, if persistently used. It removes the secretions, frees the clogged nostrils, and sweetens the breath, stops the inflammation and thus saves the lungs and prevents the disease developing into consumption. This great discovery is now and sold throughout the country under the name of Nasal Balm. It is a positive and certain cure, and the thousands of testimonials in the hands of its proprietors prove that it is all they claim for it. It is sold by all dealers, and every sufferer from cold in the head or catarrh should use it. 4w4 ws

Some Foolish People

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 50c. and $1, Trial size free. At all druggists. dw

THE easy, quiet way in which T. A. SLOCUM'S OXYGENIZED EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL has won its way into public favor speaks volumes for its merits. At the office of the company, Toronto, Ont., can be seen scores of valuable testimonials, while any druggist will tell you that for all pulmonary difficulties it stands unrivalled. w3ws

Wilson's Wild Cherry cures coughs and colds. dw

Purify the blood in importance of having the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditted and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

AN AFRICAN REPUBLIC.

POINTS ABOUT THE FREE STATE OF ORANGE.

President Rietz Opens a New Railroad to the Seaboard An Abandoned British Conquest—History of President Rietz and Wife.

M. REITZ.

There has just been completed in Southern Africa, a railroad of about 150 miles in length, starting from Colesberg, in the colony of the Cape of Good Hope, entering the Free State of Orange at Norvall's Bridge and thence to its terminus at the capital of that country, Bloemfontein.

This Vrijstaat (Free State) is one of the three republics which the Boers, who emigrated from the Dutch Colony of the Cape in 1838, founded. In 1848 this land was reunited to the British possessions, of which formerly it was part under the name of the Orange Sovereignty. There was a sharply fought civil war at that time over the possession of this territory. Four years afterwards the English Government, despairing of ever reconciling the inhabitants of Orange, abandoned its conquest, and on the 23d of February, 1852, gave to the Boers their independence. The President of the Republic is Mr. Reitz, the son of a professor of one of the German universities. His mother is descended from a French Huguenot family which took refuge in Africa at the Cape Colonies after the edict of Nantes. He was born at Swellendam, in the Cape Colony, is quite wealthy and is a barrister-at-law, having obtained his degree in England. He was elected President Judge of the Supreme Court at Bloemfontein in 1874, and was placed at the head of the Government of the Free States in 1874 by a unanimous vote. His present wife is a

PEOPLE.

The baptism of the infant son of Emperor William has been fixed for the 25th inst. The King and Queen of Italy will be the child's sponsors.

A new postillion of Longjumeau has been found in a Hungarian coachman. He has a baritone voice, as yet entirely untrained.

Rhoda Broughton lives at Oxford, where she took up her abode ten years ago. In all she has written about thirty books, but she has allowed only half of them to be published.

Miss Elizabeth Bisland is among the noted southern women who have sought New York. Her talents as a writer gave her entree to literary circles, and as she has many personal attractions, her social success was immediate. She was born on a Mississippi plantation.

Mrs. Maggie Van Cott, the old-time Methodist revivalist, is now holding meetings in Chicago. She is 61 years old, and for a quarter of a century she has been active in church work. She has scarcely a gray hair in her head, her voice is clear and strong and her complexion has the ruddy hue of health. The only mark of advancing years is a slight deafness.

Joaquin Miller has placed a notice in a prominent place on his California ranch warning off intruders, especially tramps. The poet of the Sierras was once in the tramp line of business himself to some extent, and there should be somewhere in his heart a drop of charity for the tribe.

It is said of David Jacks, the Monterey County (Cal.) millionaire, that he can ride twenty miles in a straight line on his own land. He is a Scotchman, and in 1849 stowed himself away in a barrel on a vessel bound for California. Now he has a fortune of $7,000,000. He is a devout Presbyterian churchman.

Thomas A. Edison is said to regard his deafness as a blessing in disguise. It enables him to think and plan in perfect quiet, and he can have his children about him at all times without being disturbed by any noisy prattle. He also misses the comments passed on his appearance wherever he goes.

The poet Whittier has received, as a birthday present, a barrel of pitch-pine kindlings from the Whittier Colored School at Tuscaloosa, Ala. When the venerable man lights these at his fireside he may see in the coals thereof pleasant pictures of the good his tongue and pen have wrought for the poor and oppressed everywhere.

Compensating.

Cholly—I say, old fel, your fiances looks awfully sour to-night.

Awther—Yeth, but her paw has plenty of egah, don't you know!

A Nightmare.

"I never eat mince pie," said Chappie.

"Why not?" asked Hicks.

"It makes me dweam of my ancestahs, and, between us, they were all twadesmen."

ENGLISH SPORTING.

Britishers in the Recent Fight—That Old-Fashioned Driving Contest.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The World has a special cable from London stating that British sporting blame Jack Dempsey for consenting to a match with Bob Fitzsimmons. The latter has never been able to arrange a match with any British middle weight. Dempsey can find a match in London with either Burke or Pritchard after their fight next March. Either the Pelican or the new club which Lord Lonsdale is starting from its discontented members will give a big purse.

The driving match between Earls Lonsdale and Shrewsbury will be decided directly the weather suits. The betting is 6 to 4 on Lonsdale.

Gus Lambert is training hard for his fight with Peter Maher, the Irish champion. Frank Hall gives a six-day race at the Olympia during the last week in March. Sir John Astley will give a championship cup. Hall offered to bet $5000 he can produce an American pedestrian to beat Rowell.

An important decision regarding betting was delivered in the Blackburn (near Manchester) County Court last month. On Saturday, Nov. 29, the plaintiff was in an inn, and a man named Robinson came in. The plaintiff asked him how the Rovers and Everton, who were playing in the town, had gone on, and he replied, "Rovers 3, Everton 1," at half-time. Thinking he had a good thing, plaintiff bet Robinson 22s. to 11s. 6d that the Rovers would win, besides making bets with other people present. To the defendant, Walsh, the stakes were handed, but before he had had possession of the money long, plaintiff was told that a telephone message had been received by Robinson before the bet was made, and that instead of the half-time score standing at—Rovers 3, Everton 1—the reverse was the case. The plaintiff immediately cried that his bets were off, but the defendant paid the money over to Robinson. The defence was that the transaction was an illegal one from beginning to end. The judge nonsuited the plaintiff.

BOOKMAKERS FINED.

Frightened From Clifton's Track—Probable Discontinuance of Racing.

CLIFTON, Jan. 19.—The races which were to be run here to-day had to be postponed. Two indictments have recently been found against the race track managers for keeping a disorderly house; but the bookmakers have never been disturbed. They were warned to-day, however, that the sheriff was about to make wholesale arrests and it was decided, after a consultation with the track managers, to postpone the races for the day. It is understood that unless the matter can be adjusted, which now seems doubtful, the Clifton Association will discontinue racing altogether. In that event there will be racing every day at Guttenburg, instead of on every second day as at present.

More Veterans.

The supply of veterans does not seem to be easily exhausted. The EXAMINER has received the names of Mr. Dennis Shine, Lindsay; Mr. A. Kennedy, South Monaghan, and Mr. George Remington, Peterboro. These three gentlemen put in six months service each at Belleville in '37-38.

Curlians.

Peterborough didn't win the trophy, but came "within one of it." They defeated Port Hope in the second draw by 16 shots, but in the final with Whitby were left behind by 18 points. The home curlers say their defeat was largely due to the soft ice. The thaw was felt more at Whitby than it was here, and in the final match the ice became so gummy it was almost impossible to get the stones up. The Whitby men seemed to be more capable of heavy work, and so won. The Peterborough curlers were, however, well entertained, and otherwise enjoyed their trip.

Women's Foreign Missionary Society.

The EXAMINER has not yet received a report of the annual meeting of this society, held in St. Paul's Church Tuesday afternoon. It will be published later. In the evening a public meeting was held, at which there was a large attendance. Rev. Mr. Hay, Moderator of the Presytery, occupied the chair. The annual report of the W. F. M. S. was presented by the Secretary and adopted.—The report will be included in the afternoon proceedings. Rev. Mr. Scott, of Campbellford, and Rev. B. C. Jones, of Port Hope, delivered stirring missionary addresses.—Mention should be made of the fact that the ladies of the church supplied dinner and tea for the delegates in the school room.

A Practical Joke.

An Emigrant Boy Causes a Scare by His Numerous Practivities.

A seventeen year old boy, dirty, ragged and unkempt, came into the police station Monday night and asked for lodging. He gave his name as Wm. Bethrey,. The police questioned him, and learned that he had run away from his home in Springville. The boy lived with a man named John Hooten, and worked for his food and clothing. On Saturday Hooten and his wife came to town, leaving the boy in charge. On their return the lad was missing, but on a slate was scrawled this message:—"I have been ill for two or three days and have made up my mind that life is not worth living. I did intend to cut my throat with a knife, but did not like to draw blood. I have taken a teaspoonful of carbolic acid and I will not put you to the expense of a coffin. I have buried myself, and you will not find me for some time, so good bye. Do not blame me, the chores are all done."

Mr. and Mrs. Hooten were consequently frightened, and search was instituted and vigorously prosecuted until two o'clock in the morning, without success. The sequel shows that young Bethrey is a practical joker. He told the police he was not ill-treated at his home, but got "kinder tired" and thought he would strike out in the world. He couldn't say what put it into his head to leave such a note, except it was a joke. He walked to Peterborough, spending Sunday in a barn south of the town, and Sunday night slept in a box car at the station. Monday he helped some men unload wood to keep himself warm, and at night decided to seek shelter at the police station. There he found the warmth and food he stood so greatly in need of.

Bethrey says he came from London, Eng., a few years ago. He can read and write, and certainly ought to be able to do better for himself than work for his lodging only. He was held as a vagrant, and and next morning remanded. Mr. Hooten, his late guardian, has been communicated with. He will no doubt feel relieved at learning that the boy has not committed suicide.

Presbytery of Peterborough.

Conclusion of Report of Tuesday's Meeting.

The petition for the re-union of the congregations of Millbrook and Centreville was, after lengthy discussion and several motions, left in the hands of a committee composed of Rev. Messrs. Torrance, McWilliams, Gilchrist, Thompson, Hay, Ross and Sutherland; Messrs. J. F. Clark, Port Hope; G. M. Roger, Peterborough, and W. E. Roxburgh, Norwood. The committee has power to act.

A request was read from the congregation of St. Andrew's Church, Peterborough, for permission to supply the pulpit for themselves. The matter was allowed to drop, the understanding being that the committee of the congregation would submit the names of those they wished to hear to the Presbytery committee.

The following delegates were appointed to visit the augmented congregations:

Springville—Rev. John McEwan.

Warsaw and Dummer—Rev. Mr. Carmichael, Mr. Roxburgh.

Bobcaygeon—Rev. Mr. Ewing.

The next meeting of the Presbytery was appointed to be held in the Mill street church, Port Hope, March 17th.

Rev. Mr. Gilchrist gave notice of motion to have the Presbytery hold a Diet twice a year on important church matters, with Rev. Messrs. Gilchrist, Lord and Hay a committee to manage for same.

Cobourg and Peterborough were appointed the places for holding Sunday school institutes.

A number of notices of motion were presented, among them one of Rev. Mr. Carmichael to reduce the retiring age of ministers from 70 to 65.

Considerable other routine business of minor importance was transacted, for which the EXAMINER has not space to-day.

The ladies of St. Paul's church provided dinner and tea in the school room for the members of the Presbytery.

The Y. P. S. C. E. District Conference,

Which convenes in the George street Methodist church on Friday afternoon and evening, promises to be a season of refreshing, judging from the excellent programme issued and the gentlemen who are to take part.

Rev. H. C. Farrer, S.D. Albany, New York, President of the New York State Union, will be present and speak at both services. Rev. Dr. Farrer is one of the most eloquent and pleasing preachers of the United States, and his services are in great demand for lectures and gatherings of young people. Rev. Messrs. Hanna, Uxbridge, McEwen, Lakefield, Spence, Omemee; also Mr. E. A. Hardy, B.A., Lindsay, will give helpful addresses on the work of the Y.P.S. C.E. The citizens are cordially invited to be present and participate in this intellectual feast, and see, hear and know more about this work among our young people for Christ and the church.

The Roll of Veterans.

Mr. Geo. Merrill, of Belleville, who is interesting himself in gathering the names and forwarding the claims to recognition by the Dominion Government of the veterans of 1837-38, writes the EXAMINER on the subject. The following extract from his letter will be read with interest by those concerned:—

"Over one thousand old veterans have reported to me; also fifty widows. I shall shortly publish a list or roll of the names of the surviving veterans. Those wanting a copy will mail me 25c. in postage stamps. Mr. Harry Corby, M.P., and Mr. S. B. Burdett, Q.C., M.P., and other members of Parliament have pledged themselves to press the claims of the old veterans at Ottawa. Harry Corby says the House will meet about the 10th March.

"Thanks to the EXAMINER for the assistance it has rendered me.

Yours, &c.,
GEO. MERRILL.'

The New Directorate.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Permit me, through the columns of your valuable medium, to enter a protest against Mr. Jas. Stevenson, M.P., chairman of the Little Lake Cemetery Company, for the action he took at the annual meeting of the board, held in the council chamber on Monday afternoon.

For the information of your readers, I may say that at the 1890 annual meeting a strong feeling was expressed that a Protestant caretaker should be appointed, and directors holding these views were elected. Judging from the remarks of the chairman and Rev. V. Clementi at the meeting Monday, Mr. Feord, the new caretaker, has proved himself a painstaking officer, and superior in many respects to his predecessor. No fault was found with the directorate.

Nominations were made for the ensuing year. The nominations were declared closed by the chairman. What do we find? Almost in the same breath, Councillor W. H. Moore, with a handful of slips containing the names of gentlemen written in ink, who, in his exalted opinion, were the fit and proper persons to compose the directorate for the ensuing year, was in motion.

Mr. Moore in one instance impertinently wrenched from one shareholder's hand the names he had selected, saying, "Give me that; this is a better list for you." When Mr. Moore was accused of this flagrant act this morning, he replied, "Well, I did not know who the names on the new list were. They were prepared in Mr. Stevenson's office and slipped in my hand while I was in the meeting."

As a matter of fact, great rejoicing was the result of the successful working of the "new tickets." Such expressions were passed as—"The Orange power didn't work this time; No. 49 was no where; I wonder how Nassau feels now?"

The old adage says, "It's a long lane without a turn," and Messrs. Moore and Stevenson may find it out before maple "syrup" runs again.

Thanking you for your space, I remain,
Yours very truly,
JUSTICE.

A Stabbing Affray!

A Knife Used and a Serious Wound Made.

A stabbing case occurred at the C.P.R. restaurant last night, the facts of which, though not reported to the police, are known to them.

There was the usual crowd of patrons of the restaurant in attendance last night, and when at eleven o'clock the bar was closed one of the number, a man named Michael Murray, who was "half seas over, began a disturbance because drinks were shut off. He was put out by Wm. Brown, the bartender, who was friendly towards him and followed him outside to induce him to go home. But Murray was inflamed with liquor, and obstinate. A knife was seen in his hand by those inside, and a few moments afterwards Brown came in, holding his hand to his head, blood streaming down his face and clothes. He said Murray had struck him. Some of the man inside rushed out and gave chase to Murray, who had run away, and they captured him and brought him back. The knife with which the stabbing was done was not found. Murray had dealt Brown a vicious blow. A gash several inches long was made over the left eye, from which a lot of blood was lost, two arteries being severed. Dr. Pigeon put a dozen stitches in the wound. No serious consequences are likely to follow, and it is not known whether there will be a criminal prosecution or not. Murray is employed at the Bridge Works.

A Lakefield Young Man Crushed to Death.

Thomas Simpson, jr., Meets a Terrible Death.

Intelligence has been received at Lakefield that Thomas Simpson, jr., whose home is in the village in the summer, was killed at North Shore, Georgian Bay, on Monday. The young man was an inmate of one of the camps in H. H. Cook's limits, which is in charge of Thomas Douglass, of Peterborough, and on the day mentioned met his death by a log rolling upon him. The deceased young man was about nineteen years of age. Particulars of the tragedy have not been received. The body, it is expected, will arrive in Lakefield to-day (Wednesday.)

Lakefield.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Fraternal Exchange of Courtesies and Congratulations.

Seldom has a more enjoyable evening been spent by the craftsmen of Lakefield, than that of last Friday, the 16th inst., when the Grand Master honoured Clementi Lodge No. 313, A. F. and A. M., with a visit—gave an address—and delivered a lecture on the History of Masonry in Canada for the past hundred years.

The lecture was a most interesting one from beginning to end, and was listened to with the greatest attention by all present. Quite a number of visitors attended, who were only too sorry it was not much longer.

The Grand Master was introduced by very Wor. Bro. John Hall, and Wor. Bro. Sparham Sheldrake, the I. P. M., and was received by the Wor. Master in the usual form, and who also read the following address:—

To the Most Worshipful, J. Ross Robertson,
Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada, A. F. & A. M.

MOST WOR. SIR & BRO.,—On behalf of the officers and members of Clementi Lodge, No. 313, I would extend to you a cordial welcome and true Masonic greeting. I can assure you that it is exceedingly gratifying to meet you in our lodge room, when we remember the high position you hold in our craft.

We hope, indeed we feel assured that your short visit will be of great benefit to our lodge, inasmuch as your Masonic career should be an incentive to every mason to make a daily advancement in masonic knowledge.

I am sure, Most Wor. Sir, we cannot too highly eulogize your untiring efforts on behalf of the craft, and your deep interest in everything pertaining to its welfare; especialty have we to record our high appreciation of your practical illustration of those truly masonic ornaments, Benevolence and Charity.

In conclusion, we trust that your term of office may be the brightest year we have yet to record in the annals of freemasonry; that this your first visit to Lakefield may be to yourself and to every mason here assembled a pleasing reminiscence, and that your paternal courtesy to Clementi Lodge may form a precedent for future grand masters.

R. Q. DENCH, Sec'y, J. F. LILLICRAP, W.M.

The Grand Master in reply said, it was his endeavor to earn the esteem of the brethren by doing what he deemed his right as a Grand Master. It can be truly said that his efforts to do so were fully appreciated by all who had the pleasure of hearing him speak in Clementi Lodge.

Messrs. Hilliard & Eden have contracted with the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, of Peterborough, for the construction of a steel Clyde boiler, &c., for their new steamer "Sunbeam." The hull will be all planked in about four days time, when her decks will immediately be put on. All the material is first-class and the workmanship of the best, so that the "Sunbeam" will be as staunch and firm as she is elegant.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Mr. Paul Armstrong gave a very earnest and impressive talk at the young men's meeting on Saturday evening. The attendance was good. The orchestra led the singing.

Mr. Albert Hamilton led the consecration meeting Sabbath morning. It was a time of blessing.

Mr. Robert Rasell addressed a large number of young men at the personal purity meeting on Sabbath afternoon. The straight and heartfelt talk did good.

Rev. John Trotter, Claremont, gave a short impressive address on "Faith" at the gospel and song service on Sabbath evening. The hall was crowded and many were unable to obtain admission.

Dummer Convention.

Successful Sunday School Convention in Dummer Township.

The third annual Sunday School Convention of the township of Dummer was held in Warsaw on Monday. The morning meeting took place in the Baptist church, the afternoon meeting in the Methodist church, and the evening session in the Presbyterian church. All the meetings were well attended, the churches in the afternoon and evening being crowded. Mr. Samuel Edwards, President, occupied the chair.

The morning session consisted of a united Children's service, addressed by Mr. Alfred Day, Provincial Secretary, Dr. Harrison and Rev. Jas. McFarlane, Keene; the reading of Sunday School reports by the Secretary, Mr. A. Watts; an address "How to obtain and retain the interest in Sabbath School work," by Rev. John McEwan, Lakefield; and the election of officers. Mr. A. R. Kidd was appointed President and Mr. Alexander Webb, Secretary.

In the afternoon there was a Model Lesson on Sabbath School lessons, led by Mr. Day, with a conference thereon.

In the evening the new President presided. Various subjects were dealt with. Dr. Harrison, (in the absence of Rev. Mr. McEwan) spoke on the subject, "Is it advisable to close country Sabbath Schools during the Winter Months?" Mr. Day dealt with the "Duties of a Sabbath School Teacher." Rev. S. J. Shorey, Peterborough, took up the subject, "What are the essential qualifications of Sabbath School Teachers?" An open question was propounded, "What is the best method of inculcating a spirit of liberty among S. S. scholars?" Rev. John Power spoke some words of encouragement to Sabbath School workers, and the convention closed.

They are not Desirable Companions.

In our daily intercourse with men and women we are constantly meeting the "irritable" mortal, and very often express the wish that fortune will, in the future, keep us out of his or her path. These "irritable" individuals are not the most congenial companions at home or abroad. They are disagreeable themselves and help to make every one near them miserable. They are generally nervous; they have peculiar feelings of dread and anxiety. They are often the victims of morbidness, and do notact rationally at times. There is danger ahead for such men and women, unless great care be taken to restore the complete and harmonious working of the nerve system. For all cases such as we have described, we advise at once the use of Paine's Celery Compound. It is the only effective nerve tonic and builder known to the medical faculty. Doctors are now using it daily in the treatment of the nervous, irritable, morose, sleepless and dyspeptic. It will restore you or your friends to vigorous health, joy and solid pleasure.

Cold Springs, Otonabee.

S. S. CONVENTION.—Cold Springs Union Sunday School was represented at Norwood at the Convention by Mrs. D. Kennedy, Miss Ada Robertson and Mr. H. D. Kennedy—the latter being secretary to the school. Dummer.

One day some weeks ago a silver watch, the property of one of the men in Cathberteon's shanty on the 9th line of Dummer, was stolen. A certain individual, who for the present shall be nameless, had called at the shanty that day, and for various reasons was suspected of the theft. A search warrant was issued, placed in the hand of constable Hill, and the residence of the suspect thoroughly searched. The watch was not found, but in the cellar, hidden in a pile of straw, the constable unearthed a clock which had been stolen from a farmer's house some time ago, and for which the farmer blamed a young man then in his employ. This discovery of course completely proves his innocence. As yet the constable has been unable to apprehend the party in question, and it is generally supposed that he has fled the country.

Mr. Phillip Metcalf, of Asphodel, while attempting to board a wagon in motion the other day, was thrown against one of the wheels and had two ribs broken.—Register.

Causes for Alarm.

The great frequency with which pale, sallow and cadaverous girls are met now-a-days is cause for genuine alarm. The young girls of the present generation are not the healthy, robust, rosy lassies their mothers and grandmothers were before them. Their complexion is pale and sallow or waxy in appearance, and they are the victims of heart palpitation, ringing noises in the head, cold hands and feet, often fainting spells, sinking head aches, backaches, shortness of breath, and other distressing symptoms. All these betoken chlorosis or anæmia,—or in other words a watery or impoverished condition of the blood, which is then unable to perform its normal functions, and unless speedily enriched with these natural remedies which give richness and redness to the blood corpuscles, organic disease and an early grave is the inevitable result. Is not this prospect sufficient to cause the gravest alarm? Mothers, are your daughters suffering from any of the symptoms indicated above, or from any of the irregularities incident to a critical period in their lives? If they are, as you value their lives do not delay in procuring a remedy that will save them. Delays in such cases are not only dangerous, but positively criminal. Dr. William's Pink Pills for Pale People is a remedy compounded especially to meet such cases. These pills are not a patent medicine, but a remedy prepared with the greatest care from the formula of an experienced physician, who has used it for years in his daily practice with unvarying success. These pills are especially rich in those constituents which stimulate the blood and give it that rich, red color necessary to preserve health and life. They are in all cases a never-failing blood-builder and nerve tonic, acting upon the system in a natural manner and restoring health and strength to all who suffer from a watery or depraved condition of the blood or from any of those weaknesses peculiar to females. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price (50 cents a box) by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. 4w4d ws

Dreadful Psoriasis.

Covering Entire Body with White Scales Suffering Fearful. Cured by Cuticura.

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nose and over covering my face. It was then I was told my physician was afraid I would lose my eyesight altogether. It spread all over my head, so my hair fell out, until I was entirely bald-headed; it then broke out on my arms and shoulders, until my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, head, and shoulders being the worst. The white scales fell constantly from my head, nearly an inch thick; the skin would thicken and then bleed and very itchy, and would scratch and bleed if scratched. After spending many hundreds of dollars, I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using two bottles CUTICURA RESOLVENT, I could see a change; and after I had taken four bottles, I was almost cured; and when I had used SIX bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered for five years. I cannot express with a pen what I suffered before using the REMEDIES. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to recommend them. My hair is restored as good as ever and so is my eyesight. MRS. REGA KELLY,

HARTLEPOOL ELECTION.

THE GLADSTONIAN CANDIDATE CARRIES THE SEAT.

Important Speech by Salisbury at Gladstone—The Recent Donnybrook Fair of the Irish Party Shows that They Could Not be Trusted With Home Rule.

CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 21.—Lord Salisbury, in a political address here to-day, said he did not believe either that the Home Rule contest was on the point of victory or that it was now dead. Many positions must be carried, he said, before Home Rule is victorious. In the absence of documentary evidence it is probable Mr. Parnell's account of the Hawarden conference is in the main correct.

But what Mr. Gladstone thought a year ago is no guide to his thoughts a year hence.

Lord Salisbury continued: "I hesitate to speak of Mr. Parnell's character in this university, of which he is a distinguished alumnus. But his opponents can hardly be considered champions of morality, since they took 10 days to decide they would no longer associate with him. The Home Rule rehearsal in London and Kilkenny was not edifying, and seems to have involved a Donnybrook fair. The rehearsal proved that Irishmen were quite incapable of conducting an independent Parliament. It has further shown the unlimited power of the priesthood, whose matchless organization had swept down a man who had been the despot of the whole Irish movement here and in America. That is the ruthless organization beneath whose heel you would place Protestants by granting Home Rule. We shall be mad indeed if we neglect the lesson which the tempest has unveiled. The antagonist with which you have been contending is the sinister domination of Croke and Walsh. To me it is a matter of retoeing that the disclosure has happened, as it will fortify Ulster. If she is true to herself Home Rule will never be carried.

Lord Salisbury attributed the suffering and discontent in Ireland to natural difficulties due to climate and absence of mineral resources. He believed construction of light or relief railways, the peasant proprietary system and emigration were more important for Ireland's well-being than experimental legislation. If the unionist efforts succeeded in dissipating ill dreams and passions and passing good measures, the present unionists' struggle would be in the future regarded as the foundation of Ireland's prosperity.

The Hartlepool Election.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—An election was held at Hartlepool to-day to fill the Parliamentary seat made vacant by the death of Thomas Richardson. Mr. Furness (Gladstonian) received 4663 votes, against 4305 polled by Mr. Gray (Unionist). At the last election Mr. Richardson, who stood as the Liberal Unionist candidate, received 3381 votes, M. L. Hawkes, Home Ruler, polling 2409.

The constituency has always been very strongly Liberal, having been carried on one occasion by a Liberal candidate by over two to one. The late Liberal member, Mr. Richardson, carried the constituency in 1885 by over 1000 majority, and it is safe to say that had he remained with the Gladstonians he would have again won the seat for them in 1886. He was a man of great wealth and influence, being an engine builder and ship owner within the constituency, and it is probable that it was owing to his personal influence and position that over 1200 Liberal votes were given him as the Unionist candidate. The present election was fought out with a more strict regard to the great issue before the country.

C. Christopher Furness, the successful Gladstonian candidate, is a son of the late Mr. John Furness, who removed to West Hartlepool shortly after the commencement of the town. There Mr. Christopher Furness was born and educated and settled in the shipping and ship-broking business. He is interested in the Middleton Shipbuilding Yard, in the Hartlepool Salt and Brine Company, and other undertakings. Mr. Furness is a member of the West Hartlepool Council and has filled many other local offices. He is one of the largest owners of steam shipping on the northeast coast.

The defeated candidate is also a shipbuilder and his establishment is one of the largest in the north. He was councillor, alderman and mayor in the old borough of Hartlepool, and was the first mayor of the jubilee borough of West Hartlepool. He is a director of the Northeastern Railway Company and in religious views a Presbyterian. He was knighted in May, 1890.

The Daily News says the victory of Mr. Furness at Hartlepool is the most splendid victory since the general election.

The Chronicle claims the victory for the labor unions, the leaders of which had told the members to support Furness because he took the pledge to employ only union labor, while Mr. Gray refused to take the pledge.

FATAL FIRE DAMP.

More Than One Hundred Lives Known to be Lost.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—News has been received here of a terrible explosion of fire damp in a colliery at Jasnowata, near the city of Charkov, in European Russia. Only meagre details of the accident have been learned, but is known that over 100 miners have been killed.

European Disarmament.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—The Saale Zeitung to-day referring to the dinner Herr Miquel, the Imperial Minister of Finances, gave on Friday last, at which the Emperor, Chancellor von Caprivi, several ministers and a number of members of the Reichstag were present, says that upon the occasion referred to, the reports circulated as to the possibility of a general European disarmament were the subject of some hilarity.

The Emperor, according to the newspaper referred to, remarked that Germany was satisfied and had no thoughts of fresh conquests. It is possible, the Emperor is said to have added, that smokeless powder would eventually result in terminating the era of war, and although there existed no question in regard to disarmament the new conditions of warfare rendered warlike developements improbable.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 21.—"I died for love," was the message written on a scrap of paper found inside the waist of Jennie White's dress when they found her dying of poison in the laundry at the home of J. B. Miller, her employer, in South Main-street, this morning. She was 30 years of age. A young iron-worker had recently discontinued his visits to her, and this fact is supposed to have caused her suicide.

CALLS HIM A DUMMY.

THE EPITHET O'SHEA APPLIES TO M'CARTHY.

A Letter Which Created a Sensation in the Irish Party—Parnell Will Undertake to Suppress the Virulence of Tim Healey, the Black Sheep.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Dillon and O'Brien are with the Parnellites unless the McCarthyites come to the terms which Dillon and O'Brien have agreed to consider reasonable. Such is the statement to-day put forward by one of the best informed men in the Irish party. Parnell is willing to resign, but McCarthy must also resign. It is thought that by to-night a decision will be arrived at for peace or war. The present indications are not favorable to peace, for English Liberal influence is being powerfully brought to bear against anything like a surrender to Parnell. Should the decision be war Parnell is preparing to take a leading part in parliament, if need be, in suppressing men like Healy, whose virulence is not turned against himself. The Freeman's Journal to-day says that notwithstanding the assertion that the cities alone were for Parnell it now appears that the towns are also in sympathy with that leader. The Journal declares that the speech of Mr. Parnell at Athlone yesterday was uttered in the true spirit of nationality and independence.

The sergeant-at-arms of the House of Commons has notified the Irish leaders that he cannot provide a room any longer for the continuance of debates over the question of Irish leadership, as all the rooms are required for the various commissions. This is looked upon as a hint that the House does not wish the wrangle continued in the halls of Westminister, as the officer no doubt acted under instructions.

It is understood that Vincent Scully, the defeated Parnellite candidate for Kilkenny, has abandoned his petition for the unseating of Sir John Pope Hennessy.

O'BRIEN INTERVIEWED.

He Says Substantial Progress Has Been Made Toward Peace.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—At an early hour this morning a reporter called on Messrs. O'Brien, Dillon and Gill, who are staying at the house of Mr. Raffaelovitch, Mr. O'Brien's father-in-law. In consequence of their conference lasting until a late hour last night they had not risen, but Mr. O'Brien received the reporter in his bedroom. In answer to the question as to what had been the result of the conference, he said: "It is difficult under the existing circumstances to make any statement with respect to the conference, as it is still necessary for us to preserve silence on the matter." Then Mr. O'Brien dictated the following statement:

"As I had every reason to anticipate, Mr. Dillon and myself are in full agreement, and with a view to success our reticence, patience and mutual forbearance will continue. That is as necessary as ever. The matter is so delicate and so surrounded with difficulties that it is hard to be too sanguine of the result. All I am free to say is that we have made substantial progress toward a settlement which will be satisfactory to the British as well as to our own sentiment. There has not been a single day's needless delay. We shall not leave France without exhausting every effort for peace, and a very few days now must determine the result."

While this was being written Mr. Dillon entered the room, read the statement and signified his approval of it. It is improbable that the conference of Boulogne will be resumed.

Mr. O'Brien Makes An Explanation.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—In an interview here to day Mr. William O'Brien said he knew nothing of the alleged circular announcing that the promoters of the new national paper in Dublin were offering to return the money which had been subscribed for the enterprise owing to his declining to accept the editorship. Mr. O'Brien further said that the new company was launched during his voyage homeward, and that those interested in the paper had no authority to announce him as the chairman of the company or the editor of the publication.

Capt. O'Shea Expresses His Opinion of Justin McCarthy in Forcible Language.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—It became known to-day that on Dec. 9 last Capt. O'Shea wrote a letter to Justin McCarthy demanding he should apologize for hinting during a speech delivered at the Leinster Hall meeting that a different color would have been given to Parnell's conduct in connection with Mrs. O'Shea if, during the divorce proceedings, Capt. O'Shea had been cross-examined. To this demand, according to Capt. O'Shea, Mr. McCarthy is said to have replied with several letters classed as "shuffling" communications by the captain and his friends. Capt. O'Shea then on Jan. 15, addressed a letter to Mr. McCarthy denouncing his replies as "contemptible quibbling," and adding: "However funny you must always appear as a leader of men, ill-constructed dummy that you are, the straw starting from every seam, I acknowledge you possess two qualifications for your present post—meanness and mendacity." Capt. O'Shea's letter has created a stir in Irish Parliamentary circles, and a warm reply from Mr. McCarthy is expected.

Not Approaching a Settlement.

DUBLIN, Jan. 21.—The Freeman's Journal says it regrets that the Irish party in Parliament for the first time in years is disunited upon the re-assembling of Parliament. The conferences, according to The Journal, have not tended to advance the questions in dispute further towards a solution.

The Crimes Act.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—At the re-assembling of Parliament Justin McCarthy will ask for a day when he can introduce a motion in connection with the administration of the Crimes Act, especially with reference to the Tipperary trials.

Timothy Harrington and John Redmond have gone to Boulogne to meet Mr. Dillon and the other Irish leaders at that place.

Murder Suspected.

RAT PORTAGE, Jan. 21.—Stipendiary Magistrate Lyon has returned home from Rainy River, where he has been holding an inquest on the body of Blake Carruthers, formerly of St. Marys, who was recently found shot in the head. The jury disagreed, the evidence being conflicting. There are suspicions of foul play, several circumstances coming out which negatives the supposition of suicide.

A THAW BRINGS NO HOPE

OF RELIEVING THE DISTRESSED POOR OF EUROPE.

Several Persons Killed and Wounded at Folkestone, Sussex, by a Landslide—Voices Across the Sea—Telephonic Communication Between France and England.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The thaw throughout England continues. One of its effects was a disastrous landslide at Folkestone. Three people were crushed to death in the avalanche of snow and earth which fell upon their cottages.

The thaw is general throughout England and in consequence thousands of those who have been deprived of enjoyment by the closing of inland navigation and the recent rigorously cold weather are resuming work. The effects of the storm are still felt, however. The poor-boxes kept in the magistrates' courts are exhausted in answering the calls of respectable and well-recommended hungry people and thousands are known to be starving at home sooner than except the alternative of going to the workhouse. The Salvation Army shelters are crowded and for several nights many have had to be turned away for lack of accommodation. The charge at these shelters for supper, bed and breakfast is four pence, but those without money are received and allowed to pay in labor.

Disastrous floods have occurred in many parts of the country, especially in Kent, where roads, bridges and even houses have been swept away.

The seaport of Focamp, at the mouth of the Focamp River, is inundated. The town was flooded so quickly that it was with difficulty the inhabitants were rescued.

In Paris the authorities are hiring additional buildings for the reception of the destitute, many of whom wander all night in the streets.

The warming rooms for the poor in Vienna are very successful in alleviating misery, and a movement is on foot to add a bowl of soup for each person.

A petition has been presented to the German Emperor, representing the terrible condition of the inhabitants of Schweidnitz and other districts in Silesia where typhus fever, brought on by hunger, is claiming many victims. The Duke of Ratibor, leader of the Feudal party in Prussia, owns much territory there but appears indifferent to the sufferings of hispe ople.

No Precedent Since 1740.

THE HAGUE, Jan. 21.—Seven fishermen yesterday crossed the Zuider Zee on the ice This feat is without precedent since 1740.

GERMAN EMIGRATION.

The Subject is Under Discussion by the Members of the Reichstag.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—In the Reichstag to-day the question was raised as to whether the Government was preparing a bill to regulate emigration. Dr. Von Boetticher, secretary of the Imperial Home Office, replied that the Government must wait and see the effect which the passage of the new Hamburg law upon the subject and the recently revised Bremen regulations would have before any additional action could be taken.

Herr Markus of Bremen made a statement, during which he said that he attributed the defects in the accommodations afforded to emigrants on board ocean steamers leaving German ports to the rapid growth of the Bremen Lloyds service.

Herr Lingens, a member of the Centre party, said that the arrangements made to accommodate emigrants at Bremen were better than similar preparations made at Hamburg and at Antwerp.

ADVERTISING MRS. PORTER.

A Sailor Shoots Himself on the Stage in Front of Mrs. Potter.

SYDNEY, Jan. 21.—A sensational scene was witnessed during a performance by Mrs. Potter and Kyrle Bellew in "Hero and Leander." The curtain had fallen on the first act, and Mrs. Potter and Bellew were bowing in front of it in response to a recall.

At this moment John Payne, a seaman of H.M.S. Orlando, sprang on the stage, drew a revolver and shot himself in the abdomen. He fell heavily forward, breaking one of the electric footlights. The wildest excitement prevailed. Women screamed and Mrs. Potter fainted.

The wounded man was taken behind the scenes and Mr. Bellew addressed the audience with assuring words.

Payne was taken to the hospital, where he died soon afterward. The performance was continued. Mrs. Potter was much upset by the event, but struggled bravely through to the end

Voices Across the Sea.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—Arrangements are now completed for the opening early in March of telephonic communication between this city and London. It is proposed by the managers to charge ten francs for a conversation limited to three minutes. Upon the occasion of the opening of the line it is proposed that Queen Victoria and President Carnot shall be the first persons to use the wire. The words spoken by them will be collected by phonographs.

Fire in a Noted Little Isle.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—The Town Hall and Tribunal at Saint Martin-de-Re, in the Island of Re, were burned to-day.

The Island of Re is opposite La Rochelle and about 28 kilometres distant. Saint Martin-de-Re has a population of about 3472 souls and possesses a church which dates from the twelfth century, together with fortifications erected by Vauban. It is an historic little island and has ever shared the fortunes of war of La Rochelle.

Virtues of Koch's Remedy.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—Dr. Guttman, at a meeting of prominent physicians to-day, demonstrated upon a subject who had died of advances tuberculosis, that ulcers on the intestines besides ulcers on the lungs had been nearly healed under injections of Professor Koch's lymph—a fact that suggested that Kochine tended to cure ulceration of the bowels.

Valuable Tapestry Burnt.

NEWCASTLE, Jan. 21—Fire broke out at Eastnor Castle, near Ledbury, the seat of Lady Henry Somerset. Two valuable pieces of tapestry, representing summer and autumn, were much damaged before the flames could be extinguished. The tapestry formed a portion of a set of four pieces which came from Fontainebleau and were worked during the time of Louis XV.

Scotch Railway Strike.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The Scottish railway strike continues to show signs of breaking up, and there is a general disposition to "save himself who can." Forty four of the strikers, including a number of veteran engineers, resumed work to-night.

Lady Dunlo's Friend in Jail.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Marmaduke Wood, who was connected with the celebrated Dunlo divorce case, and who has been living in lavish style at the Langham Hotel, has been committed to prison for non-payment of debt.

Death of an Irish Cricketer.

DUBLIN, Jan. 21.—Horace Hamilton, a well-known cricketer, who will be remembered by many American friends, as he visited the States with the Gentlemen of Ireland team, dropped dead yesterday.

$4000 Robbery at Calgary.

CALGARY, Jan. 21.—Burglars entered Jacques & Co.'s jewelery store, Calgary, last night and picked the combination of the safe in which the most valuable jewelery was stored. They took $4000 worth. There is no clue to the thieves.

D. B. Hill Elected Senator.

ALBANY, Jan. 21.—Every member of both houses of the Legislature was present when the joint ballot for United States Senator was taken at noon. The vote as announced gave D. B. Hill 81 votes, W. E. Evarts 79 votes. D. B. Hill was declared elected.

A PATHETIC STORY.

A Barrie Woman Freezes to Death—Searching for Her Body.

BARRIE, Jan. 21.—Mrs. Charles Cross, a resident of Blake-street started out in search of her son James, who with a friend had crossed the bay to Tollendal to get bait for fishing. The boys turned up the creek and Mrs. Cross, not noticing followed the shore to Bear Point about eight miles down the bay, where it is supposed she lost her way. Tracks showed that she had walked in a circle for about three miles and had stopped at about the same place she had started where she was found by John Cross and James Gazley with her face buried in the snow and frozen to death. The snow was undisturbed around the body, showing that she had fallen benumbed by the extreme cold and died. An inquest was held and a verdict returned that she had met her death from cold and exposure. The circumstances surrounding the case are very sad, the poor woman having met her death while in search of her boy, whom she could not bear to have out of her sight.

THE CHILIAN INSURRECTION.

Insurgents Occupy the Chief Nitrate Ports.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—A despatch from Buenos Ayres says the Chilian insurgents have occupied Pisagua one of the chief nitrate ports.

France to Send Men-of War to Chili.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—It is stated in diplomatic circles here that the French Government has decided to order several French men-of-war to rendezvous in Chilian waters. The representatives of foreign governments at Santiago de Chili have entered formal protests against the blockade of Chilian ports by the war vessels in possession of the insurgents.

Insurgents Gaining Ground.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Despatches from Buenos Ayres state that affairs in Chili are far from improving. Considerable dissension exists among the Chilian troops and this feeling is rapidly spreading. It is certain a number of Government troops have already joined the insurgents. The latter are preparing to take vigorous action. The insurgents seem to be gaining ground.

Mr. J. Murray Smith, manager of the Bank of Toronto, has been named provisional guardian, and a meeting of creditors will be held on the 28th inst.

Another Heavy Failure.

The firm of Gilmour, Lindsay & Co. had two separate demands of assignment made upon them to-day, one by George H. Labbe, wholesale furniture dealer and importer and the other by the Toronto Bank. Their total liabilities will reach nearly $225,000, the principal creditors being the Molson's Bank to the extent of $12,000.

"THE LAMP OF DEATH."

In Love and Out of Work—He Suicided by Poison.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—In the rear of an undertaker's establishment in Eighth-avenue there reposed in an ice box yesterday the remains of Alexander Elsner, 48, an unmarried man who was traveling agent in this country for the jewelry firm of J. Ratzersdorfer of Vienna. On top of the ice box was placed a glass of oil in which floated a lighted taper, a Jewish custom known as the "lamp of death."

The unfortunate man left several letters in which he declared that life was not worth living because he had been recalled from his position. Elsner stated in one of his letters that he was in love with Mrs. Helena Reim of No. 76 Avenue B, a married woman, whose husband lives in Austria.

LIBERALS RETAIN HOME RULE.

They Flank It, However, With Other Projected Reforms.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Much discussion is going on among the members of Parliament who are already gathering here as to the position of the Liberal party. On the side of the Liberals it is assumed that the West Hartlepool address embodies the future program of the party. This address retains Home Rule, but also makes conspicuous, as points to be advocated, the abolition of the hereditary principle in the House of Lords, shorter parliaments, one man one vote, and the placing of the liquor traffic under popular control. This program is more moderate than that advocated by many Radicals, but is broad enough to take all the Liberal party.

The Unionists, on the other hand, offer a judicious scheme of Irish county government and the settlement of the agrarian question by making the tenant the owner of the land. On English questions the Unionists are virtually silent, and for this reason the Liberals are sanguine of victory.

What the Separatists Want.

ATHLONE, Jan. 21.—The following placard has been posted on the walls in Athlone, and extensively circulated through the counties of Roscommon and Westmeath:

"Irishmen: True Irishmen! Now you are called to stand to the cause of the independence of your country. The reverse at Kilkenny is a trumpet-call to close up your ranks, and make one last, one great, one supreme fight for the cause of Fatherland. The cause of Ireland is now threatened with a calamity greater than a thousand Coercion Acts. It is a hauling down of the flag of Irish independence on the vague promises of English statesmen. Irish history teems with instances of the disasters of bribery in English promises. Men of Westmeath and Roscommon, then, stand to the tried policy. Stand to the policy of an independent party in parliament, with a united people in Ireland and America behind it. Stand to the leader who has made that policy and led you victoriously to the present hour. Do not be led away by those whose calling makes them set the main issue aside. The main issue is: Are we to have an independent party, and are we to choose our own leader, or are we to have a party merely part of the English Liberals, and a leader dictated to us by the leader of England? That is not Home Rule. We want real Home Rule. We want what Emmett died for and Lord Edward gave his noble life to obtain. We were going forward to victory under a good leader. Why should we desert him? Stand to him and the cause of Ireland forever. God Save Ireland!"

Tried and True.

In the positive verdict of the people who take Hood's Sarsaparilla. When used according to directions the good effects of this excellent medicine are soon felt in nerve strength restored, that tired feeling driven off, a good appetite created, headache and dyspepsia relieved, scrofula cured and all the bad effects of impure blood overcome. For a good blood purifier, take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

In another column of this issue is printed a letter from E. C. Strickland, Lakefield, in reference to the delay in constructing the Trent Valley Canal. We gladly give space to the letter because, with the vast majority of the people in this district, we believe the Canal is a public work, which in the public interest should be speedily put into operation, and it is solely due to the procrastination of the Dominion Government that, at least, the Peterborough-Lakefield section is not now a navigable Canal. The EXAMINER has pointed out so often that the iteration has become tiresome, that it was a part and parcel of their policy to construct this great work as speedily as the resources of the country would permit. Hon. Charles Tupper, on behalf of the government in 1882, officially declared this as the policy of the government. In evident pursuance of this policy the government undertook and carried to completion several important stretches—canals with locks and bridges at Burleigh rapids, Buckhorn rapids, Fenelon Falls, etc. Then, as our correspondent says, the government began to retreat from the position they had assumed. The outside opposition to the scheme was evidently too much for the influence of the Trent Valley and the Government who were pledged to the work, retreated from the position taken by their official representative, Sir Charles Tupper, in 1882, and took cowardly refuge behind the transparent bulwarks of a Royal Commission, and have by this and other means trifled with a great work, of so much importance to this district and the development of the exhaustless resources of the Northwest. For general election after election, the Government has secured a dozen or so seats in this district on the strength of its friendliness to the Trent Valley Canal; and, when the popular patience became exhausted, it was natural that candidates, who, as our correspondent hints, based their claims to election on the Government's policy of building the canal, represented largely by broken promises, should receive scant encouragement from a defrauded electorate. The plea of Mr. Strickland that the people are to blame for the Government breaking its solemn compact to build the canal, is not only the acme of puerility, but is adding insult to injury. Are the people, in order to get justice from the Government of the day, obliged to cringe under the lash and obey the bidding of the hirelings and agents of the Government—and sell their votes for the sake of getting what the Government is bound by solemn promise and by every consideration of right and justice to give? No more shameless device of bribery to influence the coming elections could be suggested. Who dares say that the Opposition candidates in the East and West ridings were not friendly to the canal? Are the people bound to vote for a Government candidate whom they do not approve of, simply because, if they refuse to do so, the Government will punish them by withholding their rights? The Government appointed "a Commission to look into the whole scheme," as Mr. Strickland naively says, when they had previously looked into it; adopted it; fathered it; patronized it; spent money on it; gained support from it; endorsed it in a dozen different ways—when there were indications that the scheme, as a political lemon, was squeezed pretty nearly dry, "appointed a commission to look into the whole scheme," on the puerile plea, as we are assured, that the people, in the exercise of their legitimate rights, voted against a Government candidate. That involved no opposition to the canal, nor want of gratitude to the Government for doing what was their simple duty in building a part of a great public work. It was the people's money that was spent, not the money of the Government, nor of their candidates. The people of this district, and of these two ridings, wish with all their hearts to have the canal built, but they are not inclined to place themselves in the ridiculous position of endorsing any candidate who may offer on the Government side, no matter how undesirable he may be, for fear another course will be misconstrued into opposition to the Canal, which would be about as reasonable as to make a lady opposed to matrimony because she rejected an unsuitable suitor. It seems to be uphill work to keep the people in the dark as to the political scheming that is being carried on with the Trent Valley Canal as factor. The people want the canal as a business enterprise, not as a political machine.

THE address on the Single Tax question delivered in the Opera House last night by Rev. J. O. S. Huntingdon, of New York, the great apostle of the Single Tax movement, attracted a large audience. The reputation of the speaker for eloquence and earnestness was fully sustained. His address was in keeping with the spirit of progress and the principles of Liberalism—the essence of the latter being equal rights to all classes of citizens and the relief of the oppressed. Mr. Stevenson, M.P.P., occupied the chair, and it is to be hoped that the reverend orator's vigorous and logical denunciation of oppressive taxation and trade trammels by act of parliament, will have a beneficial effect in converting the Dominion representative of West Peterborough to a sounder economic faith.

I will make a Lip at the Physician.

There is no medicine like Paine's Celery Compound combined with healthful exercise. He who makes a good use of these may well declare: "I will make a lip at the physician" and is almost inclined to exclaim with Macbeth:

"Throw physic to the dogs, I'll none of it! Out, loathed medicine! hated poison hence!"

Had Paine's Celery Compound been discovered and known in Shakespeare's time, it would certainly have received a favorable notice from the great poet. To-day, however, other remedies and medicines are constantly being thrown to the dogs as hurtful and useless, while Paine's Celery Compound is being used in every home where men and women suffer from nervousness, wearied brain, sleeplessness, lassitude, melancholia, and impaired digestive vigor. It is now the great family medicine in our Dominion for old and young. It possesses healing properties and powers unknown in other remedies, and is every day prescribed by the ablest physicians.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Annual Meeting of the West Riding Society.

Reports of the Year Read—Election of Officers and Directors.

The annual meeting of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society was held Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Rutherford, President, occupied the chair. There was a very small attendance, despite the urgent request of the officers that there be an exceptionally good turn-out of members. It is much to be regretted that the members do not show greater interest in the Society, which is of such value to the farming community.

Reports were read from the South Monaghan Agricultural Society, signed by Wm. Rutherford, president, and George L. Fair, secretary, concerning the 26th fall show, showing a balance on hand of $51.28; and from the Smith, Ennismore and Lakefield Society, also reporting favorably of their annual exhibition, their year's business ending in a small deficit of $14.91. Mr. H. C. Garbutt is president and M. S. Dean secretary.

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

To the Members of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Directors, after another year's work, beg to submit to you the following report:

The fall exhibition was held on September 24, 25th and 26th, and was, fairly speaking, a success, when we take into consideration that there have been a few very trying years for the agricultural community, which is being felt very keenly by almost every other branch of business. Also, as on some former years, we are holding our fair on the same dates as Belleville and Lindsay. We claim that it is not our fault, this clashing of dates, especially with Lindsay, as they had their dates fixed for a week after ours, but changed after they had their dates announced in all the prize lists of the principal fairs of Ontario, and a considerable portion of our printing was done, and our railway arrangements made. So it was almost impossible for us to change. We would suggest that our dates be selected at once for our fall show, and let it be known that we have done so, that there may be no excuses to make if we are on the same dates as other fairs. Would it not be better to get ours in earlier in the fall, before the Toronto fair goes through the people for their whole time and more? Is it not a matter to be considered?

The thanks of the Directors is given to the subscribers who so generously gave in aid of the special attractions. Also to Sergt.-Major Rundle and a company of the 57th, Peterborough Rangers, who gave such a magnificent display of manual and physical drill, which was applauded on all hands.

It is hardly necessary to speak of the Caledonian games conducted by the St. Andrew's Society, and for which we paid them on the understanding that they (the St. Andrew's Society) were to bring a large excursion of the Scottish societies from Toronto, which latter did not materialize. However, we paid them.

Through the instrumentality mainly of our representative on the Agricultural and Arts Association we had a ploughing match, on October the 29th, in which a great interest was taken. Several first-class ploughmen from the west came here to take part in it. Would it not be advisable to make it an annual gathering? The County County would probably give a small grant to it each year and also to our exhibition. We should be encouraged by both town and county, as advanced agriculture is a great benefit to both, and if good farming is practised and gives prosperity to the country, the town also feels the benefit; or if the county suffers, the town soon has to sympathize. Now, if it is a mutual benefit, let all join in and help it along.

There are a great many suggestions from town and country people as to the best way to make a fair a success. Some say, bring in some special attractions, such as a balloon, acrobats, cowboys, fireworks, and such like. Others say, what does an agricultural exhibition want with those things, or where do the benefits or instruction from them come in? We find, however, that people expect something in the shape of amusements, but how far we can go in that direction without financially embarrassing the Society is rather a question, or in other words, how are those attractions to be paid for out of the limited funds at our disposal, after paying the prize list and the running expenses of the exhibition?

Appended to this is the treasurers financial report; also the list of members of the year 1890.

Signed on behalf of the Directors,

WM. RUTHERFORD, President. WM. COLLINS, Secretary.

Purify Your Blood

The importance of purifying the blood in almost every condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

A BARON'S GREAT SCHEME.

He Offers a Russian Minister One Million Roubles to Side with the Jews.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 20.—A well-known Jewish banker, Baron Ginsburg, last week waited on M. Durnove, Minister of the Interior, and asked him to try and alleviate or to postpone the carrying out of the edicts issued for the repression of the Jews in Russia.

During the interview the baron handed the minister an envelope containing a check for 1,000,000 roubles, payable to the order of M. Durnove, and endorsed by the Mendelssohns of Berlin. M. Durnove subsequently obtained an audience with the Czar and gave him the check telling him of the manner in which it had come into his possession. The Czar ordered the arrest of Baron Ginsburg and sent an aide-de-camp to interrogate him. The Baron admitted in part the accuracy of the statement made by M. Durnove. He declared, however, that check was not given as a bribe but as an ordinary banking transaction as the books of his firm would show. Investigation being made the books showed that the order had been received in the usual manner from Berlin. The Czar, therefore, ordered that the prisoner be released. Orders were also given to return the check to Baron Ginsburg, but he refused to take it. The Czar thereupon ordered that half of the money be given to the Red Cross Society and the other half used for the relief of the poor.

6,000,000 FRANCS FOR RELIEF.

The Baltic and the Lake of Constance Frozen Up.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—In the Chamber of Deputies to-day, M. Constans, Minister of the Interior, asked for an appropriation of 4,000,000 francs for the relief of the poor in the provinces suffering on account of the cold weather, this being in addition to the 2,000,000 just granted for that purpose. The chamber agreed to make the appropriation.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—It is estimated 50,000 persons have been thrown out of employment by the severe weather. The total loss to France in wages, stoppage of trade and blighting of crops will reach 50,000,000 francs.

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—A despatch from Kiel says the Baltic Sea so far as can be seen from Bueki lighthouse is covered with ice.

The Lake of Constance is covered with ice and navigation is suspended.

Nearly all the roads and railroads throughout Austria are blocked with snow. A number of country towns are completely isolated and their stocks of coal and provisions are in many cases exhausted.

At Gath, while the frozen boiler tubes of a locomotive were being thawed out by burning torches beneath them, the wheels of the engine froze fast to the rails and hours passed before the locomotive could be moved.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—The French Chamber of Deputies voted 2,000,000 francs for the relief of the people suffering from the severe weather. The authorities last night lighted hundreds of fires in the streets of the city and large numbers of wretchedly poor persons crowded around them to keep warm. Every effort is being made to relieve the great distress which exists. The Palais Des Beaux Arts has been converted into a night shelter for the homeless and provided with a soup kitchen and a large number of straw mattresses. The machine gallery in the exhibition building is used as a day shelter. Other municipal buildings are also used for a similar purpose and the protection they afford is taken advantage of by many suffering people.

The water supply in Versailles has become very scarce owing to the freezing weather and vendors of water are meeting with a brisk demand at four pence a gallon.

A slight rise in the mercury was reported in France and Germany yesterday, but the temperature is still below the freezing point in both countries.

DREW STRAWS FOR THE WIFE.

A Modern Enoch Arden Story With a Decidedly Modernized Climax.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 20.—In 1883 William Evans and Maggie Williams were residents of Tamaqua, Schuylkill county. They fell in love and were married. Evans, who previously worked in the mines, had saved a little money, and after the marriage started a small mercantile business. He did not succeed very well, and becoming discouraged sold out and went to Colorado. Two children had been born to the couple.

For two years Evans worked in Colorado mines and sent money to his wife monthly. Then he fell sick, was taken to a hospital, and that was the last heard of him until some months later, when she received a newspaper containing a notice of her husband's death.

Mrs. Evans removed to Wilkesbarre to keep house for an uncle, and here in the spring of 1889 she was married to Joe S. Jenkins, who is well to do. One child was born to them.

On Friday last Mrs. Jenkins heard a knock at her front door and she sent her eldest girl to open it. A well-dressed man who stood in the doorway said to the little girl: "Is your mamma in, and is she all alone?" He was told that Mrs. Jenkins was at home and he walked in. Mrs. Jenkins at once recognised him as her first husband and—she fainted. Evans subsequently explained that it was another Evans whose death his wife had read of.

When Jenkins came home the men talked the matter over sensibly, and as Mrs. Evans-Jenkins said she loved them both they decided to draw straws to see which should retain the place of husband. The woman agreed.

The straws were drawn and Evans won. Husband No. 2 at once packed up all his belongings and moved out of the house. Mrs. Evans still retains possession of his child with his consent.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The Right Honorable the Earl of Caithness, whose death was announced yesterday, was formerly a banker and chartered accountant of Aberdeen, and established his claim to the Earldom last year. Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

EIGHT years ago the question was asked: Is Stepniak a woman? At that time he was known to the English speaking public only through his writings; his writing seemed inspired by the SERGIUS STEPNIAK. almost religious fervor of the Russian Revolutionary movement; the almost religious fervor of the Revolutionary movement was, with justice, attributed to women—to the female Terrorists. The question was natural. To-day he is well-known as Sergius Stepniak, Nihilist. Although so described this man is not a Nihilist. He pleads the Revolutionary cause. It may be said that in the program of this movement there are three steps to be distinguished. First, in point of time, came Nihilism; next, revolutionary socialism; last, the present phase, namely, terrorism. The hope of the Revolutionists is in the support—or rather non-interference—of the people. By yielding to the reasonable requests of the nation, the Government may restore things to their regular course, for in a free country terrorism cannot exist. Until such reforms the revolution will continue, for Terrorism, Revolutionary-Socialism, Nihilism, are and have been only the peculiar forms which discontent with the administration has taken, owing to the peculiar nature of the political and social problems to be solved. The great expectations which had been formed, however, of this man's eloquence were crowned in New York with disappointment, although one critic affirms that his most enviable distinction is that his many negations are interesting.

Trent Valley Canal.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR.—In letters lately published on the above subject, the writers are inclined to condemn the Government for not going on with the building of the Trent Valley Canal. I think that if they looked at the action of the Government fairly they would think differently. The Government is responsible to to the people and can only do what the voice of the people proclaim they shall do. And how have the people spoken on this subject? If, Mr. Editor, you would have forgotten, let me remind you. For several years large deputations were sent from this county to Ottawa to urge the Government to make appropriations towards the construction of this work and our members were told they must urge the Government to carry out the wish of the people. Our members believing the people were in earnest, put the matter so strongly before the Government that their endeavours were rewarded by the Government putting under construction and completing some of the most difficult sections of this canal. A general election took place just about the time these sections were completed and the people had an opportunity of showing their approval of the Government and their representatives, Mr. Stevenson and Mr. Burnham, who worked so hard and faithfully at Ottawa. And how did they? After a hard struggle Mr. Stevenson was returned by a "baker's dozen", and Mr. Burnham was defeated. The Government naturally did not expect this and thought the best course would be to appoint a commission to look into the whole scheme. What other course could they adopt under the circumstances?

No, Mr. Editor, the Government or our members were not to blame. The blame should rest with those who misled the people by side issues to vote against our members who had got the Government to commence a work that would, in a few years, have given us a grand water-way for the products of the west through our midst to seaboard, and which would have the effect in our time of bringing into use every water power between Trenton and Georgian Bay and building up towns and cities where now only villages are struggling to find employment twelve months instead of six months in the year, and our hard-working farmers would find a home market for all they could produce. These were the results that were produced by the building of the Erie Canal, and they will be ours if we are true to ourselves. It is not too late. Now is the time. Let our Town Council and County Council rise to the occasion and recognize the importance of building this great waterway, and many of the present generation and future generations will bless them for being wise in their time.

Let me, Mr. Editor, call your attention to one more matter before I close. Just compare the present scheme of building a ship railway from Lake Huron to Toronto at a cost of $12 000,000 and our great waterway at a cost of $6,000,000. The former would take vessels and dump them into the water at the other end and no benefit would result to the locality through which it passed while the benefit which would accrue to the locality through which the latter passes would be such that it would be sufficient to pay for the building of the canal. Peterborough has already allowed the trade of the back country to be cut off by other places building railroads. Are they going to sit quiet and allow the great trade of the West to be diverted from them by the building of this ship railway or the Ottawa canal? If not, they must be up and doing. The western trade must have other channels than now exist, and it will depend largely upon the people of the county whether it comes this way or not.

I ventured to make public statements at different times as to the future, and was laughed to scorn by the doubting. I now mention a few of them and ask you, Mr. Editor, who has the laugh?

1st. I said at one time that we would have a railroad to Lakefield.

2nd. That we would have steamboats running from Lakefield to Lindsay.

3rd. That we would grind wheat grown in the North-West at Lakefield.

4th. That Lakefield would be lighted by electricity.

And now I make another, on condition that the people of this county will only be unanimous, that inside of ten years we will be shipping grain, flour, stone, lumber, &c., to Montreal by barges, and that the increase on the assessment value of property in that portion of the township of Douro benefitted by the building of this canal will be an amount equal to one-quarter the present assessment of the whole township.

I think the Board of Trade of Peterborough or Town Council should call a public meeting during the sitting of the County Council and steps should be taken to get the Government to commence work on the Trenton, Campbellford and Peterborough sections, and that a grant of $250 000 should be asked for each section during the coming session of Parliament.

Yours, &c.,
R. C. STRICKLAND.

Police Court.

THURSDAY, JAN. 22.

Michael Murray, the young man who is accused of using a knife against Wm. Brown Tuesday night, last night gave himself up to the police and was arraigned to-day before Police Magistrate Dumble. There were two charges preferred against him—one of committing assault with intent to do previous bodily harm, and the other of using an unlawful dangerous weapon. He will be prosecuted on either of these charges, but not likely both. A remand was made till to-morrow, when Brown will appear to give evidence. Mr. R. E. Wood, C. C. A., conducts the prosecution, and Mr. W. A. Stratton the defence.

Inspector Pope had two cases for infraction of the fire by-law, in court, this morning.—Mr. T. E. Fitzgerald was charged with maintaining a wood yard at the corner of Aylmer and Simcoe Street, within the fire limits. Mr. Fitzgerald showed that he also used the lot alongside it on Bethune street, and he intended moving all his wood to the latter place, which is outside the limit. On this understanding judgment was reserved in order to give Mr. Fitzgerald time to carry out his intentions.

Mr. E. Phelan was charged with building a frame ice house on his hotel property.—The ice-house is a very small affair and was built last summer. Mr. Phelan was fined at the time, but the building was not removed, and the Inspector could not close his eyes to the continued violation of the law, and another case was instituted. Mr Phelan agreed to brick the building over as soon as the weather permitted, and judgment was also reserved.

Mr. E. B. Edwards, Town Solicitor, conducted the prosecution.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The Ladies' Auxiliary held a special meeting yesterday afternoon. The attendance was large and representative. Mrs. W. S. Griffin presided. Final arrangements have been made for a grand promenade concert on Thursday evening next. The ladies are determined to make this a very enjoyable and delightful entertainment, and are sparing no pains to make it surpass any previous effort. An excellent programme of instrumental and vocal music, readings, physical drill, etc., by the leading talent of our town, assisted by Y. M. C. A. band. Refreshments will be furnished. Proceeds in aid of the furnishing fund of the Association.

Mr. John Armstrong, grocer, has the sincere thanks of the Ladies' Auxiliary and the Association for an electric lamp for our rooms.

Y.P.S.C.E. District Conference.

The local Reception and Billeting committees will report at a meeting to-night in the Y.M.C.A. parlour at 7.30 p.m.

Our citizens are requested to come and attend these helpful services in the spirit of praise and prayer, and there shall be showers of blessing. All will be welcomed, and friends are asked to bring the "Songs of Salvation" hymn book, as it will be used in the song service. We trust all will enter heartily into all the exercises. We can assure all that it will pay them to come and hear the helpful addresses from the ministers from a distance. Rev. H. C. Farrer, D.D., Albany, N.Y., is acknowledged to be one of the most pleasing and eloquent speakers of the United States, and this may be the last opportunity to hear him. The services begin as 2.30 in the afternoon and 7.30 in the evening.

SINGLE TAX EXPOUNDED.

Rev. Father Huntingdon's Eloquent and Masterly Address.

A Polished Orator and Earnest Humanitarian — The Single Tax Theory Backed by Facts—He Demands that the People Shall Enjoy the Fruits of the Land Given Them by Their Creator.

Father Huntingdon's address in the opera house last night was an important public event, and his reception as flattering as he has anywhere received. The house was packed with a thoroughly representative audience—the rich and the poor, male and female. A noticeable feature of the gathering was the unusually large attendance of ladies. If the lecturer touched their hearts Single Tax will be talked of in many homes in Peterborough.

Father Huntingdon is a unique character. The local papers have given bits of his history, so that his peculiar personality was pretty well known. It was this, no doubt, that largely had the effect of filling the house. He was attired in the long black habit of the religious order to which he belongs, a girdle about his waist, and a black cross suspended about his neck. The coat of the order hung from a chain and fell below his girdle. His abilities as a speaker are first-class. He has a commanding and attractive presence, a sonorous voice, an easy manner, and clearness in presenting facts. He was equally powerful and passionate in setting forth the injustice of man to man, as he was happy and jovial in reciting the humorous stories, with which at intervals he varied his address. All his stories, however, pointed a moral. Father Huntingdon kept his large audience interested for over two hours, and was frequently warmly applauded. He is young in appearance. His age is 36.

Mayor Stevenson presided. There were on the platform also, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., and Mr. A. P. Poussette. The Mayor introduced the speaker without any loss of time.

Father HUNTINGDON began by referring to the large and evidently intelligent audiences he had the pleasure of meeting in Peterborough, as well as elsewhere in Canada. He would not present to them so much theory, as plain, hard facts. He first compared the

CONDITION OF ENGLAND

300 years ago with England to-day. He gave his information on authority of Prof. Thorold Rogers, who spent 30 years of calm, dispassionate investigation of the matter, and in his book upon "Six Centuries of Labor in England," gave much information of interest to workingmen. The fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, the speaker said, were the golden age for English labour, when laborers worked only eight hours a day, and ate, slept and fared better than workingmen to-day. England was then "Merrie England" truly; but no one would think of calling it "Merrie England" to-day in East London or the Black Country. Since that golden era, production and improvement have gone on, but labour has become enslaved, and to-day we see in England, both in town and country, 700,000 people poorer than the poorest 300 years ago. Thorold Rogers says that 300 years ago there were more people who could read and write in England than there are to-day. The same principle applied to America, that large and growing country. In America there are a million men tramping the road looking for work, and squalor, filth and poverty in the large cities. Americans live in a "fool's paradise," and while they sing, "the land of the free, the home of the brave," the facts were, "the land of the rich, the home of the slave." Canadians do not see much of this extreme poverty, but it was their duty as a nation to do what they could to improve the condition of those around them. In Toronto, he was informed, there were girls working for wages so low that they could not live virtuously. Civilization would be judged not by what it has done, but by what it has not done; not by its successes, but by its defeats. These were facts that had to be faced, and what the people had to do was to find out the cause of this mischief and misery, ascertain what law of God had been broken, and make it right. In dealing with this question, the only ground on which he could stand was the belief in God Almighty, the God of righteousness and love, who was the Father of His children and had made ample provision for them. The speaker said he wished to clear the minds of the people of two fallacies—first, that evolved by Professor Malthus, that over-population would result unless some check were put on mankind, and that society was created by the individual.

THE CONTRARY WAS THE CASE.

The speaker stated that all the people in the world could be put into the State of Texas and there would be an acre of land for each. Man is born into society, and God intends him for a certain purpose and has prepared a place for every human being. The first step of the individual or nation ought to be to realize the purpose and aim for which they were intended by God. The great necessity for proper development was freedom, and for freedom, life. God had amply provided for man's needs, and man had only to labour to supply all his physical wants. He could do more than that. He might produce more than he needed himself and exchange products with other nations; and God intends that what man produces shall be his own, but man defeats God's purpose when he erects customs houses on the borders of his country, shuts off nation from nation, creates ill will and envy, and fails to recognize the brotherhood of man and nations. This free trade sentiment was loudly applauded. Father Huntingdon cannot take any other view of the matter from a broad, religious standpoint. Continuing, he dealt with the "chestnut" which he said had been repeatedly thrown at him, the question: "Would you cut Canada up into pieces and give each man a slice?" Certainly not. That would result in a worse state of things than existed at present, and besides would be manifestly unjust to those who got backwoods lots. God's principle was eternally the same as revealed in His Word. God gave the land to the people; the child born in the poorest tenement has a right to live on it, and a right to be free. Here the speaker defined the difference between land and property. Land was given of God and belonged to the people; property was what was made off the land and belonged to the individual who produced it. Any attempt to monopolize or divide up land was robbery. Therefore the idea of compensation was not sound. Man destroyed God's laws in taking the land away from the people, and must return it to them. The people owned the land, but how could they live off it unless they got free access to it? That was a question which the speaker did not propose to go deeply into. His object was rather to make the people see the crying injustice there was in the world, that they may do their share towards having it righted. It was not a healthy disposition to be contented when these evils demanded redress. All that was asked was, let every man have a chance to work; not to own property or get wealthy, but to work and get a fair share of

THE PROFIT OF HIS LABOR.

The great underlying injustice is that men are not given full access to the sources of wealth. The workingman does not want the land. He says to the rich man, keep the title deeds if you like, but you must pay the value of the land you hold. The rent represents the value of land; let that be the basis of all taxation, and don't put a tax on monies and personal property. When that is done, the people get the full worth of the land, which is the same as having it. All men will be equal, not in wealth, but in the opportunity to create wealth. Vacant land will not then be held for speculation. As people want it, the land will increase in value, and its taxes in proportion. Its owner would want to build on it, and get full value, if he had to pay full taxes, or he will dispose of it to another man who will build. That was the key to the position of affairs. No improvement would be brought about by labor organizations, unless the people were given free access to the land. There would be no use in filling up the statutes with laws until the bad laws were wiped out, and the people given a chance. In conclusion the speaker said it was impossible in one evening to give more than an idea of the great fundamental wrong and its remedy. His object was to arouse the people to a sense of the injustice, get them to read and think, and endeavor to carry out God's will. Father Huntingdon was loudly applauded on sitting down.

Some questions were asked by Mr. Dumble regarding compensation, and after a vote of thanks, moved by Mr. Stratton, and seconded by Mr. Dumble, had been carried with enthusiasm, the meeting broke up.

Peterborough Presbyterial Society.

Report of the Annual Meeting Furnished by the Society.

The annual meeting of Peterborough Presbyterial Society was held in St. Paul's Church, Peterborough, on the 20th Jan., 1891. A morning session was held for the transaction of business and election of officers for 1891. The following is the result of the ballot:

PRESIDENT—Mrs. Craick, Port Hope.
1ST VICE PRESIDENT—Mrs. Scott, Campbellford.
2ND VICE-PRESIDENT—Mrs. Waddell, Centreville.
3RD VICE-PRESIDENT—Miss Roger, Peterborough.
4TH VICE-PRESIDENT—Mrs. Fairbairn, Peterborough.
5TH VICE-PRESIDENT—Mrs. Thompson, Hastings.
CORRESPONDING SECRETARY—Mrs. W. M. Graham, Lakefield.
RECORDING SECRETARY—Miss M. Dickson, Peterborough.
LITERATURE SECRETARY—Miss Clara P. McEwen, Lakefield.
TREASURER—Mrs. Hay, Cobourg.

The afternoon session was attended by about 200 ladies, representatives being present from many branches of the W. F. M. in the Presbytery, and also from several outer societies in town. The retiring president, Miss Roger, extended a cordial welcome to the delegates, and in an able address reviewed the work of the Presbyterial Society, coupling with the retrospect a comprehensive account of the foreign work as carried on by women. The secretary's report gives the numerical strength of the Presbyterial as follows: Number of auxiliaries, 17; number of mission bands, 10; total number of members, 709, of these 91 are members of the general society; amount raised, $1517.63; Clothing for the Indian School, Portage La Prairie, N.W.T., was contributed from 16 Auxiliaries and 4 Mission Bands. The boxes sent aggregated 1000 lbs., value, $400. In the enforced absence of Mrs. Hay, Presbyterial Treasurer, her statement was presented also by the Secretary, Mrs. Craick, and evinces a healthy, prosperous, financial condition.

Addresses were delivered by Mrs. N. F. McNaughton, Cobourg, and Mrs. W. M. Graham, Lakefield, under the respective subjects—"What Women owe to Missions," and "Jewels in the Quicksand." Mrs. Brodigan rendered very acceptably a solo. The collection at this session amounted to $13 30. Greetings were presented on behalf of St. John's church by Mrs. Smith; Methodist church by Mrs. Kendry, and Baptist church by Miss Nicholls.

The following is a list of delegates present: Mrs. Carmichael, Norwood; Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Jackson, Hastings; Mrs. Hay, Mrs. McNaughton, Cobourg; Mrs. Porter, Orono; Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. White, Mrs. Murphy, Mrs. Payne, Mrs. Gage, Mrs. Trotter, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Kelso, Bobcaygeon; Miss Mann, Baltimore; Miss A. H. Morrison, Benafort; Mrs. Wilgar, Cold Springe; Miss Bredin, Bobcaygeon; Mrs. Scott, Campbellford; Mrs. Waddell, Miss Lurmour, Miss Fair, Miss Dodds, Centreville; Mrs. J. Underwood, Miss H. Ross, Grafton; Mrs. M. E. Scott, Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Leggett, Port Hope; Mrs. Duff, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Hendren, Mrs. K. Graham, Mrs. W. Graham, Mrs. Bredin, Miss Clare McEwen, Miss May Nelson, Lakefield.

Compensation.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR.—I have no doubt that those who heard the Rev. J. O. S. Huntingdon last night were highly pleased with him. Amongst the objections made by some very intelligent men, was the one so gracefully urged by Mr. Dumble—confiscation. Are these gentlemen not aware that every exemption of personal property, or of real property, for that matter, from taxation, is a quiet stride along the highway of Single Tax? Yet they do not object because such exemptions promote industry by freeing it. These exemptions are nowadays of large proportions.

OBSERVER.

Norwood.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Monday Jan. 19th, was the day fixed by law for the meeting of the new council.—All the members put in an appearance and took the declaration. In spite of the legal objection raised by his opponents, Reeve Finlay took his seat and opened his official career for 1891, with the good will of the ratepayers.

BAPTIST ANNIVERSARY SERVICES.—The Baptist brethren held their anniversary services in their comfortable little church, last Sunday, Jan. 18th. The Rev. J. T. Dowling of Colborne, occupied the pulpit morning and evening, and his able discourses were listened to by large congregations. On Monday night following the basement of the church was crowded with guests partaking of the good things with which the tables were loaded. About eight o'clock the people assembled in the church to listen to the instructive lecture of Mr. Dowling and feast their eyes upon the illustrative paintings, the products of the lecturer's own art. On each appearance of the canvas a world of study was revealed to the admiring audience. "The Carnival of Passion" and "The Feast of Wisdom," especially, deserve most favorable comment. During the service the choir rendered suitable selections, and at a seasonable hour the meeting dispersed.

Arrangements are now being made for a winter trot to be held here. A track is in course of preparation on the pond, and a successful meeting of fast horses is anticipated.

Zozo, the Magic Queen.

(From the Kennebec Journal, Nov. 6.)

Zozo, the Magic Queen, was played to a large house in Granite Hall last evening, and as a spectacular play in which gorgeous and varied costumes were worn, and in which there was playing, singing and good dancing, and a witty dialogue, it made a decided hit. Seldom have finer spectacular effects been seen on that stage. The scenery which the company brought with them was first class for a travelling troupe, and the calcium lights effects were dazzling. There never was a finer comedian in Augusta than Chas. E. Edwards in the part of Gilbooley, "known as Cupid." The fifteen young ladies in the guise of fairies were young and pretty. The music finale at the close of the second act was fine. As a whole, the company was quite strong, and affords rich entertainment for an evening. One of the pleasing features of the programme was the skirt dance, executed in a very graceful and artistic manner by three young ladies, who in every action showed the true poetry of motion. Miss Ella Bonda made a beautiful Queen, and acted the role as only a true artist can. E. B. Adams, as the Prude, in his female impersonation, was a great character creation, while Frankie Merrick and Vera Bedell, as saucy soubrettes, were very entertaining.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

WILL THERE BE AN APPEAL TO THE COUNTRY SHORTLY?

Renewal of the Rumors that the House Will be Dissolved Refore Another Session Considerable Excitement at Ottawa The Demand for Voters' Lists

OTTAWA, Jan. 22.—It is reported to-day that Sir John has definitaly decided to dissolve Parliament and appeal to the country the last week in February. Several M.P.'s who are here complain that they are still in ignorance of Sir John's intentions. At all events the election talk has resulted in a demand for voters' lists, which are being forwarded by every mail.

The rumors about dissolution went down. To-day the report was in circulation in more than one department to look out for a dissolution notice in next Saturday's Official Gazette. Inquiries pushed in other quarters failed to elicit confirmation, and more than one high official expressed confidence in the previous announcement that there would be no dissolution until after the census and that parliament would meet about the second week of March. The fact that a rush for voters' lists from the various parts of the country has of late developed and that members from distant constituencies have received hints not to be out of easy reach, may have had something to do with encouraging the rumors that a dissolution is at hand.

THE NEW RAILROAD.

Negotiations With the New York Central Authorities Now in Progress.

HAMILTON, Jan. 22.—Last evening a railway man, who is behind the scenes in railway affairs in Canada, said some rather important things to The Spectator on condition that, if they were printed, his name would not be revealed. This is the substance of what he said: "You may depend upon what I am going to tell you as being true, for I speak from personal knowledge and not from hearsay. The prospects of the Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo Railway Company are brighter now than they have been at any time since the city passed that bonus bylaw. When the promoters of this road launched into the enterprise they endeavored to come to a definite agreement with Mr. Ledyard of the Michigan Central. In this they failed. They went from Mr. Ledyard to the New York Central authorities and tried to open negotiations with them. Again they failed. The Central people were not inclined just then to dabble in any new schemes. In the meantime the city bylaw was passed. But the projectors were not able to go on with construction simply because they had not succeeded in interesting any of the great railway corporations in the scheme. All the time since then, while they have been making a bluff at "preparing for active construction" here in order to save the bylaw, they have been working hard and pluckily to induce the New York railway magnates to back their enterprise. Well, after months and months of unsuccessful effort, they have at last succeeded, in a measure. The measure of their success, so far is, that they have induced the New York Central authorities to consider their proposals and negotiate with them, and the negotiations are now in progress. The Central people want a line from the Niagara River to Toronto, and the T., H. and B. company's operations have to some extent cleared the way for such a line. If the negotiations now going on prove to be successful, the T., H. and B. will be built. It will connect with the Canada Southern at a point near the Niagara River, and be built through Hamilton to Toronto. The line between Hamilton and Brantford will probably not be built."

Inspecting the Tunnel.

SARNIA, Jan. 22.—Senator Howlan, the Hon. Neil Macleod, premier, and the Hon. Donald Ferguson, Provincial Secretary, all of Prince Edward Island, paid our town a visit, the object of their distant pilgrimage being to see the St. Clair Tunnel. The Prince Edward Islanders have a big tunnel project of their own on hand—from the island to the mainland, a distance of some 6½ miles. After carefully examining St. Clair Tunnel the Islanders returned to their home greatly encouraged and strengthened in their faith in the practicability of their own submarine tunnel.

A Snow Blockade in Africa.

ALGIERS, Jan. 22.—Communication between Algiers and the town of Medah, forty miles from here, has been cut off by snow. It is impossible to continue the mail service, and the supply of provisions at Medah is very scarce. Advices from Guelma, in the department of Constantine, state that there is considerable mortality among the Arabs of the mountain tribes. They are suffering severely from cold and famine.

She Believed the Medium.

BROCKTON, Mass., Jan. 22.—Mrs. Hudwig Anderson to-day gave morphine to her three children, aged 5, 4 and 2 years, and took some herself. All four are dying. A medium told Mrs. Anderson her husband was keeping company with other women and she resolved to commit suicide.

Steinitz Retains the Championship.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The 19th game in the chess match for the World's Championship was played here to-day and was declared a draw after 41 moves. This gave the match to Steinitz, who has held the title of World's Champion for 25 years. The final score is: Steinitz, 6; Gunsberg, 4; drawn, 9.

Will Germany Interfere?

LONDON, Jan. 21. — A Berlin despatch states that the German court has been asked to remonstrate with Russia against the harsh treatment of the German settlers in Russian Poland. The settlers were induced by the Russians to come to Poland and take up lands from which the Poles had been expelled. The German colonies have become very prosperous, the Berlin company at Doubon owning a railway. Now that the relations of Germany and Russia are changed, Russia has discovered that the Germans are dangerous and threatens to drive them out of the empire.

THE STORM'S DEATH LIST.

WHOLE AFRICAN TRIBES PERISH FROM EXPOSURE.

Death of a Sister of the Late Emperor William Particulars of the Suicide of the Duke of Bedford—Russia has her First Strike, 1000 Miners Going Out.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Shocking accounts of the misery caused by the cold and snow have been received from the southern provinces of Spain. The fearful snowstorm and intense cold found the people entirely unprepared for any such visitation and there is no doubt that many have perished who did not have time to reach shelter.

Two shepherds who were out with their flocks in the hills near Casares and Andalusia had barely time to take refuge in a cave when the storm became threatening. They were already nearly frozen with cold when they reached the cave. Here they remained without food or other covering than their scanty attire for three days, until rescued yesterday by a searching party. One died as soon as he was brought out to the air. The other may survive although it is doubtful.

At Medina, Sidonia, a hungry wolf chased a child in the very heart of the village and was only driven away when a number of people rushed to the rescue.

Packs of wolves are roaming through the more populated districts of Andalusia and are almost as familiar as dogs, but seldom daring to attack human beings.

From Africa even more appalling stories are received and exaggerated reports are current that whole tribes have perished in Algeria. It is not believed, however, that any such wholesale disasters have occurred, although until the more remote regions of Algeria have been heard from much anxiety will be felt.

The Situation in France.

PARIS, Jan. 22.—A renewal of the frost is threatened. Fifty thousand persons are estimated to have been deprived of employment by the severe weather, and it is considered that the loss to France because of the stoppage of wages and trade and the blighting of crops will reach 50,000,000 francs.

The government has donated the dead wood in the state forests to the uses of the poor. The infirmaries and hospitals of France are sorely taxed for those who need either relief or medical care.

The Figaro appeals to the churches to keep their doors open all night and do whatever else may be necessary to turn them into night shelters during the present cold weather.

American Pork in Germany.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—In the Reichstag to-day Herr Barth of the Deutsche Fressinige party moved to repeal the prohibition of American pork and bacon imports. Dr. Von Boetticher, secretary of the Imperial Home Office, said the considerations which had determined the Government to prohibit importation of American pork and bacon turned merely on the fact that American pork was injurious to health. Despite the increased stringency of measures taken in America to suppress the trade in bad hog products there was still no guarantee that Germany would be sufficiently protected from danger of trichinosis. Seven per cent. of the American pigs were affected with the disease, while only six per cent. of German pigs were affected. Many Americans considered the existing measures for the control of hog importations inadequate. The economic importance of the prohibition was exaggerated. Only three per cent. of the pigs consumed in Germany were of American origin. The decree against the importations must be enforced until American pork is pronounced clean. The debate was adjourned.

The Lymph Goes Wrong.

PARIS, Jan. 22.—Prof. Grasset reports the case of a man whose death he asserts was due to the treatment by the Koch method. The patient, Prof. Grasset says, was suffering from a tuberculosis affection, but the disease was not in an advanced stage, and in the opinion of Prof. Grasset the man would doubtless have lived for a long time if he had not been inoculated with the Koch lymph.

Scotch Strike Collapse

GLASGOW, Jan. 22.—Thirty strikers have returned to work on the lines of the North British Railway Company and the collapse of the strike is believed to be imminent. The Caledonian company announces that no vacancies remain on that system and that it will be impossible to re-employ the 1200 old hands now out. The Southwestern Railway Company officials claim to be working with a full force.

Jews to be Jailed as Vags.

MOSCOW, Jan. 22.—The police here have been ordered to arrest as vagabonds all Jews entering the city without permits and to expel those not possessing passports. The police attribute the order to the Czar's spite at the recent meeting at the Mansion House at London.

The Colliery Disaster.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 22.—Details of the colliery explosion yesterday near Charkow show the disaster occurred in a pit at Jugovka depot. Forty miners were killed outright, 80 were taken out unconscious and many will die.

Russia's First Strike.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 22.—Two thousand miners at Sasnoivisce have gone out on strike. This is the first strike that has occurred in Russia.

The workmen in the Imperial dockyard here have struck for an advance of wages.

The Queen Regent Ill.

MADRID, Jan. 22.—The Regent Queen Christina is seriously ill with catarrhal fever. For this season the usual state council was not held to-day, and the state receptions which was to have takenplace to-morrow is postponed.

Death of a Duchess.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—The Grand Duchess of Mecklenberg-Schwerin, sister of the late Emperor William, died to-day at Schwerin.

Taps from the Telegraph.

F. M. Johnson's oatmeal mill at Mazeppa, Minn., has been destroyed by fire. Loss $85,000.

C. E. Pratt, a Wall-street broker, committed suicide at Rahway, N.J., yesterday.

Stamiford, Youman & Eldred, general merchants of Medicine Lodge, Ks., have failed. Liabilities $75,000. The First National Bank was placed in hands of a Government examiner to-day. There had been a run on the bank, but the principal cause of the suspension was a quarrel among the stockholders. Assets $82,000, liabilities $50,000.

MARSHALLED OUT ON PARADE.

Sergeant-Major Rahilly Has Answered His Last Magic Call.

HALIFAX, Jan. 22.—Battery Sergeant-Major Rahilly of the Royal Artillery, who was stationed at the citadel, dropped dead in the square to-day while on parade. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause. He was on duty up to the minute of his death. Deceased was about 38 years of age and had not been a year here, having come last March from Bermuda. He was unmarried.

TWINS ON A TRAIN.

A Poor Abandoned French Woman in a Sad Plight.

MONTREAL, Jan. 22.—Some months ago a man named Joseph Trudeau left his home in Chicoutimi to seek work in Montreal, promising his young wife, whom he left behind, that she should be sent for as soon as he met with his first success in this city. Hearing nothing whatever from the husband, the abandoned wife started in search of him, but her funds giving out at Quebec Madame Trudeau's passage was paid to Montreal by the chief of police in the former city. While on the train to Montreal this morning the poor woman gave birth to a child and shortly after the mother's arrival here another little stranger came into the world. The woman and her two babies were sent to the Grey Nuns, while charitable citizens are on the lookout for the husband of the mother.

A SHOCKING CASE.

Inhumanly Dragged to Jail But to Die Next Day.

STRATFORD, Jan. 22.—The death occurred in the County Jail here of James Kelly, aged 20, who had been admitted the day previous on a charge of insanity. From what could be learned this lad had come originally from England, and under the protection of the Fegan Boys' Distributing Home of Toronto had for a time served near Palmerston, finally obtaining employment with a farmer in the Gore of Downie. About two weeks ago he fell sick, and as a final refuge the friendly portals of the jail stood open for him, as it has stood for many other unfortunates in the past, and he was consequently driven there. As usual, an inquest was held on the remains and a verdict rendered that the cause of death was inflammation of the bowels.

POISONED BY THE OLD PUMP.

Verdigris from Its Brass Faucet Kills a Little Girl.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Verdigris in the brass faucet of a pump from which little 7-year-old Emma Wilson drank at the tenement, No. 31 St. Mark's-place, caused the child's poisoning and death. She had been playing tag in the tenement yard on Thursday, become thirsty, put her little mouth to the faucet and did what many of the other children had frequently done before—sucked a drink from the old pump while another child agitated its handle—only she must have sucked a little harder, for when she ran upstairs to her mother shortly afterward there was a green stain on her cheek, which the whole household remembered after little Emma had died with all the symptoms of poisoning.

Horrible Fate of a Philadelphia Workman

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 22.—A horrible accident occurred at the Bristol Rolling Mills at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, when the body of Charles Carpenter, an employe of the mills, was pierced through by a red hot iron bar. Carpenter was stationed at the end of the series of rolls to catch the iron as it comes out and start it through the mills again. When the fatal bar appeared Carpenter reached forward with his tongs to catch it; but just then, owing to a peculiar condition of the iron, the bar suddenly bent aside and came rapidly forward. So great was its speed that Carpenter saw at once the futility of attempting to catch it, quickly turned to go away, but too late, for no sooner had he turned than the semi-molten bar struck him in the small of the back, passing entirely through the body. His companions turned from the blood-curdling sight, and the victim fell in agony to the floor. Friends went to him and succeeded in withdrawing the iron. With blood almost pouring from the wound the dying man was taken to the office of Dr. E. J. Groom, who attended to the patient, but pronounced his case fatal.

Honoring a King's Remains.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.—The last honors were paid to the late King Kalakaua this afternoon. The hearse was escorted by the Golden Gate Commandery followed by the assemblage and over 100,000 spectators to the foot of Market-street. The casket was placed aboard the steamer Madrona and received by Admiral Brown. The Madrona then steamed out to the United States cruiser Charleston and the casket was transferred and placed under a canopy of American and Hawaiian flags. At 5 o'clock the Charleston passed through the Golden Gate and proceeded to sea.

Playing With Matches.

HAMILTON, Jan. 22.—About 11 o'clock this morning a fire originated in a closet underneath a stairway in the residence of Mr. Joseph Smith, No. 213 Main-street east. The fire started through some of the children playing with matches and accidentally setting a quantity of clothing in a blaze. Considerable damage was done.

Dave Ross, the driver, had his left eye and face badly cut and bruised. W. James, one of the men, had his hands badly bruised by being thrown from the hose cart en route.

His Nose Bitten Off by a Horse.

HAMILTON, Jan. 22.—Edward Knight of Dakota, brother-in-law of Mr. L. Morris, went out to harness up a horse with the intention of going out for a drive, and as he was standing at the side of the animal buckling a strap the brute suddenly turned his head and bit Mr. Knight in the face. Mr. Knight's nose was as completely bitten off as if it had been cut by a razor, and a great portion of the right cheek was torn away.

The Milton Murderer Sentenced.

MILTON, Jan. 22.—In the case of Joseph H. Thomas, formerly of this city, charged with the murder of Michael Downey on Dec. 30, at Ontonagon, Mich., the jury returned a verdict of murder in the second degree. Thomas has been sentenced to the state prison for 25 years. Thomas was, all through the trial, the coolest man in the court room, not showing the least sign of remorse or fear. His demeanor throughout marks him as a hardened criminal for his years, being but 19.

Frozen to Death

WINNIPEG, Jan. 22.—The 14-year old son of Albert Caros, Moose Jaw, wandered away from home eight days ago and was found near Pense to-day frozen to death.

Heavy Seizure of Liquors.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 22.—The Mounted Police at Broadview, under Sergeant Cochrane, made seizure of a full car of liquors this morning shipped from Hamilton to Edmonton, containing 945 gallons of whisky, brandy and gin in cases and kegs and have stored the same, waiting orders from the department.

Had a Penchant for Pearls.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—William C. Duncan, aged 19, a city salesman for the diamond hour of Lewesohn & Co. of this city has disappeared with $30,000 worth of diamonds and pearls.

They Met by Chance.

HAMILTON, Jan. 22.—Sergeant Adams of the Brantford police force, while on a visit here to-day, accidentally discovered and arrested Angus McIsaacs, who escaped from Brantford jail a short time ago.

$15,000 Fire.

GLENBORO, Man., Jan. 22.—Livingston's general store, Barr's Hotel and large feed stable, Barr's dwelling house and Maxwell's implement warehouse were burned this morning. Total loss about $15,000, insurance $10,000. The origin of the fire so far is unknown.

AN UNGRATEFUL THIEF.

A Young Englishman Who is Badly Wanted for Forgery and Housebreaking.

SHELBURNE, Jan. 22.—Joseph Costigan, a young Englishman who came from Dr. Barnardo's home and who has for some time past been working for Amos Davison, a farmer living near here, ransacked his employer's house yesterday of some loose silver, a silver watch, a revolver and a note for $155. James Davison's house was also entered. Costigan then came to Shelburne and endorsing Mr. Davison's name on the note presented it at Halstead's Bank, but Halstead being suspicious advanced Costigan $10 until he could make further investigation. Warrants have been issued for Costigan's arrest.

BLAINE BOWLED OUT.

Because His Government was so Badly Snubbed by England.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—The Times' Washington special says: The action of the British Government in declining to endorse the efforts of the managers of the approaching grand exposition at Jamaica to secure the participation of the Government of the United States has aroused great indignation at the state department and among those senators and representatives who have been informed of the facts in the case. Secretary Blaine makes no concealment of his belief that the United States Government was purposely snubbed by Her Majesty's representatives, and an investigation of the facts shows beyond dispute that the only reason why the United States will not be officially represented at the exposition is that no invitation was extended that could be properly accepted.

Knocked the Props From Under Him.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—Referring to the report that the British Government had not invited the United States to be represented at the Jamaica exposition it was explained semi-officially to-day that the British Government never sends formal invitations to any country to be represented at any exposition unless such exhibition is actually organized by the British Government.

Painfully Injured.

CAINSVILLE, Jan. 22.—Daniel Whiting, ex-reeve of Onondaga Township, and his daughter, Miss Whiting, were driving along the road shortly after dark, when two young men, each on trotting rigs, came tearing along the road at a terrific pace, dashing into his buggy, upsetting it, and throwing him and his daughter out on the road. Mr. Whiting was severely injured, one of the irons of the sleigh having penetrated the sole of his foot to a depth of over two inches, making a badly lacerated wound.

Fatally Crushed by a Cave-in.

MARKHAM, Jan. 22.—A young man named Hill, living on the York side of Scarboro' township, near L'Amoraux, was engaged in hauling gravel from 3d con. gravel pit and had backed his sleigh in for a load, when the overhanging bank caved in, burying him beneath it. He was taken out in a few minutes, when it was found that one side of his face was crushed out of shape, one of his eyes lying on his cheek, besides being injured internally. He has since died. The case is particularly sad from the fact that the young man was only married a few months.

Papooses Murdered by Soldiers.

PINE RIDGE AGENCY, S.D., Jan. 22.—A detachment of the soldiers went out to-day to the place near Wounded Knee where the bodies of a woman and three children were found yesterday. Red Hawk, who has been a member of the police force here for the past seven years, identified the corpses as those of his wife and three children. The little ones were naked and frozen stiff. The woman was dressed, but was barefooted. General Miles is satisfied that the poor creatures were killed by the soldiers the day after the battle at Wounded Knee. They had been shot in the back while trying to reach a place of safety, and were four miles from the scene of the battle. One Government cartridge shell was found near the bodies. So close had the guns been held to the unfortunates that the side of the little boy's head was powder-burned.

A Female Miser's Feet Frozen.

NEWMARKET, Jan. 22.—An old woman was brought to the Home who had been living in extreme poverty for years and had got her feet frozen. She denied having any money when she arrived, but on the matron examining her clothes a wallet was found containing $92 in bills done up separately in little wads, and $10 or $12 in silver. Some of the bills dated back as far as 1837. The bank pronounces them all collectable but one.

Killed in the Woods.

PETERBORO, Jan. 22.—Thomas Simpson, aged 19 years, whose parents live at Lakefield, was killed by an accident on Monday in one of Cook Bros.' shanties on the North Shore. He was assisting to load logs when one of the heavy logs rolled on him and he was killed instantly.

A Lindsay Firm Assigns.

LINDSAY, Jan. 22.—R. Smythe & Sons, drygoods merchants here, have assigned. Their embarrassment, it is assumed, was caused by the McLachlan failure in Montreal. R. Smythe, the senior member of the firm, presided over the town as mayor for last year.

Died In His Sleep.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—Barnabas Devitt of Waterloo, father of Mr. Benjamin Devitt, License Inspector for North Waterloo, died suddenly at his residence last evening at the advanced age of 84. He went to bed healthy as usual and at 10½ his wife noticed something unusual in his appearance and found that he was dead.

Milton Postoffice Robbed.

MILTON, Jan. 22.—Burglars broke into the postoffice here and the store of Mr. Isaac Cartmer, grocer. The outside and inner doors of the postoffice were forced open, but the thieves got nothing there. At Cartmer's they bored a hole through the outside of the door. Having put powder and fuse through the hole they attempted to blow the door open, but though their blast went off the door remained shut, and they took their departure, leaving behind them three chisels and a brace, which were found to belong to Mr. William McKenzie, carriage builder, whose shop had been broken into for the tools.

Death Followed the Dance.

QUEBEC, Jan. 22.—A young lady of the Island of Orleans attended a dance lately. On returning home she swooned and died in a short time. She was subject to fits of epilepsy.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—In the rear of an undertaker's establishment in Eighth-avenue there reposed in an ice box yesterday the remains of Alexander Elsner, 43, an unmarried man who was traveling agent in this country for the jewelry firm of J. Ratzersdorfer of Vienna. On top of the ice box was placed a glass of oil in which floated a lighted taper, a Jewish custom known as the "lamp of death."

The unfortunate man left several letters in which he declared that life was not worth living because he had been recalled from his position. Elsner stated in one of his letters that he was in love with Mrs. Helena Reiss of No. 76 Avenue B, a married woman, whose husband lives in Austria.

John Daly's Prison Changed

LONDON, Jan. 21.—John Daly, who has been imprisoned for several years under sentence for participation in dynamite outrages, was removed to-day, in company with several other men undergoing sentences for similar offences, from Chatham Prison to Portland Prison. Friends of Daly who saw him while he was being transferred from Chatham say that though his face has undergone a great change in appearance, his general health appeared to be greatly improved.

Ask Your Friends

Who have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla what they think of it, and the reply will be positive in its favor. One has been cured of indigestion and dyspepsia, another finds it indispensible for sick headache, others report remarkable cures of scrofula, salt rheum, etc. Truly, the best advertising which Hood's Sarsaparilla receives is the hearty endorsement of its army of friends.

Seed Testing at the Central Experimental Farm.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—The past season has in many localities been unfavorable for the perfect maturing of grain. In some districts frost has touched it, in others it has been injured by rain during harvest, or from being stacked before fully dry thus causing it to sprout or heat, while in other localities some varieties have been shrivelled and partly blighted by hot drying winds. Under each and all of these conditions cereals are apt to lose a portion of their vitality, or to have it so weakened as to produce, when sown, a puny growth. Seed grain, to bring the best results, should have its germinating power unimpaired, so that when placed in the soil the young plants may make a prompt and vigorous start. The character of the crop is much influenced by the quality of the seed, and for this reason it is important that farmers should ascertain whether the grain they are holding for seed possesses the necessary vitality. Provision has been made by the Government whereby this can be done without cost to the individual, and any farmer in the Dominion who may have any varieties which he desires to have tested, may obtain the information he seeks by forwarding to the Central Experimental Farm, at Ottawa, samples of such grain or other agricultural seeds. A special testing house has been built for this work, which offers ample capacity. Samples may be sent free through the mail, an ounce or two is sufficient for the purpose, and about two weeks are required to complete a test. Since November, when the season opened for this work, the vitality of more than eleven hundred samples has been ascertained, and it is hoped that all those who desire to avail themselves of the provision offered will send in their samples early, so that there may be time to complete the work, and supply the needed information before seeding begins.

WM. SAUNDERS,
Director Experimental Farm.

Railways Built in 1890.

An account of the railway building done in North America in 1890 is given in The Railway Age. The amount of track laid in the United States was 6,178 miles, in Canada 863, and in Mexico 500. The Southern States lead in road building, as they have for several years. In Georgia 465 miles were laid, in Alabama 330, in Kentucky 209, in North Carolina 301, in South Carolina 199, in Tennessee 174, in Texas 243, in Virginia 258. The greatest share of the railroad building of Canada has been in the North-west, where the following mileage of work was done:—Canadian Pacific Railway, to end track to Prince Albert, 1354 miles; Souris to Melita, 41 5 miles; Moosomin Station south 10 miles; Sproat's to Kootenay Lake 20 miles; Calgary & Edmonton Railway from Calgary north, to Red Deer River, 95 miles; Qu'Appelle, Long Lake & Saskatchewan Railway, from Springe to Prince Albert 136 miles; Albert Railway & Coal Company, from International line to Lethbridge, 66 miles.

Harvey.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The Harvey council met at the town hall on the 19th inst., viz, Robert Shaw, reeve, and councillors Flynn, Mellin'ds, Shearer and Tate. Having made and filed their several declarations of qualification and office, they took their seats at the council board for the current year. After routine a by-law was passed confirming the appointment of John Elliott and W. P. Chase as auditors. A by-law was passed appointing health officers, viz., R. Shaw, reeve, the clerk, and Robert Renwick, Chas. McIlmoyle, John Tate, James Parry and Thomas Flynn for the township of Harvey for 1891. A by-law was also passed re-appointing the clerk; James Richmond, assessor, and Wm. Weir, treasurer, for the current year. The reeve was instructed to draw orders on the treasurer, viz.:

E. B. Edwards, fees and expenses	$15 00
S. Purser, for flour and clothing for Abbott	3 00
W. J. Hall, refund on tax sale	23 42
Arch. Johnston, refund on tax sale	17 82
Matthew McConnell, gravelling cross way	6 00
John James Elliott, caretaker of town hall, 1890	6 00
Misal Pinard, repairing crossway	1 00

The clerk was instructed to correct error in collector's roll of Arch. Johnston's assessment, $10.33.

The council adjourned to meet at the clerk's office on the 9th day of March next.

Campbellford.

A wedding ceremony was performed in the Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening of last week, when Mr. Fred. C. Reynolds, grocery man, and Miss Brown, daughter of Mr. D. Brown, of Campbellford, pledged their life-long affection for each other under the solemn tie of marriage. Rev. M. Scott officiated on the occasion. The bride-maid was Miss Mabe Reynolds, of Norwood, while Mr. Fred Stephenson, of the same place, assumed the duties of groomsman. A large company was assembled to witness the union. After the ceremony they all sat up and the invited guests repaired to the residence of the bride's father at the Queen's hotel, where they were royally entertained from nine o'clock until after midnight. The supper was a sumptuous affair, and included almost everything that could be desired. Early in the morning the united pair took the departure on the C.P.R. at Havelock for a trip westward to Toronto and Barrie. We unite with their friends in wishing them comfort and happiness through every walk of their wedded life.—Herald.

Canadians are Becoming Wiser.

As a rule the people of Canada think before they act; this course is certainly commendable. We are aware of the fact, that, owing to circumstances in the past, our people have been forced to act cautiously and with judgment. This is apparent and easily seen now-a-days in the purchase of remedies for the various ailments common to all.—So many deceptions and frauds, worthless preparations and dangerous mixtures for the cure of all diseases, have appeared of late and in the past, causing untold suffering and aggravating disease, that men and women now require proof positive of their value before handling any of them. Amidst the scores of preparations in our land to-day, Paine's Celery Compound is the only one that has thoroughly won the confidence of all classes, and is the only remedy that physicians can truly recommend for all nerve troubles, sleeplessness, loss of strength, dyspepsia and impaired digestion.

Paine's Celery Compound guarantees renewed strength, vigor, sound rest and great vitality. It gives a glow of health to the pale cheek and ruggedness to the dull eye, as well as a cheerful and happy state of mind. No other remedy can do this. Try it, reader, and you will soon be convinced of its great merits.

When troubled with a cough or cold, get a bottle for Wilson's Wild Cherry and cure it at once, before it has time to settle on your lungs. Why experiment with new and untried remedies, when this old and reliable cure may be got from all leading druggists. Thousands bear testimony to the remarkable curative properties of Wilson's Wild Cherry in such diseases as bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, colds, coughs, etc. Get the genuine in white wrappers only. dw

SWINDLED BY WHOLESALE.

Two Pittsburg Absconders Arrested at Hamilton Charged with Stealing $65,000.

HAMILTON, Jan. 21.—Two American defaulters from Bradford, Pa., named Isaac Rich and D. W. Robinson were arrested here this afternoon on a capias issued at the instance of James Warner of Boston, Mass. Rich and Robinson were in company in the wholesale boot and shoe business in Bradford, Pa., and were supposed to be doing a first-class business and considered very trustworthy. They got credit to the extent of about $100,000 from different houses and on Dec. 20 they left for parts unknown, leaving stock to the value of only a few thousand dollars on the premises, the rest having been sold on short notice and the proceeds pocketed by the defaulters. Warner, who is a traveler for Little, Maxwell & Co., Boston, Mass., who are creditors of Rich & Robinson, got on the track of the pair and followed them to this city. Rich and Robinson were both accompanied by their wives when arrested and were on their way to England. The extent of their defalcation is said to be in the neighborhood of $85,000.

The Strike On the Chicago & Erie.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—First Vice-President Middleton of the New York & Erie Railway in relation to the strike on the Chicago & Erie Railroad said this afternoon: "Under no circumstances will despatcher Scott be reinstated. By his carelessness two freight trains were nearly wrecked. Such conduct cannot be tolerated. The despatchers places have been filled, and those of the conductors inside of 24 hours. Scott is secretary of the Order of Railroad Conductors and Despatchers, hence the sympathy expressed for him by his associates. Scott has been found to be unreliable before this. This last error was made at Huntington, Ind., when he issued a 'top order.' A catastrophe was averted by the merest chance."

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 21.—A despatch from Marion says there is not a freight train on the Chicago and Erie between Chicago and Marion. The whole trouble seems to be a dislike of Scott by Superintendant Merrill. The railroad has arranged with the Pennsylvania and P.C.C. and St. Louis to handle all passenger and perishable business west and east, via Urbana and Mansfield.

Trainmen Join the Strikers.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—A Fort Wayne, Ind., special says the trainmen have taken up the case of the Chicago & Erie train despatchers and refuse to take orders for the movement of trains from any but the old men.

A Novel Operation.

DECATUR, Ill., Jan. 21.—A surgeon of this city has just completed a novel surgical operation. He removed part of four ribs of a cat and inserted them in the nose of a young lady, forming a bridge for the nose. The bones of the nose were decayed and were removed.

Purify Your Blood

The importance of having the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted to generations, causing untold suffering, and we allow unhealthy poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or we drink, the clothing we wear, or the pure blood within our veins. Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, will expel every trace of scrofula or other humor, removes the taint which causes catarrh, overcomes that tired feeling, and builds up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

OUR ACTIVE MILITIA.

THE STRENGTH AND PURPOSE OF THE DOMINION FORCE.

General Facts of Interest to the Citizen Soldiery—An Excellent Sketch of The Victoria Rifles of Montreal—How its Officers and Its Armory Look.

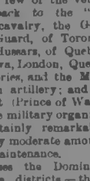
THE active militia of Canada, composed of a fluctuating body of between thirty and forty thousand of all branches, is a comparatively young force, the majority of the battalions dating their organization to sometime in the "sixties," a few of the veteran regiments dating back to the "fifties," such as, in the cavalry, the Governor General's Body Guard, of Toronto, and the Queen's Own Hussars, of Quebec; in the artillery, the Ottawa, London, Quebec and Montreal field batteries, and the Montreal brigade of garrison artillery; and in the infantry of the First (Prince of Wales) Rifles, of Montreal. The military organization of Canada is certainly remarkably effective, despite the very moderate amount annually voted for its maintenance.

For military purposes the Dominion is divided into twelve districts—three in the Province of Quebec, four in the Province of Ontario, and one each in the Provinces of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Manitoba and the Northwest Territory, British Columbia and Prince Edward Island. Each district has a deputy adjutant general and brigade major over it (in some cases the deputy adjutant general taking the dual office), the whole being under the command of a major general commanding and an adjutant general, with headquarters at Ottawa. The permanent force, which represents the "standing army" of Canada, consists of the various "school corps" instituted about five years ago, with a view to the instruction of officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the active militia. This force comprises one cavalry corps, one of mounted infantry, three batteries of artillery and four companies of infantry, the whole forming a fine body of about a thousand men.

The appointment of all officers (except those who have served in the Imperial Army or have graduated from the Royal Military College, at Kingston, Ontario,) is "provisional" until they have passed the required examination after a three-months course at one of the schools, and have obtained a first or second class certificate. All field officers and adjutants must hold first-class certificates.

The active militia is composed of nine regiments of cavalry (exclusive of a few independent troops), seventeen field batteries and five brigades of garrison artillery, three companies of engineers and ninety seven battalions of infantry. Most of the regiments are clad in the regulation British scarlet, with blue facings, but there are a good many in the sombre but more serviceable "rifle green," notably such "cracks" as the "Victorias," of Montreal; the "Queen's Own," of Toronto, and the Eighth Royals, of Quebec. The Governor General's foot Guards, of Ottawa, and the Tenth Royal Grenadiers, of Toronto, take as their prototype the guardsman of the Imperial Army. The Fifth Royal Scots, of Montreal, is the only regiment turning out in the complete "garb of old Gaul," "wi' kilts, sporrans, bagpipes, an' a', an' a'."

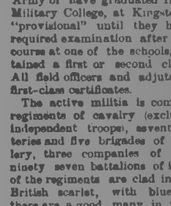
The city corps number about ten thousand and the rural about thirty thousand men.



The amount annually expended on the military service of Canada approximates a million and a half, a sum not at all sufficient to carry out the proper training of the force and provide for its efficient equipment. Owing to the inadequacy of the grant each rural corps is, as a rule, only called out every alternate year for training. The city corps perform their annual drills at the headquarters of the regiment, and have a great advantage over their provincial brethren.

LT. COL. SMITH.

In a rural battalion each company is semi-independent, the captain being responsible for the care of arms, clothing and accoutrements; and he is supposed to keep his service roll up to the required strength, the minimum being thirty-two and the maximum forty-two non-commissioned officers and men. The period for which men enrol is three years, at the expiration of which time they can claim a discharge. At present service is voluntary, but in case of necessity every male inhabitant (with some few exceptions) between the ages of eighteen and sixty years is liable to be balloted for service. Where the young men are continually changing about from place to place, as is the case in all country districts, even more than in cities, the difficulty of keeping a company up to its regulation strength is rather a hard matter.



Each company is supposed to be grounded in squad and company drill at headquarters, and the time at camp is devoted chiefly to battalion movements, attack drills, guard mounting and musketry instruction. The

LIEUT. COL. HENSHAW.

Canadian is, as a rule, a good rifle shot, but the opportunities offered to the militia of acquiring a scientific knowledge of the art of shooting are very meagre. Each man is allowed twenty rounds at camp, which means ten rounds per annum, as a corps only goes out every alternate year. In some cases where the leaven of rifle shooting has got into a corps large amounts are expended on ammunition, and as nearly every rural company has its targets and butts a great deal of excellent practice is done. In 1880 a Rifle League match was fired, in which about sixty teams from different regiments over the length and breadth of the Dominion took part. The contest consisted of seven matches, fired simultaneously by teams of ten active members, of each corps. The result of the day's shooting was telegraphed from the various points at once. The distances were 200,500 and 600 yards; seven shots at each range. A rural corps, the Fifty-fourth (Richmond) Battalion, of Quebec, came out at the head of the poll with a fine average of over eighty per cent. of the possible score per man. The rifle of the Canadian militia is the Snider, a good serviceable weapon, very suitable for the rough usage it meets at the hands of inexperienced men, and fairly accurate up to 600 yards. Beyond this distance the Snider is not to be relied on, and no matches are fired with it outside that range. A few Martini-Henry rifles are issued for practice, but it is doubtful if the militia of Canada will be armed with that rifle in preference to the old Snider.

That quick and accurate shooting can be made with the Martini there can be no doubt, as was clearly demonstrated at Montreal, when Captain Harkom, of the Fifty-fourth Battalion, challenged the crack shot of a French man-of-war, then in port, to fire a match—the French magazine rifle versus the Martini, the shooting to extend over a given number of minutes, rapidity of fire and score to be taken into consideration. The Frenchman got a great lead with his first magazine full, but the Martini kept up a steady fire, and on time being called was ahead on the number of shots, while the score was a long way the better. The Canadian team has always done well in England at the Wimbledon meetings, the Kolapore Cup having fallen to them more than once, and in 1889 the Prince of Wales Cup was won by a member of the team. In 1888 they won £323 money, in 1889 £430, and in 1890 £570. The new venue at Bisley, in 1890, does not seem to have been so favorable to Dominion marksmen.

ARMORY OF THE VICTORIA RIFLES.

The First (Prince of Wales) Rifles, of Montreal, and the Second (Queen's Own), of Toronto, are both senior to the "Vics" in date of organization, but in efficiency and esprit de corps the Third is second to none. The Victoria Rifle Corps dates its official embodiment from January 10, 1862, when Lieut. Col. Osborne Smith was gazetted to the command of the regiment, with many of the prominent citizens of Montreal as officers, non-commissioned officers and men under him. In 1868, on the substitution of the active militia system in place of the old volunteer plan, the regiment assumed the name of the Victoria Rifles of Canada. The corps has always been a most popular one, and men now holding the first positions in the city speak with an honest pride of the days when they served in the ranks of the "Vics." What the Seventh are to New York the "Vics" are to Montreal. Recruited from a class forming the cream of everything athletic—men excelling in the manly and invigorating exercises and sports peculiar to Canada—the "Vics" have a style and vim about them which strikes a stranger at once.

The Census of 1891.

Of the host of candidates for the Census Commissionership of Peterborough, who are worrying the life out of the Dominion representative, it is currently reported that Mr. Charles Stapleton has the "inside track." If this be so, it is now in order for candidates in the several townships to worry the life out of the new Census Commissioner elect, lest they be left in the lurch.

Upset and Runaway.

Mrs. R. S. Davidson was driving a couple of young ladies, Miss Graham, of Lakefield, and Miss McClelland, of Parry Sound, about town yesterday, and in turning a corner the cutter was upset, and its occupants spilled on the road. They fortunately escaped injury but the horse ran away, cutting its legs and damaging the vehicle considerably.

Opening of the Club.

The new rooms of the Young Men's Catholic Club will be formally opened next Monday night by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor. The furnishing of the rooms will be finished by that time and a public opening will take place. All young men are invited. His Lordship will deliver an address, a short musical programme is being gotten up by Mr. Thos. Dunn, and there will be a debate—the "return match"—between representatives of Peterborough and Lindsay. The opening will be an interesting event.

Failed to Connect.

The Town Council at its last meeting accepted an invitation of the ladies of the Protestant Home to visit that institution, and appointed Thursday afternoon for the purpose. Six ladies attached to the Home waited two hours for the civic deputation, but they waited in vain. Councillors, who are all active business men, had forgotten entirely about it. The ladies feel justly vexed, but out of the natural kindness of their sex will no doubt forgive the unintentional slight if the Councillors promise not do it again. The promised visit will likely be paid in a few days.

Going West.

Mr. H. W. Kent, local agent of the Bell Telephone Company, has been offered a lucrative position at Vancouver, B. C., with his company, and has decided to accept it. He leaves for British Columbia about the first of February to take charge of the agency at Vancouver. The telephone is in its infancy in the West, and there will be an extensive field for Mr. Kent to work in. His many friends will regret to hear of his removal from town, but his fortunes will no doubt be enhanced in the growing west, where there are splendid opportunities for a young man of ability and push to succeed. The EXAMINER hopes he may experience the full measure of success.

Endeavor Society's Social.

The social held at the residence of Mrs. J. DIXON, Park street north, Thursday night, under the auspices of the Young People's Endeavor Society of St. Paul's church, was attended by a small but happy gathering who spent a most pleasant evening. Games were indulged in and refreshments provided, and an informal programme rendered, consisting of instrumental solos by Miss Fairweather and Miss Annie Patterson, vocal solos by Misses Mary Paterson and Lillie Dixon and Mr. John Crane, and a quartette by Misses Cameron and Crane, and Messrs. Crane and Nelson. Mrs. Dixon is a good hostess and did everything possible for the comfort and entertainment of those present.

At the Opera House.

"ZORO" as presented at the opera house last night was scarcely recognizable. The play has been revised and altered greatly—but it has lost none of its mirth-provoking qualities. It is brimful of ridiculous incidents and funny dialogue, and as a burlesque is a fair success. The audience was not very large, but it got its money's worth in laugh. The funniest Irish comedian that ever appeared in Peterborough, several other good stage specialties, a bevy of young, shapely and good-looking girls, with just the tiniest suspicion of spiciness in the performance, contributed to make the show most acceptable to the audience.

"Honour to Whom Honour is Due."

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—As one of the oldest members of the congregation of St. John's church present at the opening of the South Ward Mission School last night, I would like to state that the Mission in connection with that church was opened by the late rector, Rev. Mr. Beck, assisted by the late C. H. Sheffield, Esq., and a few ladies of the congregation nine years ago, and Sunday School and Sunday service continued till his death. I might also add that this was but the resumption of services, temporarily lapsed, conducted in the South Ward years ago through Mr. Beck's influence, Rev. W. C. Allan being the curate. I am sure it was simply through pure inadvertance that more specific reference was not made to Rev. Mr. Beck's connection with this work, and it is only in justice to his memory that I have, sir, through your courtesy, endeavoured to give "Honour to whom honour is due."

Yours sincerely,
SOUTH WARD.

Annual Meeting of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society.

The annual meeting of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society was held in the town hall, Norwood on Wednesday, Jan. 21st, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Kidd, George Elliott, John Knox, Frank Birdsall, Duncan Campbell, Daniel Kelley, John Fitzpatrick, and others.

The minutes of last meeting were read and adopted. The President's report, verbally given, was next listened to. The success of the annual exhibition was dwelt upon, the prosperity of the farmers of this riding during the past year, and the district plowing match. Mr. W. E. Roxburgh, secretary-treasurer, submitted the financial report:

Balance on hand	$66 19

The above shows an increase in the list of members as well as in the amount paid for premiums, over previous year. After considerable discussion John Breakenridge, Esq., moved the adoption of the report, which was carried.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

PRESIDENT.—John Knox, Esq.

FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT.—Daniel Kelly, Esq.

SECOND VICE PRESIDENT.—Jas Robb, Esq.

SEC.-TREAS.—W. E. Roxburgh, Esq.

AUDITORS.—Messrs. J. B. Pearce and W. H. Stephenson.

The following resolution was moved by Mr. Birdsall, seconded by Mr. Jas. Moore:

That in the opinion of this annual meeting, Government assistance should be more liberally given to the Riding Agricultural Societies. Be it therefore resolved that the representative of this Riding be requested to urge upon the Government the necessity for further aid in this direction, and that other Riding Societies be requested to co-operate and press the matter through their representatives.—Carried.

Mr. James Moore was appointed delegate to the Farmers' Central Institute, annual meeting, and meeting adjourned.

DEDICATED FREE OF DEBT

The Happy Condition of St. John's New Mission Building.

The Opening Services Last Night—Sketch of the Mission, its Origin and Growth—The New Building—Episcopal and Clerical Addresses—Dedicated Free of Debt—An Unique Church Record.

Thursday was a proud day for the South Ward, and especially for half a score of faithful ladies, for it witnessed the completion and dedication of the new St. John's Mission building—the culmination of over eight years' arduous and faithful toil in Sunday School work. In the summer of 1882 Rev. J. W. R. Beck, rector of Peterborough, suggested the idea of establishing a mission, and four ladies acted upon it. They were Mrs. Archer and Mrs. Joseph Beller, who associated with them Miss Barlee, Miss Babidge and Miss Sherwood (Mrs. Quartermain), the latter adding the duties of organist to that of teacher. A Sunday School was organized in the Dalhousie street common mission building. The attendance comprised about fifteen of the previously uncared-for children of the neighbourhood. The late C. H. Sheffield was

THE FIRST SUPERINTENDENT.

Shortly after Miss Chamberlain, and Miss Maggie Babidge associated themselves with the work, and afterwards Miss Watt, Miss Cairns, Miss Evans, the Misses White, Miss Malvile, Miss Campbell, Miss Claringbold and others. Most of the latter began as pupils of the school, and continued, the majority of them, as teachers to the present day. It is to the united, faithful and untiring efforts of these ladies chiefly that the work of the mission, especially in its earlier years grew in strength, importance and good results. No small number of confirmation candidates having come from the Mission.

At one time it became desirable to retire from the mission building and, through the kindness of the School Board, the South ward public school building was used till Miss Chamberlain donated for the purpose of a mission school, a property on the corner of Dalhousie and Bethune streets. The dwelling on it was converted into a school room, which has been used till the present building was completed. Regular Sunday service service has also been held there of late.

The ladies of the Sunday School not only faithfully performed the duties of the present as they confronted them, but they wisely provided for the future. By a series of entertainments from time to time, and by other means, they amassed a respectable building fund, and their zeal and energy by other residents of the South Ward, especially Rev. V. Clementi, who has been a most staunch and substantial friend to the Mission, giving both the benefit of his ripe experience and also most liberally of his means. The ladies won many friends to the work, the present clergy of St. John's, on their establishment here, heartily co-operating and aiding the good work. Mr. W. M. Loucks, the present lay reader of the Mission, has been an indefatigable worker and valuable assistance since his appointment.

WERE NOTED AND RECOGNIZED

During the past summer the idea of the erection of a mission building assumed a practicable shape, and work was vigorously set on foot. Subscription lists were circulated, and thanks to the liberal response on behalf of the friends of the Mission, many of them members of other Christian denominations, (to whom the ladies would be glad to express especial gratitude), a sufficient amount was realized to warrant the erection of a new building. Miss Chamberlain, with the consent of other members of the family interested in the Chamberlain estate, exchanged the old site for the present

MORE VALUABLE AND DESIRABLE SITE.

The plans of the Mission School building were prepared by Mr. J. E. Belcher, and in the middle of November the contract was awarded to Mr. Arthur Rutherford, who has completed it to the entire satisfaction of those concerned. The building is an elegant and substantial structure of the Romanesque style of architecture standing on the corner of Sherbrooke and Rubidge streets. It is 30x70 feet in area over all. The red brick walls rest upon solid stone foundations, the latter forming a lofty basement the whole size of the building and with 10½ foot ceilings. The interior of the main floor is elegantly finished, the side walls are wainscoted in oiled pine five or six feet from the floor, and the walls from this to the cornice show the brick work, neatly tuck pointed. The ceiling is arched and covered with oiled pine, the hammer beams and exposed timbers being painted a harmonizing color. The windows are of peculiar shape set with cathedral glass, in the main, of ice colour, relieved by amber tinted panes. The flooring is of extra quality tamarac, equal in quality to hardwood.

THE PROVISIONS FOR VENTILATION

are of the best character. Though primarily designed as a Sunday school room, the building has been converted into a little church. A chancel has been thrown across the rear, and a carpeted dais supports a nicely adorned altar, flanked by, on one side a vestry and on the other by a library room. When not required for church services a rich crimson curtain shuts off the chancel and the school room remains. The central aisle is laid with church matting, and the altar dais elegantly carpeted. Altogether, this little church building is neat, complete, and as pretty an ecclesiastical structure as can be found in the country, and it is not surprising that the ladies are proud of the structure, which, by the divine blessing, has resulted from their patient and untiring efforts for the promotion of the interests of religion in the South Ward.

Last night, set apart for the formal opening of the building, though stormy and unpleasant, brought out a congregation of about four hundred persons. Shortly after eight o'clock the procession of clergymen, headed by the choir, singing the hymn beginning, "The Church's One Foundation," entered from the basement and proceeded to the chancel, and

THE DEDICATORY SERVICES FOLLOWED.

The clergy taking part were the Lord Bishop of Toronto, Rev. Vincent Clementi, Rev. Canon Davidson, Rural Dean of Northumberland; Rev. Rural Dean Loucks, Picton; Rev. J. W. McCleary, Rector of St. Lukes, and Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rector of St. John's. Rev. C. B. Kenrick, Curate of St. John's presided at the organ, and the large choir of St. John's, of St. Andrew's Brotherhood was present. The services, abbreviated Evensong, conducted by Rev. Mr. Davidson, rector, were very heartily joined in by the congregation. Rev. Canon Davidson, and Rev. Rural Dean Loucks, read the lessons, the bishop saying the special dedicatory prayers at the conclusion of the service.

The offertory was then taken up, the large sum of $66.78 being given, including the title deeds to the property, placed upon the alms desk by Miss Chamberlen, who has been one of the staunchest and warmest friends of the Mission, sparing neither means nor personal endeavour to promote its interests.

At the close of the religious service was held, Rev. J. C. Davidson occupying the chair. By way of introductory remarks the chairman said the present occasion was one that had long been looked forward to. The people had shown they were prepared to enter upon a mission for the good of this part of the town in three respects—to train up the young—to enjoy social intercourse and strengthen the bonds of brotherly love and harmony by meetings in this place, and thirdly to meet together to praise God and hear His word preached. In introducing the Bishop he said that the parish owed a debt of gratitude to his Lordship, who in the midst of his many engagements had come to open this school room.

HIS LORDSHIP offered his congratulations upon the beautiful building that had been erected with such rapidity. His Lordship's remark that this was very largely due to the liberality and efforts of Rev. V. Clementi, was received with loud cheers, which were renewed repeatedly, when his Lordship referred to the by Miss Chamberlain who had presented the site of the hall and in earnest of that gift had placed the title deed of the land upon the offertory plate. His Lordship went on to point out that a mission was a nursery for the church as well as the nucleus of a separate parish; and in this latter connection he urged those associated with the mission, not to be too anxious to cast themselves loose from the parent church and thus bring about the weakness which attends dissension. A church vast, it was pointed out, not only a place for worship but a centre for earnest Christian work, and bringing all the influences of the Gospel to bear upon and lift up the life of the people. Referring to Rev. J. O. S. Huntingdon, his Lordship said that that eloquent man had cast a slur upon the church work that it neglected the poor. That might be true of New York, but it was not true of Canada. He believed that the best remedy for social evils and wrongs was a more general practise of the duties of the church towards the poor and unfortunate. His Lordship believed that, under the

of the parish, who were transmelled by no fireside attractions, nor domestic ties, from throwing the whole of their energies into the work, the work would prosper. (Applause.)

MR. G. A. SMITH, rector's church warden, on behalf of Miss Barlee, the indefatigable treasurer of the Mission Building Fund, who has also been treasurer of the Sunday school and organist for years, read the financial statement, which showed that the expenditure for building has been $1,850, and for furnishings $142.15, making an aggregate of $1,992.15, and the receipts $1,984 07, leaving a deficit of $17.48.

[Subsequently, at the suggestion of Rev. Canon Davidson, this deficiency was not only placed on a plate held at the door as the congregation retired, but a surplus of $18.15 contributed.]

REV. RURAL DEAN LOUCKS

congratulated the people upon the fine new building, and expressed his sympathy with them in the work they were doing. He concluded his remarks by relating his personal connections with Rev. Mr. Beck, years ago, in which the latter, even at that distant time, was striving to

PROVIDE FOR THE SPIRITUAL NEEDS

of the South ward.

REV. J. W. MCCLEARY, Rector of St. Luke's, assured the congregation of the sympathy of himself and his flock with the work in St. John's Mission. The chairman in comment said that St. Luke's had shown its sympathy by practical contribution to the subscription fund, and adding that the Mission School Room was perfectly free in every part to every person.

REV. CANON DAVIDSON, Rural Dean of Northumberland, endorsed the hearty words of congratulation of the previous speakers. The building was a credit to the clergy, the indefatigable band of lady workers who had kept the work alive, to the people who had supplied the funds, and also to the architect and contractor. (Applause.)

REV. V. CLEMENTI, who was received with most cordial demonstrations of respect, as "an official representative of the South Ward interests," thanked all those who had assisted in bringing the work to a successful and satisfactory conclusion, especially who have generously contributed to the building funds, and especially to Mr. J. E. Belcher, who has furnished the plans free of charge, and to Mr. Thomas Sabine, who had rendered valuable practical assistance for which the heartiest thanks were due. He briefly sketched the origin and purposes of the Mission, and he mentioned especially the deep obligations owed to Miss Chamberlain. The Rector added that it was due to Mr. Belcher to state that he had dealt in the same liberal spirit with St. John's (the greater.) In view of the satisfactory state of the finances, the Rector stated that the admission fee would be dropped for the social entertainment on Monday evening next, and that the occasion would be of a purely social character. He also announced that the first service (this evening) be the most appropriate for a building dedicated to the training of children, would be a baptismal service, when several infants would be baptised.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem and three cheers for the Bishop.

NOTES.

The furnishings throughout are the gifts of friends of the enterprise, including the chairs, the altar and altar frontal, draperies, prayer desk, a handsome Bible and prayer book, etc. The Girls' Guild of St. John's church gave the chancel screens and the altar platform.

The school in connection will be fully re-organized next Sunday. To render this possible the monthly children's services will be postponed till Sunday, Feb. 1st.

The first service will be held on Sunday evening, the sermon being preached by the Rector.

In Memoriam

Of James Beckst Walker, who fell Asleep in Jesus, December, 1890.

Another lamb is gathered safe in the fold above,
Another one is nestling within the arms of love;
Ten thousand times ten thousand, John says, adoring stand,
Around the throne, our sweet one was needed in that band.
Yes, his dear voice was needed to swell the glorious song
Of rapturous hallelujahs, that to the Lamb belong
The priceless treasure lent us for seven happy years
We give to Him who loves us, and will not abide our tears;
Too good for earth, were often our fears, though unexpressed,
O, Shepherd, unmurmuring, we give the one loved best,
Cheer'd by Divine assurance we say that, It is well,—
All things are wisely ordered by our Immanuel.

Wise 'bove his years, grave questions he asked from day to day,
New words must all be tested as right or wrong to say,
And Sunday's due observance oft gave him anxious thought,
Confidingly and aptly he learned the lesson taught;
O, that we all as trustful, would on God's word repose,
Peace then were ours as water unruffled deeply flows.

We know not what about him shed such attractiveness,
But everybody lov'd his sweet ways of innocence;
Large instrous eyes, revealing rich depths of love untold,
And thoughtful brow betoken'd a mind of rarest mould;
His duteous, docile spirit was pathetic'lly displayed
In suffering, when no movement he without leave once made.

He said: "I like the pray'r best of Jesus, Shepherd dear,
'Cause I'm His little lamb, and my little prayer He hears;"
To parents, sisters, weeping, he bade a fond "Good-bye,"
Said he was going to Jesus, and not afraid to die;
Heaven's glories shone around him as angels whispered "Come,"
And lov'd ones murmur'd softly: "His spirit is gone home."

O, how we missed the welcome smile of his beaming face,
When running out to meet us with loving, glad embrace,
The little gifts made ready, that he with such delight
Would highly prize, are sadly by us put out of sight.
We think of him with Jesus and others gone before,
His great gain reconciles us to our loss more and more,
With longings for the time when we'll meet on Canaan's shore.

SINGLE TAX

Is now the question of the hour; but to those in need of Ordered or Ready-made Clothing, single profits ought to be a subject of greater importance. Yearly importing all our principal lines, we save you the profits of the wholesale men, and you have thus one single profit to pay. That profit is not a large one, and has been made still smaller, as we are determined each and every article of Winter Clothing must go, to make way for Spring Goods. Each and every department has been visited and all goods have been reduced. Don't you buy a dollar's worth of clothing until you have looked us over. YESTERDAY'S ELECTIONS.

TWO LIBERALS, A CONSERVATIVE AND AN EQUAL RIGHTER.

North Perth Returns a Conservative, the Two Norfolks Elect Reformers and Mr. Campbell is Again Returned in East Durham—The Rumors as to the Dominion Elections.

PORT HOPE, Jan. 23.—The result of the election in East Durham is that the Equal Rights candidate, Mr. George Campbell, is re-elected by 63 majority after one of the most severe struggles ever witnessed in the riding. The enthusiasm on both sides was worked up to the highest point and the vote polled was by far the largest ever given in the riding. At the June election Mr. Campbell defeated his present opponent, Mr. T. S. Collins, by 7 majority, the election being set aside owing to error in the voters' list. The majorities:

	Campbell.	Collins.
Port Hope	97	..
Hope Township	243	..
Cavan and Millbrook	..	18
Manvers Township	..	261
	340	276

Majority for Campbell, 63.

The total vote in Port Hope was 170 more than last June and Campbell's majority was increased 36.

North Perth.

STRATFORD, Jan. 23.—In the North Perth election for the Local Legislature held to-day Thomas Magwood (Conservative) of Mornington was elected by a majority of 51 over Dr. A. E. Ahrans (Reformer), the unseated member, who was elected in June last by 93 majority over George Hess (Conservative). The majorities:

	Magwood.	Ahrens.

North Easthope	..	335
Ellice	67	..

South Norfolk.

VITTORIA, Jan. 23.—Mr. W. A. Charlton (Liberal), who was unseated for South Norfolk, was re-elected to-day by about 90 majority over William Morgan (Conservative), whom he defeated in June by 50 votes. The majorities:

Will the General Elections be Brought on Early in March?

OTTAWA, Jan. 23.—The report is revived to-day that the dissolution of Parliament will be announced at once and that the general elections will take place in the first days of March. Some of the Ministers deny this statement, while others corroborate it.

Nothing definite has transpired this evening respecting the supposed intention of the Government to dissolve Parliament at an early date. It is still taken for granted everywhere in spite of the denials of friends of Cabinet Ministers that notice of dissolution has been decided on. One of the statements current is that the Cabinet separated this evening with the understanding that the next meeting would be to wind up for the campaign and that the new general election would take place on either Feb. 23 or 25. A well-informed politician says he would not be surprised if the notice of dissolution appeared in to-morrow's Gazette.

FIRES IN MANY TOWNS.

Two Firemen Killed and Seven Injured, Some Fatally, in Buffalo—Fires at Listowel and Queensboro.

BUFFALO, Jan. 23.—Fire about 9 o'clock to-night at the corner of Terrace and Pearl-street destroyed the building occupied by L. Marcus & Son, Warner Bros. & Co., Zingsheim & Harris and Darling & Scholes, wholesale clothing. Foreman Fisher of engine No. 4 and Jacob Snyder, pipeman same engine were instantly killed by falling walls. Fireman Murphy had leg broken, Fireman Hart had skull fractured. Six other firemen are seriously hurt and it is rumored there are two or three bodies in the ruins.

Revivalists Quench the Flames.

QUEENSBORO', Jan. 23.—Last evening fire broke out in the hay loft of Diamond's Hotel stables. A revival meeting was in progress in the Methodist Church, and the men, women and preacher responded to the alarm with all speed, and the hotel, which was only 50 feet from the burning sheds, and on which a strong wind was blowing, was saved, though not before it was considerably damaged. Mr. Diamond's loss on stables, sheds and contents is about $1500, insured for $300. Two peddlers stopping at the hotel claim to have lost from $800 to $1000 worth of goods. T. W. Jeffs, general merchant, sustained heavy loss through damage to stock. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

Fire at Listowel.

LISTOWEL, Jan. 23.—About 2 o'clock this morning fire broke out in a frame building bereowned by Con Miller of East Toronto and occupied by L. Lesbach, which was totally destroyed. Insured in Western for $500.

Must Pay the Furniture Bill.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The Court of Queen's Bench has decided that Mr. Justin McCarthy and Lord Arthur Hill, M.P., are liable to £340 damages on account of the furniture which had been supplied to the collapsed Irish exhibition in London.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

THE SCOTCH STRIKE THE SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION.

Gladstone Would Have Retired Had the Hartlepool Election Gone Against the Liberals—Sad Death of the Heir to the Belgian Throne—General Foreign News.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—In the House of Commons to-day Sir James Fergusson, political secretary of the Foreign Office, said the Behring Sea correspondence and discussion were taking the ordinary diplomatic course unaffected by the application made to the United States Supreme Court. This application had been made at the instance of Canada and upon the advice of American lawyers.

In the House of Commons to-day Alfred Webb, member for West Waterford, gave notice that Justin McCarthy would, a month hence, call attention to the administration of the Crimes Act and would move a resolution in connection with this Act.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—In the House of Commons to-day Sir Michael Hicks Beach, President of the Board of Trade, stated the Board of Trade could not interfere with the railroad strike in Scotland although the troubles had resulted in partial suspension of traffic.

Francis Allston Channing, advanced Liberal, made a motion to the effect that the excessive hours of labor of railway servants was a grave injustice to the men and a constant source of danger to the public, and that the Board of Trade should be empowered to direct the limitation of the working hours.

Sir John Pope Hennessy has offended his colleagues by voting with the Government on the Scotch strike question.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach suggested a substitute motion declaring overwork on railroads a source of danger to the public. Channing's motion was rejected by 141 to 124.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach gave notice of his intention to make a motion for the appointment of a parliamentary committee to consider the condition of railway employes.

It is reported a petition to unseat Mr. Furness, the newly elected Gladstonian member for Hartlepool, is a probability. The petition will be made on the ground that Furness influenced votes by promising to employ union laborers only. In the House of Commons to-day Henry H. Howarth, member for South Salford, gave notice of a question as to whether the election of a candidate employing non-unionists who promised in future to employ unionists only, infringed the Corrupt Practices Act. The reply was greeted with Conservative cheers.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—It became known to-day that on the result of the Hartlepool election depended whether Mr. Gladstone would continue as leader of the Liberal party. This was a fact known to John Morley, William Harcourt and a few others, but carefully kept secret, for fear of discouragement, from the rank and file of the party. This was one reason why the Liberals made the Hartlepool contest a national affair, and the leaders devoted themselves to the canvass with as much energy as if a general election was at stake, in striking contrast to the Unionists, who left their candidate to work out his own salvation, so that they might be able to claim, in the event of defeat, that they had never expected victory. The opening of Parliament was striking evidence of the change which a few hours had made in the fortunes of the Liberal party.

Particulars of the Recent Colliery Explosion in European Russia.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Further details have been received of the colliery explosion Wednesday at Jusoick Depot, Russia. The explosion caused a fire to break out in three pits. The owners and managers of the mines tried to descend into the burning pits, but the fumes of the gas were so overpowering that they were compelled to desist. Eventually a rescuing party succeeded in entering the mines and reaching the entombed men. After considerable labor and danger the rescuers brought to the surface the bodies of 38 miners who had been killed. They also rescued 91 men who were unconscious. These latter were all badly burned and bruised and 20 of them subsequently died. It is said the explosion was caused by a man lighting a cigaret.

O'Brien and Insuppressible Ireland.

DUBLIN, Jan. 23.—William O'Brien telegraphs from Boulogne-Sur-Mer, to the publishers of the Insuppressible as follows: "I have a letter pressing me to become responsible for the continued publication of The Insuppressible. My cablegram from America only authorized the continued publication of United Ireland on lines distinctly laid down in cabled instructions. Since I have become acquainted with the tone and contents of The Insuppressible I am only restrained by motives of national policy from at once dissociating myself publicly from any responsibility for its writings. I regret that I am obliged to request that my name will not be further used in connection with the paper."

Parnell and McCarthy Raise Their Hats to Each Other.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Mr. Parnell appeared early in the House of Commons. McCarthy was present, at the head of his faction, but he took no active part in the proceedings. Parnell did not speak to any of the McCarthyites, though he and McCarthy personally exchanged salutes. The relations between the divided members remain friendly, as none of the men on either side have given personal offence except Tim Healy and Dr. Tanner.

Mr. Parnell did not appear in the House of Commons to-day and it is believed he will allow his motion concerning the administration of the Crimes Act, of which he gave notice yesterday to drop.

They Each Apologized.

DUBLIN, Jan. 23.—Dr. Tanner, M.P., anti-Parnellite has abandoned his intention of bringing a libel action against Mr. Parnell for the latter's reference to him in speeches made during the recent campaign in North Kilkenny. Parnell has apologized to Tanner for what he terms "heated words," while Tanner has apologized to his former leader for similar utterances, but he still maintains political opposition to Parnell.

A Light Sentence.

ORANGEVILLE, Jan. 23.—Stephen Cole, aged 18, was arraigned before His Honor Judge McCarthy on a charge of stabbing Henry Sanderson in the Salvation Army barracks at Shelburne on Dec. 29 last. He was let off with a sentence of two months.

THE BEDFORD SUICIDE.

FRIENDS OF THE DUKE ATTEMPTED TO SUPPRESS THE FACT.

A Sharp Reporter Unearths the Fact that the Duke Took His Own Life—A Coroner Who Thought it His Duty to Suppress the Facts—Full Particulars of the Affair.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The sensation of the hour is the discovery that the Duke of Bedford did not die a natural death, but that he committed suicide by putting a bullet into his head. That this fact was not discovered until one week after the Duke's death and four days after his body had been reduced to a handful of ashes by cremation is one of the most striking instances known in modern times of the power possessed by the aristocracy for hushing things up.

Coroner Troutbeck was called a few hours after his death. He knew from the moment he saw the body of the Duke that it was a case of suicide, and it was his duty to report this information to the local police station and ask for the assistance of a police officer. In this case he omitted to do so. Instead he had a direct conference with one of the commissioners of police, who connived with him in suppressing the scandal.

At the time that this announcement was given to the public at least three persons knew it was a case of suicide, which it was their absolute duty to report, no matter whether it was the body of a Duke or that of a dock hand. These persons were Coroner Troutbeck, the Commissioner of Police with whom he had conferred, and Dr. Gibbons, who had attended the case. The Coroner adhered to the law in one respect. He summoned a jury and held a legal inquest. Considering the opportunities for leakage through the journmen, servants and the host of supernumeraries, it is wonderful the secret was kept so long.

The fact is that it was finally discovered by a clever Police Court reporter, who, suspecting something wrong, went to the coroner and asked to see the depositions taken at the inquest.

"Such a course is against my rule," said the coroner. "My predecessor never gave information to the press. I do not see why I should in this case depart from this rule."

"But," urged the reporter, "there is a mystery about the Duke's death which I desire to clear up."

"I am sorry I am unable to oblige you on this occasion," replied the coroner, "but really I cannot depart from the rule. If you asked me how John Jones, carpenter, came by his death I should decline to tell you."

"The report is circulated," persisted the reporter, "that you held an inquest on the body of the late Duke. If you decline to let me see the depositions will you either confirm or contradict it?"

"Well," laughed the coroner, "if I did either I might as well show you my private notes at once."

"Then I shall take it that you did hold an inquest and that the Duke committed suicide?" remarked the reporter.

"No; you can say I decline to give any information, for if I did I should be exceeding my duty as a public officer."

Within five hours after the coroner's jury had sat upon his body it was roasting in the retort of the crematory, in accordance, it is said, with the last wishes of the Duke.

In an interview recently published, the foreman of the Woking Necropolis, where scores of bodies are committed every week, said that the principal objection to cremation is that the ordinary means of tracing murder or suicide were put beyond possibility. In the Duke of Bedford's case this remark is brought directly home.

The Duke of Bedford was probably the richest Duke in England, his fortune even exceeding that of the Duke of Westminster; yet he never was known to listen to any appeal for clemency from tradesman or tenant who was crushed by his burdensome rent. He was as tenacious as any feudal baron and exacted every farthing, no matter whether it drove the tenant to pauperism.

When he put an end to his existence why was not the fact announced at the time of his death, instead of attempting to suppress and to deceive the public by false reports?

AN ELGIN MAN'S SUICIDE.

William Elton, a West Lorne Tailor, Suicides in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Jan. 23.—Wednesday night at 10½ o'clock a fairly well-dressed stranger called at the lodging house of Daniel J. Nagel at No. 155 Main-street, and asked for lodgings. He was assigned to a room and he went there immediately after paying his bill. Yesterday morning the chambermaid went to the room to put it in order, but the door was locked.

The door was forced open, and there on the bed, which was pushed up against the door as a barricade, lay the dead body of a stranger. On a stand near him was a half-empty bottle bearing on its side the red label and the gruesome skull and cross-bones denoting poison. It was laudanum. Near the bottle lay a small glass, a white-handled knife, and copies of two Toronto dailies.

The body has been identified as that of William Elton, a tailor, who lived at West Lorne in Elgin County, Ont. He was identified by Neal MacEachren, a druggist in Vermont-street, who knew Elton in Canada. Elton came into his place Tuesday and got a quantity of laudanum. He had been drinking heavily and told MacEachren that he was going to straighten up and go home.

AN OPEN VERDICT.

Mrs. MacKinnon Was Murdered, but the Jury do Not Say by Whom.

GODERICH, Jan. 23.—The adjourned inquest on the body of Rachael McKinnon, who met her death by a pistol shot wound on Thursday, Jan. 15, was continued last evening in the court room. Nineteen witnesses had previously been examined. Don McKinnon, the son of the deceased, arrived here yesterday from Michigan. He was the only one further examined. He testified that they did not live happily together. This verdict was returned:

That Rachel McKinnon came to her death in the town of Goderich by means of a pistol shot wound inflicted on Thursday, Jan. 15, 1891, about the hour of noon, by some person or persons to us the jury, unknown.

An information has been sworn out against Donald McKinnon, who is at present in jail, charging him with being the perpetrator of the crime.

Miscreants Wreck a Train.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 23.—A train on the National Railway was wrecked to-day at Acambaro, some miscreants having loosened the rails by drawing the spikes. Twelve persons were injured.

A Lindsay Firm Assigns.

LINDSAY, Jan. 22.—R. Smythe & Sons, drygoods merchants here, have assigned. Their embarrassment, it is assumed, was caused by the McLachlan failure in Montreal. R. Smythe, the senior member of the firm, presided over the town as mayor for last year.

Died In His Sleep.

BERLIN, Jan. 22.—Barnabas Devitt of Waterloo, father of Mr. Benjamin Devitt, License Inspector for North Waterloo, died suddenly at his residence last evening at the advanced age of 84. He went to bed healthy as usual and at 10½ his wife noticed something unusual in his appearance and found that he was dead.

DEATH OF BELGIUM'S PRINCE.

Mysterious Demise of the Heir to the Throne at Brussels.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 23.—Prince Baudouin, nephew of King Leopold, and heir to the throne of Belgium, is dead. He died in Brussels at 3 o'clock yesterday. The cause of his death is alleged to have been an attack of bronchitis. The death of the Prince has caused a tremendous sensation, and creates consternation in all circles in Brussels. There are all sorts of rumors circulating, as the public was entirely unaware that the Prince was ill. Crowds of people are parading the streets, or gathered in knots at the street corners eagerly discussing the situation. On all sides the warmest expressions of sympathy with the royal family in this their fresh trial are heard. Prince Baudouin's popularity and brilliant talents, and the bright hopes centred by the Belgians on his future career, make them feel the Prince's loss in the keenest manner.

The news of the Prince's death was withheld from his sister, the Princess Henriette, a beautiful girl of about 20 years of age who is dangerously sick from inflammation of the lungs. The palace of the Count of Flanders, where the Princess resides, is surrounded by a strong force of police, who are doing their utmost to prevent the unusual noise in the streets from arousing the suspicions of the suffering Princess.

It is openly asserted that the death of the popular Belgian prince was a repetition of the sad circumstances surrounding the death of the Archduke Rudolph, the heir to the Austrian throne, who met his death in such a mysterious manner on Jan. 30, 1889. It was added that a beautiful German governess, who had recently been banished from the Belgium court by order of King Leopold, had been in some way connected with the death of Prince Baudouin. Rumor also had it that there had been an intrigue lasting a long time between the governess and the Prince, and the result of their liaison is said to have been the birth of a child. In any case the death of the Prince is surrounded with mystery and speculation. The court physicians in the death certificate announce that the Prince's death was caused by hemorrhage following a severe attack of bronchitis. The physicians also assert that the Prince caught a chill while watching the bedside of his sister, the Princess Henriette. But these statements are far from convincing the people that the real cause of the death of Prince Baudouin has been given to the public, and the startling rumors already referred to are popularly believed to be founded on a solid basis of fact of some description.

Telegrams and messages of condolence with the royal family of Belgium in their great sorrow are already reaching Brussels from all parts of Europe, among the despatches received being words of sympathy from Queen Victoria and the Prince and Princess of Wales.

Crape, black flags and other emblems of grief are being displayed everywhere through the city. It is said in official circles that Prince Baudouin had for some time been suffering from influenza, but in spite of the remonstrances of his physicians he insisted upon passing his nights recently at the bedside of his sister, Princess Henriette. On Monday last the prince insisted upon going for a drive or as some say for a ride on horseback. His foolhardiness caused him to catch a fresh cold and Wednesday he was forced to take to bed. Yesterday the prince's condition had become more serious, but it does not seem to have caused alarm, as his indisposition was not known to the public. Thursday afternoon an unfavorable change was noticed in the prince and his condition caused grave apprehensions. Towards night the last sacraments of the Roman Catholic Church were administered to the prince. The prince was later attacked by high fever and was in danger of lapsing into delirium. King Leopold and Queen Maria were summoned to the prince's bedside. They did their utmost to console the sufferer, though both king and queen were overcome with grief. Finally the ministers and chiefs of the royal household were sent for. They were in attendance during all the latter part of the night. At 10 o'clock the prince was subjected to the operation of cupping, but with no result. Shortly before midnight the attending physicians pronounced the prince to be dying and the worst was expected at any moment. Gradually the prince's respiration became weaker and weaker until a sudden flow of blood from the lungs suffocated the sufferer.

The latest and most probable version of the cause of Prince Baudouin's death is that it was due to a complication of smallpox, bronchitis and haematuria. The populace are enraged at what they term the blundering of unsuspecting doctors. Prince Baudouin was upon the point of being betrothed to his cousin Princess Clementine the third and youngest daughter of his uncle, King Leopold. All the theatres and public institutions are closed and will remain closed until after the funeral, which will take place from the royal palace at Laeken in South Brabant, about two miles north of Brussels. Parliament has also adjourned.

The official bulletin of the court physicians states that Prince Baudouin died of congestion of the lungs caused by a chill contracted while waiting at the bedside of his sister, the Princess Henriette. The remains of the Prince now lie in state on the bed on which he died. King Leopold visited the dying prince's bedside at midnight and the ministers were also present.

Prince Baudouin Leopold Philippe Marie Charles Antoine Joseph Louis was the son of the Count of Flanders, brother of King Leopold. Prince Baudouin was born in this city June 3, 1869. He was a captain of Belgian Carbiniers, and a captain of Prussian cavalry, being attached to the second regiment of Hanoverian dragoons. The brother of Prince Baudouin, Prince Albert Leopold Clements Marie Minrad, who was born April 8, 1875, is now heir to the throne of Belgium.

Bradlaugh Dying.

400 Anarchists Arrested.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—During an anarchists' meeting on the Place de L'Opera to-day groups of persons cried out: "Vive anarchie; we want bread." The police attempted to disperse the crowd, but met with considerable resistance and only broke up the meeting after 400 arrests had been made. Most of the prisoners were afterwards released. Several miners who were found to be armed were kept in custody.

$5000 Fire at Glencoe.

Christian Endeavor Society.

The District Conference in Session—The Afternoon Proceedings—A Good Attendance and Interesting Addresses.

The first District Convention of the Societies of Christian Endeavour opened in the George street Methodist church yesterday. There was a good attendance of the local societies, and the outside societies were represented by the following delegates:—Rev. Mr. Hannah, Uxbridge; Rev. Mr. Spence, Omemee; Dr. Harrison, Keene; Rev. Mr. Johnson and Rev. John McEwen, Miss McDonald and Miss Quinn, Lakefield; Mr. Hardy, Lindsay; Miss Cochrane, Lakefield; Rev. Mr. Semmith, Omemee; Mr. and Miss Hunter, Cold Springs; Miss McMillan, Havelock.

The session was opened by devotional exercises—prayer and Scripture reading by Rev. Jos. H. Locke. Dr. Scott, President of the local Endeavour Union, occupied the chair.

Mr. R. J. Colville read the paper of Mr. E. A. Hardy, Lindsay, on "Prayer Meeting and Social Committees. The paper dealt on the great privilege prayer was—what an important duty it was—obligatory on every Christian. This committee had a three-fold charge—to provide a topic for each meeting, provide a leader, and to develop the spiritual tone of the meetings.

Rev. Mr. Spence, of Omemee, gave an address upon the "Look out and Missionary Committee," pointing out its importance, as the success of the Society largely depended upon the efficiency of this committee, and to make it efficient, there must be activity and regular attendance at meetings. The need of personal and persistent work, sense, tact, and systematic work were insisted on. The most effective forces to use in the work were prayer and faith. The speaker pointed out the important functions of the missionary committee.

Rev. John McEwen, Lakefield, dealt with "the Relation of the Y. P. S. C. E. to Sunday School work." He began by taking a plebiscite of the audience, which brought out the fact that there was a very general community of membership of the Society and those engaged in Sunday school work. The Sunday school should represent the church at work teaching the word of God to both old and young. He defined the Christian Endeavor Society as an organized outlet of youthful activity in the promotion of the work of extending the kingdom of God. Young life had better be given a beneficial outlet than be permitted to find an injurious outlet. The relation of these branches of church work were given as cause and effect—the Society would never have existed but for a century of Sunday school work. In the seventeenth century the Holy Spirit begat a revived church, the revived church the Sunday school, and the Sunday school begat the Christian Endeavor Society. The immense growth and extent of this movement in America showed that God was in it, and the churches were on the right track in the employment of youthful vitality. The literary and scientific circles were an outgrowth of Sunday school work. The spirit and power of the Church of God are never going to be appreciated till we have a higher standard of manhood and womanhood. Our ideas of what men can be made by the grace of God should be enlarged. God could not make the instrument of His great work out of the ranks of the aged; he would draw them from the ranks of the young. What had not youth and vigor in it was of no use in this age. The standard of Christian effectiveness for church work could not be reached without systematic and thorough study of the word of God.

Rev. Mr. McEwen's thoughtful and forcibly put address was pointed by frequent applause.

Rev. H. C. Farrer, D.D., of Albany, New York, president of the New York State Christian Endeavor Societies, mounted the rostrum, and in very lucid and satisfactory answer to a series of questions on Endeavor work and its aspects, showed a great deal of knowledge of its details, his answers being:

It was no harm to read Pansy's books or a good religious novel.

Euchre should be let alone as well as all forms of cards and dancing.

No society should place its self in antagonism with the church or its pastor.

He was tired of "big feeds" as aids to church funds. He "hoped to see the church outgrow its stomach."

Some literary and musical entertainments could be made useful, as a subordinate feature to the religious features.

Spiritual life was apt to be low in a society that ran too much to musical and literary work.

The Endeavour Society was fitted to the needs and conditions of every branch of the church.

It was a good thing for married persons to become members, as advisers to the younger.

The best way to kill a prayer meeting was to introduce debate.

A minister should be present at every meeting. He was pastor and the responsible head of every organization in his church.

Associate members could be profitably put on committees of subordinate importance.

The session was closed by singing and the benediction, pronounced by Rev. Mr. Johnson, Lakefield.

EVENING MEETING.

There was a large attendance in the evening, when the meeting was held in the body of the church. Mr. Colville occupied the chair.

After singing and prayer, Rev. Mr. Hannah, of Uxbridge, spoke on the subject of "the importance of the Y. P. S. C. E."—The speaker pointed out the capabilities of young people to work for the Master, emphasizing the importance of the Society of Christian Endeavor as a means of binding young people together in united and systematic movement. In it they were covenanted to perform God's word. The speaker pointed out the many uses and objects of the Society, whose first propose was to utilize the work of the church among young people, just as the Sunday school for the children, thus filling up a critical gap between the church and the school. In it individualism had full play. Each had a work to do, and there was room for a great variety of work to suit every temperament and ability, between leading a consecration meeting and conveying flowers to a sick person. It encouraged the timid to make a confession of Christ among a body of young people who were all pledged to God. It gave opportunity for full and free fellowship, increased the possibilities of the work for good, by utilizing the love, enthusiasm and youthful energy, which had hitherto been wasted, and increasing the efficiency of the church. There are 750,000 young men and women, bound in heart and soul to the good work. The lives of the young Christians in the society were a most powerful evidence of the beauty and satisfaction of Christianity against a skeptical world. These were a few of the many advantages of this society, a society which afforded boundless possibilities for future greatness and good work. There was no phase of religious work which did not find a place in the plan of Christian Endeavor movement. This movement, because it is of the individual churches and is entirely undenominational, promises the grandest realization of God's promises of any department of church work. Like different regiments of the grand army they were fighting together under the blood-stained banner of Jesus Christ, and victory would be theirs.

After the singing of a hymn, "I am Listening," Rev. Dr. Farrer delivered an interesting, practical and enthusiastic address on "The Y.P.S.C.E and how it works." This was a young people's age, he said; young people were stepping to the front in religion as well as political and worldly matters. The speaker pointed out the great needs of the country for home mission work to stem the tide of evil which threatened to overwhelm the nation. He looked upon the young people's movement as a great help towards the solution of the difficulty, but he asked where were they to get the men of clean hearts and hands to carry on this work. Society produced "dudes," and secular schools smart, commercial men; we must turn to the church for sober, upright, Christian young men, sharp of brain but pure of heart. The Sunday School was the hope of the world, but it was a sad thought 50 per cent. of the boys between 12 and 25 years of age drop out and never their connection with the church altogether. What was to be done to retain them? Here the Christian Endeavor Society and other similar societies came in. A million young men and women on this continent were holding to gether in these societies and becoming a power for good. The duty of the Endeavor Society was apparent. They should try to bring in this lost 50 per cent. of Sunday school pupils. The importance of bringing boys and girls in their teens, or younger, to Christ was emphasized. In connection the speaker gave the young people a "summons" which would open to them all the doors of privilege and blessing in the work. It was the word "work." By it all that was worth having could be had. That was the motto of the Christian Endeavor Society, and they were on the winning side. His closing words were:—"Work, don't shirk."

Mr. Hardy followed with some statistics regarding the society's work in Ontario. In 1886 there were two societies in the Province; to day there are 250 societies inside of four years' work. There are about 10,000 young people connected with these societies working for Christ. The organization of this society was developing rapidly.

After the close of the meeting, Rev. Dr. Farrer led a brief consecration meeting.

A Well Known Government Official in Ontario Gives His Experience.

A popular and well known Government official, whose office is by no means a sinecure, was two years ago afflicted with nervousness, which resulted in partial paralysis of the right hand and part of the arm. The hand and fingers had lost all sense of feeling, and the gentleman was unable to continue his office work, as it was impossible for him to write. The best medical aid was consulted without any good results. He was advised to consult a specialist in New York, and while this move was being considered, he was strongly recommended to try Paine's Celery Compound, which he did, instead of taking the trip to New York. After using three bottles he found a feeling of life returning to the hand which was numb before. He continued the use of the Compound, and to-day this official rejoices that he is made whole again. All feelings of nervousness are banished, and the hand and arm are restored to a perfect and natural condition. This is another convincing proof of the great value and efficacy of Paine's Celery Compound as a remedy for all nervous troubles, as well as for paralysis.

Purify Your Blood

The importance of having the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditcd and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

THE LOG OF THE YEAR

"TELLS A JOYOUS TALE!"

Our Trade for 1890 was a capital business experience. We rolled up a record that no dealer on earth can lower. In order to show our appreciation of the large patronage so confidently bestowed on us, we start this week a "GRATIFICATION SALE."

"What is it?" you ask. We'll sell to Gratify you; we'll give Big Value to Gratify your neighbor and we'll do a big trade to Gratify ourselves. Do we offer Baits—Some people, (other dealers) say we do offer baits. We admit our prices are all baits. If a fisherman fished with a bare hook he wouldn't even get a bite. Take for example:

Our beautiful OVERCOATS, sold all over for $10.....Sale Price $6.90

A FAMOUS SCULPTOR.

The Late Sir J. E. Boehm, R. A., and Some of His Masterpieces.

THE LATE SIR EDGAR BOEHM, R. A.

Sir Joseph Edgar Boehm, R. A., whose death was recently announced, was a famous sculptor of famous men. Princes, soldiers, and statesmen have been reproduced in marble by his chisel. He came from an old Hungarian family, and was born in Vienna in 1834. His early vocation began in the Austrian capital under the direction of his father, who was director of the Imperial Mint, and a great collector of paintings, sculpture, and other objects of art. In 1848 young Boehm went to London to study the Elgin marbles and the drawings of the old masters in the British Museum. He remained there until 1851, and then continued his studies at Rome, Paris, and Vienna; but in 1862 settled permanently in England. Three years afterwards he became a naturalized British subject, and has ever since lived in England. Having been fortunate enough to obtain the patronage of the Queen his fame as a sculptor soon spread far and wide. In 1878 he was elected A. R. A., and three years later received the appointment of sculptor-in-ordinary to the Queen. He became a Royal Academician in 1882, and the honor of a baronetcy was conferred upon him in 1889.

Amongst his earliest commissions were a colossal statue in marble of the Queen for Windsor Castle in 1850, and also a monument to the Duke of Kent in St. George's Chapel, and the bronze statuettes of the Prince of Wales and the other members of the royal family. In 1872 he executed a statue of John Bunyan for the town of Bedford, a colossal equestrian statue of the Prince of Wales for Bombay, in 1877, a colossal equestrian figure of Lord Napier of Magdala, and one of Lord Northbrook, both for Calcutta, and a statue of Sir William Gregory for Ceylon. Sir Edgar Boehm also executed many fine busts of eminent Englishmen, including those of Lord Iddesleigh, Mr. Gladstone, Mr. John Bright, Mr. Ruskin, Sir. John Millais, Professor Huxley, Sir William Paget, and Lord Wolseley. Among his latest works are a colossal representation of the Queen for Sydney, the Jubilee statue of the Prince Consort in the Great Park, Windsor, which was unveiled on May 12th last, and a recumbent effigy of Gen. Gordon for St. Paul's Cathedral. His statue of the late Emperor Frederick was only finished a week before Sir Edgar's death.

The "Vics," of Montreal.

It is made a rule in the regiment that all members must enter as privates and work their way up, a rule which without doubt does much to keep up the efficiency of the corps. The authorized strength of the regiment is twenty-six officers and two hundred and fifty-two non-commissioned officers and men, composing six companies, but the establishment is generally exceeded by one hundred, of all ranks. The uniform is the dark rifle green with scarlet facings, black belts and white helmets, making a neat and serviceable outfit. The regiment is armed with the short Snider rifle and sword bayonet. The badge of the "Vics" is a garter bearing the words "Victoria Rifles of Canada," surmounted by a crown and encircling a Maltese cross with a "V" in the centre. On a scroll underneath is borne the motto "Pro aris et focis." The corps has a fine band of twenty four performers and a capital bugle band, is well equipped hospital ambulance, and bicycling and signaling detachments. The "Vics" have a great advantage over the other Montreal corps in possessing a splendid armory on Cathcart street, in addition to the commodious quarters which they have in the large drill hall on Craig street. Illustrations of the armory and the officers of the corps are given herewith.—Capt. Thos. S. Blackwell, in Outing.

MAIN ENTRANCE TO ARMORY.

Clever Female Acrobat.

One or two of Ohana's acts may be described in detail. Upon a table is a double row of columns, very slender, and about three feet in height. Ohana mounts a chair, which is on the table, at one end of the row of columns. She has on her feet armigatus, or rainy weather shoes, and in her hands she holds two blocks of wood. Placing the blocks on the first pedestal, she stands on her hands on them. The effort makes the pillars tremble a little. Slowly her body bends, until the queer looking shoes almost touch the queer coiffure, the head turns a trifle, and the shoes are finally landed on the next pair of pillars. Then Ohana carefully raises herself up and smiles blandly at the audience. She continues her journey to the end of the row, and to it comes back in the same way, smiling after each bend, and waiting for applause.

Frozen to Death.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 22.—The 11-year old son of Albert Carse, Morris, Manitoba, wandered away from home early this week and was found dead. Twice today frozen to death.

Pale and Sallow Girls.

The great frequency with which pale, sallow and cachectic girls are met now a days is cause for genuine alarm. The young girls of the present generation are not the healthy, robust, rosy lassies their mothers and grandmothers were before them. Their complexion is pale and sallow or waxy in appearance, and they are the victims of heart palpitation, ringing noises in the head, cold hands and feet, often fainting spells, racking head aches, backaches, shortness of breath, and other distressing symptoms. All these betoken chlorosis or anæmia—or in other words a watery or impoverished condition of the blood, which is thus unable to perform its normal functions, and unless speedily enriched with those natural remedies which give richness and redness to the blood corpuscles, organic disease and an early grave is the inevitable result. Is not this prospect sufficient to cause the gravest alarm? Mothers, are your daughters suffering from any of the symptoms indicated above, or from any of the irregularities incident to a critical period in their lives? If they are, as you value their lives do not delay in procuring a remedy that will save them. Delays in such cases are not only dangerous, but positively criminal. Dr. William's Pink Pills for Pale People is a remedy compounded especially to meet such cases. These pills are not a patent medicine, but a remedy prepared with the greatest care from the formula of an experienced physician, who has used it for years in his daily practice with unvarying success. These pills are especially rich in those constituents which stimulate the blood and give it that rich, red color necessary to preserve health and life. They are in all cases a never-failing blood-builder and nerve tonic, acting upon the system in a natural manner and restoring health and strength to all who suffer from a watery or depraved condition of the blood or from any of those weaknesses peculiar to females. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price (50 cents a box) by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. 4w4d ws

The one making the second best average will be rewarded with a first-class Safety Bicycle or Tricycle, value $75.00. Each of the next five making the best averages, will be rewarded with a Coin Silver watch of elegant design, and first-class time-keeper, value $10.00. Each of the next fifty making the best averages, will be rewarded with either a girls or boys, A 1. Pocket Knife, containing four blades of the best Sheffield steel, value $1.50 each. If more than one correct answer is received, the one bearing the earliest postmark will be awarded the leading prize, the others following in order of merit.

THE QUESTIONS.—

The beautiful month of September. A deep, wide, rapid flowing river, whose bank on the North is high, steep, and rocky. Perched upon a point of this high bank, is a city surrounded by walls, and defended by a brave army under a brave general. Fleets of war-ships have for months held the river below and vainly sought to force the surrender of the city. One dark night soldiers from the ships scramble up the steep bank, and with their General, gain the plain above. The morning light reveals to the garrison of the city, its enemy ready for attack. A fierce battle ensues. The generals of both armies die from wounds received. The city is captured. 1. Give the names of the river, city and generals. 2. What nations were represented by the two armies? 3. Which army formed the garrison of the city? 4. By what name is the fierce battle known? 5. In what year did these things happen? 6. What was the result of the capture of the city?

The answers to the above questions must be accompanied by $1.00 for a year's subscription to The Queen. The Young People's Department of The Queen, is devoted solely to entertaining and instructing the youth of Canada. The popularity of "Uncle Joe," who has charge of this Department is demonstrated by the fact that he receives daily, from sixty to one hundred letters and puzzles for publication from young people residing in all parts of the globe.

SPECIAL DAILY PRIZE.—

Each day during this Competition, either a First-class Stem Winding Nickel Watch, a good time keeper, or an Elegant Silver Desert Set, (Cream and Sugar) value $8.00, will be awarded to the person from whom the first correct answers to above questions are received at The Queen office, and opened, for that day.

The history of our Country should interest every loyal Canadian. If you are a little rusty on this subject, take down your old school history, study up and join The Queen's "National History School."

The distribution of rewards will be in the hands of disinterested persons, and decisions will be based on the correctness of the answers. Competitors can use their own language in wording their answers.

Answers may be sent in any time before April 10th, but as postmarks may count in awarding the leading prizes, it is better to send as early as possible. No correction can be made after your answers are mailed.

Every one answering the entire six question correctly, will receive a present.

If you have never seen a copy of The Queen, send four 3c. stamps for a late number containing full particulars of all The Queen's Competitions, and letters from persons who have received over $10,000 in prizes during the past year. We intend distributing prizes to the value of $25,000 during 1891.

Our National History Competition is entirely separate and distinct from any other Contest offered by The Queen, and all communications concerning it, must be addressed Baptismal Service St. John's South.

The baptismal service last night, the first announced in St. John's South after the dedication, took an unlooked for shape. The worthy rector expected that when he reached the mission room he would find two or three children and a few spectators. Instead of that he found the chapel packed to the doors, and thirteen infants awaiting baptism — with thirteen more that could not conveniently be brought that evening, yet to come. After Evensong the rector gave a short address, and after the baptism, another address upon the responsibility of parents arising from the ceremony. By a nice coincidence thirteen was the number of pupils with which the Sunday School started in September, 1882. This robs thirteen of the distinction of being the unlucky number Journalistic Enterprise.

The Dominion Illustrated, in its enlarged and improved form, should be a weekly visitor in all Canadian homes. The enterprising publishers, who seek to greatly increase the circulation of their journal, and also to induce their subscribers to cultivate the habit of careful reading, have hit upon a scheme that will be of mutual benefit. They will during the next six months, distribute over $3000 in prizes for answers to questions, the material for which will be found in current numbers of the journal itself. The first prize is $750 in gold. There are 100 prizes in all. On receipt of 10c. in stamps, the proprietors (The Sabiston Litho. & Pub. Co., Montreal), will send a sample copy and all particulars. The reputation of the Dominion Illustrated is an ample guarantee that faith will be kept with subscribers.

The Will Stands.

Friday Mr. Justice Falconbridge gave his judgment in Toronto upholding the will of the late Mr. Duncan Cameron, of Asphodel. The case was tried at the last assizes at Peterborough, and the case was appealed. The following is the argument:

HUMPHRIES v. BROWN—Judgment on question reserved at the trial as to the interlineation in the will of Duncan Cameron, the action being to establish the will, and upon the objection of the defendant that the proper parties were not at all before the court. It was proved at the trial that before the witnesses were called in and before execution of the will the words in question were inserted, and after this the will as altered was read over to the testator. The learned Judge holds that the objection as to parties is too late, not being made until after the verdict and the refusal of the Divisional Court to set it aside. Judgment declaring that the will, with the interlineation, is the true will of Duncan Cameron, and ordering that it be admitted to probate, and ordering payment of costs by defendant to plaintiff. W. R. Riddell (Cobourg) for the plaintiff. Watson, Q.C., for the defendant.

Committed for Trial.

The preliminary hearing of the charge of "wounding with a weapon" preferred against Michael Murray, took place at the police court, Friday afternoon, before Police Magistrate Dumble. County Crown Attorney Wood conducted the prosecution, and Mr. R. R. Hall, appeared on behalf of the prisoner. Evidence was given. Wm. Brown, the victim of the knife, who came into court with his head bandaged; by Dr. Pigeon, who dressed the wound, and by Henry Harold, an eye-witness of the encounter. The testimony gave the facts the same as published in the EXAMINER the day after the assault. Murray had been drinking, and when at eleven o'clock the bar was closed, he became unruly and demanded more drink. There was some quarreling—he was put out. Brown, the bartender, stood at the door to prevent him coming inside, and walked out towards the railway track. As he passed Murray the latter struck, and Brown saw the gleam of a knife-blade. He dodged, and received the blow over the left eye, which was aimed at his neck. He was badly cut and lost considerable blood. Harold, the eye-witness, corroborated this statement. The prisoner was committed for trial at the next competent court.

A Serious Runaway.

A serious runaway accident occurred on Water street, at the "goose pond," this forenoon. Three or four sleigh loads of wood and hay were proceeding towards the market, when a crowd of small boys began throwing snow balls and shouting. The team driven by Robt. Tedford a son of Mr. Thos. Tedford, living on the boundary line between Dummer and Douro), took fright and began to run away, with the load of wood they were drawing. A bolt dropping separated the whiffletrees from the sleigh, and the horses ran on, while the tongue dropped to the road, and the sleigh was guided down the hill and over the embankment. The load of wood was upset into the oribwork and young Telford pitched over and buried under a portion of it. He was picked up and taken into Dr. Boucher's surgery where his wounds were dressed. He suffered from a slight concussion of the brain, his ear was pierced through by the sharp point of a stick, and the side of his face cut and bruised. His escape from more serious injury was almost miraculous. The runaway horses turned off at Brock street on to George, and were heading for the windows of the G.N.W. Telegraph Company's offices when stopped.

Belle Stevenson Company.

Lindsay Warder of Jan. 22nd, 1891, says: "An excellent performance of Bartley Campbell's play, entitled 'Fate,' was given by the above company in the opera house Monday evening before a jammed house; standing room only sign was displayed before eight o'clock. The play has been produced here before, but never so excellent. Miss Belle Stevenson, in the character of Mrs. Grantley, was pre-eminent above all others we have ever seen in that character, and was the recipient of numerous recalls. Mr. C. J. Stevenson, as the wronged husband, was noble and painstaking throughout, and merited frequent rounds of applause. The Stevenson Family Spanish Guitar playing and operatic melodies, together with the admirable support of the company, terminated an evening of unequalled enjoyment. Tuesday evening Miss Belle Stevenson, in the character of the blind woman in 'Queen's Evidence,' pressed herself deeper into the hearts of a Lindsay audience, as was clearly shown by the frequent bursts of applause. Wednesday evening Mr. C. J. Stevenson carried off the honours by a powerful portrayal of the 'Cast Away and Lost.' Miss Belle, as the faithful Annie, won many laurels, her sweet singing adding materially to an inimitable performance. The supporting company are far above the average. The specialities are refined and classic; it is indeed a double show. The company remain all week, with special matinee performance on Saturday at two p.m."

Carnival at Lakefield.

A Gay Time for the Young People of Our Northern Suburb.

The first Skating Carnival of the season took place at Lakefield Friday night, and it was a success. There were about 75 skaters in costume, and a good attendance of spectators. The little rink was pretty well crowded. About forty young people drove out from Peterborough, and enjoyed the carnival. Among those in costume were Alf. Weir, Alex. Strickland and W. Batten. The EXAMINER was unable to get a complete list of the costumes, but appended is the prize list. A band composed of several members of the Peterborough and Lakefield bands, led by Mr. F. W. Miller, was in attendance. Following were the prize winners:—

BEST DRESSED LADY (fancy)—"Fatima," Miss Barlee, Lakefield; prize, ornet stand, value $3.

BEST DRESSED GIRL.—Miss W. Kemp, Lakefield; prize, ladies' companion, $2.

BEST DRESSED GENTLEMAN.—"Indian Chief," E.B. Uie, Peterborough; prize, brier pipe and case, $3.

Independent Order of Foresters

The First Court of this Order Established in Peterborough.

Peterborough has added another fraternal and benevolent society to its already large list, the last being a court of the Independent Order of Foresters, which was instituted last night. Every branch of Forestry is now represented here—the Canadian, Ancient and Independent Orders. The new Court was instituted Friday night in the Royal Templars' Hall, Hunter street. A public address was delivered by the Supreme Secretary, Mr. John A. McGillivray, Q.C., of Toronto, upon the advantages of forestry, and particularly of the Order he represented. The institution of the new Court was afterwards proceeded with by the Supreme Secretary, assisted by Messrs. Z Hemphill and John McKay, Deputy Supreme Chief Rangers.

The new Court has a charter membership of nearly fifty. A name for the Court has not yet been decided upon. These officers were elected and installed:

"Bobby" Burns' Birthday

Commemorated in Music, Mirth and Recitation—The St. Andrew's Society's Successful Concert—Fair Attendance and Fine Programme.

There were several public gatherings in town last night, and there was, consequently, not a large audience at the St. Andrew's Society concert in Bradburn's Hall, especially considering the merits of the programme and the charitable destination of the financial proceeds. Those who were present, however, enjoyed themselves greatly. The programme seemed to give especial satisfaction, if the feet of every vocal number having been encored and re-encored is a criterion.

The opening number was a finely executed pianoforte duet, by Misses Sproule and Snowdon, pupils of Mr. L. Seward—the overture to "Il Trovatore." The same two young ladies opened the second part with Suppe's overture to "Poet and Peasant." These young ladies in their admirable unity of attack and time and shading and sympathetic execution reflect great credit upon their industry and the excellent teaching they have received. Miss Agnes Knox was of course the cynosure, and she fully justified the expectation of the audience. Her first number, "The Early Settler's Story," was recited with telling effect and she was recalled with every evidence of satisfaction. Her second selection, "Spartacus to the Gladiators," was recited with splendid fire and effect, and her versatility was shown by her response to a recall, "Her Letter," a decided change from heavy heroics to the lighter moments of love lore. "Saunders McGlashan's Courtship" was a rich and racy picture of Scottish bachelorhood, in which the dry humour, mannerism and dialect were represented to the life. Her response to the encore brought out the most delightful bit of mimicry conceivable, "The Bobolink," a delightfully dainty little mimetic tid-bit. Miss Knox recited the "Cotter's Saturday Night" with great effect, and was equally happy in her rendition of the "Union Jack. Her encore selection to her second number—"Shakspere at Dead Horse Gulch," while capitally recited, was rather too grotesque to be pathetic, and rather too coarse to be agreeable to a refined audience—too much of an apotheosis of the occidental tough. Altogether, Miss Knox made a delightful impression, and confirmed her claim to be ranked with the most clever elocutionists of the day. Mr. Geo. E. Fax was the life and laughter of the evening. He was hugely funny, and brought down the house every time. Though down for four numbers on the programme, so heartily were his absurd comicalities felt, that altogether he appeared eleven times, scoring three double recalls. Miss Sophie Cameron, was very happy last night in her vocal numbers. She sang with fine effect, good voice, and, withal charming modesty, "The Auld Scotch Sangs" and in response to a well deserved encore gave the "Land of the Leal" in a very excellent manner. Her second selection, "I Seek for Thee in Every Flower," was sung so well that a recall was given, but not responded to. Her singing of "Bonnie Prince Charlie" was her best effort—she sang it in a manner to warm the cockles of a Jacobite heart. She was equally charming in her encore response to this, singing with much spirit and favourable effect the serio-comic ballard, "The Happy Three." Altogether Miss Cameron acquitted herself with the greatest credit, her singing being one of the best features of the programme. Mr. Seward played her accompaniments with skilful taste. While the financial revenue from the concert might have been more satisfactory, the revenue of enjoyment was perfectly satisfactory to the audience.

Medical Science.

A Wonderful Discovery which will Benefit Thousands of Sufferers.

The civilized world has recently been deeply agitated over the announcement that Dr. Koch, an eminent German physician, had discovered a lymph for the cure of consumption. This discovery has been heralded throughout the world, and is looked upon as one of the greatest achievements of modern medical science. Of equal, if not greater importance, is a discovery made by a well-known Canadian druggist, which, while it does not pretend to cure consumption after the lungs have been affected, is offered with every confidence as a preventive of that disease. Medical testimony bears out the statement that more than two-thirds of the cases of consumption, occurring in this country annually, are of catarrhal origin. The trouble begins with a cold in the head, which the sufferer treats as a light matter, and too frequently neglects. This in time invariably develops into catarrh; the mucous membrane become thickened, inflammed and hardened, and there is a profuse discharge of watery and poisonous matter from the nostrils, or else the poisonous secretions become clogged and hardened. In either case the breath is inhaled over this poisonous matter, and produces baleful results. The inflammation radually extends to the bronchial tubes, and thence to the lungs, which, already poisoned and weakened by the foul breath inhaled, are ripe for that dread disease—consumption, which ends in death. A remedy that will prevent these disastrous consequences must be regarded as a boon to mankind, and, as already stated, such a remedy has been discovered by a Canadian druggist. There is no case of cold in the head which it will not instantly relieve and permanently cure. Do not, for an instant, neglect a cold in the head, for by its prompt treatment, you will prevent its developing into catarrh—the second stage on the road to the grave. If, however, catarrh has already developed, the use of this great remedy will prove equally beneficial, as it affords speedy relief, and will effect a certain cure, even in the most aggravated cases, if persistently used. It removes the secretions, frees the clogged nostrils, and sweetens the breath, stops the inflammation and thus saves the lungs and prevents the disease developing into consumption. This great discovery is now and sold throughout the country under the name of Nasal Balm. It is a positive and certain cure, and the thousands of testimonials in the hands of its proprietors prove that it is all they claim for it. It is sold by all dealers, and every sufferer from cold in the head or catarrh should use it. 4w4 ww

Dreadful Psoriasis.

Covering Entire Body with White Scales. Suffering Fearful. Cured by Cuticura.

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nostrils almost covering my face. It ran into my ears and my physician was afraid I would lose my eyesight altogether. It spread all over my body and my hair all fell out, until I was entirely bald-headed; it then broke out on my arms and shoulders, until my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, head, and shoulders being the worst. The white scales fell constantly from my head, shoulders and arms; the skin would thicken and be red and very itchy, and would crack and bleed if scratched. After spending many hundreds of dollars, I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using two bottles (CUTICURA RESOLVENT, I could see a change; and after I had taken four bottles, I was almost cured; and when I had used six bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered for five years I cannot express with a pen what I suffered before using the REMEDIES. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to recommend them. My hair is restored as good as ever, and so is my eyesight. MRS. ELSIA KELLY,

Harvey.

Obituary—Late Mrs. Stockdale.

Mrs. Wm. Stockdale, of Harvey, began the new year of eternity on January 1st, she passing away on that date to her rest in a better world. She was 82 years of age, and was one of the very earliest settlers of Harvey, she and her husband settling there in 1854, when there was not a resident on the farther side of Sandy Lake. Her husband, who died nineteen years ago, will be remembered as having been a Liberal of the stanchest type. Mrs. Stockdale leaves behind her three sons and two daughters. These are Mrs. Lennox, Gray County, and Mrs. McKenty of Harvey. The three sons are Robt. Stockdale of Harvey, George of Kansas, and William a resident of Peterborough. Mrs. Stockdale was a member of the Methodist Church, and in every way worthy of the high respect in which she was held.

Warsaw Festivities.

Mr. J. J. Crowe Entertains His Friends at Supper.

(From a Correspondent.)

The Morgan House, Warsaw, was the scene of gayety and festivity Friday night. Mr. J. J. Crowe, the newly-appointed License Inspector of East Peterborough, invited a number of his friends to a supper as an evidence of his appreciation of the honor conferred upon him. About forty guests were present from the east riding and the town of Peterborough. An excellent repast was served by Mr. John Morgan, and the usual toasts and speeches followed. Mr. David Rose occupied the chair. Mr. Crowe was heartily toasted and most highly spoken of by all who had the opportunity. The company was unanimous in congratulating Mr. Crowe upon his appointment. It is felt that a man of his activity and ability, and one who is a local preacher and superintendent of a Sunday school besides, will make a keen temperance worker and give a most faithful discharge of the duties of his office. A jolly evening was spent, and Mr. Crowe's popularity will be further enhanced by this generous expression of confidence in, and good will towards, his friends. May his shadow never grow less.

SINGLE TAX

Is now the question of the hour; but to those in need of Ordered or Ready-made Clothing, single profits ought to be a subject of greater importance. Yearly importing all our principal lines, we save you the profits of the wholesale men, and you have thus one single profit to pay. That profit is not a large one, and has been made still smaller, as we are determined each and every article of Winter Clothing must go, to make way for Spring Goods. Each and every department has been visited and all goods have been reduced. Don't you buy a dollar's worth of clothing until you have looked us over. OVER THE FALLS TO DEATH

STARTLING SUICIDE AT NIAGARA FALLS SUNDAY NIGHT.

Killed on the Michigan Central—A Farmer Blows His Head Off—A Drink in the Dark Results in Death—A Man Throws Himself in Front of a Railway Train and is Frightfully Injured.

STEVENSVILLE, Jan. 25.—To-day at 5:4 p.m. Irvin Teal and Hare Moore of Ridgeway, while driving across the M.C.R. track southward, were run into by a special westbound train. The engine demolished the buggy and Moore was thrown a distance of 40 feet and died at 9 p.m. Teal was badly bruised but not fatally. Teal claims that the engineer did not ring the bell or use the whistle until the engine struck his rig.

SUICIDE AT NIAGARA.

Deliberate Suicide at Niagara Falls Sunday Night.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Jan 25.—A man who registered at the Spencer House as C. E. Stanley, Cleveland, Ohio, suicided by jumping off Goat Island bridge into the Niagara rapids and was instantly swept over the American Falls. Reservation Park Policeman Henry Highland saw the man climbing over the locked bridge gates. When he reached the man he was half way up the island hill. He saw Stanley was intoxicated and took him by the arm to lead him back to the mainland. They had not proceeded far when Stanley broke away. Just about the middle of the bridge Stanley mounted the railing, jumped over on the anchor ice below and lay apparently stunned. Highland summoned help, when Jack McCloy fastened a rope about his waist and made his way towards Stanley, who had risen to a sitting position and sat shivering and shaking. Another second and he would have been secured, when Stanley rolled over into the rapids and was shot with lightning rapidity among the floating ice into the rapids and dashed over the falls. His body will likely lodge among the huge masses of ice at the foot of the falls.

DEATH CAME IN THE DARK.

A Captain Drinks From a Cup in Which Paris Green Had Been Mixed.

PORT DALHOUSIE, Jan. 25.—An old resident of this village, Thomas Jones, accidentally poisoned himself Friday night by taking Paris green. He got up about 11 o'clock to get a drink of water and, there being none in the house, he took a pail and went to the cistern and drew some in the dark. He got hold of a cup which had been used for mixing paris green and dipping it into the pail he took a drink. He then returned to bed and as soon as the effects of the poison became manifest a doctor was sent for, but it was too late, as he gradually became weaker until death ensued this morning. The deceased was well known all over the lakes, having been a sailor for about 40 years. He leaves a widow and seven children, all grown up.

DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED.

A One-Armed Man Killed While Fixing an Old Gun.

JORDAN, Jan. 23.—Burton Snure, a farmer living near here, about 9 o'clock yesterday morning told his wife he had an old stockless gun he wanted to fix up. He at once went to the wood shed where his carpenter's tools and appliances were kept. In about ten minutes an explosion was heard. Mrs. Snure rushed to the shed and found her husband stretched on the ground a corpse. Snure having but one arm and not suspecting that the useless old gun was loaded had placed it in a vise for the purpose of repairing it When his face was directly over the muzzle the gun had exploded, the charge entering just above the right ear and blowing the top of the head completely off, causing instant death.

SOUGHT DEATH ON THE RAIL.

Determined Attempt at Suicide Near Winnipeg—The Man Badly Mutilated.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 25.—At Monmouth, east of here, Friday night a man attempted suicide by throwing himself in front of a moving freight locomotive. As the train drew up to the depot the man jumped on the track right in front of the engine. He was knocked down and the wheel passed over one of his arms and one of his feet and inflicted injuries to his skull. He was brought into the city and taken to the hospital, where his crushed arm was amputated this morning. The toes of one foot are crushed off and the limb is otherwise injured. The injury to the skull is serious, but not necessarily fatal, and there is a prospect of his surviving. The man's name is John Dark, but nothing further is known of him. He is a stranger here.

WOLVES FED ON THE CORPSE.

The Body Washed Ashore at Dog's Head Was That of a Montreal Man.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 25.—The body of young Rene De Beaujeau, one of the victims of the Keewatin yacht disaster on Lake Winnipeg last September, arrived here yesterday and was shipped last night to Montreal. When first discovered by Indians on the shore of the lake at Dog's Head last November the body was supposed to be that of Oliver Morphy of Toronto, who met his death at the same time, but from descriptions of watch and locket found on it De Beaujeau's friends came to the conclusion that it was his body, and McMonongahela De Beaujeau, Montreal, arrived to recover his brother's remains and take them home for interment. The body was badly mutilated by water and, after it drifted ashore, by wolves and Indian dogs.

Died in Her Husband's Arms.

TEOROLD, Jan. 25.—Friday evening, Mrs. J. B. Henderson, wife of Mr. Henderson, proprietor of the Thorold knitting factory, left her house in Queenston-street in apparent good health, coming down town to get some medecine for an attack of asthma, with which she was occasionally troubled. When opposite Ling's restaurant she became suddenly ill, and entered the house, requesting that a cab be called to take her home. She was immediately assisted to one passing at the time, and on arriving in front of her residence was lifted out in the arms of her husband, and expired in a few moments.

DETROIT, Jan. 25.—It is said that James N. Henry of Chatham, Ont., who defrauded the Bank of Montreal out of $34,000 and who has been a fugitive from justice for the last two months, was arrested a few days since in Mexico and is now in the United States in charge of a detective, who will bring him north at an early date.

ANOTHER MINE HORROR.

FIFTY-TWO COLLIERS KILLED IN GERMANY.

Workmen Killed by an Avalanche in Pyrite —Beheaded Their Master out of Revenge—Railway Strikers at Greenock Attack the Police and a Serious Conflict Follows.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The railway strikers at Greenock became riotous last night and between midnight and 2 o'clock this morning several conflicts occurred between the strikers and the police. Several officers were injured. There were slighter disorders at Perth, where several arrests were made. The North British Railway Company has lodged an arrestment of the funds of the Scotch Railway Servants' Society, claiming £20 10.0 damages from the society for causing the present strike.

Immense Damage Occasioned in Various Cities by the Flood.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 25.—A thaw has set in here and floods have resulted. The River Seine, which flows through this city, is much swollen. It has overflowed its banks for miles and low lying suburbs of Brussels are flooded to a depth of five feet. Food is being conveyed to inhabitants of the flooded quarters of the city by boats. A portion of the village of Anxerghem was suddenly submerged today and the people were forced to flee from their homes to escape drowning. Many cattle perished. Inundations are reported at Charleroi, Thuin, Marchiennes and Dinant, all attended with immense damage to property.

Gossip About Hartington and the Duchess of Manchester.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—There is a good deal of fresh gossip about the Marquis of Hartington and the Duchess of Manchester. The pair have been guests of Baron Hirsch at Wretham Hall, Norfolk, the Prince of Wales and Lady Randolph Churchill also being of the company. The Princess of Wales was not there. It was one of the jolliest parties of the season and game was slaughtered by the cartload. The Marquis and Duchess showed each other marked attention, taking but little apparent interest in the pheasant shooting.

Bedford's Suicide in the Commons.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—In the House of Commons to-day the Right Hon. Henry Matthews, Home Secretary, in reply to a question, denied that there was any difference in practice between the inquest held on the body of the late Duke of Bedford and that which is held on the body of an ordinary person. The examination in regard to the death of the Duke of Bedford, he declared, was held with open doors. If the press did not know of this it was not the fault of the Coroner. No attempt had been made to suppress a public inquiry.

The Deadly Avalanche.

PARIS, Jan. 25.—While a number of men were releasing snow-blocked trains at Nantris an avalanche fell on them, burying several of the workmen and injuring three fatally. Engineers have been attempting to clear the scene of the huge blocks of ice with which it is packed with dynamite. To-day a dynamite cartridge exploded, killing one of the engineers.

Salisbury Will Submit Proposals.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The Marquis of Salisbury is about to send to Sir Julian Pauncefote a series of proposals for settling the Behring Sea difficulty. He is for allowing the controverted questions to lapse, and suggests certain plans, the chief element of which deals more with the industrial than the political aspect of the case.

A Russian Decision Against Hebrews.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 25.—The Novoe Vremya announces that the Senate has decided that Hebrews are not entitled to acquire or hold real estate beyond five versts from the district or provincial courts, or within the boundary of a town wherein they were registered before August, 1858.

A Family Suicide

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—Burgomaster Fischer, of the Saxony Weavers' Guild at Radegorst, in Anhalt, killed himself to-day at the Leibig Hotel. His wife and father followed his example on hearing the news. All three had conspired to rob the City Treasury of 500 marks and feared that their guilt would be discovered.

Fifty-two Colliers Killed.

BERLIN, Jan 24.—A terrible disaster has occurred at the Hibernia colliery at Gelsenkirchen. Fifty-two were killed and 30 were severely injured by an explosion which took place in one of the pits.

Flames in a Crown Prince's Palace.

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 24.—A fire occurred here to-day in the Crown Prince's palace. Many valuable pictures and a quantity of rich furniture were destroyed by the flames.

Cable Flashes.

Count Wolkenstain of Austria, while dancing at a ball in his palace at Lemberg, dropped dead from apoplexy.

Queen Victoria has presented a richly caparisoned Indian elephant to the Emperor of Morocco.

The Russian Government has abandoned its plans for the construction of barracks and forts on the Austrian frontier.

The subscriptions to the Balfour-Zetland fund for the relief of distressed people in Ireland have reached £36,000.

The City Fathers of Cologne have engaged 13,145 starving and homeless people to work on public works until spring at 180 pfennigs a day.

The Court of Appeals at Paris has decided that Victor Hugo's daughter Adele is entitled to all the profits that may accrue from his literary works.

The engagement is announced at St. Petersburg of the Grand Duchess Xenia, the Czar's eldest daughter, to her cousin, Grand Duke Alexander Mikhailovitch.

The Queen of England will leave Windsor Castle on March 24 for a trip to Italy. She will be accompanied by Prince and Princess Henry of Battenburg.

In the British House of Commons yesterday the Right Hon. George Osborne Morgan, Liberal M.P. for East Denbigh, gave notice of a motion to disestablish the Church of Wales.

A committee consisting of Lord Salisbury, Mr. Gladstone, Lord Granville and Mr. Smith is going to offer to the British Museum a bust of Sir Henry Layard, the famous statesman and antiquarian.

THE IRISH SITUATION.

PARNELL NOT LIKELY TO CONFER WITH THE PARTY AGAIN.

Justin McCarthy Looks For an Early Settlement of All Difficulties—Hartington, However, Says it is Improbable That the Unity of the Irish Party Will be Restored.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—G. W. Smalley cables The New York Tribune: It seems doubtful whether Mr. Parnell will again visit Bourgas. At Tralee the other day he declared that he would hold the post of leader until assured that the Irish people would get the sort of Home Rule they desired, as set forth in his charter. His language in Ireland this week and his conduct in Parliament do not give token of any intention to retire to obscurity. Much attention has been drawn to his recent utterances in Ireland about complete independence. They are so much like the celebrated "Last Link" speech and so strongly confirm what the Unionists have maintained, that, notwithstanding Mr. Parnell's assumed moderation since Mr. Gladstone took up Home Rule, and despite Mr. Gladstone's assurances about a finality, the Gladstonians no longer attempt to disguise the opinion that Mr. Parnell has all through been maintaining a constant, unswerving policy looking to separation.

WATERFORD, Jan. 24.—Mr. Parnell to-day addressed in this city the largest meeting that has assembled to hear him during his present campaign. Mr. Parnell said that Hartlepool had declared entirely for him in the recent election and that it depended upon Irishmen themselves what kind of Home Rule they obtained. He admitted that he was at fault in being too amiable with Gladstone at Hawarden, but he promised that he would not repeat that mistake. He had never known anything to be got out of negotiations with Gladstone and he was glad they had been broken off. After the meeting Parnell was presented with addresses by the town corporation, the Board of Poor Law guardians, trade societies and other bodies.

A body of McCarthyites held a counter demonstration at Mallinavat, where Messrs. Chance and Sheehy, members of parliament, delivered addresses. There was considerable cheering for Parnell.

Speaking at the Town Hall in acknowledgment of an address presented him there, Mr. Parnell declared that but for the seceders in the Irish Parliamentary party the Government would have been defeated by a large majority on Friday in the House of Commons on Mr. Channing's motion for the relief of overworked railway employes.

Addressing a crowd this evening from a balcony of his hotel Mr. Parnell said he had forced Justin McCarthy "to open his war chest" and devote £8000 to the relief of evicted tenants. During the evening a twilight procession paraded the city in honor of Mr. Parnell.

There is a growing feeling among Liberals that the bill for Irish Home Rule which they would be expected to support should be outlined before the next general election. Mr. Asquith, Gladstonian M.P. for East Fifeshire, Scotland, says that the control and appointment of the police should be vested in the Irish Government by any Home Rule measure, and also the power to deal with the land question.

Archbishop Croke accompanies his subscription to a fund for the family of a Protestant rector with a scathing letter, in which he reproaches Mr. Parnell for doubting Catholics' treatment of Protestants after himself receiving a testimonial of £40,000 from them.

Collapse of The Insuppressible.

DUBLIN, Jan. 25.—The Insuppressible, the newspaper started in this city as a rival to United Ireland, and upon the supposition that William O'Brien would assume editorial control of its columns, has stopped publication. It is believed that Mr. O'Brien's despatch yesterday from Boulogne-sur-Mer to the publishers of The Insuppressible, requesting that his name be no longer used in connection with that newspaper, was the last reason which brought about the collapse of the enterprise referred to.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Justin McCarthy and Thomas Sexton, who went to Boulogne-sur-Mer to confer with Messrs. O'Brien and Dillon, returned to this city to-day. Mr. McCarthy said the conference passed off smoothly and he had great hopes of a speedy and amicable settlement of the existing troubles in the Irish party.

The Insuppressible in its last issue announces that a report is current that arrangements were made at the recent conference in Boulogne-sur-Mer for Mr. Parnell and Mr. O'Brien to go to America for the purpose of collecting funds for the relief of the people who have been evicted from their homes, Mr. Dillon during the absence of Messrs. Parnell and O'Brien to act as leader of the Irish party. This paper adds, however, that it doubts the truth of this report.

Archbishop Walsh has written a letter to The Freeman's Journal in reply to certain statements made by that paper. The Archbishop says it is not a question whether English opinion or Irish opinion is to decide the leadership, but the question is whether Mr. Parnell is morally fit to lead the Catholics. The Journal retorts that Mr. Parnell's business with Ireland is only political.

Hartington to-day in an address to his constituents at Rosendale, Lancashire, speaking of the question as to whether Home Rule was dead or living, said: "Its only chance is gone forever of becoming a practical policy. It is improbable that the unity of the Irish party will be restored, as the confidence of the Gladstonians in the political honesty of the Parnellites is permanently upped. It is more necessary than ever that any measure for Home Rule should be strictly guarded and limited by provisions securing the unity of the kingdom. The Government is prepared to pass any remedial measures which could be of practical utility to Ireland."

The Paris Siecle announces that William O'Brien has received from Arnold Morley, the Liberal whip, Home Rule guarantees on the part of Mr. Gladstone and his colleagues. These guarantees, according to The Siecle, are sufficient to meet Mr. Parnell's conditions, upon which he consents to retire.

Parnell Coming to America.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Mr. Parnell will be in this city before St. Patrick's Day. He will arrive in the early days of March, probably not later than the 10th or the 12th of the month. Hugh A. Curtin and Michael Breslin have private information that Mr. Parnell will visit New York in the first fortnight of March.

NEW YORK'S STORM.

The Severest Weather Since the Blizzard of March, 1888.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—A storm which set in late last night and continued until noon to-day was the severest experienced here in the way of cutting off communication with the outside world since the great blizzard of March, 1888. Telegraph, telephone, electric light and fire alarm wires are down in all directions. Advices from New Jersey and Long Island report a similar state of affairs. About six inches of snow fell.

Wrecks of trees and telegraph poles were to be found on every street, while irregular festoons of wire were strung on every sidewalk. While the snow did not offer a bar to railroad traffic, the prostrate poles and fallen wires prevented the running of cars on many streets, and even the elevated railroad trains were often brought to a stop by the wires that had fallen across the tracks.

It is proposed in Paris to do away, as far as possible, with lunatic asylums and to place insane persons who are not prone to violence in the homes of country people, who will be suitably remunerated by the State.

WILL THE DEAL GO ON.

It is Said She Will Trade for East African Possessions.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The negotiations which have been carried on between France and England concerning Newfoundland have within the last few days assumed a remarkable development by France making a proposal, which if accepted would end the difficulty for all time.

The tenor of the proposal is that France shall enter into arrangements for buying Portugal's claim in East Africa. If she succeeds she shall receive from England a recognition of her sovereign rights over the territory so acquired. In return France shall surrender all claims in Newfoundland which have produced inconveniences to the colonists.

The Chilian Revolt Spreads.

BUENOS AYRES, Jan. 25.—News has been received here from Valparaiso that a conference between President Balmaceda and the Chilian Deputies has taken place. Many people believed that the President would take advantage of this meeting to tender his resignation. He did not do so, however, and the conference had no result. Meanwhile the insurgents continue to gain strength and confidence. The workmen employed in the factories in and about Valparaiso are joining the insurgent forces in large numbers. The tide of sympathy seems to be with the rebels. Regular railroad traffic is at a standstill, and in many places the insurgents have temporarily stopped the running of trains by tearing the rails up. In some places they have also destroyed the railroad embankment. Business is in a state of paralysis. The Government has declared the large towns to be in a state of siege.

Grim Winter's Icy Clutch.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 25.—Terrific snowstorms have prevailed recently throughout the southeastern portion of Russia. Deep drifts have been formed in many localities, and whole villages and numbers of isolated houses have been almost buried in snow. The railroad tracks are entirely useless from the piles of snow resting upon them. The inhabitants are suffering from the bitterly cold weather. Numbers of people have been frozen to death and it is feared that as the snow disappears further loss of life will be revealed. The city of Charkow, the capital of the Government of Kharkow, is completely isolated by snow, and the only way of communicating with it is by telegraph. Charkow has 200,000 inhabitants. It is feared that if its isolation continues there will be terrible suffering, owing to scarcity of provisions among its poorer inhabitants.

Great Britain and Canada.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—The Chronicle says that a high authority declares that the Government has exercised no pressure on Canada in regard to pending negotiations. While it would rejoice to see Canada and the United States again commercial friends, thus inducing a different spirit from that engendered by thorny fishery disputes, it does not desire to depart from the policy of allowing the colonies a free hand in commercial matters; nor is it right to imply any intention on the part of Canada to make a reciprocal agreement. The basis of the settlement of such questions as those involved in the Behring Sea must be decided on their merits.

Buried His Head in the Sand.

BUCHAREST, Jan. 24.—The headless body of a major in the Roumanian army was found yesterday in the bath room in the Carroll Hotel, Custeadji. Two orderlies who are detailed as the major's body servants were arrested to-day on suspicion of having murdered the officer. One of the orderlies confessed, and said they had buried the dead man's head in the sand not far from the hotel. Revenge for ill-treatment received by the orderlies at the major's hands is supposed to be the cause of the murder.

The McKinley Tariff in England.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Howard Vincent, member for Sheffield Central Division, gave notice in the House of Commons yesterday of his intention to question the Government Monday respecting the reported intention of various Bradford and Sheffield firms, including the Listers and the Sir Titus Salt Company, to remove their works to America. Mr. Vincent says he understood such removals would be made in consequence of the United States tariff. He will ask whether the Government intends taking measures to protect British trade.

Both Fled to Toronto.

DANSVILLE, N.Y., Jan. 25.—James Faulkner wrecked the Dansville Bank in 1887 and fled with the money to Canada. He struck Toronto during the fair, and the police thinking he was an ordinary crook arrested him for vagrancy and I was ordered to leave town. The next year (so he passed in Europe, and then got homesick and returned to the United States. He has just been sentenced at Albany to five years.

BUFFALO, Jan. 25.—About a year ago Stephen F. Sherman, grain dealer, fled to Toronto, after defrauding his creditors. He recently returned and has been sentenced to five years here for grand larceny at hard abor.

Death's Work Certified.

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 25.—Dr. Charles F. Heuser was found dead in his bed yesterday. He left a will containing the remarkable request that 12 hours after death his heart be cut out in the presence of witnesses and his body cremated. His wishes have been carried out.

This afternoon the body was cremated at Loudon Park. In accordance with another provision the ashes were placed in tiny vials and distributed to the doctor's friends. Dr. Heuser had a horror of being buried alive. When Dr. Heuser's wife died a few years ago he pierced the heart with a knife. His daughter is an inmate of an insane asylum.

Capiased From Toronto,

HAMILTON, Jan. 25.—Mitch and Robinson the Pittsburg boot and shoe dealers arrested as defaulters, are making a strong fight against their creditors. Yesterday a motion was made in the court house before Judge Muir for their discharge under the second capias. Judge Muir ruled in favor of the defendants, dismissing the capias.

The prisoners were immediately arrested on another capias issued at Toronto by Judge Armour at the instance of the Myer Rubber Company of New Brunswick, N.J., whose claim is over $13,000. Rich and Robinson have been taken from the jail and are confined in a private house under the charge of Bailiffs Stewart and Hunter.

Drowned Himself in a Well.

PARIS, Jan. 24.—A farmer named Robert C. Wilson, 50 years of age, living near this town, was found drowned in a cistern adjoining his own dwelling. It appears he made his will yesterday and was in perfect health. Suicide was the cause of his death. No reason is attributed for this rash act.

No More Church Lotteries.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 25.—Archbishop Ireland last night issued a letter to the clergy of the archdiocese of St. Paul, in which he peremptorily forbids every practice that in any way resembles a lottery at Catholic fairs, prohibiting all selling of chances, raffles, fish ponds, postoffices and other devices generally in practice at such entertainments, and upon which church people largely rely for their receipts.

Engine Driver Killed.

MONCTON, Jan. 25.—William Bell, an I.C.R. locomotive driver, in jumping from his engine while in motion at Petit Rocher yesterday slipped on the ice and fell beneath the wheels, being instantly killed. He leaves a young wife at Newcastle.

Personal Liberty vs. Personal Slavery.

We are all free American citizens, enjoying our personal liberty; but most of us are in physical slavery, suffering from Scrofula, salt rheum or some other form of impure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great blood purifier which dissives the bonds of disease, gives health and perfect physical liberty.

The Distant Market.

Mr. J. W. Curtis, a Port Perry egg-dealer sends to the Standard an account of his recent experience in shipping eggs to Britain. On November 6th, a month after the McKinley tariff went into force, Mr. Curtis despatched 100 cases to London. Five days later he himself crossed over. The eggs did not reach London until December 16, having been 40 days on the way. The vessel encountered fogs and storms. He thinks that in ordinary weather eggs shipped from Port Perry would reach London in three weeks. They were not in good condition when they arrived, being "watery." He ascribes this to the changes of temperature which they had undergone, as well as to the rolling of the vessel. The dealers rated them as third class, but as it was Christmas week he got a good price for them, namely, 11 shillings per ten dozen. Had they been as sound as they were when they left Port Perry they might have fetched 15 shillings. But he says:—

"If those eggs, shipped in the winter months depreciated so much in quality, what would eggs do in the summer when the temperature is up to 80 and 90? My opinion is they would be worthless. I was also informed, while in England, that the best eggs get down in price in the spring for two or three months as low as 5s to 7s per 120, and others as low as 3s. These prices for our eggs, with profits and commissions off, mean about 7c. per dozen here. So you will see the prospects are not quite so bright as reported by some of our leading papers. At the best my opinion is that we can never have as good a market as the Americans gave us before the McKinley Bill was passed, and I should not be surprised if we don't prefer to pay the 5s. duty and ship over there again before the season of 1891 is over."

Business men have a better acquaintance with the relative value of markets than politicians like Mr. John Carling, and the fact that last year Canadian eggs to the value of $2,157,000 were shipped to the States whilst the shipments to Britain amounted to only $18, is sufficient to convince any reasonable person that the nearer market was preferable to the more remote, both being free. It follows that when Congress imposed a duty of five cents a dozen our egg trade was hurt, and that even if we could get a foothold in Britain she would be merely a second best customer. The same is true of our export trade in all the other coarse and bulky products which need to find their way to the States in preference to Britain. What Liberals say is that the farmer should have free access to both countries for his produce. Can any sane man deny the advantage of such an arrangement? They also recommend that the farmer should be allowed to purchase his manufactured goods in the States if they are cheaper than here, without being mulcted for the Canadian duty—in other words that he should have a choice of stores as which to buy as well as a choice of markets in which to sell. Who can gainsay the soundness of this proposition? But we cannot obtain liberty to sell unless we are also willing to accept the boon of buying in the States, though surely that is not a harsh condition. What the Tories want is to sell without buying—to get the Americans to accept the farmer's wares but to compel him to return to Canada with the money and purchase his cotton, coal oil, salt and sugar from the native combines which have run the price of those commodities beyond the American figure. Mr. Blaine is not prepared to agree to such a jag-handled scheme, and the Canadian farmer should be equally resolute in opposing it, for it is manifestly contrary to his interest. Such is the Alpha and Omega of a controversy which the experience and practical knowledge of men like Mr. Curtis are doing much to decide in the right way.—Globe.

God Bless the Dear Mother.

If there breathes an unselfish, hard-working toiler, an uncomplaining being on the face of God's earth, it is the mother who from early morn till late at night attends to the work, comforts and pleases of the household. There is no lagging, no idleness, no complaining. Every step, every action, every effort is actuated by love; and that very love supports her under all her varied difficulties. Husband, children and housework entail a vast amount of labour to the mother who is unable to keep hired help. We are compelled to wonder at, and even admire, woman's great fortitude and strength when placed in such a position. We are forced with shame to admit that men, as a rule, do not appreciate and revere sufficiently such noble self-sacrifice.

Among the thousands of such mothers in our land, many of them, by this self-sacrifice to home and family, are literally wearing life out, in many cases unconsciously, but surely. We know that many of these mothers, from over-exertion, nervousness, wearied brain, sleeplessness, headaches and a feeling of geneness, are just using themselves up, and must bring on serious and fatal results unless nature is assisted in recuperation. Woman's friend and strengthener is Paine's Celery Compound, that great nerve and brain restorer. It acts like a charm when difficulties such as the above are encountered. It restores strength, vigor and health to the frail and broken down, and adds years of joy to the useful life.

Mothers, delay not the use of this most efficacious remedy for your family's sake. By its use the aid of a physician is unnecessary; and bodies saving a vast amount of money, your life is spared as a blessing to your husband and children.

THE CANADA PRESBYTERIAN, a large sixteen page family paper, published every Wednesday, has now been before the public for nineteen years. During that time it has secured for itself the confidence and esteem of thousands of readers of every Province in the Dominion. It is now in its twentieth volume. All the departments that have made the paper valuable in the past will be continued; and a series of able articles on the stirring religious questions of the day, by prominent writers in Europe and America, will form a special feature the present year. KNOXONIAN, whose racy papers have been so attractive a feature in the past, continues to write regularly; and the list of Canadian contributors has been greatly increased. It will be the constant aim of the conductors of THE CANADA PRESBYTERIAN to make it a welcome visitor to the family circle; and in its comprehensive pages old and young will ever find interesting, pure and profitable reading. THE CANADA PRESBYTERIAN in its enlarged form, is the same size as Harper's Weekly, and one of the largest journals of the kind on the continent.

A Cash Prize.

The proprietors of Burdock Blood Bitters will give a prize of Five Dollars for the cleverest and best essay, (not to exceed one hundred words) upon the merits of B.B.B. as a cure for disease. The competition will close Jan 1st, '91, after which the successful essay will be published (with the author's name if desired.) They will also pay $1 each for any of the essays they may select and publish. No restrictions. Try your skill, and address 2w4d T. MILBURN & Co., Toronto, Ont.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam Balsam for coughs and colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The Large Bottles are 50c, and $1.00. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

Coming Events.

Purity of the blood in the system is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humors is inherited and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

FRANCO-RUSSIAN ALLIANCE.

The Czar's Chamberlain Makes Some Important Admissions.

PARIS, Jan. 26.—The Siecle publishes an interview with Gen. Lamsdorf, the Czar's confidential court chamberlain. The chamberlain is quoted as saying that Russians and Frenchmen have so many affinities of character that the former sympathise with France and have a profound antipathy for the people of England and Germany, whose characters are different. Russia, according to the chamberlain, can only reap advantages from contact with the French and hopes to develop her commercial and industrial relations with France. The latter country, said the chamberlain, had recently shown that her wealth was greater than ever and it was gratifying to know that the two nations were most closely connected by force of circumstances and similarity of interests. Finances were most prosperous in Russia. France, he added, could bear her military burdens without fear of financial disaster, which was not the case with several others powers. Every year armed peace sees the success of Russia and France assured, and their union renders war impossible and restrains Europe. Therefore a closer union is desirable. A feeling of great tension recently existed between Germany and Russia. Emperor William wished to hold the German winter manœuvres on the Russian frontier, and preparations to that end were being made. The Czar, however, notified the Emperor that should he hold the winter manœuvres as proposed he (the Czar) would in such an event mobilize the Russian first army corps and order important movements of the troops to be made. Upon this representation being made to the Emperor the latter abandoned his intention of holding the winter manœuvres on the Russian frontier. The Emperor is making a thousand advances to England, but he would do well to remember that a British alliance is to be distrusted.

SCOTT FOOLED THE CONS.

The Strike of Chicago & Erie Conductors is Settled.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—Chief E. E. Clark of the Order of Railway Conductors and a committee of strikers who came up from Huntington, Ind., last night were in conference to-day with Vice-President Thomas, General Manager Tucker and other officials of the Chicago & Erie Railroad. It appears there has been misunderstanding between the officials and men from the first. Chief Clark said to-day the men understood that when Scott was suspended there was a direct promise on the part of the company that he would be reinstated. They were told all the old Chicago & Atlantic men were to be discharged and that Scott's dismissal was simply the beginning. They did not doubt the company had broken faith with them in Scott's case and that they were being tricked. No such promise was made to Scott and the company had no intention of getting rid of the old employes. The result of the conference was a proposition for a settlement of the strike by General Manager Tucker, the terms of which have not been made public, but it is evidently satisfactory to the committee, as its members at once took a train for Huntington, Ind., to-day to lay it before a meeting of the strikers.

FROM NEWFOUNDLAND.

The Colony Still Loyal to Great Britain and Her Laws.

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 25.—Advices from Newfoundland state at a meeting of what is known as the "French Shore Committee" resolutions were adopted expressing gratitude to their fellow-colonists in Canada for their manifestations of sympathy for Newfoundland in the hardship of its position, and of the active and valuable support and assistance afforded by the press, the various boards of trade and other exponents of public opinion and sentiment throughout the Dominion. The committee recognise in this sympathy and co-operation a source of strength and hope to sustain and encourage the people of Newfoundland to further persistant effort in the future.

The St. John's, Newfoundland, Herald says: "It is quite true that all Newfoundland has been aroused to the most vehemen resentment against Great Britain for this second outrage which she now purposes to perpetrate upon the colony, but we have no reason at all to believe that any section of our people have conspired to throw off their allegiance to the British crown. What may happen in the near future we know not, but at present no rumors have reached us here in St. John's of any conspiracy against Her Majesty's sovereignty in Newfoundland.

So long as the arrow remains on the string the people of Newfoundland will do nothing to give the Imperial Government a pretext for depriving them of their rights and franchise. When the lifted hand forbears to strike the blow we will abstain from every act of hostility against Great Britain. There has been no conspiracy or rebellion in Newfoundland, for as yet the colony is preserved in some measure at least of its independence. But what will happen when the modus vivandi is renewed and the French shore question is settled over the heads of the community of Newfoundland time only will reveal."

Hundreds of ferocious wolves have invaded the Western part of Kansas from the Indian Territory, and are doing much damage in the grazing sections.

A telephone line about five miles long has been established in Iceland, and is regarded as a great curiosity, being the first ever established on the island.

According to some Maine papers, robins are birthely singing in various parts of the state, apparently oblivious of the fact that it is a real old-fashioned winter.

Recent attempts have been made to throw doubts on the possibility of man's ever attaining the age of 100 years. But the facts have been too many for the theorists.

Prof. Dorenwend to be in Town.

Prof. Dorenwend, the friend of the bald is to make a limited visit here. He carries a complete stock of Hair Goods, and calls special attention to his new styles in ladies' bangs, crimpers, wigs, switches, gent's wigs, toupees, &c. Prof. D's goods are becoming to be actual things of necessity to the average person. Few can boast of having a superabundance of hair, but many complain of having too little. Prof. D's goods fill the vacancy, and make it possible for everybody to have a presentable head of hair. There is a chance now for all to be assured of Prof. D's claims—that his goods not only add to appearance, but to comfort and health as well. Proof is convincing. His stay is rather short, but it is as much time as he can spare, as he has other places to go to.—So don't miss it at Phelan's Hotel, Peterborough, on Friday and Saturday, Feb'y 6th and 7th. 2w4d

Medical Hints.

The quickest, surest and best remedy for rheumatism, neuralgia, lumbago, sore throat, soreness and lameness, is Hagyard's Yellow Oil. It quickly cures sprains, bruises, burns, frostbites, chilblains, etc. For croup, colds, quinsy, etc., take 10 to 30 drops on sugar, and apply the oil externally also, when immediate relief will result. 2w41

Keep Off The Chaps.

Wet wintry weather causes chapped hands, sore throat, croup, colds, pain in the chest, swellings, etc., for which a certain cure exists in Hagyard's Yellow Oil, the best pain expeller for internal or external use. Keep it on hand in case of emergencies. Every bottle is a little giant in curative power. 2w41

Ottawa Mayoralty Contest Recount.

As a result of the Ottawa Citizen mayoralty contest recount, Mr. Bennell Sawyer, Principal of the Ottawa Business College, has been returned. The number of votes announced to his credit was 14,038. Accordingly, a few evenings since, the Citizen Company presented Mr. Sawyer with a statuette of Sir John A. Macdonald, by Hebert. It stands 2½ feet in height and is an excellent likeness. While we congratulate Prof. Sawyer on his success, we would venture the remark that, if he continues to increase in popularity, his college will soon make him a handsome fortune.

Salvation Army.

The Bowmanville News says:—Commissioner Adams was here this week, completing the arrangements for opening an officers' training home here. We understand that, with the opening of the training home, the divisional headquarters will be moved from Peterborough to Bowmanville.

With reference to the above, a Salvation Army officer told the EXAMINER there was no probability whatever of the headquarters being transferred from Peterborough to Bowmanville. Peterborough is the most central point in the division, and there is not the slightest ground for the statement.

Capt. Desson and wife farewell Wednesday night. They leave on Thursday for the Home of Rest, where they will enjoy a necessary and well-earned rest.

Staff-Capt. Beatty will lead special services at the barracks Saturday, Sunday and Monday, to welcome the new commanding officer.

Municipal Matters at Norwood.

Proceedings have been begun towards the unseating of Reeve Finlay and Councillor Plant, of Norwood. In the report of Saturday's doings in the Toronto High Court of Justice, appears the following:—

REG. EX REL. REYNOLDS V. PLANT.—Stone (Peterborough), for the relator, obtained a fiat for leave to serve notice of motion, calling upon the respondent to show why he should not be unseated from the office of councillor of the village of Norwood. The ground alleged is that he is interested in a contract with the corporation.

REG. EX REL. PEARCE V. FINLAY.—Stone (Peterborough), obtained a fiat for leave to serve a notice of motion, calling upon the respondent to show by what authority he enjoys the office of reeve of the village of Norwood, and why he should not be unseated therefrom. The ground alleged is that he is a surety for the treasurer of the village.

Death's Busy Hand.

This (Monday) morning, Mrs. Susan Powell Morgan, relict of the late William Morgan, and mother of A. P. Morgan, town, died at the family residence, Otonabee, at the advanced age of 81 years. The deceased lady was a native of Caermarthenshire, Wales, from where she came with her late husband to Canada in 1834, and settled in the township of Otonabee, where they both spent their days, Mr. Morgan having died almost fifteen years ago. Mrs. Morgan was one of the earliest settlers of the township, and one of the latest surviving of them. She leaves behind her to mourn her loss, four sons and one daughter. The sons are William and Arthur, the eldest and youngest, of Otonabee, John, of Warsaw and A. P. Morgan, of Peterborough, and the daughter is Mrs. Angus McMartin, of Ashburnham. The deceased lady was highly respected in the large circle of acquaintances her four score years had formed. The funeral takes place on Wednesday at one o'clock p.m. from the family residence to Little Lake cemetery.

The numerous friends of Mr. Christopher Leary and family will be greatly pained to learn of the death of Miss Leary, the only daughter of the family, whose death took place at the homestead this (Monday) morning shortly after midnight. Her illness, which dated from last Sunday, was scarlet fever. The deceased young lady, who had numerous acquaintances, was a great favorite. Her death will be sincerely mourned by a large circle of friends, who extend to the bereaved family their deepest sympathy.

A Rattling Runaway.

Simcoe street Saturday afternoon resounded with the clamor consequent upon an unusually exciting runaway. Mr. Robt Stewart, of Frazerville, was unloading hides at Appleby's warehouse, and went inside for a moment, taking the precaution to leave a boy in charge of his team. The horses were not watched strictly enough, however, for a passing train frightened them and they dashed down Simcoe street at full speed. They got along very well until George street was crossed, when they collided with Mr. Stephen Payne's horse and sleigh, upsetting that equipage and themselves as well. All three horses were sprawling in the road and the sleighs lying runners up in less time than it takes to read of it. The uproar started a pony standing in front of Mr. T. W. Robinson's store. Miss Edith Robinson jumped in time to escape accident. The pony ran up Water street some distance before being caught by Arthur Head, who leaped on its back and bore it down. When things were righted it was found that very little damage was done. Mr. Payne's load of vegetables were scattered on the street, as well as some meat belonging to the other sleigh. The pole of Mr. Stewart's sleigh was broken and the side of Mr. Payne's broken in.

A Promising Young Musician.

"Metronome," in Toronto Saturday Night, says: "Last week I mentioned Miss Louise Singleton, of Port Hope, as being a clever young pianist. On Wednesday of this week I received an invitation from her father, Mr. Thos. Singleton, to meet the young lady at Nordheimer's, with some other press men, and hear her play. I gladly accepted and found a bright, brainy-looking child, very modest, yet self possessed in demeanor, with an air of business, and business only, about her. She is only eleven years old yet she played us a selection of standard piano pieces in a manner that hosts of her elders might have envied. She has a powerful touch, round and full in tone quality, and her execution, if not rapid, is yet distinct and clear, her scales and runs being beautifully even and pearly. The quality of distinctness was especially evident in her playing of Chopin's Fantaisie Impromptu. Her playing is rich in expression and artistic feeling, notably in Moszkowski's Serenata. She showed brilliancy of effect in the Semiramide Overture, and gave very pleasing renditions of Scharwenka's Polish Dance. She is now engaged on a study of Liszt's Rigoletto Fantaisie. Miss Louise is a child with a promising future before her, and won the admiration of those who heard her on Wednesday."

The Presbyterian Year Book.

This useful manual for 1891 has just been received from the office of The Canadian Presbyterian. There are special papers on the Moderator, Rev. John Laing, D.D., and on Home Missions by the Editor; on Foreign Missions, by Rev. A. M. McClelland, M.A., D.C.L., on the Pointe-aux-Trembles School, by Rev. R. Warden, D.D.; on Missions in Western Canada, by Rev. Jas. Farquharson, Pilot Mound, Man.; on the Condition and Prospects of Presbyterianism in the Province of Quebec, by Rev. J. R. MacLeod, Kingsbury, Q; on Our Theological Colleges, by James Knowles, Jr. The Rev. Robt. Murray, Halifax, writes most interestingly of "Thirty Years Ago." Rev. R. F. Burns, D.D., describes the field and operations of the Synod of the Maritime Provinces, and the Rev. W. D. Armstrong, M.A., Ph.D., Ottawa, deals with the important subject of Sabbath Observance. Historical sketches of the following churches add value to the work: viz.; St. Andrew's Church, St. John, N.B.; St. John's Church, Yarmouth, N.S.; Central Church, Galt, and St. Andrew's Church, New Westminster, B.C. The general information furnished—such as calendar for the year, officers of the General Assembly, standing committees, deaths in the ministry, dates for stated collections, rolls of Synods and Presbyteries, with post office address of every minister and an alphabetical list of ministers—is unusually complete. Altogether the Presbyterian Year Book will be found specially useful to church members as well as to business men generally. The price is 25 cents. Address the publishers, 5 Jordan street, Toronto, or ask at the Peterborough Bookstore.

Stinson Unseated.

The Hamilton Election Protest Decided.

(Special to the Examiner.)

TORONTO, Jan. 26.—Judges McMahon and Ferguson gave judgment on the reserved points in the Hamilton election protest this morning at Osgoode Hall.

The points reserved were decided against Stinson and he was therefore declared unseated.

The question upon which the Judges reserved judgment was whether the alien votes polled in behalf of Stinson were done so with the knowledge or connivance of Goering and other agents of Stinson. The judges decided that these votes were polled for Stinson with the knowledge that they were illegal, and Stinson was therefore unseated with costs.

Parker's Dye Works.

Always Dyeing, but More Alive To-Day than Ever Before—Removed to the New Building on Charlotte Street.

"Parker's Steam Dye Works," reads the golden legend inscribed in bold letters on the front of the handsome new building on Charlotte Street, just occupied by Mr. A. Parker. The new premises are most complete for the purpose, and quite elegant. Every person who has passed along Charlotte street cannot have failed to have their observation attracted by the rather imposing appearance of the structure, which, with its tower and flag-staff, its plate and enamel glass windows, and handsome design, is a striking looking building, and a fit memorial of the prosperity and enterprise of the man for whom it was erected. Mr. Parker has, from a small beginning, built up by industry and thrift, an important and growing business. In his new premises the business will doubtless be further expanded as it deserves.

Parker's Steam Dyeing and Scouring Works have been in operation for several years. Mr. A. Parker, the proprietor, thoroughly understands his business, and has no connection whatever with the Toronto firm of the same name. In the new premises there is a front store, 22x28 feet, furnished with cherry-finished counters and cases, and lighted by large plate glass windows surmounted by enamelled glass in different colors. The apartments behind and over the store Mr. Parker uses for a residence.

There is a large building immediately behind, where the work is done. The first floor is filled with vats and pipes. Here the cleaning and dyeing is done. A feature of the room is an immense ventilator for carrying off the steam which would otherwise be troublesome. On the second story the goods are finished. The third story is devoted to the manufacture of sheepskin mats, a branch of business Mr. Parker has but lately gone into. He gets the raw sheepskins and converts them into gaily colored floor mats.

The premises are well-equipped. Mr. Parker carries on dyeing and cleaning in all its various branches, and the success he has achieved is an evidence of the first-class quality of his workmanship. The EXAMINER hopes he may continue to prosper.

Church Chimes.

Rev. S. J. Shorey and Rev. J. H. Locke exchanged pulpits Sunday morning.

Rev. Dr. Barton, of Toronto, preached excellent sermons to good congregations in St. Andrew's, Sunday.

There was a very large attendance at the first Sunday School, held in the new St. John's South Ward Mission School Building. The school was re-organized, new teachers entering upon work as required by the increased attendance. In the evening there was a very large congregation. The evening service was conducted by the Mr. W. M. Loucks, lay reader, and Rev. Mr. Davidson, Rector, preached a most appropriate and effective sermon. The offertory was very liberal.

Rev. Dr. Farrer, of Albany, N.Y., who attended the Christian Endeavour Convention Friday, remained in town over Sunday, preaching in the Baptist Church in the morning and in St. Paul's in the evening. He also addressed a large young peoples' meeting in the George Street Church in the afternoon. His addresses were very interesting and instructive. The afternoon meeting was understood to be for young men only, but the congregation was one half ladies, and the speaker had to considerably alter the tenor of his remarks to suit his mixed audience.

Rev. S. J. Shorey goes to Hiawatha to-night to speak at a missionary meeting in the Methodist Indian mission church.

"Queen's Evidence."

The above, says the Barrie Gazette, was the name of a magnificent drama which introduced the Belle Stevenson Co. to a Barrie audience on Monday evening last. Miss Belle Stevenson in the character of Mrs. Medland carried her hearers from the first with her magnetic power and artistic ability. Her emotional scenes as the blind woman brought forth frequent bursts of applause. Mr. C. J. Stevenson as Gilbert Medland pictured the heroic character inimitably. The part of Solomon Isaacs the Jew, by Harry C. Todd, was one of the best pieces of comedy and character acting introduced for some time. Miss Tady Stevenson was an admirable Ada. Mr. G. Summers was a capital Villain. J. A. Rowland as Sir Frederick was excellent. The balance of the company was creditable. Too much cannot be said of the guitar playing and excellent singing of Miss Belle Stevenson, assisted by the Stevenson family. The Company play for the balance of this week. In Bradburn's Opera House to-night. Tickets 15, 25 & 35cts.

PANSY SOCIETY.—The Pansy Society of the village held their annual meeting for the election of officers on Wednesday afternoon. The members of this society are from among the older girls of the village. Its object is a charitable one—to give assistance to the poor, and prosecute as far as possible any worthy cause. It has been in existence for a number of years and recently opened a new branch for the benefit of the smaller girls, its members being called "Pansy Buds." The officers elected were:—President, Bessy Roxburgh; vice-president, Beth. Carmichael; secretary, Edna Nicoll; treasurer, Etta Moffatt.

FOOTBALL.—Norwood's most popular game is again being pushed forward by her enthusiastic supporters. On Wednesday afternoon a good turn-out of kickers assembled in the school room for the purpose of organizing. The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, Mr. Jas. Davidson, M.A.; 1st vice-president, Mr. Storr; 2nd vice-president, Mr. R. B. Gould; sec.-treas., Mr. F. D. Roxburgh; curator, Mr. A. Ormiston; counsellor, Mr. J. Brackenridge; field captain, Mr. Callender; honorary presidents, Mr. W. E. Roxburgh, Dr. Ford, Dr. Pettigrew. The Secretary desires to hear from surrounding clubs as soon as the season opens. We wish the club unlimited success, and hope to see them continue their past career.

MEMORIAL WINDOWS.—The new Methodist Church has been further adorned by the addition of two memorial windows, one in memory of the late Mr. P. P. Cope, the other of Peter Pearce, Esq., put in by his sons.

ANNUAL MEETING.—The Presbyterians held their annual meeting last Thursday evening, in the basement of the church. The financial statement was very satisfactory, while the various reports showed the church to be in a flourishing condition. Refreshments were served during the evening, making the meeting social as well as business-like.

Douro Council.

The Douro Council elect for the year 1891, met at the Town Hall, on Jan'y 19th. All the members present, viz:—John Moloney, Esq., Reeve, and Councillors Bullock, Allen, Garbutt and Walsh. After having subscribed the necessary declaration of qualification and office, the several members took their seats. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. The council appointed Maurice Condon an Auditor. The Reeve appointed Robert H. Reid associate Auditor. By-law No. 499 was passed confirming the above appointments. On motion of J. M. Walsh, seconded by W. J. Bullock, the council went into committee of the whole to consider appointments for the office of Assessor, Collector, Clerk and Treasurer. M. D. Sullivan applied for the office of clerk at a salary of $100. Mr. Garbutt as once moved, seconded by Mr. Allen, that the application be not accepted, but that Wm. O'Brien, the present clerk, be continued in his office. It was moved in amendment by Mr. Walsh, that Mr. D. Sullivan be appointed clerk at a salary of $100. But as Mr. Walsh could get no seconder to his amendment the original motion was declared carried. Moved by Mr. Walsh, seconded by Mr. Bullock, that J. McManus be appointed a collector of taxes at a salary of $50. Moved in amendment by Mr. Garbutt, seconded by Mr. Allen, that Patrick Ryan be continued in the office of collector at a salary of $55. Mr. Walsh voted for the higher salary on the second reading of the bylaw confirming the appointment of Mr. Ryan to the office. Moved by Mr. Garbutt, seconded by Mr. Allen, that Wm. Condon, the old assessor, be re-appointed at a salary of $45.—Carried. Moved by Mr. Garbutt, seconded by Mr. Bullock, that John Leahy, Treasurer, be appointed at a salary of $70.—Carried. Bylaws were passed confirming all the old officials in their respective offices, viz:

OLD OFFICERS.—Wm. O'Brien, Clerk; John Scully, Treasurer; Wm Condon, Assessor; Patrick Ryan, Collector.

NEW APPLICANTS.—M. D. Sullivan, Clerk; P. M. Leahy, Assessor; John McManus, Collector.

The new applicants were principally from Ward No. 2, and were duly introduced by Mr. Walsh, the councillor for said Ward. This action is an annual occurrence with Mr. Walsh. The reeve ordered the payment of $10 each to Mrs. Thos. Torpey and Mrs. Thos. Crough, as charity. The collector was instructed to have the balance of the taxes collected on or before the 1st day of February next. Moved by Mr. Bullock, seconded by Mr. Garbutt,—That Wm. Garbutt be appointed deputy-reeve for the current year. After the introducing of the match-drawing system of balotting by Mr. Walsh, it was moved in amendment by Mr. Allen, seconded by Mr. Walsh,—That John M. Walsh be appointed deputy-reeve. The reeve declared in favour of Wm. Garbutt as deputy-reeve of the township for the current year, the decision giving universal satisfaction. On motion the council adjourned to the 23rd day of February next, to meet at the hour of ten o'clock e.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowman, of Peterborough, rendered several fine songs which were greatly appreciated. Miss Smith and Mr. and Mr. and Miss Elliott, Mt. Personal.

The many friends of Mr. John McKee, druggist, who have pleasant remembrances of Mr. S. J. McKee, his brother, who paid the town a visit last summer, will learn with sympathy and regret of the latter's loss, at Brandon, where he has been living only two months, of three fine children, who died of diphtheria within a week.

SINGLE TAX

Is now the question of the hour; but to those in need of Ordered or Ready-made Clothing, single profits ought to be a subject of greater importance. Yearly importing all our principal lines, we save you the profits of the wholesale man, and you have thus one single profit to pay. That profit is not a large one, and has been made still smaller, as we are determined each and every article of Winter Clothing must go, to make way for Spring Goods. Each and every department has been visited and all goods have been reduced. Don't you buy a dollar's worth of clothing until you have looked us over. Take into consideration that we are selling First Class Goods with but a single profit, and that it is no trouble to show goods, whether you wish to buy or not.

Dreadful Psoriasis.

Covering Entire Body with White Scales. Suffering Fearful. Cured by Cuticura.

My disease appeared first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nose, and almost covering my face. It ran into my eyes and my physician was afraid I would lose my eyesight altogether. It spread all over my head, and my hair all fell out, and I was entirely bald-headed; it then broke out on my arms and legs, and then on my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, head, and whatever broke out was worse. The white scales fell constantly from my head, shoulders and arms; the skin would thicken and bend and crack, very painful, and would speak and bleed if scratched. After spending hundreds of dollars, and trying almost every remedy known to nature, I was induced to try CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using two bottles CUTICURA RESOLVENT, I could see a change; and after I had taken four bottles, I was almost cured; and when I had used six bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered for five years I cannot express it with a pen what I suffered before using the REMEDIES. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to recommend them. My hair is restored as good as ever, and so is my eyesight. MRS. ELSA KELLY, Rockwell City, Iowa.

A RAINY RIVER MYSTERY

NOW BEING INVESTIGATED BY THE GOVERNMENT.

Many Suspicious Circumstances in Connection With the Death of a St. Mary's Man—Was the Message Left Behind a Forgery—His Wife Was Unfaithful.

RAT PORTAGE, Jan. 26.—Although the coroner's jury, by a vote of 7 to 5, decided that T. B. Carruthers, formerly of St. Mary's, who was recently found dead with a bullet in his brain in the Rainy River district, had committed suicide, grave suspicions are entertained that he was deliberately murdered, and a Government detective is here investigating the case.

Last June Carruthers took his family up the river. Mrs. Carruthers, it transpires, was discovered by her husband as being too intimate with a certain young man who is very well known around here, and Carruthers thrashed the intruder in his wife's affections and warned him if he ever set foot in that region again that he (Carruthers) would shoot him on sight. Since that time the young man has found it healthy to live in Rat Portage.

It was Mrs. Carruthers who discovered the dead body of her husband. She states that she went out about 9 a.m. to feed the cow and get some water, and while out she heard a shot and went to the house. On entering she saw her husband lying on the floor, with a revolver by his side. One ball had entered the back of the head running level and come out in the forehead, the second shot entered at the left side of the nose and passed downward towards the throat. Two revolvers were kept in the house on a shelf on the sideboard.

Mrs. Carruthers then hunted round to see if her husband had written anything before doing the rash act, and wonderful to relate found a letter in the pocket of a pair of pants hanging up stairs. It was in a white handkerchief tied by corners, and the scrawl purporting to have been written by him was a half sheet of dirty notepaper, written without punctuation, as follows:

MY DEAR FRIEND,—I have taken trouble to my heart. For the last two weeks or more I have got worse. I have got to hate my wife and family Loften feel like blowing their brains out but I am bound to put an end to myself. I am going to riddle my head with balls from the back to the front. I want you to accuse nobody of this bad deed but myself. Tell Ellen to go home to her father and mother where she will be well looked after. Whoever finds this I want them to publish it in every paper to let people know what loss of property can do. This is my last words on earth.

T. B. CARRUTHERS.

PAID THE PENALTY OF HER SIN.

A Canadian Fatally Wounds His Wife in a Chicago Hegira.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—One of the results of the procuring of women in Canada for immoral purposes in this country was the fatal shooting of Clara LaPlant by her husband, Joseph LaPlant, in a disreputable house in Fourth-avenue last night. The woman was taken to the County Hospital mortally wounded and the husband, who was rendered almost insane by his crime, was locked up. A year ago Mr. and Mrs. LaPlant were living happily together in Canada. Yielding to the tempting wiles of a Chicago procurees and her description of an easy life of indolence and pleasure, the woman deserted her husband and came to Chicago.

La Plant, who was ignorant of her whereabouts, came to this city shortly afterward in search of work. He was horrified upon learning that his wife was living a life of shame. He importuned her to come back and live with him, but his pleadings were repulsed with scorn. Then he threatened to kill her.

Last night about 7 o'clock he saw her walking in Fourth-avenue, and again begged her to return to him. She again refused and sought refuge in the house at No. 134 Fourth-avenue. LaPlant found his wife in the parlor. Without a word the husband drew a revolver and fired two shots at her, one of the bullets lodging in her left breast producing an ugly wound from which the blood poured. The woman fell to the floor unconscious, while the husband sought to escape and fired one shot at a policeman and then tried to kill himself. The woman will die.

LOVE'S LABOR LOST.

In Trouble Because His Girl Said Yes When She Meant No.

WOODSTOCK, Jan. 26.—Henry Davidson of West Zorra was fined $5 and costs to-day for trespass. It was a peculiar case. The complainant was John Warring of North Oxford and the particulars are as follows: Davidson called on Warring's niece one evening and asked her to go with him to a party. The young lady did not want to go with him, but such were his persuasions that she finally said yes when she meant no. He called for her about 9 o'clock at night and found all the folks in bed. He was so persistent in his efforts to get in that Mr. Warring finally opened the door. He remained in the house for about two hours after having forced his way into the young lady's bedroom that he might talk with her and endeavor to persuade her to fulfil her promise. His zealous efforts were unavailing and to-day he pleaded guilty to the charge of trespass and paid his fine.

Died While Watching.

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—John Miller and Miss Bertha Feith were married on Saturday night. After the ceremony the guests, numbering more than one hundred, went to Muller's Hall to continue the wedding festivities. Among the most lively of the guests were John Brunner and Miss Lizzie Pigott, a good looking brunet. After the wedding supper, which was eaten just before midnight, the festivities were resumed. During the dancing Brunner noticed that his partner's face turned deathly pale. He had hardly time to suggest a slower waltz when Miss Pigott fell to the floor a corpse. Physicians were sent for and said that the girl was dead. Heart trouble, they said, was probably the cause.

OSHAWA, Jan. 24.—On Thursday last a man about 30 years of age, about 6 feet in height and dark complexion, came to the livery stables of Mr. W. H. Thomas here and asked for a horse and cutter, stating that he wanted to drive a few miles on some urgent business. He has not since been seen.

Crushed in a Logging Camp.

WALLACEBURG, Jan. 26.—Richard Rolph, a teamster, was hauling logs at H. Morris lumber camp in Sombra township when the top log fell on him carrying him over backwards and injuring him severely. His lower limbs are paralyzed.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

THE ACTION OF THE PRIESTS AT KILKENNY ELECTION.

The Attorney-General For Ireland Says That the Government Will Take No Action in the Premises—Parnell and O'Brien to Visit America Shortly.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—In the House of Commons to-day the Attorney-General for Ireland, replying to a question by T. W. Russell, member for South Tyrone, in regard to priests acting as agents at polling booths, especially in the North Kilkenny election, said that, without pronouncing an opinion upon the facts or upon the expediency of altering the law, he was indisposed to add so controversial a measure to the Government program as the introduction of a bill on the subject would entail.

PARNELL A CHANGED MAN.

No Longer a Languid but a Fighting Parnell.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The belief grows that the Boulogne settlement is merely a status quo. Mr. McCarthy, in an interview since his return, expressed hopes of a speedy settlement, and it is known that William O'Brien threatened, in the event of the negotiations failing, to issue a manifesto to the Irish people throwing the entire responsibility of the continued rupture on McCarthy and his friends. Then he will surrender himself to the police and go to prison to serve out his term. The last visit of Mr. McCarthy and Mr. Sexton was undertaken with the view of arriving at a compromise and to obviate a further split in the party. Mr. Parnell had made such sacrifices as suggested by Mr. O'Brien and Mr. Dillon.

It is again reported to-day that Mr. Parnell and Mr. O'Brien will go to America. Under this plan Mr. Dillon would go to jail and assume the leadership when released. In further support of this rumor it is well-known that Mr. Parnell is fitting up his home at Avondale, near Wicklow, in anticipation of his marriage with Mrs. O'Shea, and his friends openly discuss his intention of making a brief trip on the Continent and then going to America before occupying Avondale.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—Mr. Parnell strikes everyone as being a physical wonder. The excitement seems to have benefited him to a remarkable degree, and he appears to have entirely recovered his health. He now walks with a firm, erect stride, and looks his brother-members of the Commons in the face with a determined, confident expression. He is no longer the languid dilettante who strolls into the lobby, receives his letters from the post-office and disappears into the library. He is no longer the pallid, emaciated being, swathed in woolen neckcloths and bound up in a thick cardigan jacket. That used to be a picture of the "uncrowned king," but now it is all changed. The chrysalis is broken, and Parnell redivivus has emerged. The new birth has produced a fighting Parnell, full of defiance and scorn, holding his head aloft, and some one has already dubbed him "Ajax Secundus." He is very gracious to Justin McCarthy and a few of the other members of that party, but with Mr. Sexton and Mr. Healy he can scarcely be said to be on the terms which are supposed to distinguish the brothers of a house.

A Lucky Descendant of Stephenson.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—An old sailor named Stephenson has had an unexpected stroke of luck. He is an inmate of the Royal Albert Institution for Old and Disabled Sailors of the Merchant Marine at Belvedere, in Kent. The old tar has been declared heir to an estate valued at £37,000, as the lineal descendant of George Stephenson, the great engineer and inventor of the English type of locomotive engine.

Reciprocity With Spain.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—Spain has accepted the proposal of the United States for the negotiation at Washington of a reciprocity treaty relative to American trade with Cuba. In political circles it is said the only serious difficulty in the way of formulating and adopting such a treaty appears to be the Americans' inflexibility on the tobacco question.

Coming on the Teutonic.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 26.—Among the passengers who will sail on the Teutonic Wednesday are Sir Charles Tupper and wife, Sir Donald Smith, James Brown Potter, William Astor and Bruce Ismay.

The Lero Aground.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The steamer Lero, from Baltimore Jan. 7 for Rotterdam, is aground near the latter place and is expected to become a total wreck. Part of her cargo may be saved. The crew landed safely.

Cremated in a Carriage.

KIEFF, Jan. 26.—A railway carriage took fire between Niesunk and Kruta to-day and was completely destroyed. One person was killed and four others were terribly injured.

Foul Play Suspected.

PORT DALHOUSIE, Jan. 26.—By direction of Coroner Considine an inquest was held today on the body of Thomas Jones of this village, who died suddenly at his residence on Saturday morning last, and whose death is alleged to have been caused by taking a drink of water out of a cup containing paris green. Dr. McMahon of St. Catharines made a post mortem examination, and in order to enable him to make an analysis of the contents of the stomach the inquest was adjourned until 1 o'clock to-morrow.

It is stated that about two weeks ago deceased got his life insured for $1000.

One More Warning.

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—A boy named Karpitz jumped on a G.T.R. freight train Saturday evening, and after riding a distance went to jump off, but got caught in some manner and was dragged a short distance. Doctors found it necessary to amputate the right arm. After the amputation had been performed and the doctors were about to complete their work he gave a gasp and died.

Drowned in United States Waters.

WINDSOR, Jan. 26.—Detective McKee of Windsor, who has been at Walpole Island investigating the recent death of the Indian doctor, Barfoot, has found that the doctor was drowned in United States waters. McKee will report to the United States authorities so that they can investigate. It is thought that Barfoot was drowned by a man who was in a boat with him.

CREMATED IN A CARRIAGE

SHOCKING RAILWAY DISASTER REPORTED IN RUSSIA.

Artillerymen and Civilians Fight at Weymouth—The Soldiers Draw Their Swords—Bayonets and Slash and Prod Citizens—Labor Troubles in Holland and Elsewhere.

WEYMOUTH, Jan. 26.—Last evening a number of artillerymen belonging to No. 2 Battery, Garrison Artillery, became involved in a fight with civilians. The disturbance attracted a crowd of citizens, and also brought reinforcements to the soldiers. Finally the fight became general, and the soldiers to the number of 70 or 80 drew their sword bayonets and charged through the crowd and down the street, slashing or prodding anybody in their way. The civilians, panic-stricken, fled in all directions, leaving a number of wounded upon the ground. When the news of the disturbance reached the officers in charge of the artillery barracks they ordered the buglers to call the men to quarters. Though the riotous artillerymen heard the commands they refused to obey and for hours spread terror through Weymouth. Eventually the soldiers sobered down and straggled back to their quarters, where they were arrested. All the rioters are to be court-martialled and may also have to answer to the civil authorities.

SAILORS ALSO HAVE A SET-TO.

Serious Scrimmage Between French and German Sailors.

BORDEAUX, Jan. 26.—A scrimmage took place here to-day between a number of French and German sailors. Knives were drawn and two Germans were seriously wounded and taken to the hospital. Several Germans and Frenchmen were slightly wounded. One Frenchman was arrested. It is expected one of the Germans will die.

STARVING WORKINGMEN.

Four Thousand Workmen in Hamburg Ask Aid From the Government.

HAMBURG, Jan. 26.—Four thousand unemployed workmen of this city held a meeting to-day to consider measures looking to an amelioration of their condition. It was resolved to send a petition to the Senate asking that landlords be prohibited on next quarter day from evicting tenants unable to pay their rents; also asking that loans of fifty marks be advanced to destitute workmen from the State funds, and that poor children in the public schools be supplied with a hot meal daily.

A committee formed to help relieve the distress of the unemployed distributed 10,460 free meals daily.

Spanish Port Laborers Quit Work

MALAGA, Jan 26.—The port laborers of this city have all gone on strike.

DIDN'T STICK TO THE LAST.

Jean Simon, the Son of a Cobbler, Became a Millionaire.

PESTH, Jan. 26.—Cardinal Jean Simon, Archbishop of Grau and Primate of Hungary, died at Grau to-day at the age of 78 years. His father was a cobbler at Stuhlweissenbourg, Hungary, and it was with such a lowly start in life that Jean set out to be what he actually became, one of the most powerful of all the Princes of the church. He rose to the Archbishopric while still in the prime of life, with a diocese richer than any in the church. His estates were broad and his palaces and parks of ducal splendor. From his hands in 1867 Francis Joseph received the crown of St. Stephen.

Travelers from Vienna to Pesth pass in view of his palace at Grau and of his magnificent cathedral, built by the Cardinal, which is almost an exact copy of St. Peter's at Rome. It is the most cathedral in Hungary, and the Cardinal lavished money upon it without stint, spending in one year alone, it is said, more than $1,000,000 for furniture and decorations. His real estate alone is worth over $2,000,000, and covers an area of 120,000 acres.

AND HE SO YOUNG.

Sentenced to 20 Years of Penal Servitude at the Age of 19.

PARIS, Jan. 26.—Peter Vladimiroff, age 19, a rich Russian, has been convicted of the murder of his paramour, Mme. Carmine Freycinet, at Ville d'Avray, in October last. Owing to extenuating circumstances attending the crime Vladimiroff has been sentenced to 20 years' penal servitude, with the additional penalty that he will not be allowed to reside in France for 10 years after the expiration of his sentence without special permission from the authorities. The murdered woman was a handsome widow, the mother of two children.

A Dynamite Scare.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—There is another dynamite scare among the authorities, who have received information from their agents in America that the dynamite section is actively preparing to resume operations. The headquarters are said to be in Philadelphia and Kansas City. The authorities are increasing their vigilance and detectives swarm at Queenstown, Liverpool, Southampton and other ports. The police guards have been increased around the public buildings and the authorities are considering the advisability of issuing orders for a closer examination of the baggage of passengers arriving from the United States, which was stopped a few months ago.

Wolseley Could Not Visit Canada.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The Army and Navy Gazette, an authority on military affairs, gives leaded prominence to-day to an indorsement of a mischievous report circulated in London this week that Lord Wolseley had been temporarily taken from his command of the Irish forces and was to be sent to Canada. In the present state of public opinion, this report created some stir. The facts are as follows: Lord Wolseley received an invitation from Sir George Stephen to go to Canada for some salmon fishing. He applied for leave, but was informed that it would not be convenient to allow him to go at present in view of the coming redistribution of the military forces in Ireland. This leaked out at the Horse Guards and gave rise to the false report.

A Variety Artist Confused.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—Chiriquin, the "White-Eyed Kaffir," an American variety singer, has created a sensation at Brighton by singing some topical verses about the Parnell-O'Shea case, on an occasion when Mrs. O'Shea and some friends occupied a box at the hall where he is performing. The whole audience knew of the presence of the lady, but the singer did not, and he is in a state of confusion over the incident.

A Girl That Cries Glass.

FINDLAY, Ohio, Jan. 25.—The physicians and oculists of this city are greatly puzzled over the case of Jennie Sutton. From the right eye of the girl 54 pieces of broken glass were taken by Dr. T. C. Fritch. These pieces of glass have been coming from the eye of this girl for the last month, and only day before yesterday Dr. Fritch removed every evidence of glass in the eye and announced that all were taken out. Yesterday she came back and had 54 more pieces removed. The girl is a domestic in the family of ex-County Surveyor Stringfellow. It is estimated that over 100 pieces of glass have been taken from the eye since the case first attracted attention.

No Change in the Coinage.

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—In the debate in the Reichstag to-day upon the budget estimates Herr Kardorff proposed the German Government open negotiations with the American Government with reference to remonetization of silver. Dr. Bamberger opposing the proposal expressed the conviction that the Federal Government of Germany did not contemplate a change in the currency. Herr Von Maltzahn, secretary of state for the treasury said the Prussian Government saw no necessity for altering the present standard.

FIRE AT SIMCOE.

The Loss Will Reach $50,000—Barely Escaped With Their Lives.

SIMCOE, Jan. 26.—A disastrous fire occurred this morning at 4 o'clock in Arthur's block, which was entirely consumed. Some of the occupants barely escaped with their lives, as they were all asleep at the time. The principal losers are: C. A. Arthur, building $4000, complete loss, insured in Queen's for $2300; J. W. Armstrong, photograph gallery, loss $1000, insured in Royal Canadian for $400; Raand's grocery $800 total loss; insured for $400 in Mercantile; F. Stevenson, tailor, $2500, also total loss, insured in Mercantile for $1100 and in Fire Assurance Association for $300; Marshall's pork store and the Battersby Hotel were slightly injured. Cause of fire, defective chimney.

WILL PARLIAMENT DISSOLVE?

What R. S. White, M.P., Has to Say of the Prospects.

OTTAWA, Jan. 26.—The Gazette this morning deals with the question of the dissolution of the Canadian Commons in an editorial written by R. S. White, member of Parliament for Cardwell. It neither affirms nor denies that such an action is contemplated, but says whether an appeal to the electors will be made before another session is, we believe, a matter which the Government has not considered, but in respect of which decision must necessarily be shortly made known. There are ample precedents, both in England and Canada, for a dissolution of the Commons before the natural expiration of the Parliamentary term. The popular idea has been that the present Parliament would run until after the taking of the census in April, in order that a redistribution of seats might be made before another election occurs, but we may explain that, contrary to a widespread belief, there is no need of a second election after the census, should one be determined on now. It is not difficult to imagine circumstances which would make delay in giving increased representation to the provinces entitled to it a grave injustice; but unless such a one should arise there is nothing to prevent a parliament elected a few months hence running out its term before the redistribution of seats occurs. Meanwhile we repeat that no decision as to an immediate dissolution has been arrived at.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Stabbing Affray in Central Prison—Returned from Germany.

TORONTO, Jan. 27.—The Central Prison, on Saturday, was the scene of a stabbing affray. Raphaelo Dimacio, an Italian, serving 23 months for stabbing, and employed in the broom factory, attacked a fellow convict named James Mullholland, 22 years of age, sent down from Hamilton. Dimacio drove one of the long knives used in cutting the straw into Mullholland's back between the shoulders. Another convict knocked the assailant down while he was in the act of withdrawing the knife. He told the warden that Mullholland had provoked him by tossing him.

The Osgoode Legal and Literary Society held its at home last night. It was held under the auspices of the treasurer and benchers of the Law Society, and was an unqualified success.

Dr. W. B. Nesbitt to-day returned from Berlin with a supply of lymph direct from Dr. Koch's laboratory sufficient for 4000 inoculations. The liquid is of a medium wine color and of such strength when undiluted that the whole quantity would only fill a bottle about ¾ inch wide and three inches high. The lymph is certainly cheap enough, as the quantity procured by Dr. Nesbitt cost only $13.

Workmen Buried Under a Car of Lumber.

DESERONTO, Jan. 26.—An accident in the Rathbun Company's sash shop yard here this morning resulted in the death of one man and injuring four others. It was caused by a car of lumber falling which was being loaded for the dry kiln.

Different Route to the Devil.

BRANTFORD, Jan. 26.—Yesterday morning the Rev. John Kay, pastor of the Wellington-street Methodist Church, used plain talk to his congregation before preaching the sermon. He said for several days past he had been defending members of his congregation who were said to have been at the dance. He had not believed it simply because their names were in the paper. It was possible their names could be published without their consent, and he would not believe it until he had positive proof of it. If any had indulged in this dance he would read that portion of the church rules touching on it, which he did. He then said he trusted that any who were breaking the rules of the church should withdraw their names from the membership, as he would rather they should go to the devil outside the church than as professed members.

Will Probably Die.

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 26.—Last evening between 8 and 9 o'clock, as Miss Smith of Pelham and two young men were driving down St. Paul-street hill, on turning the corner near Miss Foley's the seat of the carriage gave way, throwing the occupants to the ground. Miss Smith was seriously injured, her shoulder dislocated, collar bone and three ribs broken. A young lad named Wright had his skull fractured and was otherwise injured. He was taken to the hospital.

The Niagara Falls Suicide.

BUFFALO, Jan. 26.—The Niagara Falls suicide turns out to be Carl Stevens of this city, who lived with his parents at 85 Whitney-place. Carl was only 20 years of age. He lately complained of a severe pain in his head, which was probably a forerunner of some brain disorder which suddenly developed yesterday and led him to destroy himself.

Fell Dead in the Pulpit.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 26.—A. Harris, a Jewish rabbi, fell dead in his pulpit to-day just after delivering a sermon.

An Interesting Test Case.

MONTREAL, Jan. 26.—The Court of Appeals was called on to-day to decide an interesting case. Some time ago two young men, Ford and Firman of Toronto, were convicted of obtaining money under false pretences. The money in question was a check, and the Chief Justice decided that this was not a valuable security. The case will go to the supreme court.

Misses, $500 Each.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 26.—Louis Hasse, a jeweler, accosted pretty Miss Helen L. Patrick as she was hastening homeward after nightfall, and insisted upon kissing her, and the terrified girl was compelled to submit to the embrace. To-day he was fined $500 and all costs of trial. Hasse has been posing as a masher for some time, though he is a man of family.

Burglars at Belleville.

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 26.—On Saturday evening two burglaries were committed in Moira-street. Casey's bakeshop was entered by taking out a window and two bags of flour and six loaves of bread taken. John Frost's factory was entered and three iron planes stolen. They were, however, found yesterday afternoon by a boy named Clement lying under the sidewalk.

Personal Liberty
vs.
Personal Slavery.

We are all free American citizens, enjoying our personal liberty; but most of us are in physical slavery, suffering from Scrofula, salt rheum or some other form of impure blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great blood purifier which dissolves the bonds of disease, gives health and perfect physical liberty.

THE LIBERALS OF EAST AND WEST PETERBOROUGH.

The Liberals of both the East and West Ridings of Peterborough are reminded that a most important convention of the Liberals of Ontario has been called to meet in Toronto, on Wednesday, February 17th. The hall selected for the purpose is capable of holding between two and three thousand persons. The importance of this convention is equalled in importance only by the political crisis that makes it necessary. We are on the eve of a general election, and the gravest interests of the country are involved in the Liberals of the banner province of the Dominion, advancing in solid phalanx to the contest. In order to plan an order of battle there must be a council of war—a conference of the representatives of the different detachments of the great Liberal army. To this end every Reform association is requested to send representatives to this convention. This is absolutely necessary if Liberals are to enter the coming general election contest with any hope of success. Without thorough organization, a good cause, and any amount of diffused enthusiasm, will be without result. It is to be hoped that this important matter may not be delayed. We do not know at what moment the general election contest may be precipitated. Of course the Conservative party men will be kept well informed, and, consequently, well prepared for the elections whenever they may come, and it behooves the Liberals to be ready. Better to be a little wearied standing to our arms than to be caught napping. Every municipality should be represented. Fuller particulars of the special railway rates and other details will be given hereafter. Additional reason for calling local conventions is to consider the question of nominating candidates for these ridings. There seems to be cause to fear that there is a possibility of the election contest being sprung upon us. It is said on good authority that Sir John Macdonald is directing all the resources of his wily intellect to precipitating an immediate election contest. Whether the elections come this spring or this fall, the cars of the Liberals is to be ready. It is to be hoped, therefore, that the Liberals of West and East Peterborough will not be wanting in loyalty to the principles of good and honest government, embodied in their creed, but make due and complete preparations for active hostilities without delay. Encouragement should be gathered from the fact that with proper and efficient organization the Province of Ontario cannot be prevented, even by the gerrymander, from giving a decided pronunciation in favor of better government. Hon. Oliver Mowat at a banquet the other evening, pointed out that the result of the last general elections went to show that there is a popular Liberal majority in this Province of 15,000.

According to Three Rites.

Mass Celebrated at St. Peter's in Latin, Syro-Greek and Syriac.

The EXAMINER has been requested to publish the following from the Catholic News, New York:

On Tuesday last, the feast of the Epiphany, Mass was celebrated according to three rites—the Latin, the Syro-Greek and the Maronite—in old St. Peter's church in Barclay Street. At nine o'clock Rev. Thomas F. Myhan, one of Father McGean's assistants, said the Mass of the Latin rite. An hour later, Father Abraham, a Syrian priest, officiated at the Syro-Greek Mass, and at 11 o'clock Father Peter, a priest from Mount Lebanon, celebrated the service of the Maronite rite.

The church was crowded at the 9 o'clock Mass. A choir of boys rendered the music, and about a dozen acolytes were within the sanctuary. Benediction followed the Mass. Then Father Myhan carried the Blessed Sacrament to the chapel in the basement of the edifice, and about 300 dark-visaged men and women entered the church, and occupied the pews near the altar. They were Syrians. Father Abraham, who is a swarthy and bearded men, came from the vestry unattended by acolytes. He was vested differently than Father Myhan had been. He wore an alb, but his chasuble was like a cope. As he ascended to the altar three Syrian men entered the sanctuary and stationed themselves at the epistle sides Father Abraham began the celebration of Mass at the gospel side of the altar. He chanted, and the three Syrians performed the part a choir takes in a high Mass according to the Latin rite. In the Mass of the Syro-Greek rite unleavened bread and wine are consecrated and become the Body and Blood of Jesus Christ. Father Abraham gave Communion to half a dozen Syrians. Then knelt at the altar rail when receiving the sacrament from the priest.

Soon after Father Abraham left the altar Father Peter began the celebration of Mass according to the Maronite rite. The Syrians left the church, and about an equal number of Maronites replaced them. Father Peter is not so dark-visaged as Father Abraham, but, like the Syrian priest, he wears a beard. He was vested just as Father Myhan had been. A young man acted as acolyte, and another chanted the responses as the three Syrians had done during Father Abraham's Mass. The liturgy of the Mass according to the Maronite rite is Syriac. Father Peter read the Gospel to the people in Arabic, which is the language of the Maronites. As in the Mass of the Latin rite, leavened bread is consecrated by the Maronite priests. There were no communicants at Father Peter's Mass, for the Maronites had received the sacrament from Father Myhan at an earlier Mass.

About 500 Syrians live in St. Peter's parish. Nearly 300 of them worship according to the Syro-Greek rite, and the remainder the Maronite rite. A year ago Father Abraham arrived in the city. Archbishop Corrigan and Father McGean, the pastor of St. Peter's, granted him permission to hold services for his countrymen in the basement of St. Peter's. The Syro-Greek and the Maronites have been worshipping together since. Three months ago Father Peter came here from Mount Lebanon. Since then he has been making preparations to establish a church for the exclusive use of the Maronites. He tried to secure a house in Rector street, but failed. He has in view another location down town. In the meantime the Maronites will attend the Latin rite Mass at St. Peter's in the church, or the Greek rite service in the basement, where Father Abraham celebrates Mass every Sunday at 9 30.

[Rev. Father Kelly, in his sermon at the ordination of the Reverend D. J. Scollard in Eastern Ontario, quoted statistics showing that 400,000,000 Christians believed in the Mass. He was reported at that time as saying four millions, when it should have been four hundred million.]

A Cash Prize.

The proprietors of Burdock Blood Bitters will give a prize of Five Dollars for the clevcrest and best essay, (not to exceed one hundred words) upon the merits of B.B.B. as a cure for disease. The competition will close Jan 1st, 91, after which the successful essay will be published (with the author's name if desired.) They will also pay $1 each for any of the essays they may select and publish. No restrictions. Try your skill, and address 2a4d T. MILBURN & Co., Toronto, Ont.

Coming Events.

Coming consumption is foreshadowed by a hacking cough, night sweats, pain in the chest, etc. Arrest its progress at once by taking Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, which never fails to cure coughs, colds, bronchitis, hoarseness, etc., and even in confirmed consumption affords great relief. 2a4d

When Charlemagne and his "Knights of the Round Table" were making war on the Saracens, in Africa, it frequently happened that Knights on either side would fight in single combat for the honor of their respective armies. The Saracens had been, for many years, the scourge—the dreaded invaders—of Europe, and all waged war against this common enemy.

But, in these days the worst scourge that threatens us, is that dread invader, Consumption.

Dr. Biggs, demonstrator of anatomy in the Bellevue Medical College, who has great opportunity for post-mortem observation, says: "It is a startling fact that of all deaths nearly one out of every seven is caused by consumption."

Consumption fastens its hold upon its victims while they are unconscious of its approach. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured thousands of cases of this most fatal of maladies. But it must be taken before the disease is too far advanced in order to be effective. If taken in time, and given a fair trial, it will cure, or money paid for it will be refund

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Asthma, severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an unequaled remedy.

For all diseases that arise from a torpid liver and impure blood, nothing can take the place of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Nothing will, after you have seen what it does. It prevents and cures by removing the cause. It invigorates the liver, purifies the blood, sharpens the appetite, improves digestion, and builds up both strength and flesh, when reduced below the standard of health.

For Dyspepsia, "Liver Complaint," Scrofula, or any blood-taint, the "Discovery" is a positive remedy. It acts as no other medicine does. For that reason, it's sold as no other blood medicine is—on trial. It's the cheapest blood-purifier sold, because you only pay for the good you get.

Can you ask more?

Seen on the Street Yesterday.

The following item of information appeared in one of our city papers a few days ago:—

"We are pleased to state that Mr. ———, the well known barrister, was seen on the street yesterday. Mr. ———, our readers well remember, was seriously ill for a time, and his life despaired of."

The well known barrister referred to is today a living evidence and proof of the great efficacy of Paine's Celery Compound. Close confinement to office work and irregular meal hours brought on a severe attack of dyspepsia, a fulness in the head and a ringing sensation in the ears, which, combined with headache and nervousness, almost shattered his constitution. He had to give up his practice for a time and remain at home, where fortunately he was induced to try Paine's Celery Compound, instead of securing the long service of a physician.

Paine's Celery Compound, assisted by proper dieting and gentle exercise, restored to health this lawyer whose condition at one time was considered critical. Reader, this great remedy will do the same for you or your friends if you are out-of-sorts, weary, nervous, depressed in spirits or dyspeptic; try it at once.

A Sensible Man

Would use Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs. It is curing more cases of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis Croup and all Throat and Lung Troubles, than any other medicine. The proprietor has authorized any druggist to give you a Sample Bottle Free to convince you of the merit of this great remedy. Large Bottles 50c. and $1. dw

THERE IS NO BETTER remedy for worms of any kind in children or adults than Dr. Low's Worm Syrup. dw

SKIN DISEASES are most annoying because so noticeable. Dr. Low's Sulphur Soap heals and cleanses the skin. dw

Purify the blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

CANADA'S EXHIBIT SURPASSES ALL OTHERS AT JAMAICA.

Inaugural Ceremonies by Prince George of Wales—Beautiful Grounds and Handsome Buildings—The Work Done for Canada by Commissioner Adam Brown, M. P.

Jamaica is jubilant. The cause of our West India fellow-colonists' joy is that the success of their exposition is now beyond preadventure. There were some misgivings in the earlier stage of preparations, notably because the government of the United States had failed to officially recognize the Jamaica World's Fair, but the grand work done by Great Britain and her other colonies has amply sufficed to more than make up for the defection of the nation which has hitherto enjoyed the monopoly of the trade of Jamaica and other West India islands Canada, which has made a magnificent effort in connection with the exhibition, and which has the proud satisfaction of knowing that her exhibit surpasses in variety and extent all others, rejoices with the people of Jamaica in their joy over the prospects of a long-hoped-for revival of trade.

PRINCE GEORGE OF WALES.

Prince George of Wales conducts the inaugural ceremonies, and places the exposition in the hands of the Governor of the Island, Sir Henry Arthur Blake, K.C.M.G., who is its president.

For three months the Jamaica World's Fair will remain in existence, and, as the coming quarter of a year is the most delightful, pleasant and healthful of the year in that country, thousands of visitors from all parts of the world are assured.

THE EXHIBITION GROUNDS

are beautifully situated about two miles from Kingston harbor, and two hundred feet above the level of the sea. A mountainous back ground adds much to the effect. The main building is 511 feet long. Its other dimensions are: Length of transept, 174 feet; height of nave, 50 feet; breadth across nave and aisle, 81 feet. The principal annex is about as long as the main building. A large, handsome concert hall and various pavilions have also been erected. Running around the main building is an open gallery, from which cool vantage ground both the indoor exhibits and the electrical illuminations on the grounds can be seen. These illuminations will be in various colors and there will be special displays of fireworks twice a week.

FAIR BUILDINGS AT JAMAICA.

Band stands and minor concert halls front on the various ornamental walks. As in all great exhibitions there will be carousels, electric railways and other entertaining devices. One of the halls is termed Amusement Hall and during the time of the Fair will be occupied by an English variety company. Jamaica's wealth of typical products has been utilized to beautify the grounds. Trees, flowers and rich vegetation of all kinds have been so artistically arranged and in such profusion that the outdoor exhibit will, to most Northern visitors, be the most wonderful, the most entrancing of all.

THE NAVAL DISPLAY.

Then, too, the naval display in the harbor, although not strictly a part of the Exhibition, is going to be very attractive. The British squadron to which Prince George of Wales is attached will of course be there. Brazil will have her whole navy there, and so will other South American countries. There will, too, be squadrons from France, Holland and Italy, and, perhaps, from other countries. With all these war ships in the picturesque harbor, with its mountainous, semi-tropical surroundings, the water scene will not only be one long to be remembered, but the prospect of delightful afternoon and evening band concerts, with the musicians of so many naval vessels to draw from, grows fairly bewildering, for Kingston is in a clime where music is always at its dreamiest and best.

AN INTERESTING FEATURE

Among the most interesting features of the Exhibition will be a real Jamaica village, where native peasants in model huts will be engaged in their customary occupations, such as making baskets, wicker-work articles, native pottery, net, etc., and working in sugar, while coolies will show their method of weaving. Quite apart from the ornamental profusion of tropical plants throughout the grounds will be the display of orchids. There will, too, be agricultural shows and exhibits of minerals found on the island. The native products, such as bamboos, oranges, bananas, coffee, cocoa, bread fruit, etc., will be most, alluringly displayed. Consider the possibility of presenting them in a combination with living palms, tropical flowers and ferns, and fountains playing everywhere, and you can then picture to yourself a scene of beauty such as no other international fair has ever presented.

Cattle shows from the splendid herds of the island will be another feature of the exhibition. The rich pastures of Jamaica are admirably adapted to cattle raising. There will also be some horse racing, and it is promised that during a part of the exhibition period there will be such a special fruit and flower show as the world has not yet seen.

CANADA AT THE FAIR.

Unlike the United States Government Canada early recognized the possibilities of influencing West Indian trade, and in July of last year the Dominion Government appointed Mr. Adam Brown, M. P. for Hamilton, commissioner for Canada. As Mr. Brown is well known throughout the Dominion as an energetic, enthusiastic and practical business man, the press of all shades of politics endorsed the choice.

AFTER THE ISLAND.

Japan Shall Be Watching With Longing Eyes Toward Hawaii.

Ottawa, Jan. 25.—There is the very best authority for stating that, even before the death of King Kalakaua, England was preparing to secure the transfer to herself or Canada of the political and commercial preponderance heretofore held by Americans in Hawaii. The British are anxious to have control of Pearl Harbor, which will soon be one of the finest in the world and which the present treaty gives to the United States. The British Foreign Office has, it is said, received representations from Hawaii that there is a strong feeling there, especially since the passage of the McKinley bill, which deprives Hawaii of the sugar importing monopoly, in favor of transferring to Canada the existing treaty arrangements with America, and that there is a powerful faction in the islands that wished to annul the treaty at once, on the ground that the sugar importing privileges have been virtually abrogated by the act of the American Congress. His death has aroused a feeling of satisfaction in England, and the efforts to get possession of the Pearl of the Pacific are being renewed with greater vigor than ever. The English are said to have on their side Col. C. W. Ashford, who is virtually in command of the small military force of the Kingdom, and who had expressed himself as advocating a transfer of Hawaiian interests to Canadian control and the annulment of the American treaty, which still has two years to run.

A WEIRD STORY.

Was the King's Death Foreshadowed by a Red Fish Towed Into the Harbor?

DENVER, Col., Jan. 25.—The Republican publishes a long letter from its correspondent at Honolulu, dated Jan. 9, in which he says:

His Majesty King Kalakaua has taken his last look on the throne, his palace, his people, his own pretty little Honolulu. He left on November 26 on the flagship Charleston by special request from Admiral Brown to accept his hospitality to San Francisco, after which he intended making an extended tour of the States and possibly Europe, accompanied only by his Chamberlain. Now comes the sad part of the story. An old Hawaiian legend, from time immemorial, is that when a red fish enters the harbor the crowned head must shortly die.

A red fish on Nov. 10 made its fiery appearance, and was seen by the credulous natives, and although some incredulous Yankees claimed that the Chamberlain and the Princess knew how the red fish came there, still the King, with his fabulous wealth of mental and physical training, in the full vigor of life, only 54 years old, has gradually faded, grown ashen in hue, wrinkled and old since the news of the red fish reached his ears. The wrangle for supremacy between the whites and his people has made the legislative work hard on him this term. The public belief is the Chamberlain will see that he is returned to his native land in a metallic box to be interred with other royalty.

The writer says the opinion is general that the Chamberlain and the Princess, who will take the throne, know how the fish was towed into the harbor. She is a married woman and is reported to be hand in glove with the Chamberlain, Colonel McFarlane, who hopes that a republic may overthrow the throne, of which he will be president.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 27, 1891.

NOTICE.

Nearly a month ago we made a general call on those who were doing business with us, to send in their accounts in order that a settlement to the end of the year might be effected. While a great many have responded, there a few who have failed to present their contra accounts. These are again asked to send them in at once so that all accounts may be squared and adjusted.

We must again respectfully, but firmly insist upon all accounts due the EXAMINER or Peterborough Bookstore being paid with as little delay as possible. We MUST keep faith with our creditors, and to do so it is imperative that those who are indebted to us should pay us promptly what is due. This reference is made to subscriptions as well as to accounts for goods.

It is absolutely necessary for business reasons that all outstanding accounts be settled by the First of January, 1891, and it is equally necessary that all accounts against us should be presented and settled. It would be very unpleasant to us to delegate the work of collecting any of our accounts to our solicitors, nevertheless ALL accounts to the 1st of January must be arranged within the shortest possible time.

European Observations.

The W. C. T. U. have invited Mr. O. C. Rowse, lately returned from Europe, to give an address on the subject of his travels. Mr. Rowse, being of an observant nature, made notes of scenery, incidents, customs, etc., and on his return prepared an interesting, instructive and amusing talk, which he has given with great success in Oshawa, Sangrave and Hastings. He has kindly consented to address a Peterborough audience on the subject, and particulars as to time and place will be given hereafter.

The Play.

The Belle Stevenson Dramatic Company opened a week's engagement at popular prices at the Opera House last night before a large audience. "Queen's Evidence" was presented, and apparently pleased the house. An after-part was given in which some specialties were introduced. Miss Stevenson sang very acceptably, and the clog-dancing and tumbling of Jimmy Wallbrook, a Peterborough boy, was loudly applauded and encored. Jimmy Rowland, and old Port Hope boy, well known here, is a member of the troupe. The play to night is "Fate," a society drama.

The Christian Politician.

Hon. Oliver Mowat has found time in the midst of the weighty and harrassing affairs of state to write an elaborate work on "Christianity, and some of its Evidences." It is beautifully printed, and concerning it the London Advertiser says:—"That Mr. Gladstone in England and Mr. Mowat in Canada, two men whose lives have been devoted to the service of their fellows in public capacities, and have been crowded with work of a secular character, should have the disposition and the time to study deeply the great problems that form the foundations of our faith in Christianity, and should have risen from a consideration of these problems with a livelier faith in the truths of the Christian religion, is at once a most interesting and encouraging fact."

Gastronomy on Gospel Terms,

A Social Evening at St. John's South—The Free Tea and Entertainment Liberally Patronized.

The ladies of the St. John's South Ward Mission who undertook to give a free supper Monday night, had their hands more than full. All the children apparently in the South Ward, with a fair representation from the remainder of the town, gathered at the building at six o'clock, and there was besides a large attendance of adults. For two hours the tables in the basement were constantly besieged, and it was only when the commissariat had been exhausted that hostilities ceased.

The children were treated first, and after being entertained up-stairs by Rev. Mr. Davidson, and some recitations by pupils of the school, were sent home at eight o'clock. The youngsters, it is safe to say, were delighted with the opening celebration.

Shortly after eight o'clock the programme proper began upstairs, Rev. J. C. Davidson presiding. This programme was rendered:

Selections	Amateur Orchestra
Song	Mr. J. J. Turner, jr
Piano solo	Miss Hatt
Address	Rev. Mr. French, Omemee
Selections	Orchestra
Song	Mr. Varnes
Piano solo	Mrs. G. A. Smith

The programme gave deep satisfaction. The evening's entertainment was brought to a close by the singing of "Sun of My Soul."

Murder at Ancaster.

The Treasurer of the Township Killed by Thieves and His House Ransacked—A Bold Burglary.

Special to the Examiner.

ANCASTER, Ont., Jan. 27.—John Hendry, treasurer of Ancaster township, was shot dead about two o'clock this morning by burglars, who afterwards ransacked the house.

PARTICULARS OF THE CRIME.

It appears that the burglars, of whom there two, were making a search for money and valuables, when the old gentleman heard them. He got up and found the men ascending the back stairs. He asked who was there and they said "go back to bed." Mr. Hendry, who was aged seventy-five, then picked up a chair and advanced to meet them. He must have used it pretty freely, as it was found this morning broken to pieces. One of the robbers drew a revolver The bullet took effect in Mr. Hendry's heart

KILLING HIM ALMOST INSTANTLY.

The old man's daughter, who was the only other occupant of the house, was aroused by the firing of the shot, and attempted to pass the murderers to reach her father, but was prevented by them from doing so. One of the men kept watch over her while the other ransacked the house. After they had secured all they could, they made off, and Miss Hendry gave the alarm.

The Hamilton police have been notified of the affair, but as yet no clue to the murderers has been found.

Young Men's Catholic Club.

Formal Opening of the New Rooms in the Cox Block—An Interesting Occasion.

The formal opening of the Young Men's Catholic Club Monday night, was attended by about a hundred and fifty people. The new club rooms are now open to young men of the Roman Catholic religion, but those of other denominations are not excluded. The Club was organized in the Catholic Church for Catholic young men, and for them it is particularly intended, but any young man may visit the rooms if he chooses. A comfortable and desirable place of resort for young men has been provided by the enterprise of a few thoughtful and warm-hearted gentlemen who undertook the work, and they hope to see their efforts appreciated by the young men. Ladies are also eligible for membership, and no doubt many of them will take advantage of the library by joining the society.

The new quarters in the Cox block are most suitable for the purpose and well equipped. At the end of the southern corridor are two doorways, one leading to the reading room at the front of the building, and the other to the library at the back. In the former is a large table spread with magazines and newspapers, while the shelves in the library will soon be filled with books—a variety of both French and English. The old Separate School library has been removed to the club, and to this will be added a large number of new books. At the head of the stairs leading above is a large hall capable of seating about 200 persons. When not required for this purpose glass partitions divide it into two parts, the front being used as a committee room, and the other as a gymnasium. At the opening Monday night the hall was full size. It made an excellent meeting place. To the right of the landing are the pool and billiard rooms, one table in each. The club will be managed on strictly moral principles, and parents need have no fear in allowing their sons to attend it. As His Lordship remarked in his address, it is the aim of the Directors to see that the young men patronizing the club are benefited morally, physically and intellectually. Mr. Dan. McCabe is the caretaker of the rooms.

Following are the officers of the club, to whom the credit is due for the flattering results which have been achieved:

PRESIDENT—C. J. Leonard.
1ST VICE-PRESIDENT—Dr. Brennan.
2ND " " —T. Doris.
SECRETARY—John Corkery.
TREASURER—R. Sheehy.
DIRECTORS—J. J. Sheehy, A. Gough, W. Horkins, W. Rudkins, T. Dunn and L. Letellier.

THE OPENING.

At the opening Monday night the hall was well filled with ladies and gentlemen. The platform was set in a background of flags and lace, the Union Jack and Stars and Stripes hanging side by side, in recognition, no doubt, of the question which was debated. Shortly after eight o'clock Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald took the chair, an office which he filled most happily during the evening. His Lordship Bishop O'Connor made an opening address in which he referred to the pleasure it gave him to open this Club for young men. He pointed out the advantages such an institution was to young men, who cannot be expected to spend all their evenings at home, and who perhaps attend some society meeting once or twice a week. But here was a place where there they could spend their evening's innocently and progress morally, physically and intellectually. It was such clubs as these that tended to improve young men and elevate the moral tone of society. Great stress was laid on the advantages of the library and reading room. It was intended to encourage intellectual pursuits in the young men by these means, but they did not wish them to confine themselves to serious matters, for there are innocent amusements provided for physical culture. Here the young man would be free from the temptations and undesirable associations they might fall in with if no such place was open to them. His Lordship hoped the young men would join the club, for it was in such societies as these that some of the greatest men of our time received the impetus in their youth which carried them to greater heights.

His Lordship was warmly applauded for his very practical address. The brief programme arranged by Mr. Thos. Dunn was then performed, including a fine solo by Miss Annie Dunn, a violin solo by Miss Kate Hurley, and a duet by Mrs. McIntyre and Mr. Dunn. Following these musical numbers came the event of the evening, a debate between representatives of Lindsay and Peterborough. The visitors were cheered by a motto which hung over their heads: "Peterborough welcomes Lindsay." A week ago the same debate by the same gentlemen took place in Lindsay, in which the latter won, and the return discussion was anxiously looked forward to. The question was, "Resolved, that the Southern States were justified in seceding from the Union in 1861." The affirmative was upheld by Peterborough's representatives, Messrs. C. J. Leonard, Dr. Brennan, and J. J. Sheehy; the negative by Dr. Lynch, and Messrs Kensy, O'Brien, of Lindsay. The question was argued keenly keenly on both sides, and considerable debating talent shown. The chairman confirmed the previous decision and decided in favor of the visitors.

A vote of thanks was given to the chairman, before the meeting adjourned.

The opening was a highly pleasant affair, and augurs well for the future of the Club.

Mr T. Dunn afterwards entertained those who took part in the programme, at the Palace Restaurant.

Omemee.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

This is an unusually favorable winter for labor in the woods, snow not being too deep, affording excellent sleighing.

The Peterborough markets are attracting more people continually from this section, and 75c. per single bag for potatoes causes people to come home well pleased.

The old veterans of 1837-38 in this section, numbering about 20 all told, are anxiously looking forward to their pension, and the EXAMINER has their best wishes for the interest shown in this matter.

Our new high school principal, Mr. Neil Robertson, recently of Rhcardine, is showing himself the right man in the right place.

The O. Y. B's concert and dance was quite a success. The instrument supplied by Jackson & Co., Peterborough, pleased in every particular.

The Omemee Presbyterian church, was represented last week at the meeting of the Presbytery, Peterborough, by the Rev. Jno. Ewing, and Mr. George Morrison.

The Patterson family, belonging to the Presbyterian church, Omemee, have been sorely afflicted with consumption of a very malignant kind, befling the best medical aid. Two daughters were recently buried inside of a week, the mother about three months since, another daughter about one year ago, and the remaining ones are threatened.

OUR COUNTY COUNCIL.

The Statutory Meeting.

F. Elmhirst, Esq. Reeve of Burleigh, Elected Warden — Appointment of Officers—Standing Committees.

TUESDAY, Jan. 27th.

The statutory meeting of the County Council of Peterborough took place in the chamber at the Court House to-day.

The following members, having duly filed their certificates of qualification, took their seats:—

ASHBURNHAM—John Burnham, Reeve.
ASPHODEL—Jas Moore, Reeve; John Fitzpatrick, Deputy-Reeve.
BELMONT AND METHUEN—Alex. McAuley, Reeve.
BURLEIGH, ETC.—F. Elmhirst, Reeve.
DOURO—John Moloney, Reeve; Wm. Garbutt, Deputy-Reeve.
DUMMER—A. R. Kidd, Reeve; Edward Hawthorne, Deputy-Reeve.
ENNISMORE—Wm. Crough, Reeve.
GALWAY AND CAVENDISH—Chas. Coben, Reeve.
HARVEY—Robt. Shaw, Reeve.
LAKEFIELD—W. H. Casement, Reeve.
NORWOOD—John Finlay, Reeve.
NORTH MONAGHAN—Jos. Forster, Reeve.
SMITH—Michael Sanderson, Reeve; H. Garbutt, Deputy-Reeve.
OTONABEE—Geo. Stewart, Reeve; W. Anderson, Deputy-Reeve.

ELECTION OF WARDEN.

The Clerk, Edg. Pearce, Esq., occupied the chair, pro tem, and called for nominations for the office of Warden.

Moved by Mr. M. Sanderson, Smith, seconded by Mr. W. H. Casement, Lakefield, that Francis Elmhirst, Reeve of Burleigh, be Warden of the county of Peterborough for the ensuing year. There being no other nominations, Mr. Elmhirst was elected by acclamation, and having assumed the official robe, he was conducted to his seat by Messrs. Sanderson and Casement.

Mr. Elmhirst, in taking the Warden's seat thanked the council for the honor they had conferred on him and his municipality, by his elevation to the Warden's chair, an honour he little thought to have gained when he entered the council in 1883. At that time the debt of his township was about $3,000, but by the help of this council it had been reduced to a merely nominal sum. He felt that there were others more capable of filling the chair, but he hoped to have the assistance of the members of the council. He would do his best to fill the chair with due regard to the interests of the county. (Applause.)

STANDING COMMITTEES.

On motion of Mr. Kidd, seconded by Mr. Finlay, the following gentlemen were appointed to strike the standing committees:—Messrs. Burnham, Sanderson, Moloney, Moore, Stewart, Forster, Kidd and Finlay.

APPOINTMENT OF OFFICERS.

Messrs. J. B. Hall and F. J. Bell were appointed auditors, the latter being the nominee of the Warden.

Mr. W. A. Stratton was re-appointed sessional clerk.

Incorrect and Injudicious.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—If the interest taken in the affairs of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society is to be gauged by the very insignificant attendance of half-a-dozen members at their annual meeting held last week, it is not likely that more than one out of every hundred of your readers have read the report of the directors which was submitted at that meeting. Perhaps it may be worth while, however, for the benefit of even that very small percentage of your readers to correct the unfair animadverse one in that report reflecting on the committee of the St. Andrew's Society, who conducted the Caledonian Games which took place on the show grounds in connection with the agricultural exhibition held last fall. The following is the ill-natured paragraph, which appears in the directors report referred to:—

"It is hardly necessary to speak of the Caledonian games conducted by the St. Andrew's Society, and for which we paid them on the understanding that they (the St. Andrews Society) were to bring a large excursion of the Scottish societies from Toronto, which latter did not materialize. However, we paid them."

Now, Mr. Editor, all that is necessary to disprove these statements is the production of the following document, which is a true copy of all the "understanding" between our Society and the Directors of the Agricultural Society. This document, bear in mind, was drawn up at a meeting of the executive committee of the directors, and in the presence of at least a dozen of these gentlemen, with only four members from the St. Andrew's Society present, and was duly signed by the respective secretaries on their behalf. Here it is:

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 2, 1890.

It is hereby agreed between the Agricultural Society of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough, and the St. Andrew's Society of the Town and County of Peterborough, as evidenced by the signatures hereto of the secretaries of the two societies respectively, that the Agricultural Society pay to the St. Andrew's Society, the sum of $200 in cash at the close of the second day of the annual fall show of this year, in consideration of which sum the St. Andrew's Society undertake to conduct a programme of games and give prizes therefor as set out in the draft programme hereto attached. The Agricultural Society to pay all advertising and the St. Andrew's Society to guarantee its best efforts to make the Scottish day a success. This day to be the second day of the fair. The Agricultural Society to erect the platform for dancing, etc., and the St. Andrew's Society to provide all other apparatus for the games.

W. MENZIES, Secretary St. Andrew's Society.
WM COLLINS, Secretary Agricultural Society.

If anyone can find any reference or "understanding" about an excursion from Toronto in this agreement, there might be some justification for the paragraph. But, as everyone can see, there is not the remotest reference to any such thing.

The closing words in the ill-natured paragraph reads as if the directors had acted very magnanimously with us—"However, we paid them." Yes, they paid us like little men—but not until they were compelled to pay! For six weeks they "ticked" and refused to settle, scheming all the while to cajole our society into accepting fifty cents on the dollar. At the end of that time they found themselves confronted individually with a law suit, whereupon they magnanimously paid our claim—every farthing of it—rather than face the (Scotch) music.

In conclusion, let it be stated that, if, in future, these same gentlemen should discover that, in negotiating for attractions for their show, the public have learned to insist upon all contracts with them being flanked by a written agreement—they will know the reason why. The only thing that "saved our bacon" was the above agreement "in black and white."

Signed on behalf of St. Andrew's Society,
GEO. R. NOBLE, President.

Benefort.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

On Wednesday evening, Jan. 21st, Miss Wood, sister of Mr. R. E. Wood, Peterborough, was united in marriage to Mr. J. W. Smiley, of Jordan Falls, N.Y. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. M. McOmber, in the presence of a few guests, the wedding being private. After the wedding repast the scholars of Miss Wood's Sunday school class presented her with a valuable teacher's Bible, and an address respecting the services conferred on the retired by Miss Wood's faithful attendance, and which was read by Miss Etta McClelland, while Miss Maggie Plimmett made the presentation. The present and the kind address which accompanied it, were suitably recognized. The newly-wedded pair have the best wishes of the people of the locality for a happy wedded life.

Last Friday while engaged in driving logs, Mr. Robt. Hetherington, of Ballidaloora, a highly respected and industrious man, who has been in the employ of Mr. J. Kidd, had the misfortune to get his leg broken. Dr. Niddery, of Millbrook, set the broken limb, which is now doing as well as could be expected.

Now that the road to the river is completed, the next thing to be done is to make arrangements for the erection of a bridge or some other means of getting a direct route to Peterborough all the year round, as we have during the winter months.

Dreadful Psoriasis.

Covering Entire Body with White Scales. Suffering Fearful. Cured by Cuticura.

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nose and over my face. It ran into my ear, and my physician was afraid I would lose it. It spread all over my body, and my hair all fell out, until I was entirely bald-headed; it then broke out on my arms and shoulders, until my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, head, and shoulders being the worst. The white scales fell constantly from my head, shoulders and arms; the skin would thicken and be red and very itchy, and would crack and bleed if scratched. After spending many hundreds of dollars, I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using two bottles CUTICURA RESOLVENT, I could see a change; and after I had taken four bottles, I was almost cured; when I had used six bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, I was cured of the dreadful disease FROM WHICH I had suffered for five years. I cannot express with a pen what I suffered before using the REMEDIES. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to recommend them. My hair is restored as good as ever and as to my strength.

is now the question of the hour; but to those in need of Ordered or Ready-made Clothing, single profits ought to be a subject of greater importance. Yearly importing all our principal lines, we save you the profits of the wholesale men, and you have thus one single profit to pay. That profit is not a large one, and has been made still smaller, as we are determined each and every article of Winter Clothing must go, to make way for Spring Goods. Each and every department has been visited and all goods have been reduced. Don't you buy a dollar's worth of clothing until you have looked us over. Take into consideration that we are selling First Class Goods with but a single profit, and that it is no trouble to show goods, whether you wish to buy or not.

THE ANCASTER MURDER.

FURTHER PATICULARS OF THE TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

The Old Man Makes a Desperate Fight With the Robbers and is Shot Down in Sight of His Wife and Daughter—Full Details.

HAMILTON, Jan. 27.—John Heslop, clerk and treasurer of the township of Ancaster, was shot through the heart by masked burglars at his home on the Sulphur Springs Road between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning. About the hour mentioned three men drove up to the residence of John Heslop. The house is a beautiful stone structure of Gothic architecture, standing back from the road about a hundred yards and approached by a winding driveway through shrubbery and evergreen trees. The men drove their rig half way up the drive and then backed it into a sidepath so as to have the horse's head towards the road ready to make swift departure. A heavy platform used in pruning trees stands by the path, and possibly the horse was tied to that. But there is evidence of a man being left to watch it, for there are tracks of a man having stepped down from the pathway and taken shelter under a spreading evergreen, where he tramped about as if to keep his feet warm while waiting. The other two men walked up the path to the house and went to the front door, which they examined, but did not consider a good place to effect an entrance. There is an outer porch door, nearly all glass, which would be difficult to get through without cutting themselves or clothing. Then they walked around the house examining the windows, as shown by the tracks in the snow, and finally reached the back door. There is a pile of green cordwood near the door. As there seemed no likelihood of an entrance being gained without alarming the inmates they took a heavy cordwood stick, and, using it as a battering-ram, smashed the lock off the door and entered the kitchen. The door from the kitchen to the rest of the house was also locked and they smashed that open, too. The cordwood stick was left lying by the kitchen stove. Then the two burglars went upstairs.

The Fight on the Landing.

Meanwhile the inmates had been aroused by their entrance. Mr. and Mrs. Heslop occupied a room together near the head of the back stairs leading from the sitting-room. Miss Heslop slept alone in a front bedroom. Mrs. Heslop was awakened first, and she aroused her husband and called to Annie Heslop to ask if she heard men in the house. Mr. Heslop lighted a candle and went to the head of the back stairs and opened the door leading down, the muffled tread of two men on the unc rpeted stair being audible. The two frightened women crouched behind in the hall while the brave old man demanded of the burglars what they wanted. They made no reply, but blew out the candle he held. He went back to his wife's room and laying down the candle, told her to relight it, and picking up a chair went out to meet the intruders. While Mrs. Heslop was getting a match and relighting the candle she heard the stern voice of her husband parleying with them:

"Who are you and what do you want?" he asked.

"Go back to your bed. It's all right," answered one of the men.

There was the noise of a rush of feet as if they had made a dash to disarm Mr. Heslop. Then the noise of blows and muttered curses and the splintering of a chair, followed by a pistol shot, a groan and a heavy fall.

The Murderers.

Then for the first time the women saw the assailants. There is a crook in the stair, or rather it comes up, turns at right angles at a landing in the middle and then there are five steps to the top. The fight took place on the stair out of sight of the women, and Mr. Heslop's body fell on the landing. Then the murderers came up into the hall and ordered the women into Mrs. Heslop's room, and one took with the revolver in his hand guarding them. The candle had been relighted and the terror-stricken and agonized mother and daughter had a good view of both the men. "Let me go to my husband," cried Mrs. Heslop, "you have murdered him!"

"We haven't hurt him," said one of the men soothingly. "He's all right. Stay here and we won't hurt you."

The men were dressed in dark overcoats and trousers, wore overshoes and had what looked like a woman's "cloud" or scarf wound around their faces and head, covering hats and all. Where their eyes were they had only bound the cloud around single ply, so that they could easily see through the open meshes. One man stood guard and the other went through the house. They evidently knew it well, for one of them went at once to the room where Mr. Heslop kept all the township books and papers and ransacked it most thoroughly, scattering the papers about. Then he went through Miss Heslop's room and other places, and in a desk in the front hall downstairs routed out a lot more papers. He evidently did not find what he was after, for he returned to the bedroom where his comrade was and questioned the women as recorded above, but got no information from them. Then he crept down to where an old-fashioned safe stood in the hall. It is not known whether this safe was open or not, but Miss Heslop says it was always locked at night. If such was the case the burglar had a skeleton key, for he opened it without trouble and ransacked it, but fortunately missed which were stowed in a pigeon hole, wrapped in a piece of newspaper. All the plunder they got was a set of garnet jewelry belonging to Miss Heslop, one stone of which was missing, and a diamond ring and five other rings. The only township money in the house was $40 in a bureau drawer, and that they missed also.

$25,000 in Bonds

The Murderers' Object

Several times during the searching of the house the now almost crazed mother and daughter strove to force a passage past their guard to get to Mr. Heslop, but the man pushed them back and told them to keep quiet and they would not be injured. At last the burglar who had been making the search returned and with him departed hurriedly. Mrs. and Miss Heslop did not think of looking which direction they went, but naturally ran at once to where the brave old man lay. He had made a gallant fight. The splintered pieces of the chair lay upon the steps of the stair, and on the landing were dints where the corner of it had struck as he smashed right and left. On the landing, half-way down the stairway, the body lay huddled in the corner, face upwards. The poor woman thought he was merely stunned, for no blood was apparent. Mrs Heslop despatched Annie for help while she endeavored to revive him, but, on opening the front of his woolen night shirt, she saw the jagged hole in his breast that told her life was sped.

The Scene After the Murder.

Meantime a neighbor, John Reading, and Constables Crann and Phillips had been summoned. The house presented a spectacle when they arrived. The body lay where it had fallen in the corner of the landing, and beside it was the chair with which the deceased had defended himself. It was one of those heavy kitchen chairs with thick wooden bottom, painted black. He had evidently wielded it with desperate force and energy. The four legs are splintered off and a heavy dint at the top of the stairs shows where he missed one intruder and the corner of the chair bottom struck the floor. Judging from the appearance of the chair the old man must have left some before he died. The papers in the safe and in the writing desk in the hall were scattered about the floor; mortgages, deeds, receipts and other engrossed documents bearing evidence of preparation at the hands of the law clerks were strewn about in confusion. The search had evidently been made in tremendous haste, as if the intruder was alarmed lest the shot should bring help, but the manner in which every spot where the money or valuables was likely to be had been visited seemed to denote an intimate knowledge of the surroundings. It is therefore suspected that the murder was committed by residents of the township or by persons who knew Mr. Heslop, although one report says they are supposed to have headed for Toronto.

When the fatal shot was fired, and al through the struggle Mr. Heslop had on only the clothes he wore in bed, a flannel night shirt and a cotton undershirt, so that it was easy to see the wound. The ball, judging from the mark it made, would be about a 38 calibre. It entered the deceased almost in the centre of the breast, a little to the left, and passed inwards, slightly towards the right. It is thought that the bullet did not enter the heart and that death was not instantaneous. It was fired at very close quarters. The murdered man was driving the burglars backward with such vigor that he was right upon them, for the revolver was held close to his breast—so close that the outer shirt was singed and the inner shirt set fire to. The fire communicated to the right side and burned a hole in the shirt. At first it was thought this marked a second shot wound, but on second examination it was concluded that it could not have done so.

The Victim.

Mr. John Heslop there was no man in the County of Wentworth more esteemed by his friends and neighbors. He held many positions of trust in connection with the county during his lifetime. He was warden of Wentworth when it was united with Halton from 1853 to 1855 and subsequently when separation took place filled the chair in Wentworth until 1858. When Mr. W. A. Cooley died in 1872 Mr. Heslop was appointed treasurer of the township of Ancaster.

He was born in Cumberland, England, in July, 1812, and was therefore in his 79th year. At the age of four years he was brought to this country and first lived in New Brunswick. From there the family moved to Virginia, but early in the 30's he settled in Niagara district. In 1837 he was a warm and active supporter of Mackenzie, for whom he carried messages. He also escorted the leader through Ancaster region in the hot times of that year, and prized highly some messages which he kept until the time of his death. In 1842 he settled in Ancaster township, and on May 21, 1844, was married in the farmhouse next to the one in which he was killed. He had but one daughter, Miss Sarah A. Heslop, who has always lived with the old folks.

Mr. Heslop was a wealthy man. He leaves a farm worth $30,000 and bonds and securities that will amount to as much again. He never kept money in the house.

What the Burglars Got.

The burglars got little for their crime and trouble. Their plunder consisted of a set of jewelry set with garnets, six rings, including two chased, two pearl and garnet set, one hair and one diamond ring. A few other small articles were carried off, the whole being worth $100.

Although the murder occurred at 2 o'clock, it was not until 5.35 that the Hamilton police got word of the terrible tragedy. Instead of telephoning here immediately on his arrival at Ancaster, the county constable drove to the city. It was then rather late for the detectives to hope to intercept the murderers, as they had a start of several hours, and could have been many miles away. Had the detectives been telephoned to, constables could have been sent to head off the burglars on their entrance to the city, as it is said that they were tracked this way.

It is thought that perhaps the wound was not made by a revolver, but a pistol. One valuable trace was preserved and may have a strong bearing on the case. Under the trees where the buggy was tied the footprints were numerous, and there, in a conspicuous place, is a large footprint of a foot wearing an overshoe and in the heel are the marks of two nails, one larger than the other, as if they had worn through the rubber heel of the shoe or pressed on it so hard as to make an impression on the snow. This step will probably be measured and photographed.

Held to be Constitutional.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Judge Lacombe in the U.S. Circuit Court to-day listened to the argument on the constitutionality of the McKinley bill. The question has been raised by H. H. Sternback & Co. in protesting against the levying of a duty of 45 per cent. ad valorem on colored cotton goods. Judge Lacombe announced that he would affirm the decision of the appraisers, and upon the entry of the order to this effect would grant an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

THE BRADLAUGH RESOLUTION EXPUNGED FROM THE RECORDS.

Fierce Rioting By Scotch Strikers—Riots in Algiers and in Paris—One of Sardou's Plays Suppressed in Consequence—General Cable News.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—In the House of Commons to-day Sir William Guyer Hunter moved that the resolution of the House of June, 1880, forbidding Charles Bradlaugh to take the oath or to affirm be expunged from the records as subversive of the rights of electors.

Solicitor-General Clarke opposed the motion, saying it was not in accordance with the traditions of the House. The record, he said, was historical and could not be effaced in this manner.

Mr. Gladstone supported the motion to expunge the resolution, claiming it was an excess of jurisdiction in an assembly like the House, holding almost unmeasurable power without appeal. Excess of jurisdiction, said Mr. Gladstone, was the greatest fault such an assembly could commit, leaving on record an error which might be turned to evil account in evil times. To see that the House did not trespass over the limits of its functions was one of the highest and most sacred duties. [Cheers.] Mr. Gladstone suggested that the motion would be acceptable to everybody by omitting the words "subversive of the rights of electors."

Sir Stafford Northcote advocated acceptance of the suggestion made by Mr. Gladstone

William Henry Smith, First Lord of the Treasury, expressed the general sorrow which was felt at the illness of Mr. Bradlaugh and the motion as amended was passed. The result was greeted with hearty cheers.

SOAPSUDS ON THE RAILS.

Striking Scotch Railwaymen Occasion Much Damage.

GLASGOW, Jan. 27.—Serious rioting on the part of the railroad strikers occurred yesterday. A band of masked strikers, armed with sticks and stones, attacked and severely maltreated a number of men who were at work in and about the locomotive shed of the Caledonian railroad at Strathaven. After breaking a number of windows and driving the workingmen away the rioters ran one of the locomotives into a turn table pit and derailed another engine in such a manner that it will require considerable labor to again place the locomotive shed in working condition. In spite of the police the strikers have gathered on the railroad bridges at Wemyss Bay near Wemyss Castle on the Firth of Forth and stoned the firemen and engineers of passing trains. Several firemen and engineers have been disabled. The railroad tracks below Greenock were found covered with soft soap making it impossible for a train to pass until the rails had been cleared.

REVOLUTIONISTS ANGERED.

Sardou's Thermidor Precipitates a Riot in Paris.

PARIS, Jan. 27.—After the second performance of Sardou's "Thermidor" here last night there was a riot in the streets near the theatre, caused by the disorderly conduct of the extreme partisans of revolution who were ejected from the theatre. They hissed the audience as it left the theatre and shouted "Down with Sardou," "Long live the Republic." In the streets a free fight followed between the extremists and the police and it was with difficulty the latter managed to keep a passage through the enraged crowd for the However, after some desperate tussels with the rioters, during which a number of arrests were made, the audience was enabled to leave the theatre surrounded by a howling mob. The latter surrounded Larroumet the director of fine arts just as he had entered his carriage, and he would have been roughly handled had he not been recognized and rescued by the police in a charge made through the mob. During the disturbance 15 arrests were made amongst the most violent of the rioters, but only two extremely wild agitators were held in custody after the crowds had been dispersed. More violent scenes are expected to-night should there be another performance of "Thermidor."

Minister Constans at first decided to protect "Thermidor," but after the Ministers had consulted with the prefect of police it was decided to prohibit the performance. Much indignation was expressed at the Government for giving way to a group of socialistic fanatics.

The theatre in which "Thermidor" was produced was besieged by an enormous crowd this evening and in spite of the change in the program the mob packed the house. The rising of the curtain was the signal for violent rivalries of "Vive Thermidor," "A bas Thermidor," etc. The tumult increased until the younger Coquelin stepped before the curtain and said the performance would proceed no further and the ticket money would be returned at the doors. The audience departed greatly excited, but no serious disorder ensued. The theatre loses 500,000 francs in advance bookings.

"Thermidor" possesses strong dramatic interest, centering on the refusal of Fabienne to take the advice of her lover Martial and declare herself enciente in order to escape being guillotined, whereupon Martial commits suicide by shooting himself. Mlle. Barter, Coquelin and Marais take the leading parts. M. Pichon will ask the Chamber of Deputies to-day to suppress "Thermidor" on the ground that it is liable to lead to rioting. M. Reinach will oppose the motion on the ground that the suppression of the play would be an attack upon art.

A Riot in Algiers.

ALGIERS, Jan. 27.—A despatch from Bona, province of Constantine, states that a serious riot has occurred there. M. Onessa, a native of Corsica and editor of an Algerian newspaper, recently shot and killed his wife and a man whom he suspected of being her paramour. For some days Onessa has been on trial at Bona, and yesterday he was acquitted on the ground that the relations existing between Mme. Onessa and the dead man were such as to justify the killing. During the trial crowds of friends of the prisoner and of the man who was killed were in court, and when the verdict was rendered there was a wild tumult. A free fight followed between the factions, during which both sides were joined by reinforcements of rioters, who rushed into the court-room and joined in the fight. The few gendarmes on duty were powerless, but a strong detachment of police and a detachment of troops arrived and dispersed the rioters.

Laurier at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Jan. 27.—The ninth annual banquet of the Club National was held to night at Windsor Hotel and was attended by 600 guests. In reply to the toast, "Canada," Hon. Mr. Laurier discussed the probability of a dissolution of Parliament and an appeal to the people, and said if this wrong against the constitution were committed they were ready for the worst. The issue before the people was plain. The policy of the Liberal party was Unrestricted Reciprocity with the United States. Hon. Mr. Longley of Nova Scotia and Premier Mercier also spoke.

Sir Charles Tupper's Return.

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—The cable announcement that Sir Charles Tupper sails from England to-morrow for Canada created no little surprise here. The visit of the High Commissioner is said to be in connection with the prospective Dominion election. It is also reported that he may succeed Hon. Mr. Foster as Minister of Finance.

MINERS IN A PIT OF DEATH

FRIGHTFUL DISASTER IN PENNSYLVANIA.

One Hundred and Sixty Miners Believed to Have Perished—80 Bodies Recovered—Many Soldiers Returning From Pine Ridge Killed in a Railroad Collision in Texas.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 27.—A terrible mine explosion occurred at the mammoth works of the H. C. Frick Coke Company, Mammoth, at 9 o'clock this morning. The mines are half way between Latiobe and Mount Pleasant.

A Scottsdale special places the number of lives lost at 80 and says: The explosion, it is supposed, was due to the ignition of a miner's oil lamp. The afterdamp which followed the firedamp explosion suffocated every workman. The persons not killed are in such a critical condition that their deaths are momentarily expected. Thus far 59 bodies have been recovered, all without sign of life. The fire, which broke out after the explosion, was soon extinguished by the immense fans. General Manager Lynch of the Frick Coke Company is helping in the work of recovering the bodies. The Mammoth plant embraces 509 ovens, one of the largest plants in the coke region, but it is hard of access. It is situated near the united works, where an explosion recently destroyed the entire shaft. The appalling loss of life in the Dunbar disaster is more than overshadowed by that in this mammoth calamity.

Coffins have already been ordered for 80 persons. The only man who escaped from the mine was Mine Boss Eaton.

It is estimated there are 60 widows and families left wholly dependent on charity for sustenance by this disaster. They are almost penniless, as the plant has not been running full for some time and work has been scarce.

MAMMOTH, Pa., Jan. 28.—One hundred and ten men were killed in the explosion. Sixty bodies have been taken out so far. The mine is on fire and it is feared the bodies of the others will be cremated.

TOPEKA, Kan., Jan. 27.—A collision between a passenger train and the special bearing the troops from Pine Ridge occurred last evening on the Union Pacific Railroad at Florence, Kan. The special was carrying about 400 soldiers, part of the 7th Cavalry and Battery E, light artillery, bound for Fort Riley. The train consisted of seven passenger and 24 freight cars loaded with horses and several pieces of artillery and ammunition, hauled by two large engines. The three engines and several cars are a complete wreck. Many soldiers were seriously and as least two fatally injured.

The Dead.

SERGT. SCHORTBAT, Battery E Artillery, cut all to pieces.

PTE. MEIL, Troop G 7th Cavalry, left leg cut off and head mashed.

The baggageman and conductor were slightly injured, and two passengers on the military train were hurt. On the passenger train one of the train hands was hurt. None of the passengers were injured. The conductor of the military train is held responsible for the accident, as he was running on the express train's time. He has disappeared. A large number of cavalry horses were killed.

A MANITOBA STORY.

A Camp in the Northwest Said to Have Been Attacked and Many Indians Killed and Eaten.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 27.—The following letter was received to-day from Settee, Indian missionary at Dynevor: "James Sinclair, Indian councillor of Jackhead, Lake Winnipeg, brings in a report that camps of Indians hunting on the east side of Lake Winnipeg, not very far from Bloodvein River, near Dogbead, was visited by a band of wolves, about 100 in number, who attacked the camps and killed many Indians and devoured them. One Indian cudgeled and killed 20 wolves. Another Indian climbed up a tree with his gun and shot down 20 wolves. One Indian mounted a stage which was not very high and the wolves got him down and devoured him. There is therefore a great panic among the Indians in that quarter. Indians say there are no deer, consequently the wolves are mad with hunger."

FROM THE SOUDAN.

In a Skirmish with Rebel Derrishes a Number Are Killed.

SUAKIM, Jan. 27.—Egyptian infantry and cavalry to-day captured Handoub from the rebels. The Governor of Suakim, who commanded the Egyptians, then returned here with most of his troops, leaving behind one battalion as a garrison. The captured rebels will be subjected to severe treatment. If Egypt holds Handoub and also takes Tokar the interior trade will be revived. A band of dervishes and their followers in a raid captured some cattle near Suakim to-day, but Egyptian cavalry pursued them and recaptured the cattle after some skirmishing. They also captured 40 rebels. Two Egyptians were killed. The rebels' loss in killed is unknown.

MR. WARDEN ELMHIRST.

The EXAMINER joins with the numerous friends of Mr. Frank Elmhirst—for his hearty, jovial and honest manner makes him friends wherever he goes—in extending the heartiest congratulations upon his elevation to the highest elective position in the gift of the county council. Mr. Elmhirst will, we have no doubt, fill the duties of the position with credit to himself, as well as to the interests of the county and of the constituency he represents, for he has had an experience to amply fit him for the practical discharge of the varied duties of the position. Mr. Elmhirst is a thorough Canadian of English extraction. He was born in the township of Otonabee, and settled in the township of Anstruther, lot 26, in the 10th concession, twenty years ago, and with all the vigour of his young manhood, attacked the forest and wrested a well-tilled farm from its wooded depths. He has varied the monotony of farming by engaging in both the saw mill and grist mill business. For the past nineteen years Mr. Elmhirst has had municipal experience, entering the council of Burleigh, etc. After four years he resigned his seat in the council and retired for a time from municipal politics. In 1883 he was elected reeve of the township, a position he has held since that time. On three occasions he has has had opposition at his election, and six times he was elected by acclamation—a circumstance indicating a precedent for his election to the Wardenship by the same means. Mr. Elmhirst has been a member of the most important committees of the County Council, and here his best work was put in, his sterling good sense and practical knowledge of details of municipal matters, were brought to bear with the most beneficial results. Mr. Elmhirst is a staunch Liberal in political principle, but in municipal politics his first thought is for the advantage of his township and the county of which it forms a part. How well and faithfully he worked for its interests is shown by the fact that when he entered the County Council in 1883 the township debt of Burleigh was nearly $3 000, and now the township is not only out of debt, but, when the taxes of 1890 shall have been paid, the township of Burleigh will, like the Province of Ontario, have a substantial surplus to its credit. This improvement in the financial affairs of Burleigh, etc., has not been accomplished by obscene paring parsimony, for every interest of the township has been faithfully looked after, and no reasonable expenditure has been neglected. The EXAMINER wishes Mr. Elmhirst a prosperous year as warden, and feels sure that he will be successful in discharging the duties of the position faithfully and efficiently.

Protection in England.

It is the privilege of a member of the English House of Commons to question the Government in regard to any matter which he desires to bring before the attention of the public without much regard to whether the Government is likely to be able to give any information of any value on the subject or no. There has been a good deal of talk in Great Britain of certain manufacturing firms removing their works to the United States, because of the working of the McKinley Tariff Act, and Mr. Vincent has questioned the Government respecting the reported intentions of these firms. Mr. Howard Vincent is a jack-of-all trades. He has been a soldier, a lawyer, a special correspondent, an editor and a chief of the detective system in turn. It is by no means strange that a man who has had such a varied career and has had no time to give to the study of political economy should be the leader of that very insignificant section of the Conservative party of Great Britain, which believes in protection. Mr. Vincent's object in questioning the Government in regard to this alleged exodus of British trade, which, it is to be noted, has not yet taken place, but is only talked of, is to urge upon the Government the necessity of taking measures to protect British manufactures. It is not easy from Mr. Vincent's own standpoint to see how the British Government is to take measures to protect British trade if that trade is, as Mr. Vincent evidently believes, at the mercy of foreign Governments which are determined to kill it. It is clear that the British Government cannot prevent the United States Government from passing protective tariffs, and it is equally obvious that if British cutlers and woollen manufacturers must, in order to prosper, have the American market open to them, the British Government is powerless to protect them if the American Government is determined to close those markets to them. It is just possible that Mr. Vincent is less solicitous about the welfare of the manufacturers of Great Britain than about the interests of the agriculturists. He would protect the British manufacturer from American competition by compelling them to pay higher wages to their workingmen in Great Britain in order that the workingmen might be enabled to pay higher prices for their food, which he would compel them to buy at higher prices from British agriculturists, who would be protected from American competition by the same high protective duties which Mr. Vincent thinks the American Government is using as a means of killing the Sheffield and Bradford trades. We can see how this would help the agriculturists for a time perhaps, but how it is to benefit the already distressed manufacturers is not clear. That the Sheffield and Bradford manufacturers should find it profitable to establish branches of their factories in the United States under the present tariff, which is squeezing their capital out of the American farmers for the benefit of the manufacturers, is not conceivable. But it is a policy which no country, however wealthy, can long maintain, and American farmers have already shown that they will not submit to extortion very much longer. French manufacturing firms, which were at first very much the loudest in their outcry against the McKinley tariff, have discovered that the tariff is not going to injure them as greatly as they supposed. It is not improbable that the English manufacturers will discover that they also have not been greatly injured. The falling off in the demand for all British goods upon which the McKinley tariff raised the duties was inevitable, in view of the large quantities of these goods which were imported in anticipation of the increased duties by American speculators and traders, anxious to profit by the enhanced prices caused by the tariff. As soon as these goods are worked off the demand for British goods will again increase. It yet remains to be seen whether any time will actually remove their works or even establish branches in the United States as a result of the McKinley tariff.—Witness.

A Warning to Mothers;

The great frequency with which pale, sallow and enfeebled girls are met now-a-days is cause for genuine alarm. The young girls of the present generation are not the healthy, robust, rosy lasses their mothers and grandmothers were before them. Their complexion is pale and sallow or waxy in appearance, and they are the victims of heart palpitation, ringing noises in the head, cold hands and feet, often fainting spells, racking head aches, backaches, shortness of breath, and other distressing symptoms. All these betoken chlorosis or anæmia—or in other words a watery or impoverished condition of the blood, which is thus unable to perform its normal functions, and unless speedily enriched with those natural remedies which give richness and redness to the blood corpuscles, organic disease and an early grave is the inevitable result. Is not this prospect sufficient to cause the gravest alarm? Mothers, are your daughters suffering from any of the symptoms indicated above, or from any of the irregularities incident to a critical period in their lives? If they are, as you value their lives do not delay in procuring a remedy that will save them. Delays in such cases are not only dangerous, but positively criminal. Dr. William's Pink Pills for Pale People is a remedy compounded especially to meet such cases. These pills are not a patent medicine, but a remedy prepared with the greatest care from the formula of an experienced physician, who has used it for years in his daily practice with unerring success. These pills are especially rich in those constituents which stimulate the blood and give it that rich, red color necessary to preserve health and life. They are in all cases a never-failing blood-builder and nerve tonic, acting upon the system in a natural manner and restoring health and strength to all who suffer from a watery or depraved condition of the blood or from any of those weaknesses peculiar to females. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price (50 cents a box) by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. 4w4d we

Makes the Weak Strong

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes

Worn Out

"Hood's Sarsaparilla restored me to good health. Indeed, I might say truthfully it saved my life. To one feeling tired and worn out I would earnestly recommend a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla." MRS. PHEBE MOSHER, 90 Brooks Street, East Boston, Mass.

HOW TO SAIL ON SKATES.

An Exhilarating Winter Sport and Instructions for Making the Outfit.

Not the least interesting of the sports of winter is sailing on skates. Any skater who has seen, or still more, felt the exhilarating pleasure of out-stripping on skates the fastest ice yacht, with no added danger to ordinary skating, will be glad to know a little about the means by which this is effected. The accompanying diagrams and instructions will enable skaters themselves to manufacture the necessary "rig" and to use it with accuracy and effect.

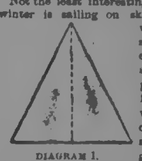

DIAGRAM 1.

The materials and the make are simplicity itself.

Fifty square feet of unbleached cotton. Atlantic "A," makes a sail of sufficient size for a man of ordinary hight. The mast should be made from cedar or other light wood, two inches in thickness at the centre and tapering to one and three-fourths of an inch at either end. For a mast of ten feet in length a sprit may be made the same length, and of the same material, one and three-fourths of an inch in diameter at the end against the mast, and tapering to one and one-fourth of an inch at the outer end. Through the centre of the mast bore a small hole, and into the larger end of the sprit insert an iron pin a trifle smaller than the hole in the mast. The sail is triangular in shape, and to cut accurately lay the mast on the floor, insert the sprit pin into the mast, laying the sprit also on the floor at a right angle to the mast. Then drive a nail lightly at each end of the mast and at the farther end of the sprit.

DIAGRAM 2. FORM AND POSITION OF SAIL.

Remove the mast and sprit, and by running a string around the nails the sail will appear as in diagram 1.

Draw the cloth under the strings in such a manner as to bring the selvage into position to form the leaches, allowing three-fourths of an inch for a hem, which is left open at each corner to insert the bolt rope (marline), which will serve to keep the sail flat. The cloth must be stitched through the centre, on a line with the sprit, where the pieces meet in a miter. The sail is tacked to the mast at the top and bottom and the clew fastened to the small end of the sprit, which is then pushed away at right angles to the mast until the pin will drop into the hole provided for it in the mast.

DIAGRAM 3. ON THE WIND, AS SEEN FROM THE WINDWARD.

In carrying, the mast is held upright, the sprit resting upon the windward shoulder, and the side of the sail opposite the sprit always presented to the wind (diagram 3). To go in stays the skater faces the wind, the sail is carried over the head, the hands grasping the mast, then inverted, and as the bearer fails away on a new tack the sprit is brought down upon the other shoulder and carried precisely as before (diagram 4). The skater is always in the lee of his sail (diagram 5), and in tacking holds mast alternately with right and left hand, leward member free. Reefing is unnecessary, since the sail may be allowed to shake and but partly fill. A beginner is cautioned to avoid collisions and to learn the poise of the sail in light winds, since in a high wind, if he stands too far "aft" the front sail will snap him around, much to his discomfort.

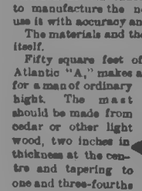

DIAGRAM 4—GOING IN STAYS.

On the other hand, standing too close to the mast will bring him into the wind unless averted by a continuous effort. Above all, the user of the skating sail must avoid shelly ice. The use of this sail, which is an improvement upon the Danish sail, (a kind of jib attached to a belt around the waist of the skater), will prove to the novice one of the most exciting pastimes in the category of winter sports. Other patterns of sail have their local partisans; some skaters indeed carrying two, but observation and experience both confirm me in the opinion that the form here indicated is the most effectual.—Outing.

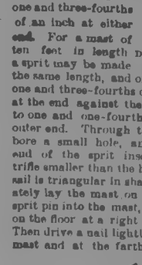

DIAGRAM 5. ON THE WIND, AS SEEN FROM THE LEEWARD.

Notorious Burglar Captured.

WOODSTOCK, Jan. 26.—Jim Butler, a notorious house-breaker, was arrested here Saturday night on a charge of escaping from Jackson, Mich., jail. Butler is a negro and 15 years ago escaped twice from Kingston Penitentiary. He is a powerful, active man and is a desperate character. Sheriff Boyle of Jackson arrived to-night to take him back.

A One-Handed Baby.

MARTINSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 26.—Mrs. Lewis Bailiff, who lives in the northwest part of the county, gave birth yesterday to a child with but one hand. Where the other hand should be there appears a perfect mole's head and one forepaw. Barring this freak the child is well formed and in healthy condition.

Dark is Dead.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 26.—The man Dark, who attempted suicide by throwing himself in front of a moving locomotive at Monmouth, Friday, died at the hospital here to-day from the effects of his injuries. He was unknown in the city, and nothing can be learned of his antecedents. Derangement of mind was the cause of the fatal act.

Will Try to Oust the Gentiles

OGDEN, Utah, Jan 26.—There is no little excitement here over the coming biennial election. The present gentile administration has made many enemies and there is a strong anti-ring feeling in the Liberal party, and a citizens party has been formed, who ignore the old party lines.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

The Age of Discovery.

What a Canadian Has Done to Relieve Suffering Humanity.

The civilized world has recently been deeply agitated over the announcement that Dr. Koch, an eminent German physician, had discovered a lymph for the cure of consumption. This discovery has been heralded throughout the world, and is looked upon as one of the greatest achievements of modern medical science. Of equal, if not greater importance, is a discovery made by a well-known Canadian druggist, which, while it does not pretend to cure consumption after the lungs have been affected, is offered with every confidence as a preventive of that disease. Medical testimony bears out the statement that more than two-thirds of the cases of consumption, occurring in this country annually, are of catarrhal origin. The trouble begins with a cold in the head, which the sufferer treats as a light matter, and too frequently neglects. This in time invariably develops into catarrh; the mucous membrane become thickened, inflamed and hardened, and there is a profuse discharge of watery and poisonous matter from the nostrils, or else the poisonous secretions become clogged and hardened. In either case the breath is inhaled over this poisonous matter, and produces baleful results. The inflammation gradually extends to the bronchial tubes, and thence to the lungs, which, already poisoned and weakened by the foul breath inhaled, are ripe for that dread disease—consumption, which ends in death. A remedy that will prevent these disastrous consequences must be regarded as a boon to mankind, and, as already stated, such a remedy has been discovered by a Canadian druggist. There is no case of cold in the head which it will not instantly relieve and permanently cure. Do not, for an instant, neglect a cold in the head, for by its prompt treatment, you will prevent its developing into catarrh—the second stage on the road to the grave. If, however, catarrh has already developed, the use of this great remedy will prove equally beneficial, as it affords speedy relief, and will effect a certain cure, even in the most aggravated cases, if persistently used. It removes the secretions, frees the clogged nostrils, and sweetens the breath, stops the inflammation and thus saves the lungs and prevents the disease developing into consumption. This great discovery is now and sold throughout the country under the name of Nasal Balm. It is a positive and certain cure, and the thousands of testimonials in the hands of its proprietors prove that it is all they claim for it. It is sold by all dealers, and every sufferer from cold in the head or catarrh should use it. 4w4 ws

Impracticable Theories.

Impracticable theories grow out of thought without knowledge or lack of conscience. The man who wishes to help the world must bear a part in the world's interests and occupations. Thought without knowledge and lack of conscience accounts in a large measure for the numerous patent nostrums which the public are requested to buy. The makers of these vile compounds do not for a moment think of the terrible after results of their hurtful remedies. The great discovery of Prof. Phelps, known as Paine's Celery Compound, was given to the sick and suffering only after years of profound thought, experiment and research. It was first used among the brave and suffering soldiers who fought for the abolition of negro slavery. Many hundreds of these brave men, from exposure, overwork, nervous debility, and great physical and mental strain, were almost helpless in hospital or on tent and field Paine's Celery Compound to them was life, strength, energy and new vigor. The grand preparation was afterwords given to the world generally, and has been the means of saving thousands of valuable lives. It is a true nerve and brain food for the weak, sleepless, overworked, brain-tired and dyspeptic victim. It brings new life, rest, peace, joy and contentment to all.

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam Balsam for coughs and colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The Large Bottles are 50c, and $1.00. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

A True Bill.

Keep Off The Chaps.

Wet wintry weather causes chapped hands, sore throat, croup, colds, pain in the chest, swellings, etc., for which a certain cure exists in Hagyard's Yellow Oil, the best pain expeller for internal or external use. NOTICE.

Nearly a month ago we made a general call on those who were doing business with us to send in their accounts in order that a settlement to the end of the year might be effected. While a great many have responded, there a few who have failed to present their contra accounts. These are again asked to send them in at once so that all accounts may be squared and adjusted.

We must again respectfully but firmly insist upon all accounts due the EXAMINER or Peterborough Bookstore being paid with as little delay as possible. We MUST keep faith with our creditors, and to do so it is imperative that those who are indebted to us should pay us promptly what is due. This reference is made to subscriptions as well as to accounts for goods.

It is absolutely necessary for business reasons that all outstanding accounts be settled by the First of February, 1891, and it is equally necessary that all accounts against us should be presented and settled. It would be very unpleasant to us to delegate the work of collecting any of our accounts to our solicitors, nevertheless ALL accounts to the 1st of January must be arranged within the shortest possible time.

The Drama.

"Fate" was put on at the opera house last night to a rather thin house. This is said to be the best play in the company's repertoire.

At the organization meeting of the Ashburnham school board all the members were present—Messrs. Calcutt, Ingram, Peck, Adams, Glover and Wright. Mr. Peck was elected chairman and Mr. Ingram secretary-treasurer. Board meetings are to be held the first Tuesday in each month, beginning in March.

Mr. Early is working on an order for about twenty of the groups.

A Poor Place for Spoil.

The Toronto World, speaking evidently from the standpoint of personal experience, thus refers to a Cobourg burglary:—"A burglar broke into the Cobourg World office the other night, and finding nothing that he could eat, wear, sell or otherwise use, departed as he came. As country printing offices are looked at night merely to keep out cattle, not to protect wealth, it is supposed the burglar was some half-witted foreigner."

Beat a Boy.

At the police court this morning "Detective" Tighe was charged with assaulting and beating a boy named Hiram Fredenburg. The boy was accused of stealing a comb from the valise of Tighe's best girl, but the lad repudiated the charge and called both Tighe and the girl liars. Thereupon Tighe took the law into his own hands and gave the boy a castigation. He was fined $2 and costs or 10 days in gaol, and given time to pay the money.

The Small Boy and the Pony.

The Hamilton Herald says: "The great show offered by Prof. Bristol, in his eques-curriculum, again drew a large audience to the Grand last evening. The cleverness of the horses and the funny antics of Denver caused surprise and laughter in equal measure. It passes understanding how such wonderful performances can be obtained from a band of horses and mules, but it is there and is greatly enjoyed by audiences. This afternoon there was a matinee performance at which the Small Boy was treated to a sumptuous free ride. There will be matinees on Friday and Saturday afternoons. At Bradburn's opera house Feb. 4th and 5th.

The Young Conservatives.

The annual meeting of the Young Men's Conservative Club, was held Tuesday night. The Young Conservatives are early in the field, for they realize that they will require all the time and labour at their disposal to bolster up their cause before the elections come off, and make the people think the Government ought to be supported. These officers were elected:

HONORARY PRESIDENT—James Stevenson, M.P.

PRESIDENT—R. M. Donnistoun.

FIRST VICE-PRESIDENT—S. R. Armstrong.

SECOND VICE-PRESIDENT—Arthur Stevenson.

SECRETARY-TREASURER—A. McNeil.

CHAIRMEN OF WARD COMMITTEES—No. 1, T. B. McGrath; No. 2 Geo. Stevenson, No. 3, W. S. Robinson; No. 4, Thos. Rutherford.

The Jubilee Singers.

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Ont. I.—The Fisk Tennessean Jubilie Singers were greeted with a crowded house at their concert here on Tuesday evening. Their singing is in every way worthy of praise, and the choruses and plantation melodies were deservedly appreciated, their voices all harmonizing in a most pleasing manner. Their rendering of the "Blue Danube Waltzes" as a chorus was one of the pleasing features of the evening, and received well-merited applause. Miss Lizzie Jenkins' solo, "Return," is worthy of special notice, her voice sounding especially sweet in the high notes. Miss Verina Gilliam exhibited considerable talent as an elocutionist, and her selections were well received. Mr. B. W. Jenkins convulsed his audience with his rendering of "A Hearty Good Laugh." Miss Jennie Gatewood's solo, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," was much appreciated, and in response to a hearty encore gave the old favorite, "Polly the Cows are in the Corn." They will give another concert here on Saturday, the 4th inst, with an entirely different programme.

At the Opera House Feb. 2nd. 1d

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

January Session of our County Legislators.

A Short Sitting—Standing Committees Appointed—An Industrial Farm.

SECOND DAY—WEDNESDAY.

At 10 o'clock this morning the council went into session, all the members present.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

After routine,

Mr. M. SANDERSON presented the report of the special committee to strike the standing committees, which was read as follows:

EQUALIZATION AND ASSESSMENT.—Messrs. Finlay, Maloney, Forster, Casement, Fitzpatrick, Stewart, Burnham, Cohen, Moore, Sanderson, Creegh and Kidd. Mr. Burnham, chairman.

Mr. Burnham moved, seconded by Mr. Kidd, that hereafter all committees appointed nominate their own chairman.

Mr. Casement moved, seconded by Mr. Burnham, that the clerk be instructed to prepare a return of all fines paid in by the County police magistrate during the year 1890, and also all Scott Act fines paid in since the last return.

AN INDUSTRIAL FARM.

Mr. Burnham, in bringing before the Council the question of a House of Refuge, referred to the cost of keeping vagrants in the gaol, which was very large, and the more vagrants the less the Government grant. He pointed out that by section 460 of the Municipal Act, a county was authorized to acquire real estate and make arrangements for the support of an industrial farm, and given power to municipalities to combine for the maintainance of such an institution. He also pointed out how unjust it was to make poverty a crime, and put the unfortunate in prison garb, and the Legislature had evidently taken the same view, for at the last session of the council an act had been passed authorizing the granting by the government of aid to such an industrial farm to the extent of not more than $4,000. These industrial farms had been conducted with great success in other counties. To put the matter in a practical shape, the following motion was submitted:

Moved by Mr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Casement,—That the Clerk lay upon the table of this council the presentment of the Grand Jury at the last assizes, all reports, papers and communications in regard to houses of refuge, and all reports heretofore made by committees of this Council upon the same subject, and that a committee be appointed to consider the question of establishing a house of refuge in this county, and that all such papers be laid before such committee who shall report at this session of the council, the committee to consist of Messrs. Sanderson, Moloney, Kidd, Stewart, Casement, Moore, Burnham, Finlay and McCaulay.—Carried.

Mr. J. Coyle Brown, Inspector of Public Schools for the county, read his annual report, which was referred to the Committee on Schools.

The report showed a fair condition of the county schools, some of them giving splendid results. The great difficulty was lack of permanent teachers.

In answer to a question by Mr. Moloney, the Inspector stated that the failure to provide registers for some of the schools was partly his fault, as he had supplied some and forgotten to supply others.

In answer to Mr. Moloney, the Inspector said the Government grants had been delayed by his (the Inspectors') failure to send earlier the returns upon which the appropriations were based.

The Noble Red Men of the North-West.

What the Church of England is Doing for the Indians of the North-West—Their Claims for Consideration Specially Urgent.

A small audience, composed almost entirely of ladies, assembled in the school room of St. John's Church Tuesday evening, when Miss Patterson, of Toronto, Dorcas Secretary of the Women's Auxiliary of the Church of England, gave an address upon the Indian missions in the North-West. The 28th of June last Miss Patterson and Mrs. Cumming left Toronto and spent three months among the mission fields of Manitoba, British Columbia and the North-West. Miss Patterson's account of their travels was well worth listening to, and had for its object the rousing of practical interest in the missions among the members of the church. She described her visits to the different reservations and pointed out the good work which was being done by the missionaries. Churches and schools had been established, the latter being very effective in teaching the Indian children the English language and all sorts of useful occupations, while inculcating the principles of Christianity. It was surprising, she said, the intelligence and industry manifested by the Indian pupils, who learned quickly and willingly. The older Indians also took an interest in the services of worship and sang the hymns heartily. Miss Patterson described some of the curious customs and superstitious ideas to which the Indians cling—their dances, costumes, etc. She took it as an evidence of the among the Indians that this year for the first time the awful torture dance had not been held. The different tribes, Sioux, Crees, Blackfeet, Objibaways, Piejans, etc.,—all had their missions, but there was a great demand for more schools and churches amongst them. The Indian was almost childlike in his innocence, yet his observation was penetrating. Their vices were brought out by wicked white men, and sometimes when they were told to be good and listened to, they said: "You pale faces say very good, but why don't you do what you say?" Miss Patterson thought that the visit of herself and friend would at least have a good effect in showing the Indians that the white people of Canada were interested in their welfare and intended to help them. This would make them more tractable and ready to receive the Gospel. While in British Columbia the ladies saw many Chinese, who are all heathens. Some of the churches were working among them, but the speaker hoped the Church of England would also soon be able to establish a Chinese mission. Their trip through the great western country, she said, was spiced with considerable danger in fording streams and climbing mountains. The Indians had special claims upon the white race, who had taken away their land and their means of support (the buffalo), and while all branches of the missionary work required aid, the Indian mission was on this account particularly deserving.

At the conclusion of the address the thanks of the meeting were tendered Miss Patterson by Rev. Mr. Kenrick, who presided as chairman. A hymn was sung and the gathering dispersed.

Hiawatha.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A very successful missionary meeting was held at the Indian mission church, Hiawatha, on Monday night. There was a large attendance, and the chair was occupied by the son of chief Peadash, whose ancestors gave name to the lake of that name. High class music was furnished by the choir of the church, and Rev. S. J. Shorey's address, upon the subject of the ultimate triumph of the Gospel, was listened to with close attention.

Springville.

(From a Correspondent)

One of the most important events of recent date is the purchase, by Mr. Joseph Tully, of the general store business of Mr. A. Goodfellow, of Springville, and with his accustomed energy has taken hold of the business with both hands. He has refitted the shop to enable it better to meet the requirements of the increased stock and increased trade that this will bring. He has made very large additions to the stock, and now the shelves of his shop contain a large and well assorted stock, consisting of dry goods, groceries, boots and shoes, school books, etc. His stock will be found to be new and fresh, and what is very important to the people of this district, as cheap for cash as any of the goods can be purchased in the Peterborough market. It is to be hoped that Mr. Tully's well-directed efforts to meet the wants of the public of Springville and vicinity will receive hearty appreciation, and the liberal patronage he deserves. The public should remember that a re-fitted shop, increased and renewed stock, and a general improvement of the business will be given them—public accommodations which they should not be slow to appreciate.

FORESTERS' ENTERTAINMENT.

The Foresters of Court Springville, No. 274, though young in experience seem to know how to carry on things with a swing, and reach success. They had a most delightful and successful entertainment last night. It consisted of an afternoon tea and concert as night. A splendid tea served by the ladies of the neighborhood was served in Goodfellows Hall, and it is estimated that about 400 were taken in and fed. The ladies deserve great credit for the fine spread provided, and the public for their hearty and liberal appreciation of it.

After the public hunger had been appeased, adjournment was made to the drill shed which was well filled. Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P. occupied the chair, and on the platform with him were Mr. H. Nesbitt, D. D. H. C. R., Peterborough, Mr. A. Carpenter, C. R., Court Peterborough; Dr. Fisher, Court Baillieboro, and Mr. J. R. Walker, C. R., Court Springville.

The following programme was very creditably presented. Opening selection by the North Monaghan brass band; address of the chairman upon the objects and aims of Foresters; solo by Mr. Steer; reading by Miss Brown; solo by Mr. Hazel; song, Miss Moyes, Peterborough, recitation, Mr. Hooper; duet, Master and Miss Turner; song, Mr. J. J. Turner; song, Mr. J. Turner, jr.; recitation, Miss Fair; selection by band; dialogue, several young ladies; cornet solo by Mr. Williamson. This programme was greatly enjoyed, nearly every number being encored. Special mention should be made of the North Monaghan brass band, which made its first appearance and deserves to be warmly congratulated upon their efficiency and progress.

At the conclusion of the entertainment Mr. J. L. Welton, Chief Ranger, thanked the ladies who had taken part in the programme and those who had otherwise assisted, and in fact all those who had contributed to the fine success the entertainment proved to be.

An Open Letter.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—In the last issue of the Weekly Review, Peterborough, dated 23rd inst., there appeared among the Young's Point items a very bold criticism on the work performed last fall by me, as an agent under the Ontario Government. I therefore beg leave to submit the following:

First, the correspondent of the Review gives the statements contained therein not as his own but on the authority of Robert Freeborn, and further vests that gentleman with the power of presenting recommendations to the township council. Really, Mr. Freeborn should feel exalted, and if he was not a man of the good common-sense, I gladly acknowledge he owns, such affected praise might unsettle him.

Second, as to the road it speaks for itself, and as it passed the inspection of competent men who were appointed I am fully satisfied with their decision. These men considered not the immediate benefit to be derived, but accepted the work performed because of the efforts used to make it a durable affair. kindly ask the correspondent to do me justice by passing an impartial comment on the road, next summer or even in the spring.

Again, he hints about "a nice little sum" and "plums." I here request him to make out a report of work done for the money expended, present it to you for publication, and then call on the public for a fair judgment. If he makes out a good report we will have to give him a bite of the plum next time.

As to this switch business, it would be a small matter for the Dominion Government to at least place a finger-board at the foot of the hill for the purpose of pointing out to persons not quick at discerning, that the old road is being travelled at present, on account of the icy state of the roads.

Trusting to hear further from the worthy correspondent of the Review at Young's Point, and thanking you for the space you have afforded me, I remain, sir,

Yours respectfully,

STEPHEN NICHOLLS.

License Inspectorship of East Peterborough.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR.—I have been informed that the rumour is in circulation that Mr. Wm. Maher, of Douro, was an unsuccessful applicant for the Inspectorship of East Peterborough, made vacant by the death of Wm. Darling, Esq. I have to say that as far as I know (and I think I would be sure to know) he was not an applicant for the position, and consequently it could not have been refused him.

Dreadful Psoriasis.

Covering Entire Body with White Scales. Suffering Fearful. Cured by Cuticura.

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nose and finally covering my face. It ran into my eyes and my physician was afraid I would lose my eyesight altogether. It spread all over my body and my hair all fell out, until I was entirely bald-headed; it then broke out on my arms and shoulders, until my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, head, and shoulders being the worst. The white scales fell constantly from my head, shoulders and arms; the skin would thicken and be red and very itchy, and would crack and bleed if scratched. After spending many hundreds of dollars, I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using two bottles CUTICURA RESOLVENT, I could see a change; and after I had taken four bottles, I was almost cured; and when I had used SIX bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered for five years. I cannot express with a pen what I suffered before using the REMEDIES. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to recommend them. My hair is restored as good as ever, and as to my eyesight.

SINGLE TAX

Is now the question of the hour; but to those in need of Ordered or Ready-made Clothing, single profits ought to be a subject of greater importance. Yearly importing all our principal lines, we save you the profits of the wholesale men, and you have thus one single profit to pay. That profit is not a large one, and has been made still smaller, as we are determined each and every article of Winter Clothing must go, to make way for Spring Goods. Each and every department has been visited and all goods have been reduced. Don't you buy a dollar's worth of clothing until you have looked us over. Take into consideration that we are selling First Class Goods with but a single profit, and that it is no trouble to show goods, whether you wish to buy or not.

BUT ONE MAN LEFT TO TELL THE TALE.

A Shocking Scene of Wreck and Ruin—78 of the Bodies Now Identified, the Others Being Mangled Beyond Recognition—The Unfortunate Miners Caught Like Rats in a Trap.

YOUNGWOOD, Pa., Jan. 26.—When the volunteers entered the exploded mine yesterday, a sight impossible to picture met them. Bank cars, mules and more terrible than all, men were piled in a compact mass against the ribs or wall of coal, and not a living thing was in the wreckage. It was almost as solid as the coal itself, so terrific was the explosion. This obstruction was removed with difficulty, and they then entered a chamber of horrors. The first object they discovered after leaving the main entrance was the leg of a man. Further on they found a human head, but nowhere in sight was the trunk that had borne it but a few minutes before. After walking a distance surrounded by dangers unseen, but more terrible than can be imagined, they found the trunk. The ragged neck with the blood oozing from it told the story of the appalling disaster. Working their way in, the band found the bodies strewn along the gangway. One unfortunate met death while on his knees in prayer with his hands clasped and his eyes upturned. His body was found in this position. The services of physicians were not needed, for every man in the headings where the explosion occurred was killed. Dead bodies were brought up every few minutes and the crowd at the shaft mouth simply fell back to allow the men carrying the stretchers room to pass. Every corpse was covered and no one even ventured to enquire whose body it was, for they knew every one in that part of the mine was dead.

Every five minutes a corpse would be brought to the surface, and it would pass through the line of watchers without comment save the expression "another one." A noticeable feature of the crowd at the shaft was the absence of women. They had returned to their little whitewashed homes, for they knew all hope was gone.

Superintendent Keighby said: "No man living knows the cause of the accident, and it will never be known for a certainty. No safety lamps were used. I do not know whether or not the fire boss did his duty, but let us be charitable enough to hope he did.'

Superintendent Lynch said the Mammoth mine was long thought to be the safest mine of the 29 operated by the Frick Company. Mr. Lynch thought it possible that in drawing the ribs or pillars some miner had tapped gas. All lights were open and the gas was an unexpected thing.

One hundred and ten men were employed in that part of the mine in which the explosion occurred and not one was left to tell the story of the disaster. While some of the bodies are horribly torn, burned and mutilated, others were found with their teeth clinched on the iron rail of the pit road. Others were found with faces plunged into the water, and not a few found upon their knees, as if engaged in prayer.

Fire Boss Sneath was identified by his gum boots. His body was scattered about in a dozen places. His head was torn from his shoulders. Both legs were torn off and that part of his body recovered was roasted and blackened. His left hand, clutching his amp, was found over 100 feet from the trunk of his body.

One of his gum boots was found 50 yards away. One of his feet, with part of a leg attached, was found also. When the parts of his body were collected and sent in a sheet to the pit mouth they were identified by an engineer recognizing the boots.

There is little information regarding the horror. Everybody in the pit was killed. The position of their bodies told the story of their end. The force of the explosion was felt for miles around and caused a panic among the pupils in the township school house nearly a mile away. The men employed in Mammoth shaft No. 2, separated by 100 acres of coal, felt the shock and were the first to sound the alarm.

One hundred and ten bodies have been recovered, and of these 78 have been identified.

Twenty years ago Henry Clay Frick, owner of the mine and "King of the Connellsville Coke Regions," was the youthful bookkeeper of a Bradford, Pa., flouring mill and distillery. He began by taking a small interest in some valuable coal property near the town, and in company with others built 50 ovens. Soon the capacity of the modest plant was doubled, and when the panic of 1873 came the partners had 200 ovens. His partners got into difficulties and he bought them out, and from that time he kept on buying, building and leasing ovens, despite the wiseacres who wagged their heads over his rashness. When the boom in coke came the yearly profits of his leased works were more than the value of the works themselves.

In 1878 he sold an interest to E. M. Ferguson of New York City, and the firm of H. C. Frick & Co. was formed. Mr. Frick is able to absolutely control the coke market of America. His concern owns 8000 of the 13,000 ovens in the territory. Mr. Frick is said to be worth between ten and twelve million dollars.

M'CARTHY'S PECULIAR ADDRESS AT MANCHESTER.

Mrs. O'Shea Reported to Be Seriously Ill—Riot at a Meeting of the Nationalists at Belfast—The Awful Crime of Two Gendarmes.

MANCHESTER, Jan. 28.—Justin McCarthy in a speech to-day said he did not desire to underrate the magnitude of the trouble that had befallen Ireland, but it need not concern the English people. It would pass away, and though there might still be recriminations amongst Irish peomembers he did not believe in the lasting of any quarrel that had not roots in some real and genuine principle. Mr. McCarthy said they must be patient and hopeful and work as if nothing had happened and support the National League to the utmost of their power. He still had hopes of a speedy reunion. If they failed to reach an agreement the Irish people had better seek another Parliamentary party, but Home Rule was safe with Gladstone and the English democracy.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Chancellor of the Exchequer Goschen in an address before the Chamber of Commerce at Leeds to-day said the change in foreign tariffs ought not to disconcert enterprise. There should be no scolding or complaining at foreign countries. In view of the danger of foreign tariffs, employers and workingmen ought to avoid quarrels. They could maintain British commercial supremacy throughout the world. The speaker expected the next budget would disclose continued prosperity in the affairs of the nation. There would not, however, he said, be much reason for congratulation if he was again obliged to chronicle an increase in the consumption of alcohols.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Sir John Pope Hennessy's singular conduct in the House last week in voting with the Conservatives against the McCarthyites, whose candidate he was, has excited the ire of Michael Davitt, who claims the credit of seating the new member for North Kilkenny and now calls on him to retire.

Sir John's present attempt to assert his independence has turned the tables on Davitt, as it is now well-known that the Kilkenny contest was decided by the successful capturing of the miners of Castlecomer. He now bitterly repents this piece of strategy.

Mrs. O'Shea is very ill, in consequence of which the order of the court, giving the custody of the children to Capt. O'Shea, has not yet been carried out.

Parnell spent part of Monday examining the mines on his Wicklow property.

Mr. Schnadorst, speaking at Walsall, England, yesterday, said that the Liberal party had made and intended to make no change whatever as to its purpose to give Ireland Home Rule. If the new National party which Chamberlain proposed should be formed it would simply be a Tory party.

DUBLIN, Jan. 28.—Mr. Parnell will speak at Ennis Sunday next.

A meeting of Mr. Sexton's supporters was held in Belfast to-day. The proceedings were characterized by extreme disorder. Mr. Sexton was not present. Many Healyite members of Parliament were in attendance. Parnellite opponents of the Sexton crowd were forcibly driven from the platform, some of them falling down over a dozen steps. The speakers were continually interrupted with hisses and shouts of dissent. A vote of confidence in Mr. Sexton was adopted by a large majority.

Reporters are excluded from the meeting. A mob outside the hall was frequently charged by the police.

The Daily News declares the rumors of the retirement of Gladstone are without foundation.

Each section of the Irish parliamentary party will move a separate amendment to the Irish land bill.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Parnell's Waterford speech has provoked great indignation among the Liberals, who consider that it was personally insulting to Mr. Gladstone. McCarthy and Sextou were both in Parliament yesterday, but they declined to communicate anything with regard to the result of the Boulogne conference. Mr. Morley is expected to bring on his motion to-day, and it is believed that a day will be fixed for its discussion early next week. The Radicals already have five pages of amendments to the Government Land bill down on the paper, and will make a hot debate.

The Dead Prince in His Coffin.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 28.—The body of the late Prince Baudouin was laid in the coffin this evening. The Countess of Flanders remained bathed in tears before the body until the last moment. The Countess placed a lace handkerchief upon the face of her dead son. The Princess Henriette is now out of danger. At 10 o'clock this morning the sad news of the death of her brother was broken to her.

For Libelling the Kaiser.

LONDON, Jan. 28—From Berlin comes the news that another German-American is in toils for failing to pay due respect to His Imperial Majesty the Kaiser. The man's name is Hangarter, and he was arrested for language used in a hotel at Waldshut, a town on the Upper Rhine, near Baden.

AND STILL NO CLUE

TO THE MURDERERS OF TREASURER HESLOP.

Many Reports, but No Authentic Information—Believed to Have Been Residents of the Locality—A Government Detective is Investigating the Matter.

HAMILTON, Jan. 28.—Up to the hour of writing there is positively not the slightest clue to the identity of the masked burglars who killed Treasurer Heslop of Ancaster early yesterday morning, and the prospects of bringing the murderers to justice seem to be slim. The clues left behind do not amount to much and give the officers very little data to work upon; the way the case was handled in its early stages by the country authorities did much to spoil the chances of an early apprehension of the men.

There is a strong doubt arising that the murderers did not come to Hamilton, but remained in the vicinity of the village. The keeper of the King-street tollgate is positive that no rig went through there between 2 and 6 in the morning, as she would have heard it, and moreover there was no mark of wheels on the new-fallen snow when she got up. As it was a market day the farmers were moving early, and as it was after daylight before the county constables followed the tracks into the city the chances are that it was a market wagon they trailed. The keeper of the York-street tollgate, through which the men would have gone if they desired to go to Toronto, did not hear anyone going through at an early hour. James Parkyn, the keeper of the other gate near Bayview, heard two men in a rig go through at 3 a.m., and he fixed the time by the fact that the noise they made awakened him and he got up to wind the clock.

Belonged to the Neighborhood.

Chief McKinnon yesterday got the names of every person who had taken a horse from any livery in this city and knew exactly where those horses had gone, at what time they went and when they returned. Another important fact also shows that the horse was not from a Hamilton livery stable. It had a large foot—much larger than that of any livery horse, and was a heavy animal, probably a farm horse. The prints of the animal's feet in the snow show a large shoe, about a No. 5, and one that does not correspond with the prints, which were tracked for a considerable distance and which were thought to be those of the horse which the murderers drove.

There is a general theory in the neighborhood that the deed was committed by some one familiar to Mr. Heslop and who was well acquainted with the house. The belief is that when Mr. Heslop went out with the chair and commenced fighting he in some way discovered the identity of his assailants, and that the talking heard by Mrs. Heslop just before the shot was her husband accusing the masked men. Knowing that their identity was discovered the man, to save himself and his companion and to close the mouth of the only witness against him, fired the fatal shot.

Is This a Clue?

A story has come to the ears of the coroner which may give a clue on which to work. It was to the effect that a man named George Griffin, who had formerly worked around the Asylum for the Insane, a man of about 30 years, son of an Ancaster horse doctor, had said that a couple of weeks ago two men struck the village and said they were sent to hunt for an illicit still supposed to be in operation in the vicinity of the Heslop farm, though not on it. Griffin's story is that the men, one of whom was a tall man and wore dark clothes, and the other, a comparatively short fellow, after making a visit to the Heslop farm and surroundings on what purported to be a search for the still, proposed to Griffin that they should "go through" Heslop. Griffin, it is said, drew the conclusion that the two men had concocted the illicit still yarn as an excuse to acquaint themselves with the locality. This story did not get afloat until late last night, and it was then too late to give it to the police, but it was communicated to-day.

A Remarkable Dream.

Among the visitors at the Heslop house yesterday was Rev. W. R. Clarke, Anglican clergyman in Ancaster, of whose church the late Mr. Heslop was an esteemed member for many years. Rev. Mr. Clarke is not a dreamer of dreams as a rule, in fact he is noted as a remarkably energetic and practical gentleman. On the night of the murder, however, he had a remarkable dream. He had been at a meeting in Hamilton with Mr. Kerrick of Ancaster, and they returned at midnight feeling very tired. He went to bed and fell into a sound sleep, but dreamed that he was engaged in a struggle with a burglar, and after a terrible fight he overcame the man and tied him up. He discovered then that the burglar was a young man in the village who bears a bad character, and just as he was about to hand him over to justice the clergyman awoke. The dream made such an impression on him that he got up to see that the doors were secured, and found he had left the front door open. On looking at the clock it was exactly 2 a.m.—the hour of the murder.

An Old Crime Revived.

The murder of Mr. Heslop revives an old crime, which was committed in Ancaster about eighteen months ago. The residence of Mrs. Travis, an old lady who lived about near Alberton, was broken into by masked burglars. They bound the old lady, maltreated her and tortured her cruelly in trying to force her to tell where the money was hidden. The plucky old woman refused to tell, and the burglars clubbed her, and left her unconscious in the house, where she remained for many hours before she was found by neighbors. The perpetrators of this crime were never captured. A month after she died from the effects of the injuries she received at the hands of the burglars.

The Inquest.

The Crown Attorney ordered an inquest yesterday afternoon. Dr. Anderson of Hamilton and Dr. Richardson of Ancaster conducted the post mortem.

Dr. James Anderson said that the bullet entered about three inches to the right of the left nipple and in a line with it. The bullet traversed the interior of the body in a slanting direction and lodged two inches to the right of the spinal column. In its course it cut the ascending aorta, or large artery, from the heart to the brain, so that death was likely instantaneous. He was not able to find the bullet. There was a burned mark on the right breast three inches from the wound, caused by the shirt burning. The shot must have been fired by some person standing a little to the left and lower down than where the deceased was standing when shot.

The inquest was then adjourned until Tuesday.

A CLEVER TRICK.

By Means of Which a Smuggler Saved Fifty Dollars.

BUFFALO, Jan. 28.—MARY Whitson, a pretty Canadian girl aged 19, arrived here yesterday from Toronto. She had an experience on route which is likely to be long remembered, as it led to her arrest on her arrival in this city. While crossing Suspension Bridge she was taken with a fainting fit. One of the male passengers rushed up to her and placed an elegant sealskin sack around her shoulders. The customs authorities, when they went through the train, noticed the sealskin, but thinking it was the personal property of Miss Whitson, paid no attention to it. At Niagara Falls the real owner of the article told the girl that he was going to Buffalo on another road and took the cape. By the clever smuggling act he saved $50 which rightly belonged to the Government. When Miss Whitson explained her side of the case Commissioner Hirschbeck promptly acquitted her.

Ordered to Chili.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—The French squadron cruising in the waters of New Zealand has been ordered to Chili.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

THE CUBAN REVOLUTION.

Successes of the Rebels and Despera Straits of President Balmaceda.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—Despatches received in this city from Chili via Buenos Ayres bring further particulars concerning the revolution in Chili. The rebel Chilian war vessels occupied the roadstead at Porto Coquimbo on a day not specified. The war vessels also fired shots into the town, probably at the troops defending the coal depots. Troops from Valparaiso are occupying La Serena in force. Coquimbo, or Porto Coquimbo, it may be stated, is some distance by rail from La Serena or Coquimbo City. The Balmaceda troops were quartered in the hospital and schools of La Serena and are supposed to have been driven out of Port Coquimbo.

The insurgents have blockaded Tongoy, on Tongoy Bay, about 30 miles from Coquimbo. Tongoy is connected by rail with Tamay and Ovalle, the latter town being in turn connected by railroad with Coquimbo. Torbenallie is also announced to be blockaded by the rebel forces. Three thousand government troops have been sent to reinforce the garrison at Tongoy. Later advices state that it is reported that a battle has been fought at Tongoy. The rebels have occupied Limache Alto, a town only 25 miles from Valparaiso. At Limache Alto the rebel forces took possession of the national factories and expelled the director and adherents of President Balmaceda from the town. The rebels have also occupied Quillota, in the province of Valparaiso, 50 miles from Santiago, on the Aconcagua, 20 miles from the Pacific.

The property of foreign residents is suffering considerably from the rebellion in spite of the efforts of the representatives of foreign powers to protect the interests of the various countries they represent. The action of the diplomatic representatives has been so discouraging to those officials that they have formally informed the Chilian Government that they will embark on board the vessels of the fleets of the foreign powers if the conflict continues. President Balmaceda, in reply, has asked the Ministers and Consuls to delay taking any action for a few days, as he hopes to be able to suppress the rebellion within that time.

Wiman Interviewed.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Jan. 28.—Erastus Wiman, who is here attending the meeting of the Western Salt Association, said: "The threatened sudden dissolution of the Canadian Parliament would greatly help the passage in Congress of an invitation to reciprocity. The idea of Sir Charles Tupper negotiating a treaty is absurd, for the question is not one of diplomacy, but one of legislation completely out of the hands of Mr. Blaine. Hence the recommendation of the House Committee of Foreign Affairs in the Hitt resolution was the first essential step toward better relations. It was certain to become law, for there was a great desire to ascertain the real sentiment of the people of Canada toward the United States. Therefore the Tory party were likely to go into the contest with the Foster tariff and McKinley bill as its logical outcome as the basis of their claim to return to power, while on the other hand the Liberal party would have in their hands the offer of an unrestricted trade with the best market under the sun in which to sell and in which to buy. The outcome of an electoral contest to decide a question so momentous would be watched with interest by the world, and by no people so narrowly as by the English Nation, who, if her votes would decide the question, would quickly avail themselves of the American market."

The Belgian Dynasty's Fatal Month.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The Queen of the Belgians inherited in no small degree the superstitious feelings of her Hapsburg ancestors, who believed so implicitly in the "White Lady of Hapsburg." She regards January as the unlucky month of her husband's dynasty, and always passes through it with fear and trembling. It was in January that she lost her only son; in January the husband of her second daughter was murdered in January, 1890, all her personal souvenirs were buried in the fire at Laeken, and now, in January, 1891, she loses her nephew Baudouin. In January, also, she saved her sister-in-law, ex-Empress Charlotte, from the conflagration that consumed Tervueren Palace.

A Fire Attributed to the Strikers.

GLASGOW, Jan. 28.—The station of the Caledonian Railroad at Calderbank has been destroyed by fire. The police and the railroad officials say they have no doubt that the fire was the work of an incendiary. Strikers are suspected of having instigated the crime and a number of arrests are contemplated.

The police and scores of private detectives are busily at work hunting for the rascals who attempted to blow up the gasworks here about 10 days ago. The detectives are stimulated in their efforts by a reward of $5000 which has been offered for the detection of the offenders.

The strikers are yielding everywhere and the lines are now working well.

Mysterious Suicide in France.

TOULON, Jan. 28.—Draguignan, the capital of the Var, where the trial of the persons concerned in the Toulon scandal took place the other day, has just had a new sensation in the form of a mysterious suicide of a well-known notary and accountant, who disappeared about a fortnight ago, and has been vainly searched for in every direction by his anxious relatives. His body was discovered to-day in a house in the country, not far from Draguignan. He had been dead for 13 days and had left a note explaining that he asphyxiated himself on account of pecuniary difficulties.

Brought Leprosy to America.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—A despatch from Odessa says that considerable alarm exists over the growing prevalence of leprosy among the poorer classes of Russians and Russian Jews. The authorities, instead of moving to stamp out the disease, have done all they could to stifle information on the subject. Now, however, they have themselves taken alarm and steps are proposed to isolate those afflicted.

It is believed that some of the emigrants to America have carried leprosy with them, as most of the emigrants belong to the poor and uncleanly class, among whom the disease finds its victims.

A Millionaire Pugilist.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—There was a sensational scene in the Nevada Bank yesterday afternoon. Millionaire John W. Mackey stalked into President Hellman's room, and knocked down C. W. Banvinge, his confidential agent. The men were separated before either could draw a revolver. Banvinge came from England several years ago, and has been Mackey's chief business man here ever since. Hellman recently took charge of the Nevada Bank, and it is reported Banvinge played Mackey false in a recent deal.

Burglar Captured.

BRANTFORD, Jan. 27.—On Sunday morning about 2 o'clock Isaac Lundy's house at Wilsonville was broken into and $80 in cash stolen. William Lawrence, a traveling pedlar, was arrested to-day and $33.50 was found in his possession. The money has been traced all but about $13.

No More Sunday Meetings.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Mr. Parnell has intimated to Justin McCarthy his acceptance of an agreement that neither section of Irish party shall hold Sunday meetings in Ireland for the present. This step is due to the advice of William O'Brien.

Crushed by the Cars.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 27.—While coupling cars at Moosomin to-day K. H. Skinner slipped and fell and was crushed between the cars. His injuries will probably prove fatal.

ON SOAP,
IN RELATION TO THE COMPLEXION.
FROM AN ARTICLE BY
Dr. ANDREW WILSON, F.R.S.E.,
Lecturer on Physiology and Health under the "Combe Trust," Editor of "Health."

"One important caution should be given, and that is concerning the use of soaps. I would strongly advise all who care for their skin to eschew the use of common soap, which simply roughens and injures the skin, and, if you will be advised by me, I would say never buy those artificially coloured and odoriferous abominations commonly sold under the name of 'Scented' or 'Fancy Soaps' which are the frequent causes of skin eruptions. If I am prepared to recommend any one soap to you, as a satisfactory and scientifically prepared article, I would certainly advise you to buy and use 'Pears' Soap.' Not merely from personal use can I recommend this soap, but I am well content to shelter myself under the names and authority of the late Sir Erasmus Wilson, F.R.S., President of the Royal College of Surgeons; of Doctor Stevenson Macadam, or of Professors Redwood and Attfield, the eminent analytical and chemical lecturers at the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain, who testify to its entire purity. Furthermore, I believe it to be very economical, for it contains no free water, and in this respect differs from all other soaps; hence a cake of 'Pears' is really all soap and not soap and water. I know cases of irritable skin which the whole tribe of much-vaunted 'Fancy Soaps' failed to allay, but which disappeared under the use of Pears' Soap, and for the nursery and for the delicate skin of infancy no better or more soothing soap can possibly be used. There can be no doubt that in respect of the care of children, attention to the skin is specially required. If common soaps are irritating to the skin of the adult, (as they unquestionably are), they are doubly and trebly injurious to the delicate skin of the infant and young child. I can vouch that the soap I am recommending is not merely a safe but an advantageous one. It does not irritate the skin; but, while serving as a detergent and cleanser, also acts as an emollient."

THURSDAY, JANUARY 29, 1891.

FOREWARNED, FOREARMED.

This is something that should be taken practically to heart by the Liberals of East and West Peterborough. There is every indication—as positive as possible, apart from a specific official declaration—that the Dominion elections will be brought on at an early date, that is, before another session of the Dominion Parliament. Sir Charles Tupper has been sent for—something that invariably takes place when the Government is in a tight place—to see the Government through the general election. Sir John has evidently decided that he can gain an advantage from precipitating the elections at once. He is in Toronto at the present time, mobilizing the Red Parlour brigade. It matters little to him whether it is constitutionally the correct thing to dissolve Parliament at the present time. It is a matter of indifference to him whether thousands are disfranchised, and a fair and honest expression of the popular verdict barked, by conducting an election upon voters' lists two years old. It is evident that he sees that this is a good time, from a party standpoint, for an election, and that is all the justification he needs. In view of the great probability of an immediate or almost immediate election contest, it becomes the Liberals of East and West Peterborough to be on the alert. No time should be lost in calling conventions and getting candidates into the field. This is all the more indicated because a convention can be the means of doing a double work. It is of the greatest importance that every riding in Ontario should be represented at the Toronto Convention—the grand council of war, and conference of the leading Liberals of the leading province of the Confederation. No time is to be lost. The government party is in the secret of the Government as to the exact date of the elections, and quiet, but practical, preparations are being made for the contest, and if the Liberals of these two ridings do not wish to be caught napping, it behooves them to be at work, in the direction indicated, without delay.

AN IMPORTANT LOCAL MATTER.

The letter of "Capitalist," printed elsewhere in this impression, deals with a matter of great interest,—to the town, the district otherwise concerned, and to railway promoters. Every project that can in any way be used to bring business to the town, should not only be encouraged, but actively assisted. The interests of Young's Point will, doubtless, be vastly promoted by the extension of the present Lakefield line of the Grand Trunk Railway to Young's Point, or by the building of another line, to give the village connection with the trunk lines. No doubt the Grand Trunk Railway will give its attention to the matter, and if the matter presents itself in a fairly feasible light, doubtless the extension of the Lakefield spur will be undertaken. Of course the more local assistance and encouragement the railway company receives, the more probability of the projected line being constructed. The letter of "Capitalist" which the writer says contains only a small instalment of the reasons which could be urged in favor of the extension, should be carefully read by all the parties concerned.

FRUIT GROWERS' ASSOCIATION.

We call the attention of our readers to the letter in another column from the secretary of the local Association. It is a significant fact, of interest to our farmers, that the most recent cable advices quote the price of Canadian apples in England at from 30 to 39 shillings—$7.50 to $9.75—per barrel, whilst American apples are quoted at only 20 to 30 shillings. This shows that Canadian apples are preferred to the American. At the Farmers' Institute here Mr. Dempsey stated that this country could produce finer apples than more southerly parts of the continent. Montreal markets, as well as the English markets, are very high at present. Why should not our farmers try the experiment of shipping their apples?

Undeveloped Mineral Wealth in Algoma—Region of Buried Treasure—Vast Belts of Gold-Bearing Huronian Rock—How a Mining District is Boomed in the United States—A Sad Lack of Enterprise on this Side of the Line—Capital and Energy are Wanted.

A Mail correspondent writes: In my last I promised to tell your readers something about the minerals which are so abundant in Algoma. When one speaks of minerals usually the first mentioned is gold. Whether that comes from the fact that we all worship Mammon in some form or other, or whether it is that in the race for the almighty dollar so universal on the American continent, or man's natural cupidity, which is nearly always attracted to the glittering metal, I know not. At any rate there is an attractiveness about gold, both in name and reality, which makes it fitting that in writing of Algoma's buried treasures, gold should be first on the list.

It is an astonishing fact, but none the less true, and one that many of your readers will likely scoff at, that gold abounds in Algoma. Were Algoma as far away as California in '49, or as British Columbia during the Cariboo excitement, or as Australia when the precious metal was first discovered there, immigration to this district would be phenomenal for Canada. However, as one can reach any portion of Algoma in a couple of days from Eastern Canada, and in summer time the whole district can be explored and travelled over, the fields are not far enough away to have the greenness to which distance only lends enchantment. It is no uncommon occurrence to pick up an American newspaper and notice that gold has been discovered in the "Tin Cup" or some other outlandish region, that there is an immense rush of people to that particular "Oklahoma," and that a tent town of to-day is an incorporated city next week, with mayor, officials, newspapers, banks, theatres, saloons, and all the paraphernalia that go to make up a Western city. It matters not whether it is 50 or 500 miles away from a railway, the people get there. If there is no rail way, they build one; if already in operation, the railway company booms the district from New York to San Francisco, as it all brings grist to their mill. However, we in Canada are a slower and more conservative people, and don't do things that way. History alone can tell which is the more judicious—to rush the development of a country, as in the United States, or take things as they come, as we are doing here in Canada. Probably some measure betwixt the two would in the end be most beneficial.

Geologists have shown us that from one end of this district to the other there are of Huronian rocks. Practice has proven that wherever these Huronian rocks lie the quartz veins found in them carry gold. The whole country is not Huronian, nor are all the veins found in them gold-bearing; but explorers declare that when they discover a vein in this formation they invariably find it carries gold. Of course one per cent. of the veins are not discovered, nor is one per cent. of the Huronian formation explored, but sufficient has been done to warrant the doing of much more.

Several years ago there were exhibited specimens of free gold from the vicinity of Sudbury, so marvellously rich that if shown in a Western mining camp would drive the inhabitants crazy with excitement. It is a well known fact that all the quartz veins in the neighborhood of Bruce Mines and Sault Ste. Marie, some of which were formerly worked for copper, carry gold. Quite recently, about a year ago, there was discovered in the township of Galbraith, north of Lake Huron, an immense lode of quartz carrying carrying copper, iron pyrites, galena, and gold in such quantities that any piece picked up from the veins gave large assays, and showed more or less free gold. On the north of Lake Superior, particularly along the Canadian Pacific where it skirts the shore, gold has been known to exist for a score of years.

West of Port Arthur, about the height of land, gold was discovered twenty years ago in the neighbourhood of Shebandowan Lake, Partridge Lake, and in numerous other places; while at Eat Portage and in the Lake of the Woods district the precious metal has been found in hundreds, I might say thousands, of veins. And, sad to relate, there is working in all this vast expanse of territory. A few properties are being prospected, but nothing more. Some of them have been worked in a hap-hazard, hand-to-mouth way, but none sufficiently to prove them dividend payers, or to condemn either the individual properties or the district. Columns could be filled with the history of solitary attempts made to work properties by men in most cases without either capital, knowledge of mining, or, in fact, knowledge of any other business.

The history of the boundary award, and the manner in which it retarded the mining in the disputed territory, is too fresh in the minds of the Canadian people to need a reference to it here, as is also the Fuller lease of the islands in the Lake of the Woods. Only those who have suffered can speak with sufficient feeling of these two important questions.

ENTERPRISE IS LACKING.

Many of your readers will no doubt say that if these mines are valuable, why does not some one work them. That is the question that agitates the Algoma people, and will continue to until adequate capital is found to properly go into the business of legitimate mining. When that time will come no man knows—certainly not the deponent. Single-handed, that is without outside aid either from moneyed men or Governments, the people of Algoma have for twenty years been endeavoring to attract settlement and capital to their district, and they seem almost as far away from the desired end as ever. The Treadwell mine on Douglas Island, Alaska, is the best gold mine in the United States, and yet the value of its ore is only some $4 per ton—and it can be mined and treated and return a large profit from this low value. Does it not therefore seem a crying sin and shame that Canada should have in Algoma hundreds, yea thousands of places, which will produce much more valuable ore that can be be quite as profitably mined, and to our eternal disgrace absolutely nothing is being done to develop this source of national wealth.

King of Medicines

A Cure "Almost Miraculous."

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed 6 years. In that time ten or eleven sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well.

"Early in 1886 I went to Chicago to visit a sister, but was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Circus,' in which were statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to tak Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, when, having used six bottles, I had become so fully released from the disease that I went to work for the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since then on account of sickness. I believe the disease is expelled from my system, I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone, and the sores formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines." WILLIAM A. LEHR, 2 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.

HAVE NOT LOST A SINGLE DAY

Death of a Well-Known Newspaper Man Sir John's Visit

TORONTO, Jan. 28.—Mr. James H. MacLean, one of the best known and most popular newspaper men in the city, died suddenly yesterday at his mother's residence, 90 Surrey-place. He was the city editor of The World and brother of the proprietor, Mr. W. F. Maclean, and as a pushing, enterprising gatherer of news had few equals. He has been under the care of Dr. J. F. Elliott for the past three or four days, but was not considered in a dangerous condition until the previous night. He was 34 years of age, and leaves a wife but no family.

Sir John A. Macdonald, accompanied by Lady Macdonald, Mrs. Deardney, wife of the Minister of the Interior, and Mr. Joseph Pope, Sir John's private secretary, left Ottawa by the Canadian Pacific Railway Monday night and reached Toronto yesterday morning. They were driven to the Queen's Hotel, where they were given the suite of rooms of which the celebrated Red Parlor is the chief. Callers were numerous, amongst them being the prominent Conservatives of the city and a number from Western Ontario.

Sir John lunched at the Albany Club, and in the afternoon attended the annual meeting of the Empire Newspaper Company.

WILL GLADSTONE RETIRE?

A Report Which Is Believed to Be Authentic Says He Will.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The Chester Courant claims it has authority to state Mr. Gladstone is about to resign the leadership of his party. While dining with Sir William Harcourt this evening with other Liberal colleagues Mr. Gladstone was shown The Courant's statement and declined to confirm or deny it.

The Courant says Mr. Gladstone will retire from the Liberal leadership, unless public events take a turn not at present anticipated, and that communications of the past fortnight between Mr. Gladstone and his colleagues have revealed dissensions which nothing but his withdrawal can possibly heal.

McCarthy is Confident.

MANCHESTER, Jan 27.—The Parnellite Leadership Committee to-day presented to Mr. McCarthy an address in which, while expressing admiration for him personally, they strongly protested against his assuming the leadership, and thus dividing the Irish party. Mr. McCarthy reminded the committee that the majority of the party urged him to accept the leadership. Nobody more than himself deplored the dissension in the party. He believed his hearers were actuated by patriotism alone and he had no doubt the difficulties would vanish and the party would again become united. He was confident the controversy would eventuate satisfactorily.

Still Another Version.

DUBLIN, Jan. 27.—The Express says the conferences at Boulogne-sur-Mer are simply an attempt to discover a pathway for a decent retreat of the followers of Justin McCarthy from a position too hastily assumed. The Express adds that the dimension in the Irish party is not of a permanent nature, the leaders of both sections having too much to lose to keep open the quarrel until the general election.

The Irish Times states that the few Irish members of parliament who are at present in the House of Commons are followers of Mr. McCarthy and they are sitting behind Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Arnold Morley and Henry Labouchere while the Parnellites are stumping Ireland and treating the Boulogne conference as a farce.

At a National League meeting to-day, J. J. Clancy, M.P. for North Dublin, said: "We are within view of a satisfactory settlement of the crisis."

A Junction Cut Victim Secures $7000.

CHICAGO, Jan 28.—In Judge Grinnell's court to-day a jury awarded Stephen S. Young $7000 on his claim for $15,000 damages against the Grand Trunk Railway. The suit is one of a number growing out of the railway accident at Junction Cut, Hamilton, Ont. A number of people were killed and many others were injured.

The Goat's Blood Cure.

PARIS, Jan. 26.—Doctors Berlin and Picq of the Nantes faculty recently injected 15 grains of goat's blood into the muscular tissue of the thighs of two patients suffering from tuberculosis and they assert that cures can be brought by renewing such injections every 10 days.

A Brobdingnagian Proboscis.

VIENNA, Jan. 28.—Prof. Schnibler to-day exhibited a patient suffering from tuberculosis of the larynx who had been treated with Koch's lymph. The patient's condition improved under the treatment, but tubercular swellings developed on his nose, which reached an unprecedented size.

Henry Surrenders $3000.

CHATHAM, Jan. 26.—Further particulars are to hand of the arrest of the defaulting commission agent, James W. Henry. The Bank of Montreal on Dec. 13 last offered a reward of $1000 for his arrest and detention. Ever since this reward was offered Matt Pinkerton's men have been working up the case, and on Saturday last arrested Henry in the City of Mexico, whither he had fled with his booty. Upon being arrested he weakened and returned $3000 of the stolen money, and offered to give security for the balance. Not having authority to make any such compromise the officer left the City of Mexico on Thursday night with his prisoner, and will arrive in Chatham to-morrow.

Caught in the Belting.

SIMCOE, Jan. 26.—A man named Galbraith was caught in the belting to-day at Brooks' woolen mills and narrowly escaped instant death. A portion of flesh was torn from the ace, while the body and one arm were badly bruised. It is thought he will recover.

Should Have Cooked Them Sooner.

HALIFAX, Jan. 26.—The family of J. K. Munnis, who resides in Brunswick-street, had broiled partridges for breakfast yesterday morning. Immediately afterwards three members of the family were taken severely ill from poisoning and a doctor was hastily summoned. They will recover.

Another Quebec Murder.

MONTREAL, Jan. 26.—Last week a man named Louis was found dead on the streets of Maisonneuve, and after a formal inquest he was buried. Suspicions have arisen since that he was murdered and the body was ordered to be exhumed.

A Brakeman in Luck.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 26.—A C. P. R. brakeman named Andrew Rannard has fallen heir to £10,000 by the death of a relative in the Old Country.

At Market Saturday; Dead Yesterday.

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 26.—Mrs. Cox, wife of a teamster, went to market Saturday. On Sunday she complained of not feeling well, and expired at 6 o'clock this morning.

The Jamaica Exhibition.

Already there are 235 separate exhibits in the Canadian section—by far the largest number sent from any country. "Although," says the Hamilton Spectator, "they will all be under Mr. Bourne's control, about many firms will be directly represented by agents who will have immediate charge of their respective exhibits. The goods will all be for sale, and will have the prices marked plainly on them."

The Canadian commissioner will be in Jamaica for about two months, during which time he will ascertain the results of the awarding of prizes and say a good word for Canada "in season and out of season."

Kingston being easily accessible now, and being a pleasant winter health resort, it is likely that many Canadians will feast their eyes upon the exquisite beauty of the whole island and inspect its extraordinary fertility. There are many direct ways of going thither. It is in direct communication with Canada both by steamship and telegraph, or one could go by rail to Tampa, Fla., and there take a gulf steamship for Kingston. The climate of Jamaica is mild and dry in the months during which the exhibition is to be held.

THE CANADIAN COMMISSIONER.

Good American and English hotels can be found in and around Kingston, a number of new ones having been recently fitted up in anticipation of the rush of visitors to the exhibition. The governor, Sir Henry Arthur Blake, thinks that the exhibition will do much toward familiarizing other English-speaking peoples with the extraordinary attractions of the island. Already, he says, the London doctors are beginning to send invalids to Jamaica instead of to the south of France, as formerly.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam Balsam for coughs and colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The Large Bottles are 50c, and $1.00. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

THURSDAY, JANUARY 29, 1891.

NOTICE.

Nearly a month ago we made a general call on those who were doing business with us to send in their accounts in order that a settlement to the end of the year might be effected. While a great many have promptly responded, a few have failed to present their contra accounts. These are again asked to send them in at once so that all accounts may be squared and adjusted.

We must again respectfully but firmly insist upon all accounts due the EXAMINER or Peterborough Bookstore being paid with as little delay as possible. We MUST keep faith with our creditors and to do so it is imperative that those who are indebted to us should pay us promptly what is due. This reference is made to subscriptions as well as to accounts for goods.

It is absolutely necessary for business reasons that all outstanding accounts be settled by the First of February, 1891, and it is equally necessary that all accounts against us should be presented and settled. It would be very unpleasant to us to delegate the work of collecting any of our accounts to our solicitors, nevertheless ALL accounts to the 1st of January must be arranged within the shortest possible time.

Prof. Dorenwend to be in Town.

Prof. Dorenwend, the friend of the bald is to make a limited visit here. He carries a complete stock of Hair Goods, and calls special attention to his new styles in ladies' bangs, crimpers, wigs, switches, gent's wigs, toupees, &c. Prof. D's goods are becoming to be actual things of necessity to the average person. Few can boast of having a superabundance of hair, but many complain of having too little. Prof. D's goods fill the vacancy, and make it possible for everybody to have a presentable head of hair. There is a chance now for all to be assured of Prof. D's claims—that his goods not only add to appearance, but to comfort and health as well. Proof is convincing. His stay is rather short, but it is as much time as he can spare, as he has other places to go to.—So don't miss it at Phelan's Hotel, Peterborough, on Friday and Saturday, Feb'y 6th and 7th. 2w4d

St. Paul's Church.

Annual Meeting of the Congregation—Encouraging Reports from different Departments of the Church—New Board of Managers.

The annual meeting of the congregation of St. Paul's Church was held Wednesday night. There was a large attendance. The ladies of the church provided tea for the members before the business meeting began. Mr. G. M. Roger presided, Mr. J. W. Bennett, Secretary, was also present. The reports were all quite satisfactory, and showed St. Paul's to be a flourishing, progressive congregation.

Rev. Mr. Torrance, Moderator of the Session, presented a report showing that there had been an addition of 62 members to the church during the year, but there had also been 50 removals, leaving the net gain 12. There were in the church 340 families and 706 communicants.

Copies of the printed statement of the mission were circulated among the congregation. The report showed that the receipts from all sources during the year amounted to $6 472 74, and there was a small balance of $113 93 in hand. The mortgage on the church property had been decreased by $1 000 during the year.

Mr. J. D. COLLINS presented the report of the Missionary Association showing that $965 54 had been raised and allotted as follows:—Home missions $350, Foreign missions $[illegible], French evangelization mission $232 [illegible] and Augmentation Fund $180. Mr. G. M. Roger presented a motion that more funds should be devoted to foreign missions than any other branch, and a lively discussion was ended by the adoption of the report. The report further broached the subject of the congregation supporting a missionary in the foreign field themselves, which it was considered able to do.

Mrs. R. H. FORTYE, secretary, presented the report of the Ladies' Aid Society, showing a membership of 39, the amount raised during the year being $552 60, a balance being kept on hand of $55.61.

Mr. W. R. JOHNSTON read the report of the Endeavor Society, which had 60 active members and 55 associate members.

Sheriff HALL, superintendent, reported on behalf of the Sunday school; 446 pupils on the roll, with an average attendance of 279. Large additions had been made to the library. There were 27 teachers, besides other officers in the school. The report referred to the loss sustained in the removal of Mr. J. G. Lowe from town, and the superintendent also regretted Mrs. Jos. Dixon's retiring from the superintendency of the primary department.

Miss Annie Hall presented the report of the Mission Band, showing a membership of 31 and an average attendance of 17. The sum of $151 had been collected.

Miss Flora H. Davidson presented the report of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society. The sum of $232 90 had been raised, and the Society's expenses being only $3 38, a balance of $229 52 was left. The Society also sent a box as usual to the Mission School at Portage la Prairie, valued at $88. Two life members had also been added—Mrs Wm. Walsh and Mrs. D. H. Moore.

The Board of Management for the year was appointed as follows:—Messrs. Peter Hamilton, T. Tucker, R. Jones, J. I. Davidson, W. G. Ferguson, W. Paterson, Thomas A. Hay, Wm. Walsh, Adam Hall, C. N. Brown, H. S. Macdonald and J. W. Bennett.

Before the meeting adjourned a vote of thanks was tendered to the choir and Mr. John Crane, organist, for their valuable services.

Personal.

Miss L. Laplante is visiting friends in Norwood.

The Murray street Baptist church has invited the Rev. John Trotter, of Claremont, to become its pastor.

Miss Ada Cowle left town this morning for London, where she will spend some time visiting friends.

The Supreme General Secretary of the Sons of Canada, Mr. B. Blaine, of Toronto, paid an official visit to Peterborough last night.

Miss Bertha Harper, the renowned elocutionist, whose arrival in town last night was incorrectly stated, will be in town on Tuesday next, Feb 3rd, when she will appear at the George Street Methodist Church.

A copy of the Quebec Morning Chronicle, gives a report of the annual meeting of the Quebec Auxiliary Bible Society, showing that Rev. E. J. Stobo, formerly pastor of the Baptist Church, who is the Secretary, is still prominent in his prosecution of good works.

A FARMERS' INDUSTRY.

The Raising of Beets For Sugar as Now Proposed.

And a Factory is to Established for the Manufacture of Beet Sugar—There is Said to be Millions in it for all Concerned—Another Meeting to be held At Harwood.

A convention of farmers was held at Cobourg Wednesday to discuss a proposal to establish the manufacture of sugar from beets in this district. The meeting was largely attended, and enthusiastic. Those present feel confident that the sugar beet industry will be established, and be of great benefit to the country. The farmers particularly, hope to gain by it, as the soil of this district is well adapted to the growth of the sugar beet, and good profits would be realized. The matter is to be further discussed and the location of a factory chosen. These are matters which will be keenly watched by the farming community, and indeed by the whole people, as each locality will be striving to get the factory. Peterborough will make a strong bid for it, and it is believed our superior advantages will secure the industry.

At the meeting Wednesday there was a representative attendance from the counties of Durham Northumberland, and Peterborough. Messrs. Dawson Kennedy and Wm. Collins were delegates from the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute. They gained a lot of information on the subject, and most kindly imparted their knowledge to the EXAMINER for publication.

PROPOSED FACTORIES.

Mr. R. H. LANDER, of Toronto, one of the promoters of the proposed Company for the manufacture of sugar from beets, gave some facts concerning the industry. Mr. Lander said forty factories could be kept in operation to meet the demand for sugar, but it was only proposed for the present to locate factories in the vicinity of Cobourg, Port Perry and Galt. The factory should be on the railway and close to water, as a million of gallons a day would be necessary to supply the factory from October to March. The farmers would receive seed and fertilizers free from the company, and an instructor would also be sent out by the company to instruct the farmers as to the best methods of growing and cultivating the roots. The beets brought to the factory would be tested by a man appointed by the company and the farmers, and the latter would be paid in accordance with the quantity of sugar that was contained in their beets. The price would average about $4 per ton, with a variation of twenty-five cents for superior or inferior quality. He could promise them a yield of fifteen tons to the acre, but this was small, as others placed the yield at twenty tons to the acre, which, with 13 p r cent. of sugar, would be valued at $4 per ton. Some placed the average at 16 per cent. of sugar, which would be worth more to the farmer. The factory they proposed to erect would have an output of 3,000 pounds of sugar, and require 15 acres of land and the building and machinery would cost about $300,000. It would require eight heavy boilers.

MR. RUSSELL stated he had raised beets which yielded 17 tons, and brought him in $70 to the acre.

SOME RESOLUTIONS.

Lieut.-Col. BOLTON, in a short speech, supported the motion, which was carried unanimously.

Mr. DAWSON KENNEDY introduced the next resolution. He pointed out the advantages of Harwood, or some place on Rice lake, for the factory, and said he believed the farmers' produce could be brought to the factory better by water than any other way. He moved, seconded by Mr. J. C. Rosevear, Reeve of Hamilton, that in view of the numerous and important advantages that would be derived from successful operation of beet sugar factories in Canada, this meeting would strongly recommend that the Dominion Government and Parliament should assist in promoting the erection of a first-class factory of large capacity, by admitting the machinery required free of duty, and by such further aid as may be necessary to secure its early operation.

Mr. GEO. GUILLOT, M. P., supported this motion, which was also unanimously carried.

Mr. T. B. CARLO, Reeve of Percy, said he had raised 26 7 tons per acre, netting him $108. This would make the average 20 tons per acre, or $80 in money. Allowing $30 for wages and labor, and $20 for freight, left $30 profit per acre.

It was moved by W. J. Westington, Plainville, seconded by John Buckham, reeve of South Monaghan,—That the establishment of large markets in various sections of the province for the sale of sugar beets at the price proposed, about $4 25 per ton would prove a great advantage to the farmers of Ontario by making an opening for the extensive cultivation of a good paying crop and the farmers of this section will cheerfully assist in promoting the successful operation if one should be located in this neighborhood.

THE GOVERNMENT COMMENDED.

Moved by Mr. T. B. Carlo, Reeve of Percy, seconded by Mr. Bowman, Reeve of Hamilton,—That this meeting cordially approve of the steps taken by the Department of Agriculture of Ontario to test the adaptation of the soil and climate for the cultivation of sugar beets, and as the experiments which have been made on the Ontario farm at Guelph and in different parts of the Province have proved highly satisfactory as to the yield and quality of the beets, would urgently recommend that the Ontario Government and Parliament should liberally assist in securing the early completion of a first-class beet sugar factory at some suitable point in the Province.

Mr. FIELD, M.P., supported this resolution and it was carried.

COL. BOLTON then moved a resolution of thanks to the West Northumberland Farmers' Institute for bringing this important matter before the farmers of this district, and proposed that the farmers form a joint stock company to establish the industry.

The resolution was carried.

Mr. A. FERGUSON, Warden of Northumberland, endorsed the scheme.

A resolution was then adopted that another meeting be held at Harwood on the 13th of February for the discussion of the matter, and that Mr. Lander and Wilfred Sharp, of Montreal, who is now operating a factory at Berthier, Que., be asked to address the meeting.

On motion the members of the County Council of the counties of Northumberland and Durham and Messrs. Dawson Kennedy, John A. Davidson, Wm. Collins and F. Birdsall were appointed a committee to make inquiries to ascertain the probable number of acres that would be given to beet raising in their different localities and report to the West Northumberland Institute before the first of March.

The meeting then adjourned.

The Doctors Were not Successful.

Happily, for the benefit of wives and mothers, we are allowed at times to give the names of victims of suffering who have secured life and strength from the use of Paine's Celery Compound. The case of Mrs. N. J. Bouchard, of L'Ange Gardien, P.Q., is one which should give hope to every woman who may suffer as she once did. Mrs. Bouchard had suffered for two years from dyspepsia and nervous debility. The doctors had treated her without success. Her sufferings were not alleviated until she commenced to use the great remedy, Paine's Celery Compound. She writes:—"I used three bottles of Paine's Celery Compound with great results, and I am now perfectly cured."

This is truly remarkable, but can be vouched for by her neighbours and friends.

What more convincing proof do the women of Canada require? Every week we hear of similar testimony from the ladies. Truly our people have found a blessing—a God-given gift in Paine's Celery Compound.

Progressive Young's Point.

The Question of Railway Extension Considered.

YOUNG'S POINT, Jan. 23th, 1891.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Will you kindly make space in your valuable paper for the following statement of facts which I wish to put before the public, and particularly the railway companies, as to the prospects and advisability of running a railway to Young's Point and Clear Lake?

I shall endeavour to state a few facts as briefly as possible:—

The distance from Lakefield to Young's Point and Clear Lake can be covered by a railway in a little less than five miles, to one of the finest limestone quarries in Ontario. This is a most important fact, taking into account the great demand, both in Peterborough, Toronto and other cities, for this material, and the facilities for shipment which a railway to this point would afford. It could be shipped more cheaply from this point than any other in the Province.

Again, Young's Point is in the midst of an unlimited quantity of hardwood, which would be exported cheaply by train during the winter season to the extent of several carloads per day.

In the third place the rewould be a large and increasing passenger traffic from this place on account of the distance from Peterborough, which would be greatly appreciated by the northern people, who could save one day in their trip from home to Peterborough, besides leaving their team resting while they would take the morning train to town and return the same night, thereby saving their horses 25 miles of drive and themselves one day less on their trip.

And again, had we had a railway here for the past three years, we would now have a large flouring mill in operation; but we had not ways and means for exporting flour and importing western wheat that a railway would give, which is required in order to have the flour meet the requirements of the eastern markets. This mill would be built without delay if the prospects of a railway to the place were good.

There would also be built a stave-bolt factory and a pulp mill, which would add to the freight receipts for the road. We have unlimited water power, cheap, and unlimited quantities of pulp and stave-bolt timber.

It is also a well known fact that Young's Point is becoming a great summer resort—yearly increasing in popularity. We have a fine natural park, convenient to the village, at the foot of Clear Lake, where there could be a large summer hotel built, and where there is first class fishing during the whole of the summer season.

And again, if the railway ran to Young's Point, tourists from Peterboro' and other towns would find it a much easier way of reaching Stoney Lake, by taking the train to Clear Lake, then taking the steamers for Stony Lake, saving the transhipping at Lakefield, and of locking the boats at the Point.

Now that we are getting some very large steamers built to ply on the back lakes, they will find it very troublesome navigating the narrow river between Lakefield and Young's Point. See that trouble would be done away with by having their wharves and landings at the foot of Clear Lake.

There is one more important matter I wish to refer to before I close. That is the large amount of granite paving stone which is likely to be shipped to Toronto next season and following seasons from Stony Lake. The writer had a conversation with a gentleman from Toronto last week who is now opening up another paving quarry for Toronto markets, which he said will be worked to considerable extent this next season. He said the quality of stone is first-class and can be marketed from Stony Lake cheaper than from any other quarry in Ontario. He mentioned the large amount of paving granite stone which was brought to Toronto last season from down east by boat at a greater expense than from Stony Lake. With the unlimited ground for trans-shipping at the foot of Clear Lake and the distance and time saved in towing, the material could be handled more readily and more cheaply.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the valuable space in your paper, I remain,

Yours truly,
CAPITALIST.

His Strength is His Fortune.

Louis Cyr, a French Canadian and a Total Abstainer, Can Lift Two Tons.

Canada's strong man, Louis Cyr, who has beaten the world at heavy weight lifting, received a magnificent championship belt at the Queen's Hall Monday night, presented by appreciative citizens. Cyr is a French Canadian. He was born, says the Montreal Witness, in St. John's, Que., 27 years ago. He is a large man, lacking but an inch and a half of six feet, and weighing 318 pounds. His last and biggest lift was 3,993 pounds. "My first lift," he told a Witness, reporter, "was in this way. There was a load of bricks, over a ton, I guess, stuck in a hole in the road and the horses couldn't pull it out. I was only seventeen, but was a big fellow, weighed 240 pounds, and I got underneath the cart and lifted it off the ground and got it out. Then I tried to see what I could do, and have never had any difficulty in lifting 2,500 pounds since then. My mother was very strong. She could always carry a barrel of flour upstairs to the second flat. She weighed 265 pounds. My father weighed 220, but could not lift more than other men. None of my brothers are stronger than other men. My temperance principles? I abstained two years ago from liquor and tobacco; before that, used to take them regularly. I am three times better off since then. I gained in strength enough to lift 700 pounds more in these two years. Liquor is a bad habit, anyway. Tobacco, too much of it, is bad. I am three times better off since I gave them both up. I eat five or six pounds of meat a day; eat as much as three woodchoppers. It would make you hungry, perhaps, to see me at dinner. They charge me double board; never mind, I pay it. I am always gaining in strength—I guess I was born that way—and I guess I will lift 4,500 before I get through. The record for lifting? Well, you know, I lift everything without a harness; that is, just with my hands, and not with a strap slung over my back. The record for lifting with harness is 3,239, made by W. B. Curtis, of New York, in 1862. You see I got ahead of that even without harness. I have lifted 535 pounds with my forefinger, and have put a barrel of cement, over 300 pounds, on my shoulder with one hand. That is one of the things I am going to do at the Queen's Hall."

Mr. Cyr invited the reporter to feel his muscles. They were suggestive of the toughest kind of toughness. Each felt as solid as a keg of nails.

The champion wears his hair long. It is yellow and curly. Asked whether he believed as much in the value of hair as the ancient Samson, he replied, "No, but it is attractive when exhibiting." When not on show Mr. Cyr makes a neat Psyche-knot of the hair, using hair pins liberally, and, with his hat over it, looks exactly like the ordinary innocent fat man.

Fruit Growers' Association.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I have just received a letter from the Secretary of the Ontario Fruit Growers Association expressing the interest taken by that body in the formation of a branch here. He promises that they will send one or two speakers on fruit culture to the general meeting which we propose to hold in February.

Will all your readers who are interested in fruit growing, whether on a large or a small scale, please let me have their names and addresses. We have twenty-six members now. We want from fifty to one hundred. I may add that I have already had a letter from a Montreal firm asking me for information as to those farmers who have fruit to sell in this neighborhood.

The Dominion Elections.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—The rumor is flying pretty low just now that the Dominion elections are to be brought on at once. This may be the case; but I very much doubt it. There is an infallible sign of an approaching Dominion election: When you see Mr. R. B. Rogers, the genial superintending engineer of Trent Navigation, around Rustings, gathering in the loose fish and setting them to work pumping out the old scow at the village, you may bet your ultimate dollar that an election is at hand.

SINGLE TAX

Is now the question of the hour; but to those inclined of Ordered or Ready-made Clothing, single profits ought to be a subject of greater importance. Yearly importing all our principal lines, we save you the profits of the wholesale men, and you have thus one single profit to pay. That profit is not a large one, and has been made still smaller, as we are determined each and every article of Winter Clothing must go, to make way for Spring Goods. Each and every department has been visited and all goods have been reduced. Don's you buy a dollar's worth of clothing until you have looked us over. DIED AT A BANQUET.

SECRETARY OF THE U.S. TREASURY WINDOM EXPIRES.

After Concluding a Speech at the New York Board of Trade at Delmonico's—Death Due to Heart Disease—The Banquet Suddenly Terminates.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—Over 250 guests attended the 18th annual banquet of the New York Board of Trade and Transportation at Delmonico's to-night. Many prominent gentlemen were present, including Secretaries Windom and Tracy, ex-Secretary Bayard, Murat Halstead, Collector Erhardt, General Woodford, Erastus Wiman, Hon. Wilfrid Laurier of Canada, Hon. J. W. Longley, Attorney-General of Nova Scotia, and J. W. Vrooman. After the sumptuous feast had been partaken of, Capt. Ambrose Snow, president of the Board, introduced Secretary Windom, who responded to the toast, "Our country's prosperity dependent upon its instruments of commerce." The secretary made an excellent address and was heartily applauded. Judge Arnoux then got up and was introducing ex-Secretary Bayard, when someone cried: "Look at Secretary Windom!". The speech was broken short and every eye was turned in the direction of the Secretary. He had collapsed and was falling to the floor. His face was ghastly and a cry of horror arose among the guests. There was an immediate rush on the part of all hands towards Mr. Windom, but several doctors who were present got there first and drove the others back. Dr. Robinson examined the prostrate form and discovered the heart was still beating. By his orders the secretary was carried into the dish room adjoining the banquet hall and placed on a table. Messengers were hastily despatched for electric batteries and as many as four were applied to his body, which was rapidly growing cold. This was at 10.05 p.m. For six minutes the electric shocks were applied incessantly, but without success. At 10.11 p.m. Judge Arnoux came out of the dish room and announced that Secretary Windom had breathed his last. "He is dead."

This was the fearful announcement that was said in a voice midway between a sob and a whisper through that gaily-bedecked banquet hall. Every man looked at his neighbor with blanched cheeks and silence fell upon the men who only a few moments before were clamoring for news of Mr. Windom's condition. The secretary had succumbed to an attack of heart disease, and only last Monday had an attack which, however, passed away without causing him much inconvenience. When it was officially announced that the secretary was dead, Secretary Tracy went to the nearest telegraph office, and sent a message to President Harrison, informing him of the untimely event and requesting him to communicate with Mrs. Windham.

Mr. Windom's death put an abrupt end to the banquet. Addresses were to have been made by Secretary Tracy, ex-Secretary Bayard, Wilfrid Laurier, J. W. Longley and Murat Halstead. After the secretary had been pronounced dead Dr. Robinson said "I would say the cause of his death was apoplexy if it was not for the history of heart disease, with that in view I am compelled to think heart disease killed him."

Secretary Windom's remains will be sent to Washington on a special train in the morning.

The President Hears the News

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. The death of Secretary Windom in New York to-night gave a great shock to his of ficial friends and associates. When the despatch announcing the sad event was read to President Harrison he was greatly distressed. He immediately took a carriage to the house of the Postmaster-General, where a cabinet dinner had been in progress. Mrs. Windom and her two daughters and Mrs. Colgate of New York, whom visiting them, were amongst those present. The President had a hurried conversation with Blaine and Proctor and the Postmaster-General. They then privately informed Mrs. Colgate of Mr. Windom's death, and she, without exciting suspicions, got the bereaved ladies to their carriage and home. The President, Secretaries Proctor and Postmaster-General Wanamaker followed directly after. When Mrs. Windom and daughters reached the house Mrs. Colgate gently broke to them the dreadful news. Mrs. Windom was complete ly overcome and had to be assisted to her chamber.

DAVITT SERIOUSLY ILL.

Confined to His House Chamberlain Declares That Home Rule is Dead.

DUBLIN Jan. 28.—Michael Davitt is very ill at his residence, at Ballybrack, near this city.

In a Unionist meeting last night at Birmingham, Joseph Chamberlain said Home Rule was as dead as Queen Anne; that Gladstone must either abandon altogether or accept all of Parnell's demands. Home Secretary Matthews dwelt on the necessity of maintaining the Unionist alliance, as the Irish party would push up their quarrel some way.

The latest developments tend to prove that the reports of a temporary cessation of hostilities has been agreed upon by the Irish leaders are correct.

The conciliatory spirit of McCarthy's reply to the Manchester deputation has surprised everyone.

As the anti-Parnellite leaders have resolved to follow their opponents' example, hostilities may therefore be said to have been temporarily suspended. In agreeing to this O'Brien's advice has been all-powerful with both sections of the party. Among the anti-Parnellite rank and file, however, very little hope is entertained of the possibility of reaching a final agreement. The present truce has been arranged to enable the party to go to the country in the coming elections with some show of success.

Mr. Parnell has started for London. Yesterday Mr. Parnell visited Arklow, county Wicklow, about 30 miles from this city. He stayed at the residence of Father Dempsey and was accorded an enthusiastic reception. During the course of a speech upon this occasion Mr. Parnell said that he hoped to shortly see Ireland attain legislative independence, without which all exertions to improve the conditions of the masses and promote Irish industry and prosperity were unavailing.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 30.—During the snowstorm here this morning countless small fish were seen to fall. They were about an inch long and resembled the carp or mullet.

FUNERAL OF THE VICTIMS.

A WIFE'S WAIL "FROM THE DEPTHS I CRY TO YOU!"

Sad Scenes Attending the Identification of the Coal Mine Victims in Pennsylvania—Buried in a Common Trench—Many Persons Blown to Atoms.

YOUNGWOOD, Pa., Jan. 29.—At 3 o'clock this afternoon a long train of baggage cars and a few coaches were pushed on the siding near the ill-fated shaft of the Mammoth Mine and the hour of final parting between the living and their dead had come. Sixty-three coffins, containing the bodies of those who had been identified, were placed in the baggage cars and the coaches were filled with the near relations of the dead men. Slowly the train was drawn to Scottdale, 12 miles distant. In the Catholic cemetery two great trenches had been dug, and in them the coffins were placed side by side. When the last had been lowered the scene was most impressive. Rev. Father Lambing, his gray locks lifted by the breeze, stood at the head of the trenches and ranged along the side were fully 900 persons, attracted either by sympathy or curiosity. When, at the signal from the priests, the first earth was thrown on the coffins the women seemed to feel they were widows, and the sound of the priest's prayer was drowned by their moans. Many were so overcome by their emotions that they had to be carried back to their homes.

Many Smothered to Death

Those who were early taken from the mine were close to the cage on what is termed the level and were all smothered, while those taken out later and from what is termed the dip were horribly burned and maimed. With the bodies in this condition the scenes attending the efforts to identify were necessarily distressing.

On one board day the body of a boy scarcely 16 years of age, while alongside lay a full grown man horribly burned about the body, head and face. Some bodies had the tops of their heads blown off. One man was identified from the fact that a portion of his foot was shot off while serving in the army. A young man, apparently not over 18 years old, had a hole driven through from the top of his head to his chin, the doctors thinking some missile had been driven straight through. Some had all the bones on one side of their body broken, which showed that they were hurled by the force of the explosion against the side of the mine. One had his leg drawn up and it was impossible to straighten it, and in fact the bodies were found in all sorts of horrible positions and conditions.

A young Hungarian woman came and looked intently at each body as they lay on the porch. She finally stopped with a heart-rending wail and began shaking the body of a fine looking young man who was her husband. She patted the face and smoothed the hair, and all the time talked rapidly in her own language.

A Hungarian woman, about 60 years old, came to the Morgue to ascertain if her boy had been found. At the time she arrived there was no one there who could understand her, and the gestures she made trying to make them understand were very painful. Never before was agony more plainly written on a woman's face.

At last good Father Symigiel, the Polish priest, who had been to the place all day, came past and the woman appealed to him. She said she could not find her son, but she knew he was there. She said if any one would pull back the lips of some of the younger looking corpses she could identify her boy by his teeth, but she was afraid to touch them herself.

Found Her Boy at Last.

The priest informed one of the undertakers of her desire, and one of the assistants at last succeeded in finding the youth. The old woman clasped the body in her arms, but had neither words nor tears.

The wives of the victims went from body to body, and as soon as they discovered the one they were looking for, burst into tears. The mothers would lift their children and point to the corpse and tell the little ones it was their father. The majority of those lost were Hungarians, and the lamentations of the poor creatures who were bereft of a protector were heartrending. The bodies were laid out on boards, and the wife, sometimes with a child in her arms, would lay her head against the face of the dead, and in her own language pour out her distress.

As soon as a body was identified it was removed to the yard of the dead house and early in the afternoon this was filled with row after row of coffins.

The last body to be taken from the shaft was that of Peter Shrynke. His wife was watching at the pit mouth when the cage bearing his mangled body came to the surface. She had been there for more than 24 hours, and when the word was passed along the line that another body was being brought out she seemed to have a premonition that it was her husband. She pushed through the crowd and was the first to uncover the blackened form on the stretcher. A low moan forced itself through her lips, and she threw herself on the body. For fully five minutes she remained there and then in low sweet tones she began to chant, "From the depths I cry to You." The Rev. Father Lambing then led her away. An hour later she appeared at the morgue, neatly dressed and outwardly calm. She walked along the line of coffins until she came to that in which her husband laid. Recognizing the disfigured face, she stooped and gently kissed it and then left the undertakers to do their work.

Found Dead in His Office.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Mr. James B. Boyle, Public School Inspector of this city, was found dead in his office in the Central School buildings about 12 o'clock last night. The deceased was well known throughout the province and was one of the most prominent citizens of London, and has been connected with the educational institutions of the city since 1855. Mr. Boyle was also Dominion Government Civil Service examiner for this district. He was upwards of 80 years of age and was a man of remarkable vigor, both of body and mind.

Missionary Schooner Wrecked.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29.—Advices from Tahiti, Society Islands, reports that wreckage has been discovered supposed to be from the missionary schooner Phœbe Chapman, which left Honolulu a year ago in charge of Elder J. H. Cudney of Nebraska, a Second Advent missionary. The Chapman was bound for Pitcairn Island. She carried a crew of six men. All hands are now given up for lost.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

THE CONSPIRACY LAW TO REMAIN IN FORCE.

The British Government Will Not Reward Dr. Koch—Glasgow Strikers Fighting the Newspaper Reporters — Military Riot in Jamaica.

LONDON, Jan. 29.—In the Commons to-day Mr. Edmund Robertson (Gladstonian), M.P. for Dundee, moved to amend the Conspiracy law by enacting that no combination shall be considered criminal unless formed for a criminal object. Mr. Robertson's motion also proposed to limit the offence of intimidation to acts constituting a breach of the peace.

The Solicitor-General, Sir Edward Clarke, in reply said that the Government could not accept Mr. Robertson's proposals, as they would give free scope to strikes, encourage boycotting and otherwise imperil individual rights.

Mr. Robertson's motion was rejected by a vote of 179 to 149.

In reply to Mr. Picton (Liberal), member for Leicester, Mr. Fergusson said that he did not believe that Portugal had yet signed the charter of the Mozambique Company and he intimated that the British Government could not be expected to respect certain provisions of the proposed charter evidently hostile to British interests. Mr. Fergusson said that he hoped the British high commissioner for the Western Pacific would shortly be able to issue the necessary regulations enforcing so far as the British are concerned, the final act of agreement regarding Samoa.

Mr. Nolan asked the government to confer with other states in regard to the justice and propriety of taking joint action to bestow a pecuniary reward on Prof. Koch for his great discovery.

The Hon. W. H. Smith replied that, while not deprecating the value of Prof. Koch's discovery, the Government must decline to add new functions to its already heavy responsibilities.

OUTRAGES BY STRIKERS.

Attempt to Derail a Train—Stone Throwing—Trouble with Reporters.

GLASGOW, Jan. 29.—The strikers seem to have resolved to continue their policy of railroad outrages. At Greenock yesterday a passenger train happily crossed safely over a chain which had been twisted around the rails. The train and passengers were entirely uninjured.

Stone throwing continues in spite of the police protection afforded to the companies, and an additional number of engineers and firemen have been injured by this bombardment upon the part of the strikers. The railroad companies have offered rewards for the apprehension and conviction of any person found throwing stones at the trains, but there have been but few arrests made in consequence.

The strikers' orators recently, apparently discontented with the views the newspapers take of the strike, have been villifying the reporters of the Glasgow newspapers. The result is that the newspapers of this city have agreed not to report any future meetings which the strikers may hold.

The great railroad strike has collapsed and the leaders of the strikers are treating with the officials of the companies.

A RIOT IN JAMAICA.

Soldiers Attack the Constabulary Station and Policemen and Are Badly Beaten

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Jan. 29.—A few days ago a determined attack was made by some 50 or 80 soldiers of the West India Regiment, encamped near Kingston, Jamaica, on the constabulary station in Fletcher's Land. The station is guarded by only four men, this number being thought sufficient for the ordinary duties of the place. It appears that the row began first on the race course, consequent on the soldiers attacking a constable and mauling him so badly that he had to be taken to the hospital in almost a dying condition. After rescuing their comrade the police retreated to the station in Fletcher's Land, which the soldiers began to bombard with brickbats and large stones. Matters got so serious and the besieged constables were getting so badly hurt that at last it was deemed advisable to sound the fire alarm and so bring out the reserve of constabulary in the Sutton-street station.

The arrival of the extra policemen was greeted by a very heavy shower of stones, one of which felled Inspector Wadderburn, while another which struck him on the head when rising nearly knocked him senseless. Only the timely arrival of a strong picket from camp under the command of several officers put an end to hostilities and undoubtedly saved the lives of the policemen. The large force of soldiers prevented the capture of any of their number save one, who was run down to Sutton-street station with the handcuffs on. Fully two dozen constables were so badly injured that they had to be sent to the hospital, and a civilian who went to the assistance of the constabulary had one side of his nose torn away by a brick which was thrown at him.

All the privates of the West India regiment have now been confined to barracks and will continue so for some time. The soldiers who took part in the riot will be tried by a court martial at the camp toward the end of next week. The injured are all doing well.

The Prince Buried.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 29.—The funeral of Prince Randouin, heir to the throne, took place to-day with imposing ceremonies. The city was draped in mourning. The services took place at the Cathedral of Sainte Gudule. The Ministers acted as pall-bearers and immediately preceded King Leopold, who was so overcome with emotion that he walked with a halting step and with his head bowed in sorrow. The Count of Flanders, the father of the dead prince, weeping litterly, walked behind King Leopold, having his son, Prince Albert, on his right and Prince Henry of Prussia on his left. The spectacle presented by this mournful group affected many of the onlookers to tears. The funeral car covered with beautiful wreaths of flowers was drawn by six black horses harnessed with black trappings, and led by footmen in mourning liveries. The Prince's body will be conveyed upon this car to the Royal crypt in the chapel of the Castle of Laeken, a mile outside the city, where the interment is to take place.

TORONTO TOPICS.

A Costly Arbitration—Funeral of a Newspaper Man.

TORONTO, Jan. 29.—Yesterday morning David Brads, a plasterer residing in Euclid-avenue, and a patient in the hospital suffering from delirium, escaped from that institution in his nightdress. To effect this he jumped from a window of the ward in which he was confined, a distance of 25 feet, to the ground, and despite the severe fall which he sustained succeeded in clambering over the fence and getting clear away. A general alarm was sent out among the police, but the man was not recaptured until 8½ last evening, when a policeman effected his arrest on the corner of Bathurst and Bloor-streets. When caught he sported a pair of pants and a coat, which he told the police had been given him by men at work on a building in North Toronto.

The city closed its case in the street railway arbitration yesterday morning. Mr. D'Alton McCarthy called Francis Pratt to give evidence in rebuttal of some of the statements of witnesses for the city. The remainder of the company's witnesses will be examined to-morrow and a date fixed for the commencement of the argument.

Up to date the arbitration has cost about $75,000. The company opened its case Sept. 22, and the arbitrators have sat 67 days, 114 witnesses have been examined, and 177 exhibits put in. The subjoined table is interesting:

FIENDISH CRIME IN BOSNIA.

Gendarmes Discovered to Have Committed Outrage and Murder Nearly Lynched.

VIENNA, Jan. 29.—A despatch from Bosna Seral, the capital of Bosnia, gives the details of a strange and horrible murder. Two gendarmes, it appears, outraged, killed and afterwards cut up the body of a young Servian girl whom they met while patroling a road passing through a thick wood. After murdering the woman the gendarmes concealed her remains in the forest and were upon the point of leaving the scene of their crime when they caught sight of an Italian woodcutter, who seemed to have been watching the whole proceeding. Upon being questioned the man admitted that he had seen the gendarmes commit the crime. Upon his promise not to say anything about it they simply arrested him as a vagrant, instead of killing him, as at first proposed.

The police officers took their prisoner to their headquarters at the gendarmerie, but upon arriving there the Italian woodcutter denounced the gendarmes and told the police officials where they could find the body of the murdered woman. The two murderers were then arrested. News of the crime soon caused a large crowd to collect in front of the police station, and when the officers who had been sent to investigate the woodman's charges returned, bearing the body of the murdered woman upon a stretcher made of branches of trees, the fury of the crowd assembled about the gendarmerie knew no bounds. They made a rush for the doors of the gendarmerie, broke into that building in spite of the efforts of the officers to stop them, and had nearly lynched the two murderous gendarmes when the latter were rescued by a number of policemen and a detachment of soldiers who had been called to quell the disturbance.

Yesterday afternoon she was missed and after searching through the hospital she was finally found in a closet with the door locked. Finally the door was broken in and Maggie was found in great agony, a full grown infant with life extinct was also found. The girl was placed in bed and properly cared for. Coroner Casgrain decided to hold an inquest on the body of the infant. This morning Maggie was in a precarious condition and her recovery is considered doubtful.

Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 30, 1891.

One of the many wise suggestions at the Western Dairymen's convention came from Governor Hoard. It was that the cheese factories of the country might, especially in winter, be utilized to some extent as dairy schools. It is not the buyers, or even the makers, of cheese who need most the lessons taught at these annual meetings. It is the patrons of the factories — who own the good or bad cows, who feed them well or badly, who send good or bad milk, who are intelligent or slovenly or dishonest —who require to be got at. Until these are got at, Canada will never reach the ultima thule in cheesemaking. The profits of dairying are in exact proportion to the nearness to which perfection is reached. This is something the patrons of this county should consider. The cheese of this county is the best made—at least it commanded the highest average last season—and if this reputation and these results are to be maintained and continued, there must be constant improvement in milk making methods—the cow must be worked to her full capacity and the cow of the best capacity must be secured. Of course this involves a full knowledge of breeds, feeds and modes, and the best way, perhaps, to secure information in these respects is to adopt the suggestion made above.

Rochester has a society for the organization of charity, which is worked in accordance with the following objects and principles:

First—Co-operation between individuals, churches and charitable agencies, both public and private, thus preventing the overlapping of relief.

Second—Such investigation as will ensure an accurate knowledge of each applicant for assistance.

Third—The exposure of habitual beggars and frauds.

Fourth—The organization of a body of friendly visitors, who shall by personal interest and sympathy gradually build up habits of saving and industry among the less fortunate, thus preserving and elevating the home.

Fifth—The helping of the poor to help themselves, by making employment the basis of relief.

"Some proper system," says a contemporary, "is sadly needed for the distribution of relief. The various city charities work more or less in the dark, with the result that the needy and deserving often want, while the dissolute and the lazy luxuriate on the proceeds of misguided benevolence."

Hammond, the Evangelist.

Prospects of a Visit to Canada.

(To the Editor of the Witness.)

Sir,—There is some reason to hope that the Rev. Edward Payson Hammond, M.A., widely known as the children's evangelist, may re-visit Canada during the winter and make the eastern cities and townships the first centres of his work. Should he do so no one will rejoice more than the writer. More than twenty years ago I first met him in the city of Dublin, the sphere of my first pastoral care, and joined him in evangelistic work. There and then it was I clearly realized that while his messages reached people of all ages and classes, that God had specially called and set him apart to be the apostle of the young people. Many of the latter were converted and added to the church of which I was the pastor, some of whom have since gone to be with Christ, while, with one exception, the others are living Christian lives and are engaged in active service in the churches. His tour at that time extended through the United Kingdom and Ireland, and was, as I learned from the above ministers of all denominations in whose churches he wrought, attended with wonderful results among the young. Such widely known and greatly honored men as Drs. Alexander, Bonar, Sinclair, Paterson, the Hon. and Rev. Baptist Noel, M.A., Newman Hall, M.A., and C. H. Spurgeon, endorsed his work with special emphasis, as ministers who had reaped large and substantial results from his sowing.

Till Mr. Hammond commenced his work, and, indeed, long after, child conversion was regarded with suspicion, at most it was not made a definite aim in Christian work. A converted child was treated as a rara avis whose feathers were systematically kept from growing, and its wings regularly clipt, so that it could, its identity might be proven by marks of irregular unbelief slowly passing away as the signs and evidences of a real work of grace among the children multiplied and displayed on all sides, and its reality was joyfully accepted by not a few. It was clearly seen not only that children of tender years could savingly accept the Saviour, but that just here in the child-life the Gospel found its readiest acceptance and most hopeful sphere. Mr. Hammond has never been credited to any just extent with the results of his work in the United Kingdom. They were great and manifold; immediate and more remote; direct and indirect.

The direct and immediate results of his work were seen in the conversion of a multitude of young people of all ages, and the wonderful impulse given to direct labors for the immediate conversion of the children among the churches denominationally.

The indirect and more remote results were seen in the gradual formation of Children's Bands, and other agencies for the encouragement and culture of the spiritual life of the children. A great change came in the hymnology, and the general spirit, color and adaptivity of work among them.

"The Children's Special Service Mission," formed before he left England, was the direct and not the least delightful fruit of his labors. It is an undenominational mission, with such greatly good men as Joseph Spiers at its head, and it reaches through its agents in all parts of the United Kingdom.

The wonderful work of this mission will never be know till we stand before Christ. Time will fail me to tell the historical progress and results of that great wave of impulse which, beginning with his work while a student in the University of Edinburgh, rolled onward through the churches of the United Kingdom.

Six years ago I again met him in London, where a great work of grace was in progress. In the great hall of Mildmay, with the Episcopalians in the dark slums of Paddington, the Presbyterians of Notting Hill, the Baptists of North and South London, and all the denominations of beautiful Norwood, he laboured incessantly and with wonderful success. The power of the Lord was everywhere present converting sinners to Christ.

The last visit to London was valuable and consolatory for one thing, viz., the demonstration that was then made of the permanency of its work. There were gathered in Mildmay (all residents of London, visitors to the city, and ministers and merchants from all parts of the United Kingdom in great numbers, who testified that they had been converted to God during his previous visits; still others told how they had been quickened in seeking and led to form worthier conceptions of the importance and possibility of the conversion of children. One merchant said to the writer, "I had no faith in the conversion of children to Christ till I took my own little boy to hear Mr. Hammond, and he was converted to God. I have plenty of faith in it now." This demonstration was deeply important, for there were many who, like my friend, could not sympathize with Mr. Hammond's methods, and regarded the effect produced as the effect of mere transient excitement of the imaginative and emotional nature predominant in childhood. The testimony of Dr. Sinclair Paterson, to which I listened with deep interest, was to the effect that the best workers and chief evangelists in Glasgow were those who had been converted as youths under Mr. Hammond's ministry, twenty five years ago, and that now, after the lapse of twenty-five years, not than one hundred and fifty persons in his congregation in London had professed conversion under Mr. Hammond's ministry, carried with its convincing power. I heard him repeat that testimony in the hall of the Sunday-school Union, Old Bailey, where it was supported and confirmed, as at Mildmay Hall, by influential leaders of all denominations. Of his work in the States and Canada, I will only say that since coming to this country I have again and again met with ministers and members of the churches who are the fruits of his work. I was specially struck with this at the Convention of Christian Workers held in Detroit three years ago.

I write these lines in the hope that Christians will pray for him, both that the Lord may send him here, and that in the fulness of power and the blessing of the Gospel.

G. H. Mallet.

Cornwall, Dec. 8th, 1890.

The Present Belongs to Men.

A great writer says: "The moment past is no longer; the future may never be; the present is all of which man is the master."

The man or woman who is mentally and physically afflicted with any of the brain and nerve troubles now so very prevalent, can gain no advantage or relief by brooding over past sufferings; nor can the future safely be counted on as to what results it will bring. The present is their's alone and demands immediate work and action. If you look for the future, you must prepare yourself for it. That nervous feeling, and fearful trembling sensation must be banished; that feeling of extreme irritableness, and sleeplessness and state of exhaustion must be got rid of; your indigestion and dyspepsia must banish before you grasp at the future and what is dimly seen in the distance.

Act at once; be decisive, be noble to yourself. Despair never enters a brave heart; your condition is not hopeless while Paine's Celery Compound can be procured. It is the only remedy that can give permanent relief; its results are sure and unfailing in all cases. The weak and nervous are made steady and strong; the sleepless obtain sweet repose; the irritable are made happy and joyous, and years added to existence on earth.

Dyspepsia

Intense Suffering for 8 years—Restored to Perfect Health.

Few people have suffered more severely from dyspepsia than Mr. E. A. McMahon, a well known grocer of Staunton, Va. He says: "Before 1878 I was in excellent health, weighing over 200 pounds. In that year an ailment developed into acute dyspepsia, and soon I was reduced to 162 pounds, suffering burning sensations in the stomach, palpitation of the heart, nausea, and indigestion. I could not sleep, lost all heart in my work, had fits of melancholia, and for days at a time I would have welcomed death. I became morose, sullen and irritable, and for eight years life was a burden. I tried many physicians and many remedies. One day a workman employed by me suggested that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla, as cured his wife of dyspepsia. I did so, and before taking the whole of a bottle I began to feel like a new man. The terrible pains to which I had been subjected, ceased, the palpitation of the heart subsided, my stomach became easier, nausea disappeared, and my entire system began to tone up. With returning strength came activity of mind and body. Before the fifth bottle was taken I had regained my former weight and natural condition. I am today well and I ascribe it to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla."

BURIED IN THE RUINS.

An Old Convent Collapses and Seven Persons are Killed.

ROME, Jan. 28.—The Eternal City is filled with horror to-day by the fall of an old convent building. Three neighboring houses were crushed and seven people were buried in the ruins. Among these was a whole family, three children and parents. The carbineers were able to extricate one of the children, but the other two, with their parents and three other people, were killed.

TWO NOTED BURGLARS.

The Men Who Have Been Operating in Canada Jailed in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Two dangerous crooks have been arrested here with costly kits of burglar tools in their possession. They are Billy Maher alias George Houghton and David Cummings alias Cronin, known as "Little Dave." Dave was discharged at the Old Bailey, London, England, Oct 30 last on a ticket of leave after serving five years for bank burglary. He has a big record as a Mississippi River thief of 20 years ago. He has served time in various states. In New Orleans Cummings and his pal robbed a jewelry store of $100,000 worth of property. They afterwards did a $65,000 job in New Orleans and a $25,000 diamond robbery in St. Louis. From a notorious house in Chicago they stole $7000 worth of diamonds. In Quincy, Ills., they robbed the First National Bank of $100,000 in bonds, $90,000 in cash and $350,000 in railroad securities. The gang got away with $40,000 of property from the Falls City Bank at Louisville, and stole $6000 worth of diamonds from a Philadelphia jeweler, and $15,000 from a salesman for the New York house of Eno, Richardson & Co. in Baltimore. Maher was sent to prison in Trenton, N.J. in 1871, for an attempt to rob the Jamesburg Bank. He escaped from jail, but was re-arrested. Since then he has been "working" in Canada, and is believed to have committed the Cobourg, Milton and other recent robberies.

STRUCK DOWN AT HIS FORGE.

Strange and Fatal Illness of a Sarnia Blacksmith.

SARNIA, Jan. 28.—Joshua Mathews, while engaged at his work in William Farr's blacksmith shop, was observed by his fellow workmen to burst into a fit of causeless laughter, and then to stagger as if from weakness. He was assisted to his home in George-street, before reaching which he had sunk into a state of almost stupor. Medical aid was summoned when it was found that the seizure was apoplexy and the cause the bursting of a blood vessel in the brain. He only lived a few hours.

Important Decision Under the Inter-State Commerce Law.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission to-day decided the case of the New York Board of Trade and Transportation v. the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and 28 other railroad companies, involving questions of discriminations made and preference given to foreign merchandise shipped upon through bills of lading from foreign ports to points of destination in the United States, through ports of entry in a foreign country adjacent to the United States, over other and similar merchandise carried from such ports of entry to such points of destination in the United States. The complaint was sustained by the commission against the Texas & Pacific, the St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern. The Louisville, New Orleans & Texas, the Illinois Central, the Union Pacific, the Northern Pacific, the Baltimore & Ohio, the Lehigh Valley, the Canadian Pacific, and the Grand Trunk Railway Companies. Each of these companies was ordered by the commission to desist from carrying any article of imported traffic shipped from any foreign port through any port of entry of the United States or any port of entry in a foreign country adjacent to the United States upon through bills of lading destined to any place within the United States at any other than upon the inland tariff governing other freight at such port of entry to such place of destination, or any other than the same rates established in such inland tariff for the carriage of other like kind of tariff in the elements of bulk weight value and expense of carriage of such order to take effect March 10. The complaint as to the other railroads is dismissed.

Italy in Bad Shape.

ROME, Jan. 28.—Signor Grimaldi presented the annual financial statement to the Chamber of Deputies to-day. It shows a deficit for 1891 of 60,000,000 francs. Deficits of 40,000,000 francs yearly are expected for the next three years. Increased duties are proposed on oil seeds and mineral oils, as well as various economics, chiefly in the military and public works budgets.

Struck By a Falling Derrick.

GUELPH, Jan. 28.—Joseph Shaw was struck on the head by a falling derrick at Harris' ice house this afternoon and badly injured.

Shaved By Electricity.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan 28.—As Howard Hall started his electric motor this morning a bright blaze shot out from the dynamo and burned his mustache off.

The Strikers Beaten

CORK, Jan. 28.—After a weary struggle lasting 14 weeks the Cork steam packet strike has been settled by the complete submission of the strikers.

A Terrible Avalanche.

ROME, Jan. 28.—An avalanche at Floresta to-day destroyed 11 houses and killed 19 persons.

Taps from the Telegraph.

The death list of the Mammoth Pins, Pa., disaster now reaches 130.

At Athamara, Greece, yesterday, 25 persons were killed and many injured by an earthquake.

Three persons were shot and killed at Gallegos, Spain, yesterday in an election riot.

At Belfountain, Cornwall County, yesterday, Thomas Rippley and Lieutholder Steinthorpe were instantly killed by the rig they were driving going over an embankment.

Trouble on a Race Track.

MELBOURNE, Aust., Jan. 29.—When Carbine won the Melbourne Cup three bookmakers who couldn't see how he could shoulder 145 pounds and carry it to the front at the end of two miles, suddenly left the track because they didn't want to see a number of men who had deposited Carbine bets with them. With the bookies it was a case of time is money and money is time. Jockey Mike O'Brien, who pilloted the famous Carbine and also won the Melbourne Cup in 1883 with Mentor, is very ill. O'Brian's condition is considered so dangerous that grave doubts as to his recovery are entertained by his friends.

ABOUT WOMEN.

Mme. Modjeska aspires to literary as well as to histrionic fame. She is now publishing a very readable account of her tour in America in a Cracow newspaper.

A Western farmer's daughter, whose maiden father to give her a farm for her own, manages the entire eighty acres herself, and last year managed to clear $1,000, besides buying her clothes and machinery and stock for the farm. She had a girl friend for a companion, and keeps one man.

The Queen is ageing perceptibly. Great care is taken of the royal lady, who moves about as little as possible even in her own apartments, and is constantly attended by an alert and devoted Scotchman, who anticipates her wishes. Stairs are ascended backward and very slowly, and the ebony stick is in constant demand. Yet the Queen is only seventy-one years old.

A well-known English woman physician, working for the abolition of child marriages in India, dispels the old illusion so long cherished that Indian girls arrive at maturity at a much earlier age than those in cold climates. Her practice in native families has convinced her that the most precocious Hindoo girl of 15 is about the equal mentally of an English child of 11, and all statements to the contrary are very misleading.

Miss Kate Marsden had a busy week in St. Petersburg on her last visit there. She consulted the great Dr. Duncan and other men of place concerning her work, had an interview with the Countess Tolstoi, and the gracious Empress gave audience to the heroic traveller for the second time this year. The Czarina of all the Russias presented her with her portrait, signed with her name, and with a pass through Siberia, and manifested toward her the greatest gentleness and tenderness.

Should women do the wooing? To be sure! Else how is man to know how charming she really is? inquires an exchange. Men do the winning and wedding but the girl who wants to be won and wed does the wooing every time. A man is putty, wax, clay, in her hands. Nature deals her one card, art another, the modiste a third, fashion a fourth, and if she plays her trump first the game is hers.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 30, 1891.

NOTICE.

Nearly a month ago we made a general call on those who were doing business with us to send in their accounts in order that a settlement to the end of the year might be effected. While a great many have promptly responded, a few have failed to present their contra accounts. These are again asked to send them in at once so that all accounts may be squared and adjusted.

We must again respectfully but firmly insist upon all accounts due the EXAMINER or Peterborough Bookstore being paid with as little delay as possible. We MUST keep faith with our creditors, and to do so it is imperative that those who are indebted to us should pay us promptly what is due. This reference is made to subscriptions as well as to accounts for goods.

It is absolutely necessary for business reasons that all outstanding accounts be settled by the First of February, 1891, and it is equally necessary that all accounts against us should be presented and settled. It would be very unpleasant to us to delegate the work of collecting any of our accounts to our solicitors, nevertheless ALL accounts to the 1st of January must be arranged within the shortest possible time.

Promenade Concert.

The Ladies of the Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary Score Another Success.

The Y. M. C. A. promenade concert in the new market building Thursday night was quite successful in spite of the inclement weather. The audience was not a large one, but a pleasant time was spent nevertheless. The entertainment was gotten up by the Ladies' Auxiliary, the funds being devoted to the purchase of a new piano. The ladies carried out their arrangements most satisfactorily, and a thoroughly enjoyable evening's entertainment was presented.

The platform was built against the middle of the George street wall, the windows being draped with flags. Seats were arranged semi-circularly for the spectators. Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., was chairman. The programme was carried out as advertised. The opening number was a brilliantly executed piano duet by Miss Nellie Wrighton and Mr. Fred Clark. Next came a vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. Daly, which pleased so well that an encore was asked for, but not granted. Then followed a humorous reading by Mr. Chas. N. Brown in his inimitable style. A dozen young ladies of the Collegiate Institute gave an exhibition of club swinging. They are pupils of Mr. Rundle's class, and acquitted themselves most creditably. Their performance was repeated by request later on. Mrs. Seward and Mr. W. H. Manning sang a beautiful duet, after which Mr. W. R. Greatrex gave a bass solo in good voice. A vocal quartette by Misses Cameron and Crane, and Messrs. Crane and Nelson, was heartily encored. Miss Maud Edmison rendered a violin solo (with piano accompaniment) in a manner which showed her proficiency on this popular instrument. The programme was concluded by an instrumental duet by Miss Gilmour and Mr. Hoover, played with finish and skill.

Then refreshments were served by the ladies at little tables scattered about the hall, where, for the modest sum of a dime, a substantial lunch could be procured. The audience meanwhile amused themselves in walking, talking and social intercourse, the Y. M. C. A. band rendering a number of selections.

The entertainment was fairly successful, and but for the storm would, no doubt, have been much more so, as a great number of tickets were sold.

Winter Ice Meetings.

Successful Sport at Norwood—Lack of Enterprise in Peterborough.

A two days' trotting meeting opened at Norwood Thursday, and brought together a lot of good horses as well as all the lovers of fast horses in the village and surrounding country. The ice was in splendid condition, the attendance large and the races keenly contested. The green trot and three minute trot were finished the first day and resulted as follows:

GREEN TROT.

Connors Bros. (Peterboro b) Fanny C.	1	1	1
W Clancy's (Peterboro') Lady Clancy	3	2	2
W McCrea's (Kingston) Black Ned	2	3	3
McKelvie's (Norwood) W.J.	4	4	dr

THREE-MINUTE TROT.

J C McConkey's May Hopeful	4	4	dr

Time—3.00, 2.47, 2.32.

NO RACES HERE.

The meeting of horsemen called for last night did not materialize, there apparently not being enough men in town with the spirit of sport sufficiently developed to undertake to arrange for an ice meeting. There were a few present, but races can only be properly managed when there is joint and unanimous action among all interested, so no steps were taken. It seems strange that the "Hub" cannot have an ice meeting for horses when Port Hope, Norwood, and other small towns are enterprising enough to hold two days races. Let the sportsmen of Peterborough bestir themselves and arrange for a meeting before the ice goes.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

THIRD DAY—THURSDAY.

There was a session of the County Council this afternoon to receive a deputation. After routine, the deputation, consisting of Messrs. Dawson Kennedy, president of the West Riding Farmers' Institute, John A. Davidson, secretary, and James Barnard, a member, was introduced. The deputation asked that the Council memorialize the Legislature to deprive municipalities of cities, towns and villages of the power of imposing market fees unless reasonable provision for the comfort and convenience of farmers shall have been provided, and that the fees shall not be sufficient to yield a revenue to such municipality over and above the legal interest on the cost of such improvements. They also pointed out that some municipalities now collected fees in excess of the statutory limits. The local Institutes as well as the Central Farmers' Institute, were prepared to take action to secure the desired legislation, and the County Council was asked to co-operate by memorializing the Legislature in the manner asked.

A general discussion ensued in which the opinion was expressed that in no case should the market fees be a source of revenue to a town, for the latter was interested equally with the farmer in having a good market—the advantage was mutual, and therefore the responsibility should be reciprocal. The matter was referred to the Committee on Petitions, with instructions to prepare a memorial.

SUGAR BEET FACTORY.

The deputation also addressed the council with reference to a sugar beet factory which it was proposed to erect, which is explained in extenso in another part of these columns. The matter was clearly laid before the council, and the committee asked that a committee be appointed from the members to attend the adjourned meeting to be held at Harwood on February 13th, and make a joint effort with the West Riding Institute to have the proposed factory established in Peterborough as the best point for the purpose, all things considered. The council regarded the request with favour, and the following committee was appointed, as asked:—The Warden and Messrs. Moloney, Forster, Kidd, Stewart, H.C. Garbutt, M. Sanderson, Alex. McCauley and Jas. Moore—the committee to report to the council.

POLICE CO-OPERATION.

Mr. THOS. JOHNSTON, and Mr. Isaac Garbutt, of Otonabee, waited upon the council to ask that body to make a special grant to the Chief of Police of the town of Peterborough, so that in case the farmers on any occasion might need his services, he would be in a manner duty bound to attend to their representations. Mr. Johnston explained that on a certain occasion the services of the police were necessary and, although there was no legal claim to his services, the Chief had very kindly interested himself in a matter beyond his province, except on the grounds of humanity.

The matter was referred to the Committee on Finance.

FOURTH DAY—FRIDAY.

A deputation from the town council (Messrs. T. Cahill, E. H. D. Hall, R. S. Davidson, Wm. Langford, R. M. Dennistoun) visited the County Property Committee, and laid before them the advisability of placing a hydrant near the court house. Mr. Cahill and Mr. Davidson spoke on the subject, explaining that the town had placed one hydrant in the vicinity, and they asked the county to bear the expense of another, for the better fire protection of the county buildings. The extra hydrant would cost $40—and they thought the county council ought in all fairness bear the expense. On motion it was decided to give $40 to the town to put down the hydrant.

A HOUSE OF REFUGE.

The special committee appointed to consider the establishment of a House of Refuge then went into session, Mr. John Burnham in the chair, and the deputation from the town appeared in the town's behalf. It had been proposed to jointly establish a House of Refuge for the indigent poor of the town and county, and the committees from each council met together and discussed the matter. Mr. Burnham explained that the Ontario Statutes provided for such institutions, and read a letter he had received from Lindsay, giving information concerning a number of Houses of Refuge in the Provinces, the consensus of opinion being that these institutions should be under the independent control of the county council, other separate municipalities making use of the charity to pay certain fees therefor, the average rate being $2 a week. None of the institutions established were joint affairs between town and county.

The town delegates stated that they did not think the institution would decrease the charity expenditure of the town very much, as most of their charity was expended in private houses on persons who would refuse to enter such a place.

It was mentioned that if the House of Refuge was established it might be overrun by outside municipalities. At present, according to the figures of Gaoler Nesbitt, there were 11 vagrants in the county gaol, 4 of these being from outside the county, and 7 from town and county.

Mr. BURNHAM read some statistics concerning a number of Houses of Refuge in the Province. In Norfolk, the least expensive, its inmates cost last year $51.20 each—less than a dollar a week. In Elgin, the next lowest, the average cost of maintenance of the inmates was $69.16. The following figures were given:

County.	Years Ed'fied.	Acres of land.	Capital Expend're
Waterloo	21	125	$20,000
Elgin	15	50	13,850
Middlesex	10	45	30,000
Welland	13	60	23,564
York	7	51	31,500
Lincoln	4	50	19 500
Norfolk	22	100	7,000
Wellington	13	50	30,000

Mr. Cahill, Mr. Dennistoun and Mr. Hall spoke on the subject, Mr. Dennistoun advising that the town committee be given the information collected by Mr. Burnham, and probably by the next session of the county council, they would be able to make some definite proposal.

This was agreed to and the meeting adjourned.

Mr. Chas. O'Reilly, of this place, had a very close call on Friday evening at Logan's crossing, Belmont, on the C. P. R. He was approaching the crossing at that point with a horse and cutter, and when within a few yards of the track the express due here at 5.12 p.m., came bowling along at a high rate of speed. As the road and track meet at a sharp angle at that point, Mr. O'Reilly did not see the train nor hear the whistle until the engine was within five or six yards of the crossing. Recognizing that he could not cross in time he endeavoured to stop the horse. His efforts were unavailing, however, and the terrified animal ran along the track parallel with the train for over thirty yards. On reaching the cattle guard the horse turned and plunged into the swamp, upsetting and smashing the cutter and damaging the harness. Mr. O'Reilly fortunately escaped unhurt, and the horse, recovered shortly afterwards, suffered no serious injury from its mad race with a fast express. Those on the train who noticed the occurrence, regard it is a marvelous escape. The crossing in question is one of the most dangerous in this part of the country, and too much caution cannot be used in approaching it.

A Vanishing Surplus.

Mr. John G. Carlisle, a well-known Democratic Senator, has written an article in the Forum, in which he shows how rapidly the American surplus is vanishing under Republican rule. He dates the responsibility of the Republican party from July 1st, 1889. On that day the available cash balance in the treasury was $140,536,000, and on June 30th, 1890, the available cash balance was $111,029,107. He estimates that on July 1st, 1891, this surplus will be converted into a deficit of $14,000,000, and a year later a deficit of $94,000,000. While, he says, the population in 1890 was only sixteen times as great as in 1790, the expenditures of the National Government, excluding all payments upon the interest and principal of the public debt, were more than 120 times as great. There is a general tendency to increase expenditures for the ordinary purposes of government faster than the increase of population. In financial matters the history of Canada under Tory rule furnishes in some respects a parallel with the history of the United States. We have had no surplus to vanish, but in the last eleven years the national debt has grown from $140,000,000 to $237,000,000. Here as there, the tariff has taken from the people greater sums than were required for the legitimate needs of government, and the result has been to excite the cupidity of boodlers and to cause extravagant expenditures. In the United States the pension list has furnished a ready and rapid way of relieving the congestion of the treasury. In Canada vast sums are spent every year upon subsidies for railroads such as were described by Sir Richard Cartwright the other day, "roads of two miles, of three, of five, of six, of seven, of ten, of twelve miles long—roads to this man's wharf and to that man's cotton mill or coal mine, roads from one point in a particular county to another in the same, or perhaps in an adjoining county, which are gravely declared to be 'roads for the general benefit of the people of Canada' and are forthwith dowered at the expense of the State. Many of these subsidies, he said, "are neither more nor less than bribes, sometimes intended to put money into the pockets of a Minister of the Crown; sometimes of a Parliamentary supporter; sometimes of an influential outsider whose good-will it was desirable to gain; and now and then debauch a whole Province; but in the majority of cases no more justifiable in view of the plain sense and meaning of the B.N.A. Act than would be a grant out of the Dominion treasury to build you a Public School house, or to repair your highways, or to execute any other purely local improvement." We have also in Canada such sinkholes for money as the Intercolonial Railway, which last year cost $3,481,000 to run and yielded receipts of only $2,928,000, leaving a deficit of $553,000. Besides this $365,000 was charged to capital account and the country had to pay interest on the $40,000,000 which the road has cost, making a real deficit of about $2,000,000. In the same year $1,170,000 was spent on the Cape Breton line, $382,000 on the Digby and Annapolis and $434,000 on the Oxford and New Glasgow. When the American pension list fails, if our neighbours are still in the mood for throwing money away, they can get a few valuable pointers from Canada.

Life is too Short and time and money too precious, to be frittered away in the trial of uncertain means of cure, when one is afflicted with any lingering or chronic ailment of the liver, lungs or blood. Now, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is such a positive remedy for all such ills, as to warrant its manufacturers in selling it, as they are doing, through druggists, on condition that if it don't do all that it is recommended to do, the money paid for it will be promptly refunded. There are a great many blood-purifiers advertized, but only the "Golden Medical Discovery" of Dr. Pierce could sustain itself and be sold under such trying conditions. To sell any ordinary medicine under such a guarantee, would bankrupt its proprietors, but with the "Golden Medical Discovery" all that is asked for it is a fair trial, and if it don't do all that it is advertized to, the manufacturers will cheerfully and promptly refund all money paid for it. By this singularly peculiar method of business, alike liberal to the purchasers and exacting to the manufacturers, the invalid can be sure of getting the value of his money, which is not true of any other medicine. All diseases arising from a torpid liver, or from impure or poisoned blood, are conquered by the "Golden Medical Discovery." Especially has it manifested its marvelous potency in curing Salt-rheum, Tetter, Eczema, Psoriasis, Impetigo, Erysipelas, and all skin and scalp diseases, no matter of how long standing. Scrofulous affections, sores and swellings, as Fever-sores, White Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, and kindred ailments yield to its positive, purifying, strengthening and healing properties. Lung Scrofula (commonly known as Consumption of the Lungs) also yields to it, if it be taken in time and given a fair trial. Contains no alcohol to inebriate, no syrup or sugar to ferment and impair digestion; as wonderful in its curative results as it is peculiar in composition. Don't accept any substitute, said to be "just as good" that the dealer may make a larger profit.

THE ANCASTER MURDER.

No Trace of the Heslop Murderers—The Reward Increased to $700.

HAMILTON, Jan. 29.—Not the slightest clue has been obtained towards unraveling the mystery attending the murder of Treasurer Heslop of Ancaster.

The detectives insisted that the bullet in the body of the deceased would have to be found, as it would be an important link in the chain of evidence. Yesterday afternoon Dr. Richardson made another examination of the body, and after considerable trouble located the bullet under the right shoulder blade. It is a 32-calibre bullet such as would come from a revolver. It has been handed over to the coroner. Nearly 1 o'clock on the morning of the murder two men driving a dark horse called at the residence of a well-to-do farmer named Surerus, near Greensville. He had a talk with them through the window. One was tall and the other shorter, and both wore dark overcoats. They said they were slightly out of their latitude and wanted to find the shortest road to Ancaster, which is four miles from Greensville. He told them the shortest way would be round by Weir's-lane, but the best way to go was by the stone road. "I don't want to go through a toll-gate," said one of the men. They said they had driven from Harriston, a very improbable story, and that they owned a farm past Ancaster, and wanted to get to it by the Sulphur Springs-road. They drove off in the direction of the Sulphur Springs.

Enquiries made in the village yesterday elicited the fact that Adam Kelly, Mr. Wilson and several other residents heard a buggy drive through the village street at 11¾, and heard it return a couple of hours afterwards driving rapidly. It is known to be the same rig because the horse "forged," and the clicking of the shoes attracted attention and remark at the time. Some parties looked out and saw a dark horse attached to a light buggy and driven by two men.

This morning the family added $200 to the $500 reward put up by the municipalities.

HE IS AN ALIEN.

The Kingston Divine Cannot Minister to His Detroit Charge.

DETROIT, Jan. 29.—Jefferson-avenue Presbyterian Church some time ago extended a call to Rev. W. W. Carson, pastor of the Methodist Church, Kingston, Ont. Mr. Carson accepted the call and agreed to withdraw from the Methodist Church, and arrangements were made to have him examined by the local presbytery for admission to that body. Last Sunday Mr. Carson preached what was supposed to be an inaugural sermon. Last night at the annual meeting of the church a committee reported that Mr. Carson's call was apparently in opposition to alien contract labor law. The committee recommended that the call be cancelled and the report unanimously adopted. There was much speculation this morning as to the cause of this remarkable move. A prominent member of the church says: "We did not know of the law when we extended the call to Mr. Carson, and when we found out about it we thought it best not to get into any trouble, so the call was cancelled." Mr. Carson has returned to Kingston. The congregation are hopeful he will yet become a citizen of the United States, in which event he will be once more asked to accept the call to the church.

Escaped in their Nightclothes.

AULDWILLER, Jan. 29.—The storehouse, shop and dwelling occupied of A. F. Nash, blacksmith, was destroyed by fire this morning. The inmates barely escaped in their nightclothes, losing all their personal effects, the accumulation of a lifetime being completely destroyed in two short hours. A subscription list was immediately started and at this time about $200 have been subscribed.

A Family Wiped Out.

BERLIN, Jan. 29.—Mayor Radegast of Anhalt was recently convicted of embezzling municipal funds and fled to Leipsic to escape punishment. His wife and father-in-law, unable to bear the disgrace, both committed suicide. The Mayor, on hearing of their death, also killed himself.

SINGLE TAX

Is now the question of the hour; but to those interested in Ordered or Ready-made Clothing, single profits ought to be a subject of greater importance. Yearly importing all our principal lines, we save you the profits of the wholesale man, and you have thus one single profit to pay. That profit is not a large one, and has been made still smaller, as we are determined each and every article of Winter Clothing must go, to make way for Spring Goods. Each and every department has been visited and all goods have been reduced. Don't you buy a dollar's worth of clothing until you have looked us over. Take into consideration that we are selling First Class Goods with but a single profit, and that it is no trouble to show goods, whether you wish to buy or not.

"WE DO NOT COME TO YOU AS BEGGARS."

He Makes a Strong Appeal in Favor of Reciprocity at the Annual Banquet of the Merchants' Association

BOSTON, Jan. 30.—At the annual banquet of Boston Merchants' Association to-night Sir Richard Cartwright made an address on "Reciprocal trade relations between Canada and the United States." His arguments for reciprocity were loudly applauded. He declared free trade between the United States and Canada must benefit both countries and said: "The trade of the United States is certainly worth more to us collectively than ours is to them. But free trade with Canada will benefit quite as many of the people of the United States as of the people of Canada, and to quite as large an extent. Man for man you will gain quite as much as we will. Canada offers and Canada desires only a fair exchange and no robbery." He thought a firm and cordial alliance might well be created between these several nations which speak the English tongue, which should make it impossible they should ever again come into hostile conflict, and he hoped the peculiar position of Canada might enable her to play some part in bringing about this consummation. Sir Richard concluded by saying: "Every true Canadian does and must sincerely desire the prosperity of the United States. We recognize that to a very great extent our prosperity is bound up with yours—that we are powerfully affected by your example for good or ill, and that in spite of all mischievous legislation can do to interfere with it the progress of science and the mere fact of our geographical position are daily and hourly forcing us into even closer communication."

TORONTO TOPICS.

Annual Meeting of the Imperial Federation League.

TORONTO, Jan. 30.—D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C., M.P., presided at the annual meeting of the Imperial Federation League of Canada held yesterday afternoon in Shaftesbury Hall. The members from a distance were: Principal Grant, Kingston; Sandford Fleming, Ottawa; John White, Woodstock; Thomas Macfarlane, Ottawa.

W. H. Lynan of Montreal sent his report as treasurer. There was a small balance on the right side. His resignation, which was tendered on account of the increasing work of the office, was accepted and the appointment of a successor left to the Executive.

A resolution was proposed by W. Hamilton Merritt and seconded by Thomas Macfarlane commending to other branches of the league in England and elsewhere the Hofmeyer scheme as a step towards closer union by the imposition of an Imperial tariff.

An amendment moved by Castell Hopkins and Principal Grant was carried by 15to 6, as follows:

That in the opinion of the League in Canada it would promote the objects of the League if a council, to be composed of representatives of the self-governing colonies as well as the Mother Country, be convened by the British Government for the purpose of considering the practicability of improved trade relations between Great Britain and the different colonies and dependencies of the empire.

These officers were elected: President, Sir Leonard Tilley; vice-presidents Ontario—A. McNeill, M. P., D'Alton McCarthy, Q. C., M. P.; New Brunswick—Prof. R. C. Weldon, M. P., Senator Boyd; Nova Scotia—Sir Adams Archibald, Archbishop O'Brien, Lieut.-Governor Daly; Manitoba—Lieut.-Governor Schultz; British Columbia—Lieut.-Governor Nelson; P. E. I.—Lieut.-Governor Carvell. The following were elected members of the Council to replace members removed by death: Larratt Smith, D.C.L., W. R. Brock, Archbishop Walsh, John I. Davidson, George Goodersham, W. F. Cowan, Ottawa. Also these are representatives on the English Council: R. R. Dobell, Sandford Fleming, Sir A. T. Galt, George R. Parkin, Sir Charles Tupper.

In the evening D'Alton McCarthy and Principal Grant delivered addresses.

The celestials are brought from Canadian ports to Port Arthur. There they are provided with transportation into the United States in sleighs and wagons. Arrests will probably be made within a day or two.

Traced a Trail of Blood.

ST. MARY'S, Jan. 30.—John Bryans, a farmer in the London road, about three miles from St. Mary's found four of his best sheep missing and a trail of blood leading to St. Mary's. He followed the tracks to a house in the West Ward, occupied by one Michael Handerhan, and from thence through town to the residence of George Crandon. The police were notified and the houses searched. Two partially dressed carcases were found in each house, and Crandon was arrested in bed. Handerhan has not been captured.

The body has not yet been recovered.

THE PLAN OF CAMPAIGN.

DISCUSSED IN THE IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

A Suggestion by the Irish Party That the Government use its Influence in Favor of the Settlement by Arbitration of the Disputes Calls Forth a Bitter Speech From Balfour.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Mr. Shaw-Lefevre (Liberal) moved in the House of Commons to-day that the Government use its influence in favor of the settlement by arbitration of the remaining disputes between tenants and landlords in Ireland arising from the plan of campaign. He said there were now only 30 estates upon which differences existed. Three thousand tenants had been evicted from these estates and now lived in huts, supported by contributions from Irishmen in all parts of the world in the hope that the time was coming when they would be reinstated in their houses. Farms had become derelict and in many cases land had become a waste, covered with nettles breast high. No new tenants, he said, would ever be found for these farms and the best course to bring about a settlement was by arbitration.

T. W. Russell (Irish Unionist) said he would not oppose the principle of arbitration, but he must resist arbitration as a sort of curative lymph likely to effect a complete cure of the plan of campaign. The folly of the plan of campaign was the greatest the Parnellites had ever committed and he could understand their anxiety to get rid of the costly business through the intervention of anybody, even through the Government, whom they were accustomed to revile. The plan of campaign was not brought into operation to benefit tenantry. Its basis and aim was a social revolution and the destruction of landlordism. It was invented and used as a political machine. It was easy to talk about arbitration but quite another affair to get awards carried out. In the case of Gweedore arbitration rents had been fixed through Father McFadden, but tenants had not even paid the terms decided upon by their own friends. What was the land court but a court of arbitration? What was the use of piling arbitration upon arbitration?

Mr. Madden (Attorney-General for Ireland) held that no new reference to arbitration was wanted regarding rents. Regarding arrears the Government acted upon the principle that it should not legislate for one class of tenants.

Balfour's Scathing Arraignment.

Mr. Balfour, Chief Secretary for Ireland, asked which of the numerous sections of the Opposition Shaw-Lefevre expected to please by a resolution which meant that the aid of Government was required to accomplish the aims of plan of campaign, and which implied a never feebler or less efficacious attempt to settle the great question than that made by Mr. Gladstone in 1881. Certainly, he said, Mr. Shaw-Lefevre could not have consulted Mr. Parnell or Mr. Gladstone. Nothing could be worse for the cause in which they were engaged than a resolution displaying to English public the seamy side of one of the most contemptible political agitations ever adopted and showing to Irish tenantry how illusory were promises of support which the agitators made four years ago. Mr. Shaw-Lefevre should leave such work to men who were adepts at the game and who were prepared to go to prison when occasion required. (Cheers.) Why were the persons engaged in the plan of campaign more entitled to this relief than English tenants' made The plan of campaign was a move in the game of revolution since 1879, and was not the spontaneous outcome of the rejection of Mr. Parnell's bill as had been asserted. Mr. Balfour attacked the plan of campaign at great length, and expressed indignation at the language which Shaw-Lefevre had used in reference to the Irish landlords. He granted that the Marquis of Clanricarde had faults, but these he contended were not sufficient to justify the plan of campaign. The tenants had a remedy in the land court for excessive rents but had not availed themselves of it. If he were an Irish landlord he would beg his bread rather than submit to the plan of campaign.

Mr. Tanner's Ire.

Dr. Charles Tanner (Nationalist) here jumped to his feet and, pointing at Mr. Balfour, exclaimed: "You are a canting snob!" but immediately afterward withdrew the expression.

The Speaker warned Dr. Tanner against a repetition of the offence.

Mr. Balfour, in concluding his speech, said if the government was insane enough to propose such an absurd bolstering of the tottering plan of campaign, the House would not be insane enough to adopt it.

Sir George Trevelyan (Liberal) said Mr. Balfour had attacked Mr. Shaw-Lefevre with great severity, but his remarks would not persuade the people of Ireland that Mr. Shaw-Lefevre was not a true and disinterested friend of Ireland according to his light (laughter)—which were brights light. The question ought to have received more serious and courteous treatment at the hands of Mr. Balfour. He declared that, without raising the question of the rectitude of the plan of campaign, it was sought to find means to settle the dispute in question, and it was most important for the peace of the country that they should be settled. If Irish landlords believed the plan of campaign was not defeated they were unwise to reject a proposal promising to clear away the subject of the quarrel if they thought the plan was already defeated, it would be injudicious and ill-advised to reject Mr. Shaw Lefevre's resolution. The motion was rejected by 338 to 152.

REACHED AN ACUTE STAGE

IRISH MEMBERS ARE GREATLY EXCITED.

Mysterious Departure of Sexton for Ennis—Prof. Tyndall Critically Ill—Particulars of the Wreck of the Shanghai—300 Burned to Death or Drowned.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—There was much excitement among the Irish members in the lobbies in the House of Commons to-night on rumors that the party dissension had reached an acute stage. Mr. Sexton had a conference with Mr. Morley and Mr. Parnell, and went to the House of Commons early with the intention of speaking on the Shaw-Lefevre motion, but to the surprise of everyone he departed at 7:30, ostensibly to catch the Irish mail en route to Ennis. His departure gave rise to many conflicting reports. Some said he had decided to retire from the struggle. Others said he regarded the prospect of settlement as ended and had decided to fight to the bitter end.

The Standard says it is understood the McCarthyites are urging Mr. Gladstone to give more specific assurances regarding Home Rule than have yet been obtained.

DEATH BROKE UP THE MEETING.

A Subscriber to the Fund Drops Dead at the Opening Meeting.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—In St. James' Hall to-night Gen. Booth inaugurated the carrying into effect of the scheme of social regeneration set forth in his book "In Darkest England and the Way Out." In connection with the exercises he affixed his signature to the deed of trust drawn up in interest of the subscribers to the fund for carrying on the work. He also commissioned the first band of Salvationist officers set apart for the work.

Gen. Booth retains large powers under the deed of trust. Either himself or his successor will be supreme director of the scheme and of the moneys. Any change made must be assented to by two-thirds of the Consultative Committee. On this committee Gen. Booth will nominate six members and the Archbishop of Canterbury, the president of the Wesleyan Society, the chairman of the Congregational Union, the chairman of the Baptist Union, the Attorney-General and the chairman of the County Council will each nominate two members, one of whom may be the nominator.

George Fleming, who had donated £1000 for the furtherance of Gen. Booth's scheme, was suddenly taken ill while addressing the meeting, and died almost immediately.

French Troops Occupy Tripoli.

ROME, Jan. 30.—Telegrams from Tripoli state that several small detachments of French soldiers have occupied the Turkish villages of Nezen, Nefout, Haur and Houameh, on the ground that they lie within the frontier of Tunis. Hitherto these villages have been acknowledged to be within the Vilayet of Tripoli.

A Belgium Duel.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 30.—A duel is probable between the War Minister and Gen. Brochetoeaux. In a printed interview the latter condemned the Minister's scheme for fortifying Naymur. The Minister has already sent his seconds to Brochetoeux.

Tyndall Critically Ill.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Prof. John Tyndall, whose illness was announced some days ago, is suffering from inflammation of the veins. His condition is now becoming serious.

Cable Briefs.

The Stanley cotton mill at Oldham has been destroyed by fire. Loss £45,000.

MR. SEXTON intimated in conversation last evening that a satisfactory settlement would be achieved at Boulogne-sur-Mer Monday, or at latest by Thursday.

The Irish Times says a man arrested in Tipperary, charged with illegally carrying arms, was found, on being searched, to have concealed on his person a fuse a foot long filled with gunpowder.

The steamer City of Rio de Janeiro from China brings further particulars of the burning of the steamer Shanghai Dec. 25. She had on board 400 Chinese passengers and one European and carried a cargo of cotton. The cotton caught fire and the Chinese plunged overboard and were drowned or were burned to death to the number of 300 or 300. Piracy has increased at Hoihow. Twenty-six pirates have been beheaded since Dec. 20.

The Secretary's Funeral.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Secretary Windom's funeral will probably take place here on Monday from the Church of the Covenant. The interment will be made at Rock Cemetery, near the Soldiers' Home. The Treasury Department is draped in mourning. The President is very deeply grieved over the loss of his friend and this morning gave instructions to inform callers that he would see no one on business to-day.

The President and Cabinet met the train conveying the corpse at the Baltimore & Ohio Station at 4½ and it was taken to the secretary's late residence.

On Trial for Murder.

VICTORIA, B.C., Jan. 30.—The trial of Lawrence Phelan for the murder of David F. Fee on Christmas eve resumed to-day before the Chief Justice. The charge against Joseph Silk of being accessory was withdrawn and Silk released from custody. Evidence in the case is about the same as given in the preliminary trial. Phelan maintains his composure and was to-day apparently the most unconcerned person in court. At 6 o'clock the evidence from the crown was all in and the Chief Justice decided to adjourn the case till to-morrow.

An Arkona Fiend.

ARKONA, Jan. 30.—Alma Mums, who resided alone in this village, has been for some time suspected of bringing young girls to his house, and last night sufficient evidence was obtained to prove his guilt, his victim being 15-year-old Laura Britton. He was arrested and officers had difficulty in protecting him from lynching and conveying him to Sarnia jail. The crowd afterwards proceeded to Mums's shanty, which was set on fire and burned to the ground, together with all the contents, which included a sum of money and Mums's best clothes, etc.

For Using Stamps the Second Time.

WINGHAM, Jan. 30.—Thomas Woodcock was fined $15 and costs yesterday for using postage stamps which had been previously used for the prepayment of postage. It appears this practice of using stamps a second time is becoming too prevalent and the post-office department is determined that examples shall be made of cases coming to the notice of the officials.

Married on Her Death Bed.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Miss Pauline Gailler, a pretty girl of Spring-street, West Hoboken, made an engagement of marriage with Quilliam Mothe, a young silk weaver, two years ago, when she was 16 years old. Recently her health failed and she is in the last stages of consumption. When Miss Gailler's physician the other day announced that she had not long to live she asked her father, Claude Gailler, to let the marriage take place. Last Tuesday evening Justice Ryerson, of Hoboken, in the presence of a few friends married the couple. The bride lay in bed and responded in a weak whisper. The bridegroom held her hand and wept. The bride smiled.

Seriously Hurt.

STRATHROY, Jan. 30.—Daniel Campbell, farmer, Adelaide, was thrown beneath the wheels of a wagon laden with cordwood, in consequence of the, supports giving way while descending a hill to-day, and had his right leg and left arm broken, besides sustaining other serious injuries.

Did He Fire the Barn?

KINCARDINE, Jan. 30.—Daniel McLeod of Kincardine township has been committed for trial on a charge of burning the barn of Sylvester McKim. The prisoner was seen running away from the vicinity of the building just after the flames broke out.

Robbed of $40,000.

DEATHS OUT OF THE ORDINARY.

Many Peculiar and Sudden Deaths in Ontario.

KINGSTON, Jan. 30.—This morning David Williams, nearly 90 years of age, died at the residence of his son, Manley Williams, Ontario-street. Yesterday he complained of lightness in the head. This morning dizziness returned. After taking his breakfast he walked down stairs into the back yard, when he dropped to the ground. He was carried into the house and died immediately.

Died from Excitement.

MONTREAL, Jan. 30.—An old man named Joseph Thompson, residing at 379 Cadieux-street, got into a row with a friend over a trivial matter, and his passionate feelings so overpowered him that he became sick and died. An inquest was held and the verdict was that he had died from syncope, asthma and excitement.

Lifeless in a Hay Mow.

LUCAN, Jan. 30.—Charles Reedy of West Nissouri, aged 69, went out to the barn to do some work, and a few hours afterwards he was found lying dead in the mow. The cause of death was stagnation of the blood, and it is supposed that he died instantly.

Fell Dead on the Highway.

OWEN SOUND, Jan. 30.—Mr. Richard Green, Chatsworth, feeling unusually well, set out for a short drive with his daughter. While on the way Mr. Green got out to arrange something about the harness and fell dead on the road.

Dropped Dead in the Yard.

BOND HEAD, Jan. 30.—James McGeary left his house Wednesday to do some chores in the stable. An hour later his wife found his dead body in the yard. Heart disease was the cause of death.

The Sliver Pierced His Breast.

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—James Bonic of Kossuth was felling a tree yesterday on the farm of Abram Gehl near Freeport, when a sliver from it flew back, hitting him on the breast and killing him instantly.

An Assessor Drops Dead.

Blown to Atoms.

MONTREAL, Jan. 30.—Pierre Lemoine, a workman in the Hamilton Powder Company's works at Beloeil, was blown to atoms by an explosion of nitro-glycerine. Another man was severely wounded.

BRADLAUGH DEAD.

Bradlaugh Passes Away on the Anniversary of Tom Paine's Birth.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Charles Bradlaugh died at 6 o'clock this morning. Mr. Bradlaugh's end was quiet and peaceful. He was insensible when he died and seemed to suffer no pain. The immediate cause of death was tremonia. The funeral will take place Tuesday. There will be no funeral procession, no show of mourning and no religious services.

Mr. Bradlaugh had been unconscious since Tuesday. It has been decided that his body shall be cremated.

Charles Bradlaugh was born in London East Sept. 28, 1833. His father of the same name was a solicitor's clerk. The deceased was educated in elementary schools, after leaving which he became successively errand boy, coal-dealer, Sunday school teacher and free thought writer and lecturer. In 1850 he enlisted in the 7th Dragoon Guards and after serving a time in Ireland procured his discharge in 1853 and returned to London. Here he took up his father's occupation. It was through his secularist views that he became publicly known. He entered into controversies with clergymen and other defenders of orthodoxy. In 1868-9 he fought a great successful battle in the courts against the Attorney-General, who was prosecuting The National Reformer.

Mr. Charles Bradlaugh was returned to Parliament as one of the members for Northampton in 1880. His claim to affirm in lieu of taking the oath of allegiance led to a long and exciting controversy in and out of Parliament. He claimed the right to affirm, but a select committee decided that the claim was inadmissible. He then decided to take the oath, but the House refused to allow him to do so, and he was removed by the sergeant-at-arms and committed to the Clock Tower. Later, he administered the oath to himself. An affirmation bill was subsequently introduced by the Government, and lost by a majority of 3. Three times during the dispute Mr. Bradlaugh was unseated, expelled and resigned his seat, and was re-elected. At the general election of 1885 he was again returned for Northampton and was permitted to take the oath.

Mr. Bradlaugh sympathized with France in 1870. In Parliament he has taken frequent part in debates. He represented the labor and free thought element. A striking example of how a man may live down or change the current of public opinion is given in Charles Bradlaugh's later life, and a no less noteworthy instance of the generosity of that public opinion in England is the unopposed motion made this very week in the House of Commons for the expunging from the records of the House of the expulsion of Mr. Bradlaugh.

A Provincial Minister's Death.

CHARLOTTETOWN, Jan. 30.—Hon. H. L. Macdonald, Commissioner of Public Works for the Province of Prince Edward Island, died yesterday of congestion of the lungs. Hugh Lord Macdonald was in politics a Liberal-Conservative. He was born at Cardigan in the Island Province in 1841 and was, therefore, in his 50th year.

Hennessy Will Make a Motion.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Sir John Pope Hennessy says that if Mr. Gladstone's bill to enable Roman Catholics to hold the offices of English lord-chancellor and Irish viceroy should reach a second reading he (Hennessy) will move an amendment permitting the sovereign also to be a Roman Catholic.

Somebody Stole Their Pipes.

DUBLIN, Jan. 30.—The brass instruments with which the Kilrush band had expected to welcome Mr. Parnell on the occasion of his projected visit to Ennis on Sunday next have been stolen. The Parnellites accuse the followers of Mr. McCarthy with responsibility for the outrage.

Sexton Confers With O'Brien.

BOULOGNE-SUR-MER, Jan. 30.—Thomas Sexton (McCarthyite), member of the British House of Commons, arrived here last evening. Mr. Sexton shortly after his arrival had a long conference with Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien. He will return to-day to London.

A Little Girl as Hired Man.

READING, Pa., Jan. 30.—Birdsboro is wrought up by the arrest yesterday of Mrs. Augusta Bunn and her daughter, Annie, charged with extreme cruelty to little Mary Arnold, a charity ward at the almshouse whom Mrs. Bunn adopted six years ago, and whom she and her daughter are charged with compelling to do a hired man's work, such as carrying the horse early each morning, feeding the cattle, cutting fodder with a heavy machine, removing stable accumulations and doing other work of a stableman.

Swindling Mediums Sentenced.

MONTROSE, Pa., Jan. 30.—Philander Brown was to-day sentenced to imprisonment for one year and six months, and his wife, Olive, to one year and three months, for swindling Paul Hill out of several thousand dollars on a plea that Mrs. Hill, deceased, wanted the money for use in heaven. They were refused a new trial.

Interesting Calculation.

Some Canadian, Professor Loone Levi, has made the calculation that a man is 24 times as likely to be killed or injured by accident as to have his house burnt down. Take the hint, insure now in a safe, sound and progressive accident company—the Manufacturers of Toronto.

Tried and True.

Is the positive verdict of the people who take Hood's Sarsaparilla. When used according to directions the good effects of this excellent medicine are soon felt in nerve strength restored, that tired feeling driven off, a good appetite created, headache and dyspepsia relieved, scrofula cured and all the bad effects of impure blood overcome. For a good blood purifier, take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"If it be well to wash the skin—and we never heard the proposition questioned—it is well also that we should be familiar with the means by which that purpose may be most efficiently attained.

"We once knew a beautiful woman, with a nice complexion, who had never washed her face with soap all her life through; her means of polishing were, a smear of grease or cold cream; then a wipe, and then a lick with rose water. Of course we did not care to look too closely after such an avowal, but we pitied her, for soap is the food of the skin.—

Soap is to the skin what Wine is to the stomach;

a generous stimulant. It not only removes the dirt, but the layer which carries the dirt; and it promotes the displacement of the old cuticle to make way for the new, to increase the activity of change in the skin. Now turn we to Toilet Soaps and there we find a name engraven on the memory of the oldest inhabitant—PEARS.

The Committee on Schools beg leave to report as follows:—

1. With reference to the communication from the County Clerk of the united counties of Leeds and Grenville, asking this council to memorialize the honourable the Legislative Assembly of Ontario to enlarge the legislative grants to Public and High Schools, your committee recommend that this council pass such a memorial.

2. That the County School Inspector, John Davidson, B.A., Norwood, and John Stirling, Peterborough, be the County Board of Examiners to examine teachers and give certificates in accordance with the statute in that behalf.

3. That the Public School Inspector be instructed to give each teacher under his supervision reasonable written prior notice of the time of his annual visits of inspection, and requesting each teacher to invite the school board of his section, and friends of education generally, to such inspection, and that the Inspector furnish to this council, at each meeting, in detail, a report in the form heretofore directed by this council, and also showing the dates of each of his half-yearly visits to the schools.

4. That the matter of furnishing Biskie's Modern Cyclopædia and Imperial Dictionary to rural school sections be deferred to the June session of this council.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN FINLAY, Chairman.

Not Behind the Rest of the World in the Importance of Discoveries for the Benefit of Mankind.

The civilized world has recently been deeply agitated over the announcement that Dr. Koch, an eminent German physician, had discovered a lymph for the cure of consumption. This discovery has been heralded throughout the world, and is looked upon as one of the greatest achievements of modern medical science. Of equal, if not greater importance, is a discovery made by a well-known Canadian druggist, which, while it does not pretend to cure consumption after the lungs have been affected, is offered with every confidence as a preventive of that disease. Medical testimony bears out the statement that more than two-thirds of the cases of consumption, occurring in this country annually, are of catarrhal origin. The trouble begins with a cold in the head, which the sufferer treats as a light matter, and too frequently neglects. This in time invariably develops into catarrh: the mucous membrane become thickened, inflammed and hardened, and there is a profuse discharge of watery and poisonous matter from the nostrils, or else the poisonous secretions become clogged and hardened. In either case the breath is inhaled over this poisonous matter, and produces baleful results. The inflammation gradually extends to the bronchial tubes, and thence to the lungs, which, already poisoned and weakened by the foul breath inhaled, are ripe for that dread disease—consumption, which ends in death. A remedy that will prevent these disastrous consequences must be regarded as a boon to mankind, and, as already stated, such a remedy has been discovered by a Canadian druggist. There is no case of cold in the head which it will not instantly relieve and permanently cure. Do not, for an instant, neglect a cold in the head, for by its prompt treatment, you will prevent its developing into catarrh—the second stage on the road to the grave. If, however, catarrh has already developed, the use of this great remedy will prove equally beneficial, as it affords speedy relief, and will effect a certain cure, even in the most aggravated cases, if persistently used. It removes the secretions, frees the clogged nostrils, and sweetens the breath, stops the inflammation and thus saves the lungs and prevents the disease developing into consumption. This great discovery is now and sold throughout the country under the name of Nasal Balm. It is a positive and certain cure, and the thousands of testimonials in the hands of its proprietors prove that it is all they claim for it. It is sold by all dealers, and every sufferer from cold in the head or catarrh should use it. 4w4 we

HONEYMOONING.

A True Story of Difficulties in the Northwest.

HAVE always contended that ours was one of the oddest wedding tours ever taken by mortal twain, but Charlie (that's my other half) poohpoohs the idea and says no doubt hundreds of others have had just such experiences, only perhaps ours was as businesslike and prosaic a trip as could well be imagined.

"With lots of poetry tucked in at the corners," I add with a laugh, at which Charlie invariably proceeds to make himself ridiculous—you understand.

In spite of his assumed nonchalance, however, I have observed that when any bachelor friend chances into dinner with us Charlie almost invariably desires me to rehearse some of the most striking events of the journey. And especially does he rejoice in the narration of the occurrences at one particular stage of the trip. Of that portion, therefore, I now propose to tell.

In the first place, then, it will be necessary to explain that neither Charlie nor I was troubled with a superabundance of what the modern novelist delights to describe as "filthy lucre." But rich as we were with the wealth of that true affection which is better than rubies, I don't think either one of us missed money a great deal, although we were both possessed of too much sound, hard-headed common sense to pretend that we preferred "love in a cottage with water and a crust" to a comfortable stone house with plenty of coal in the cellar and three square meals a day.

But I was an orphan, dependent on a widowed aunt, whose heart was much more capacious than her purse, and Charlie was as yet but a junior traveler for a large wholesale manufacturing firm; so we agreed to wait until the stone house and the etceteras were forthcoming, working along bravely, cheered by "white-handed Hope, that hovering angel, girt with golden wings." But who ever laid plans that were not wrecked by the ruthless fates? Ours were intercepted by the sudden sickness of my Cousin Arthur, aunt's loved and only son. The insidious lung trouble that had widowed her threatened to leave her childless also. The shock fell like a sharp blow on our quiet little household, but though paining—God only knows how deeply!—it did not numb. Night and day Aunt Mary and I busied ourselves in hurried preparations for swift migration from the rigors of a Canadian winter to the soft climate of California, which we fondly hoped would restore our dear one to the longed-for health. We were nearly ready to leave when one day Aunt Mary, consulting the family funds, turned to me with a look of intense dismay and bursting into tears exclaimed helplessly: "Oh, Lu, Lu, there isn't enough for us all to go! I can't leave Arthur, and oh my dear, whatever are you to do?"

"Never mind me, Auntie, darling," I began—when a strong arm was passed around my waist and a well-known voice exclaimed to my aunt, "Will you trust her to me Mrs. Burton?"

Well, that was soon settled. Aunt and Arthur left for California shortly after Charlie and I were quietly married, I having first insisted that on no account should business be neglected for me, it being the busy season of the year: but, as I could not endure the loneliness of our town in the absence of all my loved ones, I should accompany my husband on his business trip to the Northwest.

I admit ours was very unlike the conventional manner of beginning that new life which is the opening up of the greatest human blessedness or misery. Still, I think it was even more enjoyable for the smack of independent novelty which savored it. Then, too, all that delightful exhilaration which comes from being in the open air was ours when we were not whirled across long tretches of country on a fast train, but perched on the high seat of a sleigh, huge trunks piled up behind and a span of spanking good horses in front.

Charlie always dispensed with a driver when possible, for, he said, it was bad enough to have to accept a movable Eden without being obliged to accomodate more than the regulation number of animals. By and by, however, as we advanced into the interior, Charlie said he had lost his little Red Riding Hood, because the severity of the weather caused me to seek warmer wraps than the scarlet toboggan suit I had persisted in wearing, because it looked so "unbridish" and was part of my well-meaning but futile effort to give the people whom we met the impression that we were a staid old married couple.

Now I come, at last, to that portion of our journey to which I practically referred. The day was a keen one in December, and my husband's engagements compelled him to drive forty-five miles across the open prairie to a place called Pilot Mound. In answer to his expression of doubt as to my physical fitness for the long drive I declared I wanted to go, it wouldn't hurt me, I should enjoy it so, and oh, I couldn't be left behind; then, half reluctantly, Charlie assented, and off we went.

"What darling little shaggy ponies," I whispered to Charlie, "and the driver is so deliciously picturesque!"

"I pray heavens the wretch may not prove the rascal he looks to be," was the unsatisfactory response from the lord.

Certainly he was a tough-looking specimen of humanity—tall, gaunt, with the true half breed's swarthy skin and sly looks. His beady black eyes hid themselves sullenly beneath beetling eyebrows. An unkempt, ragged, black beard straggled over the tattered collar of a horrible buffalo skin coat, which looked as though it might have been handed down through successive generations, but had now nearly fulfilled its whole duty even as an heirloom. A torn fur cap and mits to match, and moccasins which made his feet resemble nothing in the world so much as a pair of well-developed, canvas-covered hams, completed his tout ensemble.

At first the driver was thoroughly enjoyable, the scene a new and beautiful one, and if I at any time was inclined to be a little afraid of our taciturn companion I had only to glance at my husband, who stands six feet in his stockings and measures forty-four inches around his chest, to say nothing of a thirty-three inch waist and a No. 7 foot, and feel assured of the safety of my five feet nothing and no-proportions-in-particular physique.

When we commenced our journey the sun was shining brightly, the narrow zigzag trail, caused by the snow being packed by the passage of sleighs, winding like a huge serpent as far as eye could reach, the only visible break in that vast ocean of snow, its soft, glittering, wavy undulations bearing out the idea of a shimmering sea. Looking over it in all its immensity I could readily understand how Westerners love the wild freedom of the prairie; how in closely settled districts they are oppressed by a feeling of being cramped and compressed, of being hemmed in and confined by invisible bonds.

The first real incident was the approach of a heavily-laden team, drawing a supply of oats for the mounted police. Charlie looked aghast. There was no double trail. Prairie travelers are recklessly improvident in such matters, and ours being the lighter load certa inly ought to turn out and permit the other to pass. Meanwhile our swarthy Jehu had relinquished his seat and the reins to Charlie and had run ahead, ostensibly to stretch his long legs out palpably to hold a colloquy with the approaching teamster and to borrow a quid of tobacco. Just then Charlie, who prides himself on his driving, undertook to turn off the trail, but, alas! his was an unpracticed hand at prairie driving. The snow there possesses the peculiarity of being exceedingly dry and fine, as fine as gold dust, and will not pack when it falls as does the snow in other places. So Charlie, turning the sleigh out sideways in the manner used on an ordinary road, whereas it should have been run straight out, thus preserving the centre of gravity in a vehicle possessing but little—the side runners being heavy sank immediately and overbalanced, and in a moment sleigh, horses and people were floundering in a mass half fluid, half solid.

A Warning to Mothers:

The great frequency with which pale, sallow and unhealthy girls are met now-a-days is cause for genuine alarm. The young girls of the present generation are not the healthy, robust, rosy lassies their mothers and grandmothers were before them. Their complexion is pale and sallow or waxy in appearance, and they are the victims of heart palpitation, ringing noises in the head, cold hands and feet, often fainting spells, sinking head aches, backaches, shortness of breath, and other distressing symptoms. All these indicate chlorosis or anæmia, or in other words a watery or impoverished condition of the blood, which is thus unable to perform its normal functions, and unless speedily enriched with those natural remedies which give richness and redness to the blood corpuscles, organic disease and an early grave is the inevitable result. Is not this prospect sufficient to cause the gravest alarm? Mothers, are your daughters suffering from any of the symptoms indicated above, or from any of the irregularities incident to a critical period in their lives? If they are, as you value their lives do not delay in procuring a remedy that will save them. Delays in such cases are not only dangerous, but positively criminal. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People is a remedy compounded especially to meet such cases. These pills are not a patent medicine, but a remedy prepared with the greatest care from the formula of an experienced physician, who has used it for years in his daily practice with unvarying success. These pills are especially rich in those constituents which stimulate the blood and give it that rich, red color necessary to preserve health and life. They are in all cases a never-failing blood-builder and nerve tonic, acting upon the system in a natural manner and restoring health and strength to all who suffer from a watery or depraved condition of the blood or from any of those weaknesses peculiar to females. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price (50 cents a box) by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. 4w4d ww

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam Balsam for coughs and colds does, is to indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The Large Bottles are 50c, and $1.00. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

His regiment marched to Toronto, a their way taking prisoners 4 men, a team of horses and wagon, and eight barrels of flour. The provisions and supplies were taken to Toronto. Mr. Johnston served six weeks in Toronto doing garrison duty, and was regularly discharged. He is now over 70 years of age.

The P. P. Home.

Says the Bobcaygeon Independent: The Treasurer of the Peterborough Protestant Home addressed a letter to this journal last week, regarding the death of a Mr. William Richens. The Haliburton council has made a grant of $15 to the Home, towards the funeral expenses. It may be said that Mr. Ritchie was only a short time a resident of Haliburton, and then in his old age. Information regarding him might be obtained in the township of Dummer. He settled in that township about 1833. He made for himself a homestead there, and raised a large family. The ladies of the home have property a claim upon the township of Dummer.

They Do Everything but Talk.

One of the largest audiences of the season crowded the opera house last night on the occasion of Professor Bristol's second exhibition. The 30 educated horses, ponies and ponies again delighted the crowd. Denver, the mule, was funnier than any human clown. Once during the evening he made his way behind the scenes and emerged into one of the boxes, where he stood bowing to the people. The whole performances was a grand success, and would seem to strongly indicate a reasoning faculty in horses. The music rendered by Prof. Bristol's orchestra was very appropriate and taking.—Kingston News, Jan. 7th, '91. 1d

Italian vs. Arabian.

The trouble in the foreigners' quarter yesterday afternoon was ventilated at the police court this morning. The court room swarmed with dusky, glib-tongued Arabians and Italians, all interested in the case. It seems that Deeve Heim, an Italian, and an Arabian whose jaw-breaking name was simplified in English into Simcox, were passing away the time playing checkers. The Italian claims to have caught his adversary cheating, and, in his righteous indignation, tossed the checker board over. Simcox administered a remonstrative slap, then they both stepped and rolled over each other on the floor, the swarthy son of the desert coming out on "top o' the heap." They were parted by their friends. The Italian considered himself the aggrieved party and laid an information. After patiently sifting the confused mass of evidence offered in broken English, Italian and Arabian tongues, the magistrate decided that both were to blame, and dismissed the case, warning the principals that if they did not behave themselves in future they would be sent to gaol.

The Fisk Singers.

St. Paul Daily Globe:—The famous Fisk Jubilee Singers, whose music raised the funds that founded the Fisk University in Tennessee nearly twenty years ago, were at the Central Park M. E church, corner Twelfth and Minnesota, last night, and gave a collection of songs which were enthusiastically received by a fair-sized audience. Plantation songs, revival hymns, and more pretentious, although scarcely more popular, selections were given in the rich voices that have pleased so many. Every one of the sixteen numbers on the programme were encored, and Miss Jennie Gatewood's soprano solo was followed by a double recall, as also was the bass solo of Robert Jenkins', whose "laughing song" was one of the finest bits of melody ever heard here. Taken altogether, the entertainment was a delightful one, and the jubilee songs received deserved applause. Another chance to hear the same excellent musicians will be had to-night at the same place, Central Park M.E. church, corner Twelfth and Minnesota streets. Opera House, Peterborough, February 2nd. 1d

The Trent Valley Canal.

The Board of Trade Deputation—It Visits the County Council—Some Plain Speaking.

A deputation from the Board of Trade of the town of Peterborough, consisting of Messrs. Hilliard, Stratton and Burnham, (J. H.) appeared before the Council this morning.

MR. HILLIARD was first heard, and said he was glad to know the county council had anticipated the desires of the Board and had appointed a deputation to act jointly with a deputation of the town in pressing upon the Government the importance of pushing on the work of Trent Valley Canal construction.

Mr. J. R. STRATTON said the joint deputation had been recommended by the report of the Railway and Canals Committee, and he was glad that the council had taken action. He had been led to believe that the report of the Royal Commission would not be unfavourable to the construction of the canal, and he would suggest that any deputation that might go, should not select a time during the session when ministers might be too busy to listen to their representation. He showed the importance of the Government being forced to take some decided stand, and to cease the vacillation which had marked their treatment of the question in the past—in adopting the work and pledging themselves to its completion, and then retiring from their position and referring to a commission the advisability of a public work, which a responsible minister, on behalf of the Government, had pledged the Government to construct. It was high time that this trifling with an important public work of vital importance to this district and the general carrying trade, should be stopped, and a strong and aggressive deputation should proceed to Ottawa and give the Government to distinctly understand that this district would submit to no further trifling, and force from them some definite decision in regard to the work and its prosecution.

Mr. CASEMENT urged the necessity of united action on the part of the several deputations, and Mr. HILLIARD pointed out the importance of selecting some other time than during the session for the visit of the deputation.

East Peterborough Liberals.

A Convention Called to Appoint Delegates.

A meeting of the Reformers of East Peterborough will be held at Norwood on Tuesday evening, February 10th, to select delegates to attend the great Reform convention in Toronto on February 18th and 19th. It is a pleasure to see the Liberals of East Peterborough alive to their duty. It is to be hoped that there will be a large attendance, for, not only will the matter of selecting delegates to attend the Toronto convention dealt with, but doubtless the question of the calling of a convention to select a candidate for the Dominion general elections, of whose early date indications grow stronger every day.

Lymph in Peterborough.

A Sample of Dr. Koch's Consumption Remedy at the Nicholls Hospital.

The Nicholls Hospital has received a sample of the celebrated lymph for consumption cure discovered by Dr. Koch, of Germany. The special instruments recommended to be used for the hypodermic injections were received yesterday, and the lymph to-day. The Trust Board have made arrangement for a continuous supply of lymph, so that after Monday the staff of physicians in connection with the hospital will be prepared to inoculate suitable patients for the cure of tuberculosis. The instruments and remedy were received from New York. The results of their application will be eagerly watched in Peterborough, as has been the case elsewhere in the world. Only suitable patients will be treated, as the lymph is only supposed to be a remedy for diseases which come under the head of tuberculosis.

BOARD OF TAX DISGUSTED.

The Board of Trade Decide Against It.

The Pros and Cons Pretty Thoroughly Discussed—A Railway for Young's Point—The Trent Valley Canal Again.

At the meeting of the Board of Trade Friday night there was a good attendance. Mr. W.H. Maldrum, president, occupied the chair. Among those present were: Mr. A. Hall, Vice-President, and Mr. J. H. Burnham, Secretary, and Messrs. Wm. Hamilton, Geo. Hilliard, R. Inness, J. R. Stratton, Jas. Kendry, D. W. Dumble, R. Fair, F. H. Dobbin, Thos. A. Hay, Wm. Manness, D. Bellaghem, R. McWhinnie, J. W. Taylor, H. Phelan, W. Blackwell, S. W. Lowry, Macfarlane Wilson, W. A. Sanderson, F. J. Lewis, E. Mulholland, Geo. A. Schofield, A. V. R. Young, H. S. McDonald, H. LeBrun, B. Shorily, R. G. Kingan, T. E. Bradburn, and E. S. Davidson.

The secretary read a number of replies he had received in response to circulars he had sent out to manufacturers, setting forth the advantages offered to industries locating here. Some of the answers were favorable, and may lead to the establishing here of some large and thriving manufactories.

RAILWAY CONNECTION.

The letter from Young's Point, published in the EXAMINER, regarding railway connection with Young's Point, was read.

Mr. STRATTON moved that the secretary be instructed to send a copy of the letter to the president of the Grand Trunk, and request the company to take the matter into their consideration.

Mr. HILLIARD said that while on this subject, it would be well to consider the extension of the Lakefield branch into the back country, via Burleigh and Minden, to Irondale. He thought this route would serve Peterborough better than the present proposed one by Bobcaygeon. Probably the C. P. R could be got to build the line, he said.

After some discussion regarding the value and products of the country through which this route would pass, the resolution was passed, the C.P. R. company being included on suggestion of Mr. Hilliard. Mr. Dumble and others supported the idea of the Young's Point railway, their opinion being that it would be a profitable and useful line.

BUSINESS TAX DISCUSSED.

A report was read of the Mercantile Committee, (Mr E. Peplow, chairman,) stating that the committee had met and discussed the Business Tax question, but had come to no conclusion, as they had not information warranting them in feeling competent to decide the matter, and they expected it would be discussed at the general meeting of the board. All of the committee were not in favor of Business Tax, though the majority of them were.

The PRESIDENT asked for discussion on the question, which was an important and live one.

Mr. HILLIARD held that in transferring the taxes from the stock to the store a greater evil was being caused than that escaped from. Though there was an apparent injustice in the present system, it seemed to him it was the best when everything was taken into consideration. Mr. Hilliard suggested that the council do not decide the matter, but let the candidates go to the polls next year either in favor of or opposed to business tax and let the question be settled there.

Mr. DUMBLE held that there were two classes of merchants who viewed this question from different standpoints on account of their different circumstances, each trying to put the taxes upon the other, and therefore this question should be left to the mass of the people. Mr. Dumble held that the man who handled a stock that he did not own should pay as much as the man who traded on his own capital. Not many of the merchants to-day were making money because men come in from outside towns with stocks bought with borrowed money and cut up the trade of the merchants who were trading on their own capital. The principal of taxation was that wealth should pay taxes, but by business tax the revenue was not increased, instead the poor man was rather assessed instead of the rich man; the best way would be to let the injustice of the present system right itself rather than rushing into a greater evil. Business tax would not get rid of the great evil of allowing outside stocks to be brought into town and cause the bankruptcy and slaughtering sales which were so ruinous to business. Mr. Dumble presented this resolution:

AN UNJUST TAX.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Hilliard, that in the opinion of this Board the provision of the Assessment Acts which provide for the exemption of personal property from taxation to the amount of the indebtedness against the same is not sound in principle and is unjust in its operations.

That the Assessment Acts should be so amended as to make such property fully liable to the municipality in which it is situated, as to assessment without regard to indebtedness in respect thereof.

That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Provincial Government.

Mr. KENDRY, while agreeing with Mr. Dumble in the main, pointed out another injustice to the poor man under the present system, who, with a mortgage on his property, paid the taxes, while the wealthy mortgage-holder escapes.

Mr. DUMBLE said this was no parallel, because the man who borrowed money to buy property and gave a mortgage was a speculator, and either gained or lost as the property increased or deteriorated in value.

BETTER THAN NOTHING.

Mr. DAVIDSON said that when the matter was discussed in the Legislature, the Attorney-General had said that, though the law might not be perfect, it was a step in the right direction, and, no doubt, if the business tax option was adopted it would lead to something better. Mr. Davidson argued that the business tax was intended to make a greater equity in taxes, and the merchants he had spoken to were almost unanimously in favour of it.

Mr. DUMBLE said that the correct principle was admitted in business tax, but it was only a half-way measure.

Mr. DAVIDSON used one of the instances cited by Mr. Dumble and argued that the man owning a large stock was simply giving a bonus to the man doing business with a borrowed stock.

Mr. PEPLOW said that he was in favor of business tax as far as property was concerned, but he thought it foolish to throw the measure out altogether. They should take the measure and if it was not found perfect ask for amendments until it was made satisfactory. If no further steps were taken the law would never be improved. As to a tax on mortgage, Mr. Peplow said that could not be done, as it would be practically a double tax on the land. The only plan would be to get at the income tax of the man who owned the mortgage.

Mr. KENDRY argued that the man who owned a $10,000 stock would be in a much better position to pay more taxes than the man with borrowed money, for the cash man could buy goods from 2½ to 5 per cent. better.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

Mr. DUMBLE said this question should be discussed for the benefit of the municipality, not as between the merchants. People living in town enjoyed equal advantages, and if one man escapes paying his share of taxes, the remainder had to make it up. The business tax equalized the poor and the rich man; it would take the tax off the rich merchant to put on the poorer one.

Mr. ADAM HALL said that he had been paying a heavy personal tax while men in opposition to him went free of taxes because they said their stock was not paid for. Mr. HALL held that a man occupying property ought to pay a proper proportion of taxes for the benefits he enjoys. He thought that the business tax was as good as they could get just now. Mr. HALL moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. HILL, that the Board of Trade recommend the Town Council to pass the business tax bylaw.

Mr. FOOTE asked what was the difference between the tax on a bank stock or shares of $10,000 and a merchant's stock of $10,000 paid for?

Mr. LEWIS said the bank stock paid its tax where it was established, and the goods where they were sold. For instance, the Bank of Montreal stock paid taxes in Montreal. Shareholders paid income tax.

Mr. W. H. HILL endorsed business tax as far as it went, and Mr. H. S. McDonald asked some questions, which were dealt with in previous addresses.

Finally the question was put and the amendment lost by a vote of 10 to 9. Mr. Dumble's resolution was then carried.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

The report of the Railway and Canal Committee was read, stating that at a meeting of the committee it was moved by Mr. STRATTON, seconded by Mr. LEWIS.—That, inasmuch as the Peterborough Board of Trade have every reason to believe that the report of the Royal Commission is favourable to the construction of the Trent Valley Canal, that Messrs. Keadey, Cahill, Hamilton, Burnham and the mover and seconder wait upon the County Council on the morning of January 31st and ask them to join the Town Council and Board of Trade in sending a deputation to Ottawa regarding the prosecution of work upon the Trent Valley Canal. It was moved by Mr. STRATTON, seconded by Mr. KENDRY,—That the secretary be instructed to communicate with the Town Council, asking their co-operation in regard to asking the Government to give Peterborough an earlier Toronto mail service. The report was signed by Robt. Fair, chairman.

The report was adopted.

Three names were proposed for membership:—Messrs. A. A. Cox, Wm. Fitzgerald, R. R. Hall and H. C. Rogers.

The Board then adjourned.

Facts From the Assessment Roll.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—In answer to a statement made by Mr. Adam Hall at the meeting of the Board of Trade last night, in discussing the business tax question, to the effect that he was practically paying taxes to keep his opponent in business and cut down prices, I wish to present a statement of facts, taken from an official record—the assessment roll—as follows:

In 1890 Mr. Hall was assessed as follows: On store building, $5,200; on store house, Simcoe street, $1,200, and on personal property, $3,000; making a total of $9,500 on which taxes were levied.

W. G. Bain & Co. for the same year were assessed on real property (store building,) $7,000, and on personal property, $3,000—a total of $10,000, on which we paid taxes, the amount being $150.

Further, I wish to state that from a personal point of view, I am in favour of the business tax, from the fact that my taxes would be lowered, on the basis of last year's assessment, by the sum of $8.25.

Thanking you for the privilege of making this statement, I am,

Yours very truly,
W. G. BAIN.

Amusement in Ashburnham.

Exhibition Drill by the Ladies and a Comedy Put on the Boards.

A very successful entertainment was given in the town hall, Ashburnham, Friday night, under the auspices of the Young Men's Guild of St. Luke's church. The hall was comfortably filled, and the programme presented gave unlimited satisfaction. The hall was tastily decorated, and the stage fitted up with a draw curtain. All concerned acquitted themselves most creditably and the entertainment pleased so well that it will likely be repeated in a couple of weeks.

The first part of the programme was the exhibition drill and physical exercises by a Broom Brigade under Captain Eva Tivey. There were eighteen young ladies in the company of so-called "Rangers," attired in easy, tasteful costumes of red, white and blue—red waists, white dresses with blue trimmings and fatigue caps. The corps of charming modern Amazons performed the military evolutions with a precision and gracefulness natural to the ladies. Their drill was the same as used by the military department, and published in the Canadian drill manual. The company had not time to go through all their evolutions, but for an hour they entertained the audience, giving various drill movements, and an exhibition of physical drill with brooms. Their performance reflected the highest credit upon themselves and their instructor, Mr. Frank Packenham, sergeant of the 57th Battalion. Mrs. E A. Peck played the piano accompaniment.

Refreshments were then served by the broom brigade, after which a five-act comedy, "Pumpkin Ridge," was put on. It greatly amused the audience. Following was the caste of characters:

Jonathan Scruggins	F. Pakenham
Augustus Simroy	J. Turner, jr
Harry Clifton	Thos. Byeh
Constable Moloney	B. Everett
Mr. Brown	Geo. Currens
Miss Brown	Miss Eva Tivey
Miss Annie Brown	Miss Bella Armstrong
Belinda Jane	Miss Lizzie Long

The entertainment was most pleasing and satisfactory throughout. The Young Men's Guild are to be congratulated upon their success.

Queen Esther Cantata.

The Great Musical Event of the Season.

"Queen Esther" will be presented at the 12th and 13th, by a company of local per- Opera House, Thursday and Friday, Feb'y formers numbering 70 good voices. Elaborate preparations are being made to give as perfect a presentation of the Cantata as possible. Two rehearsals are being held every week, and those who have had the pleasure of attending them say that the music is grand. Great attention is also being paid to the costumes. Mrs. Ketchum is in Toronto to-day selecting the costumes for the occasion. Mr. Ketchum, the musical director, and manager of the Cantata, is leaving no stone unturned to make this the greatest event of the kind that Peterborough has ever seen, and from his well-known ability as teacher and choir-trainer, he will no doubt make it a flattering success. The Cantata will be presented on two nights, the principal characters being changed each performance. A Judgment Given By One Qualified to Speak.

A well known and highly respected physician of great experience, and a member of an examining board for one of the largest medical colleges in Ontario, recently said: "My opinion of Paine's Celery Compound is, that for the troubles and ailments resulting from a nervous system, it is certainly a valuable remedy, and has no equal known to medical science. In am not surprised at its immense sale and popularity in Canada."

This opinion bears much weight, as it comes from a disinterested source, and from a gentleman of high attainments in his profession. There are scores of other physicians in the Dominion who could add similar testimony, as many have used Paine's Celery Compound in their practice. This scientific remedy is the great restorer and tonor of the nervous system; it feeds the brain, giving it renewed power; it builds up the body in flesh; it gives tone and vigor to the digestive organs and the bloom of health to the pale face.

The Inter-State Commission Order Only an Extension of an Old Rule.

MONTREAL, Jan. 30.—The Washington despatch yesterday relating to the case of the New York Board of Trade and Transportation v the Pennsylvania and other railroads, including the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways, before the Inter-State Commerce Committee, did not create much of a stir in railroad circles, the discussion being nothing more than a repetition of a former decision of this committee on exports, while this one relates only to imports.

If it goes into effect the only difference will be that the railroads reaching the seaboard will have to make their through rates the same as local ones.

Robbed His Father.

NIAGARA FALLS, Jan. 30.—Alfred Gunn, the 16-year-old son of Mr. H. J. Gunn, broke into his father's drawer and stole $400. He skipped out and went to Chicago, where he was traced and found. He said he had met Robert Martin, one of his chums, and had given him $150 of the stolen money. On receiving this information Constable McMicking arrested the boy, who admitted that he had hid $130 in the barn, where it was found. This is the second time young Gunn has stolen money from his father and run off to Chicago with it.

The house-breaker evidently thought there was nothing like being well posted in the law.

Dreadful Psoriasis.

My disease (psoriasis) first appeared on my [illegible] I spread over my body and limbs, until my whole body was covered with [illegible] my body—in full one month was entirely bald-headed; it also destroyed the nails on my fingers and toes, most of them. It covered my entire body, my face, head and shoulders being the worst. The white scales fell constantly from my head, [illegible] and sores; the skin would thicken and be red and very itchy, and would crack and bleed if scratched. After spending many hundreds of dollars, I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using two bottles CUTICURA RESOLVENT, I could see a change; and after I had taken four bottles, I was almost cured; and when I had used six bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered for five years. SINGLE TAX

Is now the question of the hour; but to those in need of Ordered or Ready-made Clothing, single profits ought to be a subject of greater importance. Yearly importing all our principal lines, we save you the profits of the wholesale men, and you have thus one single profit to pay. That profit is not a large one, and has been made still smaller, as we are determined each and every article of Winter Clothing must go, to make way for Spring Goods. Each and every department has been visited and all goods have been reduced. Don't you buy a dollar's worth of clothing until you have looked us over. KILLED IN A COLLISION.

SAD DEATH OF A CONGREGATIONAL CLERGYMAN.

Suffocated by Coal Gas—Two Warnings to Youngsters, One Beheaded by a Train, the Other Killed by Falling From a Sleigh.

NEWCASTLE, Feb. 1.—A granddaughter of Joseph Gibson living here was surprised on returning home yesterday to find the house locked and no sign of life about the place. She procured an ax and broke the door in. The smell of coal gas was stifling, but she made her way to the rooms of her grandparents and was horrified at seeing Mrs. Joseph Gibson dead beside her husband. He, also, was nearly gone. A doctor was summoned and succeeded in bringing Mr. Gibson round. The body of Mrs. Gibson was quite cold when found and she must have been dead for hours. Mr. Gibson being a very old man his recovery is doubtful. It seems Mr. Gibson had put coal in the stove just before retiring on Friday evening and neglected to close the cover on the top.

Blew Himself to Atoms

PEMBROKE, Feb. 1.—On Friday last Mrs. Georgs Cotnam, jr., went out to call Harold Waring, whom she supposed was attending to his duties about the farm, and was shocked to find him lying near the stable door a horrible spectacle to behold. Judging from the surroundings and position of the body, Waring must have had a vessel containing an explosive, which is thought to have been nitro-glycerine, on the ground between his knees, and was sitting or stooping over it when by some means or other it exploded. The hands were blown off at the wrist, the thighs torn into shreds and the face torn beyond recognition. Portions of his body, fingers, etc., were found imbedded in the woodwork, the body flung quite a distance and a large hole made in the snow where the explosion took place. Waring, who was about 18 years old, had obtained some nitro-glycerine some time ago, and as he was known to be fond of experimenting, with the deadly compound it is presumed that he accidentally exploded the substance himself.

Many Coasting Accidents.

GUELPH, Feb. 1.—These coasting accidents occurred yesterday: W. H. Jacomb, License Commissioner, was struck by a sleigh and thrown into the air, falling with such force as to smash his left leg badly between the knee and the ankle. He was then struck on the head by a sleigh following, which gave him a bad cut over the left eye, which bled freely. George Hastings, Queen-street, employed in Bell's brick factory, ran into a willow tree at the side with such force that he remained unconscious for a time. He was badly shook up, cut about the head and bruised about the body. A young son of Mr. George Wheatone, Albert-street, lost control of his bob and ran into an electric light pole. His face was very badly bruised and cut by striking the pole, and he could hardly stand. He had to be driven to his home. Willie, a 6-year-old son of Mr. T. W. Whiting, was run into by a sleigh, knocked down and had one of his shin bones splintered.

Beheaded by a Train.

MINDEN, Feb. 1.—Harry Hales, aged 11, son of William Hales, fell from a train while stealing a ride in the F. & P.M. yards and was instantly killed. The head of the little fellow was severed from the trunk, the wheels having passed diagonally over the body, cutting it in twain from below the left ear to a point on the right side below the arm. The body was also otherwise terribly mangled, a part of the lung and small portions of the trunk being found upon the ground after the head and body were picked up.

He relinquished the place last fall and returned to Montreal where he remained till his death.

Killed on the Way Home From Church.

QUEBEC, Feb. 1. At noon to-day an avalanche of ice was detached from the roof of the drygoods store occupied by T. Beland in John-street and fell on two ladies who were walking on the street on their way from church. One of them, a Miss O'Leary, was killed by the shock, and the other escaped with a broken arm. Miss O'Leary was the sister of the Rev. Mr. O'Leary of the Quebec Seminary.

Killed on the Street.

KINGSTON, Feb. 1.—Mr. Stayley of Wolfe Island was driving a load of hay with another also loaded behind it up Ontario-street yesterday. The pole at the rear of the sleigh was crowded with boys. Three, among them Eddie Davis, 8 years old, were daring enough to come beewen the two loads and ride on the tongue of the rear sleigh. Davis lost his balance. He attempted to crawl out, but the sleigh passed over him, killing him instantly.

PLEADING FOR PATIENCE.

PARNELL SPEAKS AT THE FOOT OF O'CONNELL'S STATUE.

He Asks the Ireland that has Stood Fast to Her Claim to be Sovereign Within Her Own Domain to Judge Him by the Results.

DUBLIN, Feb. 1.—Mr. Parnell spoke here to-day. His journey from Dublin to Ennis was a triumphant progress. There was a remarkable series of demonstrations in his honor along his route. At every stoppage an address was presented to Mr. Parnell, to which he briefly replied. At Athlone thousands of people had gathered at the station with bands, torches and illuminated devices and the crowd vainly tried to persuade Mr. Parnell to stop there.

Upon arriving at Ennis Mr. Parnell was greeted by the reception committee and by a mass multitude of people from the surrounding districts. A procession was formed with bands and banners and Mr. Parnell was escorted to the place of meeting in front of O'Connell's statue, where a platform had been erected. Mr. John Finucane, M.P. for East Limerick, presided.

Mr. Parnell in his speech declared that Ireland had stood fast to her claim to be sovereign within her own domain. He refused to admit any English veto as far as his own business was concerned, as in 1880 he told the Irish people that they would win and events had proved the truth of his words, so in a few days they would know the truth of his declaration, that they had won a settlement of this question which would be everlastingly creditable to their patriotism. They would gain a Parliament with real power to protect the interests of every class, to settle the questions of land and police, to disarm and convert the constabulary into a civil force under the control of Ireland's elected representatives. Under such a parliament Ireland would realize her aspirations to be a nation. For this he had fought through many long years and at the foot of this (O'Connell's) statue asked them to have patience and judge him by results. (Loud cheers.)

During the afternoon Mr. Parnell was presented with addresses by numerous public bodies. In the evening he returned to Dublin en route for London. To-day's meeting was the last of those definitely arranged for Mr. Parnell.

Belligerent Ulster.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The plain avowal of the Marquis of Londonderry that the men of Ulster will fight in the event of Home Rule being granted to Ireland has aroused some sensation, as coming from a quarter well informed and responsible. All that Lord Londonderry asks is that England keep its hands off and allow the Ulster Protestants to fight it out with the Home Rulers without the interference of the Imperial troops. There is no doubt that the Ulster Protestants are well armed and drilled and, if their speakers are to be believed, they will resent the attempt of any Home Rule Irish Parliament to exercise any jurisdiction over them.

The Boycott Disappearing.

DUBLIN, Feb. 1.—In Ireland the boycott is disappearing, and for the first time in many months members of the League's Vigilance Committee have been absent from the Tipperary pig market. The tenants who have resumed possession on the Smith-Barry estate have formed an organization for mutual defence and support against any movement to subject them to boycott or persecution in the future, and they are actively engaged in preparing to put in crops the coming spring.

A Fierce Gale in Ireland.

DUBLIN, Feb. 1.—A fierce storm has caused considerable losses and about this city. A number of houses have been damaged and trees have been blown down. A terrific gale has swept over the Irish Sea. Reports received here from Cork state that a number of small craft foundered during the storm in Queenstown Harbor.

The Enforcement of the Crimes Act.

THE BULL AND THE MOTOR.

He Hadn't the Sense to Muzzle when He Heard the Locomotive Whistle.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Traffic on the London, Chatham & Dover Railroad was suspended for three hours yesterday near London, because of a mad bull taking possession of the line and charging furiously upon the trains. Every effort to kill or subdue the animal proved futile until finally an engineer, more agile or courageous than his fellows, engaged in a combat with the bull at close quarters and succeeded in felling him with a blow of a hammer. No one dared shoot the bull for fear of hitting some of the passengers or employes of the road. The delayed passengers were, many of them, quite badly frightened as it was.

Preparing to Strike.

WARSAW, Feb. 1.—There are startling rumors current in Polish circles here to the effect that Russian Nihilists are preparing for another political murder. The 13th of March, the anniversary of the assassination of Czar Alexander, is said to be the date determined upon by the Nihilists for their next coup. Russian refugees now in Bulgaria are suspected of being engaged in the preparation of the details of this plot.

MASSACRED BY NATIVES.

SPANISH TROOPS KILLED IN THE CAROLINE ISLANDS.

A Cabinet Crisis in Italy Results in the Resignation of Signor Cristi—A Revolution in Portugal Quickly Suppressed by the Loyal Troops.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—Advices from Singapore report the arrival at Manila of the Spanish steamer Don Juan with news of another terrible massacre of Spanish troops and residents in the Caroline Islands. It appears that the natives, without warning, fell on the Spanish garrison, killing some 90 soldiers and civilians. The Spaniards thereupon attacked the native fort. It is said the natives fought with singular bravery, but were eventually driven into the jungles, where the difficulties of the Spaniards were increased, as the bush and undergrowth are very thick, and the savages had covered the ground with man-traps, added to which their costume in war time consists of green leaves which makes them very difficult to see against the green foliage, while their superior size and strength and the fact that they are armed with Remington rifles and are as active as monkeys, placed the Europeans at still further disadvantage. Nevertheless the loss on the native side is said to have been very large. The Spanish commander was among the slain. He shot himself in a moment of frenzy caused by mortification over his defeat.

CABINET CRISIS IN ITALY.

The Prime Minister in Italy Steps Down and Out.

ROME, Feb. 1.—In the debate in the Chamber of Deputies on the spirit taxes bill Signor Crispi, the Prime Minister, urged that the taxes proposed by the Government were imperatively necessary to prevent Italy from falling again to the servile condition she was in as regards foreign power in 1873.

The Conservative members of the chamber who were in office in 1874 protested in an uproarious manner against the language of the Prime Minister. Finally the present Minister of Public Works, who was a member of the cabinet in 1874, left the treasury bench amid much enthusiasm on the part of the Conservatives.

Signor Crispi was greatly agitated and became deathly pale. He tried to explain his words, but he could not be heard above the howl of his opponents. The bill was finally rejected, a large majority of the members voting against it.

When the result of the vote was made known Signor Crispi announced that he would resign. The crisis is complete. It is doubtful whether Signor Crispi will be able to reconstruct the cabinet.

All the French papers rejoice at the downfall of Signor Crispi and say that the greatest enemy of France and Italy has come to the ground and that Frenchmen and Italians can now clasp hands sincerely since the last statesman in the Triple Alliance has disappeared.

PROMPTLY SUPPRESSED.

A Revolutionary Uprising in Portugal Put Down by the Troops.

OPORTO, Feb. 1.—The insurgents to the number of 400 assembled at 4 o'clock in the morning, and with much cheering paraded through the principal streets. They made an attempt to seize the prefecture of police and the central telegraph office. Their plans, however, were frustrated by the municipal guard, who made repeated charges on the insurgents and repelled their attacks. Meanwhile the Civil Governor transferred his authority to the troops, when the few civilians supporting the rebels dispersed. The latter then proceeded to the Hotel de Ville, fortifying the structure to the best of their ability in the short time at their command, but lacking ammunition they speedily submitted in response to an artillery bombardment. The number of the killed and wounded on both sides, including civilians, is variously estimated at from 20 to 50. Some of the rebels escaped, but surrendered later. The Municipal Guards subsequently occupied the Hotel de Ville and at once hauled down the flag of the Republican Federal Club which the rebels had hoisted on the building. Six or seven officers of an inferior grade took part in the revolt, which was of a distinctly Republican character. It is alleged that the civilian leader in the revolt was a lawyer named Alves Veiga. By 3 o'clock in the afternoon the revolt had been entirely suppressed, but the department has been declared in a state of siege. Gen. Scarnichia has arrived in Oporto.

Great Havoc Occasioned.

OPORTO, Feb. 1.—Perfect quiet reigned in this city to-day. Government reinforcements have arrived from all parts of the country. Three hundred civilians and soldiers were arrested to-day. All of the Republican clubs have been closed and all of the Republican newspapers have been seized by the Government.

The government, suspecting that there was discontent in the Oporto garrison, had issued orders for the transfer of several officers there to other regiments. This action, together with the recent imprisonment of the editor of The Republica Portuguesa, expedited the outbreak. Oporto has been declared in a state of siege for one month. Twenty persons were killed in yesterday's fight.

A decree is published suspending the habeas corpus act and authorizing the suppression throughout the country of journals prejudicial to the state. The Republican papers Patria and Debates have already been suppressed.

The insurgents counted on simultaneous risings at Coimbra, Braga and Vizen and were only waiting for the departure of the troops to attack the capitol.

The front of the Town Hall and several buildings in other streets, where conflicts took place yesterday, are much damaged and battered. The King's portrait, which hung in the Town Hall, was destroyed by the rebellious soldiers who made the building their stronghold. Several of the soldiers who were wounded in the conflict died to-day.

It is estimated that 24,000 shots from rifles and machine guns were fired during the fighting.

The Abbe St. Nicholas, a parish priest of this city, was arrested to-day, charged with being concerned in the insurrection, as he was leaving his church after mass.

What Caused the Explosion.

SCOTTDALE, Feb. 1.—The State Legislative Committee investigating the cause of the recent disaster in the Mammoth mines say they have learned that an unexpected fall of slate liberated a pocket of gas or fire damp which rushed out upon the open lamps of the mines and exploded, killing all in the chambers. It is understood the committee will closely investigate the use of open lamps where gas is known to exist.

A Quarryman Fatally Hurt.

TORONTO TOPICS.

A Couple of Sudden Deaths—Peculiar Accident.

TORONTO, Feb. 2.—William Briscoe, aged 60, a carriage builder, who lived at 151 Spadina-avenue, died Saturday afternoon while sitting in an orchestra chair in the Grand Opera House. Death resulted from heart disease.

Mr. C. H. Riggs, dentist, was smoking Saturday night at his residence, Sherbourne-street, when suddenly his pipe flew into fragments and the globe of the gasolier was smashed. Mr. Riggs himself had a quantity of nicotine forced down his throat. When he recovered from the fright he began to investigate the cause of the explosion. On the carpet was picked up a "22" cartridge shell, and in a corner of the room was the bullet it had contained. A cartridge must have found its way into the tobacco canister and was scooped into the pipe.

Theodore Braun, alias Charles Miller, formerly proprietor of Staneland's restaurant and bar, King-street west, and president and treasurer of the Liederkranz Club, has disappeared, owing some $7000. O'Keefe & Co. are claimants for $2590, Charles Steinle $560 borrowed money and Michael McConnell $400 for liquors. Some months ago Braun sold out his business to Elliott & Best, but the amount he realized from the sale was swallowed up in chattel mortgages.

Lockhart, a clerk in the Bank of Montreal, while leaning out of the window on the second floor of his residence in College-street, at 1 o'clock this morning, overbalanced and fell to the ground, a distance of about 20 feet, lighting on his head. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and carried into the house. He may die.

William Irwin of Rosseley, near Orangeville, a patient who had been in the Toronto Hospital for six months, and upon whom the Koch treatment had proved ineffectual, died in the police ambulance while being taken to the Home for Incurables Saturday afternoon. A coroner will investigate.

THE CAT-O-NINE TAILS.

A Prisoner Whose Back Was Made to Look Livid.

KINGSTON, Feb. 1.—One month ago James McRae, alias McGuire, was sent to the penitentiary from Toronto to serve five years. For the first time in connection with such a sentence the court ordered the man to be lashed, twenty at the end of one month and the remainder at the termination of three months. The whipping occurred at 11 o'clock yesterday in the prison dome. As soon as the time came for the work a stout officer stepped to the side of the convict with a cat-o' nine tails in his hand. Then the word of command was given and the cat swung through the air. It came down with a swish on the white back of the offender, and a livid line was seen across the skin. The successive nine lashes were laid on without stint. Another officer then stepped forward and the second consignment was given with equal force. The upper part of the back grew darker in hue and the impression of the lash stood out in bold relief. Before the twenty cuts were laid on the flesh looked broken and blood oozed out of the swollen lines. McRae was stoical. From the first to the last he received them without an outcry or even wincing, and the punishment was by no means light. His back was covered and he was returned to his cell to meditate over the matter. The convicts who had been marshalled to witness the whipping were much impressed.

An Atrocious Crime.

LANSING, Feb. 1.—The body of an unknown girl, hardly more than a child, to-day lay upon an extemporized bier in an undertaker's office in Dimondale, a village seven miles south of Lansing. The body, entirely denuded of clothing, was found last night in Grand River, three miles south of Dimondale, by two farmers Looking through a hole in the ice they observed entangled in the branches of a fallen tree below the surface the corpse of a young girl not over 14 years of age. The ice had been broken and the body apparently tossed in carelessly with the expectation that the swift current would carry it down stream, but the tree limbs had caught it and held it fast. When the body was removed from the river an hour later it was evident that it had been thrust into the water but a few hours before and that it had been disposed of almost immediately after death. Beyond dark marks upon the throat there was no trace of violence. It was the corpse of a slender child, with dark brown hair and eyebrows, large brown eyes and a fair and attractive face. Doctors testified positively that the girl was dead before the body was thrown into the river, and that, to the best of their belief, death was caused by strangulation from choking.

THE CANADA PACIFIC.

An Interesting Discussion in the U.S. Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The Army Appropriation bill was taken up in the Senate yesterday on the amendment of the committee to insert a provision that Government transportation on land-aided railroads shall be paid for on such basis as the Secretary of War may deem just and reasonable, not to exceed 70 per cent. of the charges for like service to private parties.

Mr. Gorman made an argument to show the absolute injustice of the proposition as it came from the House, and to show that even the 70 per cent. restriction proposed by the committee amendment would be destructive to the interests of the American transcontinental lines, while it would operate to the advantage of the largely subsidized military and political lines of Canada.

He contrasted the illiberality of the Dominion Government regarding U.S. railroad with the great liberality of the Government of the United States in regard to Canadian railroads. He would not do injustice to Canadians; but he would demand justice to the American people and to American railroads. The true remedy was to enforce against the Canadian roads that carried freight and passengers from one port of the United States to another port of the United States the same provisions of law that are enforced against the American lines.

Mr. Washburn spoke of the great importance to the Northwestern States of the Canadian Pacific Railroad, and said that those States would not submit to any change in existing conditions that would rob them of the advantages which they thought had been secured to them. What they wanted was the cheapest possible transportation.

Mr. Power moved to amend the committee amendment by reducing the limitation from 70 per cent. to 50 per cent.; and on that he demanded the yeas and nays. The amendment was rejected—yeas 3 (Messrs. Cockrell, Davis and Power), nays 42. The committee amendment was then agreed to, and the bill was passed.

YOUNG'S POINT RAILWAY EXTENSION.

The project of the connection of the village of Young's Point with one of the trunk lines of Ontario, was brought before the Board of Trade at its meeting on Friday night, heartily endorsed by that body, and its advantages to the town, the district directly served, and the railway which would undertake the matter, emphasized. The importance of traffic feeders to the trunk lines is, of course, conceded, and there is little doubt that the proposed line, whether the extension of the Grand Trunk from Lakefield to Young's Point, (a distance of about five miles, through a kindly country for railway construction) or an independent line, will furnish a large amount of traffic, and at the same time play a prominent part in the development of the district in the vicinity. There are excellent and extensive limestone deposits, which can be made to yield the best of building stone for all sorts of structures, as well as inexhaustible granite deposits, making the best paving material known, both of which are now found worth shipping even with the trouble of long hauls. Coal shipment would be immensely increased by the extention of a railway, is no; to be doubted. There are extensive growths of timber, which would be converted into a marketable article if there were railway facilities for getting it to market. Young's Point has adjacent a fine agricultural country, and an unsurpassed water power, and there are few better sites for large flouring mills, especially if there were means to export flour and to import the Northwest wheat, it is found best to grind with the wheat of the district. We are assured, on good authority, that there is capital ready and waiting to construct such mills so soon as their is reasonable assurance of railway communication with both, or either, of the great trunk lines. There are also stave bolt factories and wood paper pulp works, whose construction is dependent upon a probability of railway construction. All these sources of traffic, as well as others which will naturally follow railway communication, and also the rapidly increasing passenger traffic which this favorite summer resort region will create, in our opinion, would amply justify a railway corporation in taking practical steps to ascertain the probabilities of a railway to Young's Point being a profitable undertaking. We earnestly hope for the benefit of the town and the district under consideration, that the Board of Trade may be successful in exciting the interest of some railway company in the matter of railway building or extension to Young's Point.

Lakefield "Chronicles."

Miss Sophia Patterson, of Ottawa, is visiting her brother, Mr. H. R. Patterson.

Mr. E. Sellens has disposed of his stock of boots and shoes, etc., and has secured a position with Messrs. Madill Bros.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson, of Winnipeg, are making an extended visit in Lakefield, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Smith.

Mr. F. Sandy, station agent of this place, has been offered the position of agent at Sterling, but it is understood he has declined the position.

On Wednesday Mr. J. R. Johnson shipped a carload of hop poles to Oneida Castle, New York State. He expects to ship two more carloads this week.

Mr. R. G. Cotton, who for the last two months has had a felon on the thumb of his right hand, had the thumb amputated on Saturday last.

D.D.G.M. Right Worshipful Bro. Wm. Miller has signified his intention of officially visiting Clementi Lodge No. 313, G. R. C. A.F. & A.M., on the evening of Tuesday the 3rd Feb. at 7.30. Work in the third degree. Visiting brethren cordially invited.

At the last meeting of the village council a motion was introduced to combine all the minor offices of the corporation under the management of one man. A bylaw will be introduced at the next meeting to that effect and will, no doubt, pass, as that all who intend to apply for the position should send in their application, with salary wanted, and names of bondsmen, as $6,000 bonds will be required.

At the regular meeting of Lakefield Council No. 93, a number of visitors from Peterborough were present, and in the course of the evening the following offiers were installed for the current term, by Mr. S. R. Armstrong, S. C., of Peterborough Council, viz :—

HONOUR LIST.—The following is the roll of honour of school section No. 16, Otonabee, for the month of January :—Fourth class—Albert Frost, Nettie Stewart, Willie Welch. Senior third—Annie Guthrie, Lizzie Lynch, Archie Fletcher. Junior third—Jenny Huston, Mary Deyell, Henry Rose. Second class—Felix Lynch, Willie Robertson, Ellie Hoodge. Part second—Ettie Guthrie, Audrey Spears, Oscar Matchett. Senior first—Richard Fawcett, Bert Deyell, Walter Stewart. Junior first—Ephraim Fawcett, John Graham, Willie Huston. Deserving, special mention for good conduct—Lizzie Kitney, Henry Rose, Audrey Spear. Average for January, 41.

PUBLIC HALL.—On Friday evening, Jan. 30th, a public meeting was held in the school house to discuss the proposed erection of a Union Sabbath School Hall for the neighbourhood. It is felt by all that such a building is a necessity, and we trust this is the beginning of proceedings which will end in its erection in the spring. There were some appointed to solicit subscriptions, and they will report at a public meeting to be held for that purpose, in the same place, Friday evening, Feb. 6th, the progress they have made. All who are interested are cordially invited to be present at this meeting.

Eat, Drink and be Merry.

The man and woman who can eat and drink with comfort, profit and pleasure, and not only appear merry to outsiders, but have that mirth in the heart every day, possess a blessing that wealth cannot purchase. We know of the wealthy and those revelling in the lap of luxury who merely live and breathe; they are dyspeptic emaciated and colorless, and do not possess the necessary vitality for proper digestion. They have a repugnance—a hatred for food. Not the most tempting delicacies cannot influence or wheet the appetite. We often find the condition of these dyspeptics aggravated with some form of nervousness, headache and mental depression. These are serious and alarming symptoms and require immediate attention. For all such sufferers, whether wealthy or struggling for daily bread, Paine's Celery Compound comes in as the great re-organizer of the system, and the great appetite producer. It tones up and strengthens the digestive organs, renews the nerve and brain power and produces a healthy vim, snap and energy never before possessed. Scores of testimonials attest the value of this great compound in all the above mentioned troubles and give proof that those who were once unable to enjoy life now eat, drink, and are full of true pleasure and mirth.

NO RECIPROCITY THIS SESSION.

The U.S. Committee on Rules Hit Blaine Somewhat Hard.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—A Washington special to The Herald says: Speaker Reed and Major McKinley, through the Committee on Rules, have settled that there shall be no reciprocity legislation this session. This is primarily intended to hit Blaine hard and is due to his attitude towards the McKinley Bill. Congressman McCreary of Kentucky, the ranking member of the Committee on Foreign Relations in the House of Representatives in a speech in that body yesterday said that the committee had prepared for passage at this session of Congress 17 bills, most of them providing for reciprocal commercial relations between this and foreign countries. Among the countries with which reciprocity was to be established were Canada, Mexico, Hawaii, some of the West Indies and the South and Central American republics. Mr. McCreary said that the Committee on Foreign Relations having approved these measures had applied to the Committee on Rules, which is doing the steering for the House at present, to name a day on which the measures might be considered and passed. Greatly to the surprise of the Committee on Foreign Relations the Committee on Rules had refused to permit more than one day to be named for the consideration of all the 17 bills. No amount of argument or appeal could shake the decision on this point. As the day the Committee on Rules was willing to allow was to-day, it was perfectly evident that there would be no steps taken towards reciprocity by this Congress.

Trade Continues Stationary.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Special telegrams to Bradstreet's point out only a few instances where general trade has expanded noticeably during the past week. In the Dominion of Canada the distribution of staples appears to be relatively most active in Ontario, where wholesalers report large sales of spring goods. In the Province of Quebec trade is quite dull, though money is easy and prospects are for improvement. Collections generally are somewhat disappointing. Shoe manufacturers at Montreal and Quebec City are busy on spring orders. The Dominion of Canada had 59 failures this week against 56 last week and 50 this week last year. The total number, Jan. 1 to date, is 235 against 210 last year.

A Diamond Thief Caught.

WINDSOR, Jan. 30.—Officer Nash to-day arrested a young man named John Ladoncier, who is charged with being connected with the robbery of $7000 worth of diamonds from the Fifth-avenue Hotel in New York on Nov. 29. When searched a magnificent diamond bracelet and pin, valued at $1000, was found on his person.

Bankers' Banquet.

A very pleasant bankers' banquet may produce very unpleasant symptoms of dyspepsia, which disease is often caused by overloading the stomach with rich food, etc. For years Burdock Blood Bitters has held first place at home and abroad as a permanent and reliable cure for dyspepsia or indigestion in any form. The proprietors guarantee it to cure dyspepsia or return purchase money. 2w6d

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam Balsam for coughs and colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The Large Bottles are 50c, and $1.00. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

No Shadow of Doubt.

No sane person doubts that what we say of B.B.B. is true. The evidence of its power and popularity is too overwhelming to confute, besides it is all home testimony making it certain that B.B.B. will cure dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, scrofula, and all blood diseases. 2w6d

Purify Your Blood

The importance of having the blood in a pure condition is universally known, and yet there are very few people who have perfectly pure blood. The taint of scrofula, salt rheum, or other foul humor is hereditary and transmitted for generations, causing untold suffering, and we also accumulate poison and germs of disease from the air we breathe, the food we eat, or the water we drink. There is nothing more conclusively proven than the positive power of Hood's Sarsaparilla over all diseases of the blood. This medicine, when fairly tried, does expel every trace of scrofula or salt rheum, removes the taint which causes catarrh, neutralizes the acidity and cures rheumatism, drives out the germs of malaria, blood poisoning, etc. It also vitalizes and enriches the blood, thus overcoming that tired feeling, and building up the whole system. Thousands testify to the superiority of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a blood purifier. Full information and statements of cures sent free.

HONEYMOONING.

A True Story of Difficulties in the Northwest.

The pretty bronchos plunged violently, shivering with fright like other horses, they acted abominably in danger, not because of viciousness, but because of timidity and having lost their head in the knowledge of something being wrong, and if our driver and the other teamsters had not come to the rescue and by dint of pushing, pulling and petting, got us on the trail again, I think our honeymoon would have taken on a funeral aspect there and then. About half an hour afterward the snow began falling, slowly and straight, shutting out everything but the immediate surroundings. I grew very nervous about keeping the trail, for I dread ed getting into the deep snow again, but Charlie explained that so accustomed were both ponies and guides to the aspect of the path and the outlaying snow, that, although the trail became covered to some depth, they would still discern it from the way on which the snow laid on it.

The ponies pursued their steady pace, and the drive began to seem interminable. "Are we not nearly there?" I inquired, for the night had advanced, when suddenly our bandit wheeled round in his seat and informed us that we must have struck some side trail, for he hadn't the remotest idea of our whereabouts, and the ponies had been going where they liked for the past hour.

This capped the climax! We were atoms wandering in space! It was of no use attempting to find the right trail by turning back, for we might be going back now for all we knew. So, comforting ourselves with the blessed assurance that we must necessarily get somewhere if we kept on, we wrapped ourselves up in the extra blankets, crept under the high seat and let the ponies wander at will. But this state of comparative quiet was not to be maintained. A little later and the most hideous howling was set up a few rods from our rig. I felt Charlie start at my side.

"What is it?" I gasped, seizing his hand in an agony of terror, which was even more increased when I found it had already grasped his revolver, and I heard the ominous click as he cocked it.

I lay still, as helpless and nerveless as a baby, while every story of wolf-pursued travelers I had ever read or heard came into my mind. I even remember of thinking idly what a sensation our obituary would cause when it appeared in the daily paper of our native town. And it didn't seem a bit ridiculous then, though it does now. Here the driver interposed, saying that the horrible pandemonium proceeded from about a dozen prairie wolves, which were perfectly harmless.

This, however, was but poor comfort to me, for I had heard Charlie remark only that morning that these half breeds could lie as well as they could eat, and I would without hesitation have declared that there were at least two hundred ravening beasts in our wake, judging from the bedlam they created. To our intense relief the din died away in the distance about the time the driver descried a light ahead. In twenty minutes more we were safely landed in the large "living room" of a typical Western farm house, with the farmer, his wife, two gawky daughters and a son at the genuine "hobbledehoy, neither man nor boy," age, vying with each other in giving us a hospitable welcome.

"Land's sake, 'Tilda," cried the buxom mother, pushing her youngest daughter impatiently aside, "doan set thar like a bump on a log, but get something hot to drink for the lady."

"Father, let Zadok take keer of the ponies; you kin help th' gentleman to git his coat off. The breed'll look after hisself, I'll be bound."

This was a safe prophecy, as he had already done so, and the kind hands busied about me had quickly loosened my wrappings, drawn me in a capacious rocking chair to the fire and dosed me with strong hot coffee. I never saw anything more complete than Western hospitality; even the gray cat that made herself at home in my lap and the grizzled collie that lay with his black nose on Charlie's foot seemed to have put forth every effort their brute instinct could suggest to make us welcome. After a warm supper the family, who had been aroused from their slumbers, suggested that a little more sleep would not be disagreeable, and, small as the house was, there was a sleeping place supplied for each of us, though how they managed it heaven knows. I think the walls must have been elastic. After a long, sound sleep and a tremendous breakfast we again started on our journey, with as warm good-byes from our entertainers as though we had been close friends for a half century.

The sun was shining brightly, but on either side of him appeared a counterpart, save for an elongated visage. Our driver shook his head. This was a sun dog, he said, and boded a storm. But who could feel afraid with the sun shining so brightly, reflected a thousand times by innumerable crystal facets? The trail by its slight discoloration showed clear against the purity of the outlying snow—white as an angel's conscience. A few hours more and the driver was proven right; not only did the snow fall, but the wind sweeping over the vast expanse caught up the feathery mass and whirled it in gigantic wreaths; snow around, above, beneath, blustering, blinding, bewildering! The cold grew intense.

"Oh, Lu, my darling," I heard Charlie whisper in agonized tones, just as the half breed descended, from his seat, declaring he would stand it no longer. "Don't sleep! For God's sake keep awake!"

This I found it almost impossible to do. The stinging cold seemed to deaden my senses; my life seemed slipping from me.

"We must le the bronchos loose and wrap ourselves in the robes" said the breed, "or we shall all freeze." The [illegible] crept and [illegible] into the impenetrable whiteness. Charlie laid me carefully on a large buffalo robe and then rolled me up in it, for all the world like a bale of carpet, with a little aperture through which my breath ascended like smoke through a funnel. The breed and he then rolled themselves up in a similar manner, and thus we three human beings lay out in that wilderness of snow awaiting the cessation of the storm, succor—or death. Conversation in this state being impossible, how thickly thoughts crowded upon us! We seemed so young to die, and the life just begun was so very sweet! Still after all and over all, like Saul and Jonathan, in death we should not be divided.

Wrapped as we were in the skins, the natural warmth of our own bodies, unchilled by the touch of cold air, speedily promoted a pleasant glow, and my thoughts soon lost themselves in a slumbrous haziness. How long I slept I do not know, when a succession of heavy sounds aroused me—sounds that to my half-dazed senses suggested the archangel's trumpet. The same sounds waked Charlie and the half breed, and hurriedly unrolling themselves they shouted with all their might. The blizzard had ceased, but it was the dead of night. A short distance off were seen moving lights. It was a body of villagers from Pilot Mound, whither the sagacious bronchos had found their way, who, as soon as the storm ceased, had set out with torches and lanterns to find the owners of the ponies, ever and anon firing their guns to try and attract our attention, which they finally did. We were only a mile from the village, into which we were safely conveyed unharmed by our night on the winter prairie.

Our journey back was uneventful, the weather gloriously bright and piercingly chill after the storm. The trail was in some places piled high with snowdrifts which, packed hard by the relentless fury of the wind, bore our sleigh up as solidly as the trail itself.

Next day, as we stood together in the parlor of the Northern Hotel, at Port Arthur, gazing through the window over the matchless view of Lake Superior in all its winter majesty, flanked by the colossal "Sleeping Giant" and the grandeur of the "everlasting hills," I creep closer to my husband's side and whisper:

"I am very glad that part of journey is passed; are you not, dear?"

Just then a flash of winter sunshine touched and illumined the magnificent landscape with an almost unearthly glory.

"Yes," answers my husband softly, in the words of Hector to his Ulysses, "but the end crowns all."—E. H. Brodlique in January Outing.

Prof. Dorenwend to be in Town.

Prof. Dorenwend, the friend of the bald, is to make a limited visit here. He carries a complete stock of Hair Goods, and calls special attention to his new styles in ladies' bangs, crimpers, wigs, switches, gent's wigs, toupees, &c. Prof. D's goods are becoming to be actual things of necessity to the average person. Few can boast of having a superabundance of hair, but many complain of having too little. Prof. D's goods fill the vacancy, and make it possible for everybody to have a presentable head of hair. There is a chance now for all to be assured of Prof. D's claims—that his goods not only add to appearance, but to comfort and health as well. Proof is convincing. His stay is rather short, but it is as much time as he can spare, as he has other places to go to—So don't miss it at Phelan's Hotel, Peterborough, on Friday and Saturday, Feb'y 6th and 7th. 2w42

The Fisk Tennesseans.

Under the management of Mr. B. W. Thomas, delighted a fair-sized audience at the Baptist church Thursday evening. Those present enjoyed an evening of vocal melody. The Tennesseans have in their company a fine tenor and a magnificent bass singer. Mr. J. H. Chavers possesses a rich, deep bass voice, which he uses with fine effect, both in chorus and solo singing. He was enthusiastically encored. The singing of Mr. M. Chambers gave equal pleasure. He has an excellent cultured tenor voice, not only melodious, but of great volume. He responded to repeated recalls. His voice was displayed with excellent effect in the duet, "Only Three," Miss Gatewood sustaining the soprano part. Their voices blend well. Miss Gatewood and Mrs. Lizzie M. Jenkins, the soprano, are both excellent singers. Miss Gatewood, the contralto, and B. W. Thomas, baritone, were good in their respective parts. Singing together, the Tennesseans give an excellent vocal concert. To-night in Bradburn's Opera House. Admission, 25, 35, and 50 cents. 1d

Where Are They Now?

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Where is Mr. A. P. Poussette, President of the Central Election Committee of the Equal Rights Association, organized last spring to make "Mowat go"? Where are his associates, Mr. John Carnegie, Mr. E. B. Stone, Mr. G. W. Sawers, Mr. A. McNeil, Mr. H. B. Merrick and others, who were so enthusiastic and blatant at that time. Where are they now? Do they know that everybody is talking about the Dominion elections coming on at once? Do they forget that the Dominion Government committed the outrage against Protestantism and fair play that originated the Equal Rights movement? They should be alive now creating a boom, and preparing for defeating the candidates of a government whose truckling to ecclesiastical dictation and Jesuit agression gave such abundant reasons for organizing the Equal Rights movement. Will some of these gentlemen answer, or will they leave the public to formulate their own answer?

Yours inquiringly,
EQUAL RIGHTS.

Telfordian Temperature Topics.

WEATHER NOTES FOR JANUARY.—Another month has gone, and one which will long be remembered for the many events occuring throughout different parts of the world, including robberies, murders, earthquakes, pit and dynamite explosions, causing large destruction of life and property. Not only that, but the severe weather throughout the world has caused immense suffering, both in cold and hunger; with enormous railway and other strikes, all furnishing their quota of disaster and misery. But nearer to our own little Dominion, we may only look to our kind and loving cousins across the border; they, too, during the month have been visited with one of the severest and heaviest falls of snow, I believe, recorded during a number of years, during the same time in which our weather has been uncommonly fine. On the 26th, the time of their storm, although snowing all day, it only fell fifteen fractions, namely, 1¼ inches. The first half of the month, although marked by some sharp frost, was, still, never uncomfortable, the last being uncommonly fine. I am not aware of a finer month, especially the last two weeks. As a strange coincidence I have often remarked during southern storms that we have it fine, but as a general rule it will fall round on us within twelve days, but never so severe. Snow fell on thirteen days to the depth of 19.02 inches, about a fair average; rain on six days to to the depth of 1 inch and 74-100 of and inch, being a large average for January. Only 8 times my self-registering thermometer went below zero, the coldest, being 11° below zero, on the 16th, leaving the mean temperature of the month at 10 12-31, but in the material of white frost and fog, like a city merchant with a good advertisement, it did a fine business, claiming 11 days to show its bills of fare, two days of severe drifting—on the 12th and 14th—with two pretty fine looking bull dogs beside the sun on the afternoon of the last day. The following are the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month, viz: east, 2 days; south-west 7 days; north-west, 12 days; west, 2 days; north-east 4 days, and south-east 4 days.

A. R. KIDD,

The report we adopted.

[NOTE.—During the sitting of the Finance Committee a letter was read from Mr. Richard Crowe, of Dummer, setting forth that an appropriation of $100 expended on the 9th line of the township of Dummer, under Mr. A. R. Kidd, Overseer, in the year 1884, had not been accounted for by that gentleman, now Reeve of Dummer, and calling upon the council to make an investigation. Mr. Kidd, who is chairman of the committee, frankly stated that he was perfectly ready for an investigation, and he presented a statement of the expenditure made, accompanied by the vouchers and the time book, both confirming the statement of expenditure presented by Mr. Kidd, and fully accounting for the money in question. The committee's exoneration of Mr. Kidd is shown by paragraph, numbered 12, in the above report of the Finance committee.

HOUSE OF REFUGE.

Mr. BURNHAM, chairman of the special committee, presented the following report:

The special committee appointed to consider the advisability of maintaining a House of Refuge in the County of Peterborough, beg leave to report as follows:

That your committee instructed your clerk to write to the council of the town of Peterborough and request them to appoint a committee to confer with your committee to consider the subject.

2. That pursuant to such letter the council of the town of Peterborough appointed a committee as requested, who waited upon your committee, and expressed their desire to look carefully into the subject and confer with your committee.

3. Your committee recommend that your committee be allowed to stand until the June session in order that they may confer jointly with the Town Council, and thoroughly consider the matter.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
JOHN BURNHAM,
Chairman.

Bylaws to confirm the reports of the several committees, were duly passed, including one to authorize the borrowing of a sum not to exceed $30,000 for current expenses, etc.

EXPLANATORY.

Mr. J. COYLE BROWN, Inspector of Schools, made an explanation respecting a statement reported in the EXAMINER at the time of the presentation of the Inspector's report. He pointed out that the returns referred to were not those on which the appropriations were based, but others which were required before the money could be sent, and he (Mr. Brown) had delayed sending such reports, on account of inaccurate returns being made from some of the schools, till he could have such returns amended.

A CANADIAN NAMED

As the Successor of H. W. Blair in the United States Senate.

Jacob H. Gallinger, named as the successor of Henry W. Blair in the United States Senate, was born at Cornwall, Ontario, on the 28th day of March, 1837, and is therefore in his fifty-fourth year. As a farmer boy he attended the common school and academy. Afterward he became a printer; but while still a young man he began the study of medicine, and obtained his diploma as a practising physician in 1858. He has practised medicine and surgery ever since that time, and has attained some eminence in his profession, his services being called for not only in all parts of his own State, but outside of its boundaries also. Dr. Gallinger has the degree of A. M. from Dartmouth College, and is generally recognized as a man of learning and of more than ordinary executive ability and force of character.

But it is in political life that Dr. Gallinger is best and most widely known. He was elected to the State Legislature in 1872 and 1873. He took a prominent part in the Constitutional Convention of 1876. In 1878 he was elected to the State Senate. He was re-elected the following year, and was chosen to the Presidency of the Senate. After a hot contest with Charles H. Burns in 1888, he was made chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, and proved a most adroit manager. In 1884 he was elected to the National Congress, and at the end of his first term was re-elected. He declined to be a candidate again. In Congress he took a prominent part in party debates. He made not a little reputation in the investigation of the conduct of the Government Printing Office in Washington. Dr. Gallinger was a delegate to the Republican National Convention held in Chicago in June, 1888, and was chairman of the New Hampshire delegation. He seconded the nomination of Mr Harrison. In the Republican Senatorial caucus of June, 1889, he received sixty votes against Mr. Chandler, the nominee.—Harper's Weekly.

MAXIMS OF TALLEYRAND.

Prudence in a woman should be an instinct, not a virtue.

What I have been taught I have forgotten; what I know I have guessed.

The love of glory can only create a hero; the contempt of it creates a great man.

Theologians resemble dogs, that gnaw large bones for the sake of very little meat.

A rich man despises those who flatter him too much, and hates those who do not flatter him at all.

Life, to a young man, is like a new acquaintance, of whom he grows disgusted as he advances in years.

If you wish to appear agreeable in society you must consent to be taught many things which you know already.

Both erudition and agriculture ought to be encouraged by government; wit and manufactures will come of themselves.

The reputation of a man is like his shadow—gigantic when it precedes him, and pigmy in its proportions when it follows.

There are many vices which do not deprive us of friends; there are many virtues which prevent our having any.

There are two things to which we never grow accustomed—the ravages of time and the injustice of our fellow-men.

The errors of great men and the good deeds of reprobates should not be reckoned in our estimates of their respective characters.

He who cannot feel friendship is alike incapable of love. Let a woman beware of the man who owns that he loves no one but herself.

To succeed in the world it is much more necessary to possess the penetration to discover who is a fool than to discover who is a clever man.

The bold defiance of a woman is the certain sign of her shame. When she has once ceased to blush, it is because she has too much to blush for.

It is sometimes quite enough for a man to feign ignorance of that which he knows, to gain the reputation of knowing that of which he is ignorant.

A great capitalist is like a vast lake, upon whose bosom ships can navigate, but which is useless to the country, because no stream issues thence to fertilize the land.

That sovereign has a little mind who seeks to go down to posterity by means of great public buildings. It is to confide to masons and bricklayers the task of writing history.

Human life is like a game of chess—each piece holds its place upon the chess board—king, queen, bishop and pawn. Death comes, the game is up, and all are thrown, without distinction, pell-mell into the same bag.

Poor Fruit in Japan.

"My wife and I have been in Yokohama seventeen years," said Thomas L. Boag, yesterday, "and we are going back to England to live, Japan is a good enough place to live in——"

"If you can't get away," put in Mrs. Boag.

"The climate is pleasant, but it's only a place to make money in. Old married people, such as we are, can get along, but it's lonely for a young man. It isn't like home."

"There's not a fruit there fit to eat except grapes," said Mrs. Boag, "and they're woolly."

"Yes, the grapes have a few hairs on them, and they taste queer," admitted Mr. Boag. "They have tried apples and pears up in the northern part of the Island of Yeddo, and they are fine. But the nearest thing to an apple in Yokohama is 'nashi,' which has meat like a coarse pear, and a flavor like nothing else I know of."—Chicago Tribune.

A Barkeeper Preaching Temperance.

There is a barkeeper on Broadway who is a temperance reformer. He has been known to remonstrate against over indulgence in liquor at his bar. He has been known, while passing the bottle across the counter, to warn a customer of the danger of pouring too much into his tumbler. He has been known to express satisfaction with the course of a youthful tippler who gave up the habit of drinking. He has refused to furnish grog to a man who was already under its influence. This remarkable barkeeper holds that all men should be temperate under all circumstances, and he mourns over the folly of those who are otherwise; yet he has stood behind his bar for many years.—New York Sun.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Mr. Wm. Freeborn addressed the young men's meeting Saturday evening with acceptance. The attendance and interest were good.

The consecration meeting Sabbath morning was a time of blessing and fruit bearing. Mr. A. E. Burch led the meeting.

Mr. R. M. Rassell gave a heart-searching address at the parental purity meeting Sabbath afternoon to a large number of young men, who seemed interested by the earnest talk.

Last evening the gospel and song service was crowded with mostly young men. Short missionary addresses were given by Mr. W. Wallbrooke and the general secretary. A letter was read from Mr. F. G. Saunders, who is on his way to China. It was good to be there.

OBITUARY.

The Famous French Painter Passes Away in Paris After a Short Illness.

PARIS, Feb. 1.—Jean Louis Ernest Meissonier, the painter, who had been ill for several days, died in this city yesterday.

Meissonier, "the master of the infinitely little," has reigned alone over the kingdom of Lilliput for a generation and a half. His purposes, his methods and, to a great extent his subjects were the same at the end as at the beginning of his career. His enlogists must admit that his was not the highest art. The "how" rather than the "what" forms the basis of most of the admiration lavished upon his perfectly executed works. But in his field of art he stood alone. In another respect Meissonier was unequaled. No artist of this century has received during his lifetime such prices as have been paid Meissonier for his works. His first picture was sold for 100 francs, $20. For the "1807" in the Stewart collection 350,000 francs were paid; for the "Arrival at the Chateau," in the Vanderbilt gallery, 250,000 francs in Paris and the "1814" was sold to M. Secretary for 850,000 francs, or $70,000. Notwithstanding the almost incredible sums received by Meissonier he was not a rich man.

Maria Chattoway, formerly custodian of Shakespeare's birthplace, is dead.

Eli Bertrand Barthet, the French novelist, is dead. He was born in 1815.

The Very Rev. Edward Hayes Plumtre, Dean of Wells, England, is dead.

A Murderer's Funeral Expenses.

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 1.—At the meeting of Hastings County Council yesterday an account of $7 for burying Peter Davis, who was hanged some time ago for murder, was laid over until the June session.

Mr. Gordon asked why the remains were not buried in the jail yard?

Jailer Appleby, who was present, explained that the well from which the jail water was taken was situated in the yard, and the Government had allowed the body to be interred in the cemetery on that account.

SINGLE TAX

Is now the question of the hour; but to those in need of Ordered or Ready-made Clothing, single profits ought to be a subject of greater importance. Yearly importing all our principal lines, we save you the profits of the wholesale men, and you have thus one single profit to pay. That profit is not a large one, and has been made still smaller, as we are determined each and every article of Winter Clothing must go, to make way for Spring Goods. Each and every department has been visited and all goods have been reduced. Don't you buy a dollar's worth of clothing until you have looked us over. Take into consideration that we are selling First Class Goods with but a single profit, and that it is no trouble to show goods, whether you wish to buy or not.

DILLON TO BE LEADER.

THE RESULT OF THE CONFERENCE AT BOULOGNE.

McCarthy to Remain Until Next Session and Dillon Will Meanwhile Surrender Himself to the Police—Parnell to Come to America — Emin Pasha's Extravagance.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—In the lobbies of Parliament to-night the rumor was revived that the settlement supposed to have been made made with regard to the split in the Irish Party, leaves Mr. McCarthy in the chair. Messrs. Parnell and O'Brien are going to America for the purpose of raising funds.

The Standard says: "We believe the Liberal Leaders have promised the Healyites a Home Rule scheme that will empower the Irish parliament to control the police and deal with the land question if it is still unsettled, but they insist that the right of veto shall be reserved to the Imperial Parliament, as in the bill of 1886. Both sections of the Irish party will agree to this and Mr. Parnell will temporarily retire and go to America. It is stated that Sir William Vernon Harcourt did not take part in these negotiations and that he entirely disapproves of the scheme. It is also stated that the surrender on land question is the result of a radical "cave."

The Times says it is reported that a settlement between Mr. Parnell and Mr. O'Brien will be effected in America and that Mr. Dillon will surrender himself to the police on the understanding that he shall be nominated to the Irish leadership at the next session, Mr. McCarthy remaining for the present the leader of the reunited party.

McCarthy at Liverpool.

LIVERPOOL, Feb. 2.—Justin McCarthy speaking here to-day on the Irish question said that if the minority would not yield the majority might as well disband. He was prepared, he said, to accept any settlement making for peace and union. The prospect of an agreement being reached were hopeful. The Imperial Parliament must settle the land question before or concurrent with the Home Rule question, or never settle at all. The Irish were quite competent to reorganize the constabulary as a civil force.

THE OPORTO REVOLUTION.

King Charles Thanks the Loyal Portuguese—All Is Now Quiet.

OPORTO, Feb. 2.—Military law will remain in force here for a month. Several fugitives of the number of those engaged in Saturday's insurrection of garrison troops were captured to-day on the Spanish frontier. The official report of the results of Saturday's uprising says 9 persons were killed and 48 wounded during the fighting.

Prof. Albuquerque has been arrested, charged with having been concerned in the revolt. All the prisoners will shortly be tried by courtmartial. Two hundred and twenty-five rifles were found concealed in houses around the town hall in Dom Pedro-square.

King Charles and His Loyal Subjects.

LISBON, Feb. 2.—A number of prominent politicians went to the royal palace to-day to give expression of their loyalty to the throne. King Charles, in receiving the deputies from Oporto, asked them to thank the inhabitants of that city for their loyal attitude during the revolt.

He Spent Double His Allowance and Objected to Everything.

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—A white book is published here containing Emin Pasha's reports to the Middle of November last. These form a record of Emin's extravagance and disregard of instructions. Emin ignored the orders to form a station on the Victoria Nyanza instead he hoisted his flag at Tabor in spite of Commissioner Schmidt's efforts to dissuade him—the commissioner of objecting on the ground of the great expense Emin spent 120,000 marks, instead of the 60,000 marks allowed him. He repeatedly complains of the insufficiency of his supplies, owing to which, he says, his men were becoming mutinous. He therefore declines the responsibility for the failure of the expedition.

The Spanish Elections.

MADRID, Feb. 2.—Revised returns show the election of 314 Government candidates, 60 Liberals, 35 Republicans and 7 Carlists. No Socialists have been returned. A feature of the election was the abstention of the laboring classes and Anarchists from the contest.

A London Attraction.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—A curious fact has happened with regard to the Parnell case. Crowds have recently been observed in Medina place, and every day more and more people have been seen wending their way thither. The object of attraction is the fire escape by means of which it is said Parnell's escape was effected on the occasion when Capt. O'Shea returned at an inopportune and unexpected hour. The commercial aspect of this attractive object has not been lost sight of and the owners of the house have been offered a large sum for the ladder by a museum proprietor, who expects to reap a golden harvest if he is able to succeed in purchasing it. Another offer has been made for the house itself, which would then be opened to the public gaze at so much a head.

Mormonism in England.

NOTTINGHAM, Feb. 2.—The dissenters of this city and neighborhood have declared a vigorous war against the Mormons. Rev. Mr. Ward, an anti-Mormon missionary, delivered a fervid lecture upon the subject last night at South Normanstown, the strongest Mormon centre in England. Mr. Ward declared the Mormons were as great polygamists as ever.

An Irish Murderer Hanged.

TRALEE, Feb. 2.—Bartholomew Sullivan, a farmer, was hanged to day for complicity in the murder of Patrick Flahrive, an evicted farmer at Ballyhague. The motive for the crime was the announcement made by Flahrive of his intention to cut crops from a farm from which he had been evicted.

Perhaps it was a Bluff.

LONDON, Feb. 2. The Times says it would be interesting to know whether Parnell's utterances were merely a bluff. It will be strange if Emin should prove a second time to be the theatre of a deliverance that is historic in the fortunes of Parnell.

Eyraud to Die To-Day.

PARIS, Feb 2. President Carnot has declined to commute the sentence of death passed upon Michael Eyraud, the murderer of Gouffe. It is expected Eyraud will be executed to-morrow morning.

A Family Wiped Out.

PARIS, Feb. 2.—A woman and her three children were burned to death in a fire which broke out in a carpenter shop at Epinay yesterday.

MARCH FIFTH THE DATE.

NOMINATIONS FEBRUARY 26; VOTING MARCH 5.

The Dominion House Dissolved and the Writs Issued—The Campaign Will be Short and Sharp—Only 20 Days for Discussion.

TORONTO, Feb. 3.—A special despatch from Ottawa to The World says: The Governor-General on the advice of his Ministers has dissolved the sixth Parliament of Canada and ordered the writs to issue for a new election. The writs will bear date of February 4th and be returnable on April 25th. They direct the nominations to be held on Thursday, February, 26th, and the polling on March 5, thirty-one days hence.

The dissolution will be published in a special of The Canada Gazette to-day, Tuesday.

The campaign will open by a big meeting in Toronto, where Sir John and probably Hon. Mr. Foster will speak. That meeting will be within a few days.

Sir John has disregarded the suggestion of a number of members who wanted the elections held back for another session. Sir Charles Tupper will take an active part in the election campaign. He will speak in Ontario, where the big battle is to be fought.

TRAINS IN COLLISION.

Particulars of the Wreck on the G.T.R. Near Kingston.

KINGSTON, Feb. 2.—The wreck on the Grand Trunk Railway near Ballantyne's Station yesterday occurred just after daybreak. The results of the collision were at once terrible and appalling. After the first great crash the momentum of the cars carried them on, and they piled one over another to a height of twenty or thirty feet. Some were thrown to one side and thus formed a wider foundation for the others to rest upon. The engine hands got clear of the smash by jumping, with the exception of Norton Clow of Lyn, who was caught between the two iron monsters and hurled into the ditch on the south side of the track and buried under hundreds of tons of iron, machinery, freight cars and other debris.

The pieces of the cawyers spread on both sides of the track, and merchandise of every description lay about in all directions. The engines were so badly mashed that to tell what they were was an impossibility. The cars had contained apples, drygoods, hay, rubbers, flour, envelopes, tin pails and meal, and the freight was lying promiscuously about the sides of the track.

Operator Laidley, whose negligence caused the collision, received orders to detain a special freight train at the Kingston station until it was crossed by one from the east. The east-bound train got away. The result was that the trains met.

As soon as the operator discovered his mistake he hurried to the residence of the day operator, Mr. Nicholson, and after telling him what had happened, left the city.

Passenger Train Wrecked.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 2.—The passenger train which left Griffin to-night on Savana, Griffin and North Alabama road was thrown from the track and the whole train rolled down a twenty foot embankment. About 15 passengers were severely wounded, but none were killed.

The Cuban Revolution.

BUENOS AYRES, Feb. 2.—After a battle lasting several hours the regular troops have reoccupied Valparaiso. The insurgents lost heavily and it is believed the revolt will be speedily suppressed. President Balmaceda has sent 2000 troops to Ancud, on the Island of Chiloe, off which a naval engagement was fought recently.

Gibson Nominated.

HAMILTON, Feb. 2.—Hon. J. M. Gibson was formally selected as the Reform candidate in a mass meeting at the Jackson street rink. Mr. Gibson and his colleague, Mr. Harcourt, made speeches. The campaign will go right on probably for three weeks.

Breathed Her Name and Died

THOROLD, Feb. 2.—Edward Franks, clerk for Messrs. McCleary & McLean, lumber merchants died suddenly about midnight last night. His wife heard a gurgling noise and he breathed her name and expired. He came here from the neighborhood of Brampton, where his parents reside.

Koch Institute Opened.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The new Koch institute for the treatment of consumptive patients was opened at 196 East Broadway to-day. The building is a new 4-story brick structure, fitted up with all hospital conveniences and has room for 35 patients. To-morrow the first patients will be received, who are coming from Connecticut, Vermont, Massachusetts and this city. Inside of a week the hospital will be filled. Dr. Alex. I. Aronson, who has spent three months in the Berlin clinics under Koch, is in charge.

Dairy Schools for Canada.

OTTAWA, Feb. 2. The Government, on the recommendation of the Minister of Agriculture, has decided to make a grant of money for the establishment of dairy schools throughout the Dominion this year. This is a step following upon the appointment of Prof. J. W. Robertson as Dominion dairy commissioner last year.

Torontonian Killed.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2. Frank J. Morrison, a Scotch man by birth, a man of excellent education, who came here from Toronto about five months ago and who was up to very recently advertising solicitor for The Canadian-American was accidentally killed by falling out of a window at 250 South Clark-street. The deceased at one time held a good position on the Toronto press. He was in his 35th year.

A Mangled and Frozen Body Found.

PARIS, Ont., Feb. 2.—The body of James Watson, at one time a brakeman on this division, but who has of late been working for farmers in this vicinity, was found in a ditch east of here yesterday. It is supposed that he left Paris in the night and was walking along the track to his home when struck by a train. The body was frozen, both legs cut off and his face badly smashed.

Taps From the Telegraph.

Beaumont, the young Englishman who was bitten by a rattlesnake at Daytona, Fla., died yesterday in great agony.

A private cablegram received in New York from Chili says the insurrectionary vessels have failed to occupy any port on the coast. The people and the army are standing by the Government and order is preserved on the land.

Sarah Bernhardt, the actress, arrived in New York yesterday on the steamer La Champagne.

A SCENE IN THE SENATE

IN THE DISCUSSION OF THE FORTIFICATIONS BILL.

Why Rectprocity was Killed by the United States Congress — Attorney - General Longley at Washington—An Explanation from Blaine Respecting the Baker Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The Fortification bill was before the Senate this afternoon. Discussing an amendment to reduce the sum asked, Mr. Cockrell said he regarded a system of coast defences which would cost $125,000,000 as utterly worthless and an absolute waste of money. Located as the United States is, it could resist the combined powers of the entire earth. We have no risk to run. Mexico is our friend. The Canadians are our friends. Suppose they are our enemies what do they amount to?

Mr. Frye: Not a row of pins.

Mr. Cockrell: That is so; but we can take Canada as a full compensation for any possible injury Great Britain may at any time hereafter do us.

Carrion for Powder.

Mr. Hawley ridiculed the pretension that the United States could whip any other people on the face of the earth. There was a population of 60,000,000 in the United States, capable of supplying the finest troops that the world had ever seen, but in case of an immediate and unexpected declaration of war they would be what Wellington called carrion for powder. What would the British nation care for a square mile of such troops armed with rifles that would not shoot over 1200 yards? He did not want to show the nakedness of his country, but it so happened the whole world knew already that the United States was absolutely helpless. The Government could not negotiate to-day with advantage. That was the Bible truth. Great Britain had a magnificent harbor at Halifax protected by noble batteries and the best fleet in the world. She had another naval station at Bermuda and another on the Northwestern coast so close to the United States that vessels in that harbor could throw shots across the line. War exploded without notice. It was said Great Britain would not fight, etc., but John Bull got mad and made an ass of himself like other people.

What John Bull Could do.

He fought against robbery and sometimes he fought for the sake of robbery. In 12 or 18 hours Great Britain could assemble a fleet at Portland, in 18 or 20 hours at Boston, and in 24 hours, perhaps, at New York. British war vessels in the harbor of New York could levy a tribute of 500 or 1000 million dollars on the City of New York, and New York would be compelled to pay it. In the meantime those "gallant sons of liberty," by the 100,000, or the 500,000, might be arming, but they would not be worth a single last year's bird's nest. The harbors of Boston, Portland, New York, Charleston, New Orleans and San Francisco could not be defended, as they had no modern guns.

Mr. Dolph also spoke in favor of adequate coast protection.

Mr. Blair ridiculed Mr. Dolph's and Mr. Hawley's fears of war with any nation. Great Britain had no conceivable motive to make war against the United States. He offered an amendment looking to an international conference for the suppression of the slave trade and of the trade in intoxicating liquors, firearms and gunpowder in Africa.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The circumstances leading to the strangling of the reciprocity measure in Congress as telegraphed yesterday are worth recording. The measure was killed by Reed and McKinley as a blow at James G. Blaine. There is no surprise at the development that the Speaker and Mr. McKinley have used the first opportunity to knock Mr. Blaine's pet scheme a fatal blow. It has been understood all along that they would do that if they could, for both are bitterly opposed to the somewhat exuberant Secretary of State. Mr. McKinley hates him because he came in with the reciprocity scheme after the McKinley bill had been formulazed and presented and knocked the author of that piece of patchwork out of all the glory of his production. Besides, Mr. McKinley has not forgotten that that incident, when Mr. Blaine denounced the McKinley bill and smashed a new ten dollar tile in the fierceness of his execration. That little phrase of the Secretary, that there wasn't a line in the bill that would enable a farmer to sell another bushel of wheat or another barrel of pork, clings in the memory of the Ohio tariff raiser. He has reason to remember it, for it met him often enough in his last campaign.

AN EXPLANATION FROM BLAINE.

The Reciprocity Letter Written and Published With a Purpose.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The Herald this morning says: Secretary Blaine's letter to Representative Baker on reciprocity with Canada was written and published with a purpose. Both correspondents knew beforehand what was to be said on either side. As the matter has been explained to me it would seem that Mr. Blaine was surprised recently by sundry fictitious paragraphs in the press of Canada and the United States asserting that his Government had made proposals for reciprocity to that of Canada and had offered to include a settlement of the Behring Sea and Fisheries questions in the arrangement. He suspected at the time that the rumors were a piece of electioneering work, devised either by the Government of Sir John Macdonald or by some of its supporters. He was not willing that the Government of the United States should be made a catspaw by Canadian politicians engaged in playing the game of domestic politics. Hence, as soon as his suspicions were confirmed and Sir John Macdonald had shown his hand, the secretary found a convenient way of exposing the deceptive device of the Macdonald-Tupper party. With the recent clear statement of Sir John Macdonald as to the limited measure of reciprocity he was willing to contemplate, and his own letter to Representative Baker saying that there must be a broad measure or none. Mr. Blaine considers that the Canadian people have a means of determining for themselves where their interests lie and in which direction their votes should be thrown, and he for one is quite content that they shall settle their economic policy as they judged best. I am privately assured that Mr. Blaine expects to see Sir John Macdonald carry the next general election by a good majority, so that his only immediate concern in the matter is to expose and defeat the unseemly attempt to drag the Government of the United States into Canadian politics and a make-weight, an offence aggravated by the deception accompanying the attempt.

A CONFERENCE AT WASHINGTON.

Hon. Mr. Longley Discussing Reciprocity in the States.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Hon. J. W. Longley of Halifax is here accompanied by Erastus Wiman on their way south, and with a view to promoting the movement in the direction of reciprocity they called while here on a number of leading statesmen. There is believed to be a sincere desire on the part of the commercial element in the United States to ascertain what is the real sentiment of the Canadian people regarding trade with this country, and thus an election would afford an early opportunity to decide. In order that there may be every encouragement afforded some resolution—probably that recommended by Mr. Hitt finds greatest favor. To show the extent of the feeling in this direction, even Mr. McKinley, the author of the House tariff which so seriously affects Canada, assured Mr. Wiman that he would vote for Mr. Hitt's resolution, while Mr. Speaker Reed referred to the proposed reciprocal movement as likely to be more beneficial to his constituency than almost any event that could happen. From Senators McMillan and others assurances were received that if the House passed the resolution, the senate would promptly follow suit.

PROF. KOCH GOING TO EGYPT.

He Tells Why He Only Partially Disclosed His Lymph Secret.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—Professor Koch, who is about to start for Egypt, gave a farewell reception to his laboratory assistants to-day. The professor says that he will probably be absent from Berlin about three months. He explains that he only partially disclosed the method of the production of the curative lymph because he desired to stop the rush of doctors to Berlin. If he had described the method of manufacture more fully, he says, he would have been more worried about the details. Great discontent prevails among medical men regarding the published account of the method of manufacture of the lymph. They have made numberless attempts to produce the lymph, but they find Professor Koch's description totally inadequate to enable them to make it.

A RED RIBBON TOLD HER ALL.

How Young Mrs. Farley Found Her Husband's Remains at the Mammoth Morgue.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 2.—The identification of Hiram Farley, one of the miners killed at Mammoth, was made in an affecting manner. Before going to work Farley's young wife playfully tied a red ribbon, with which their baby had been toying, around his wrist. The wife said that the ribbon would bring good luck. When the news of the explosion became known Mrs. Farley rushed to the scene. Body after body passed by. At length a corpse unusually mangled was being carried out when Mrs. Farley saw a red ribbon shining on the wrist. In an instant the young widow had fallen across her husband's remains, and she was taken away hysterical. The begrimed ribbon has been laid away by the widow as a sacred relic.

TORONTO TOPICS.

TORONTO, Feb. 2.—The inquest on W. Irwin, who died while being removed to the Home for Incurables from the General Hospital, was held yesterday afternoon in the former institution. The evidence elicited the facts which were related in The World. The report of the post-mortem examination showed that the deceased had been suffering from a very severe form of lupus and had diseased lungs. Coroner Duncan having summed up the evidence, the jury returned a verdict which declared that deceased came to his death from the disease from which he was suffering, and exonerated all the parties connected with the case.

At the Young Liberals' meeting last night Prof. Goldwin Smith read his new on "Loyalty," which was a masterly production. He said he was with the Liberals in the present fight, although he is not identified with the party. At present the air of this country is laden with a species of loyalty, and every man must shout loyalty or run the risk of being sabred by some terrific warrior on the street. In the British Empire loyalty is strictly a colonial sentiment, for in the United Kingdom one never hears the word mentioned. If a woman were to go about declaring that her teeth were not false, her hair her own and her face not painted, people would be confirmed in the very impression she was so anxious to dispel, and it was similar as regards loyalty.

Term commenced at Osgoode Hall yesterday morning.

The Queen's Bench sat at 10 o'clock and delivered judgments, among which were the following:

Dancy v. G. T. Ry. Co.—A motion by the defendants to set aside the verdict and judgment for the plaintiff for $1000 damages in an action tried before Mr. Justice MacMahon and a jury at the last Goderich Assizes and to dismiss the action or for a new trial. The plaintiff was traveling by the defendants' railway upon a return ticket from Sarnia to Godarich, which ticket had printed thereon "direct route," and was ejected from a train because he wished to go round by Stratford instead of changing cars at Lucan and going to Goderich by way of Clinton, and refused to leave the train at Clinton or to pay extra fare for going round by Stratford. The jury found that the shortest way from Sarnia to Goderich was by way of Lucan and Clinton, but in answer to another question they found that the most direct route was the route that made the best connection. They also found that unnecessary violence was used in ejecting the plaintiff from the train. The defendants claim that "direct route" means "straight route" or "shortest route," and therefore that the plaintiff had no right on the train from which he was ejected, and also that the finding of unnecessary violence was against all the evidence, and that the damages were excessive. The motion was dismissed with costs and the verdict and judgment affirmed.

Taylor v. Massey.—A motion by the defendant to set aside the verdict and judgment for the plaintiff for $1500 in an action of libel tried before Chief Justice Armour and a jury at the Toronto Assizes. The plaintiff brought an action for the seduction of his daughter against one Johnston, the superintendent of the Massey Manufacturing Company, of which the defendant is president. The circumstances out of which that action arose, as stated by the plaintiff's daughter, were published in some newspapers in the City of Toronto, where the parties all lived, and the employers and fellow-employes of the defendant held a meeting, at which they passed a resolution expressive of their confidence in the defendant, and characterizing the allegations against him as a conspiracy. The publication of this resolution is charged as a libel against the defendant. The defendant contended that no malice was shown, that no charge was at any rate made against the plaintiff in the alleged libel, that the damages were excessive, and that there should be a non-suit or a new trial. The motion was refused with costs, and the verdict and judgment at the trial affirmed.

HE WANTED TO DIE.

Andrew Douglas, a Pickering Bachelor, Sends a Bullet Into His Brain.

PICKERING, Feb. 2.—Andrew Douglas, a man aged 70, was found dead in his brother's barn this morning. He was shot through the head and held in his hand a 38-calibre revolver. There was found on his person about $250 and also a receipt from Charles Stark for a $6 revolver, deceased having been in Toronto last Saturday. He has lived with his brother, George Douglas, for several years. He was a bachelor and supposed to be fairly well off. He has always appeared perfectly sane. It is rumored that some financial difficulties were troubling him. Douglas also left behind him a note saying he was tired of life.

MANITOBA'S SEPARATE SCHOOLS.

The Full Court Upholds the Action of the Legislature.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 2.—The judgment of the full court has been given on the appeal of the Roman Catholics from Judge Killam's decision, which upheld the validity of provincial legislation in abolishing Separate schools. The judgment of the full court sustains Killam's judgment in every point. Judge Dubuc, who is a Frenchman, dissented from the judgment.

The appeal was therefore dismissed with costs.

By a curious coincidence the Roman Catholic electors met to-day and re-elected the old school trustees.

The Wellington Stable's Appomattox Heavily Backed and Wins.

GLOUCESTER, Feb. 2.—Appomattox was the big favorite in the first race to-day at 1 to 3 on, there being a good deal of Canadian money on hand. Appomattox has been in several races and stood pretty well, but was not regarded as being safe against even such a field as that of to-day. The Canadian confidence, like the Canadian money, is often misplaced, and Appomattox got there with both feet. His Girl was a split favorite in the third race, but made a poor showing. Summary:

First race, ¾ mile—Appomattox, 105 (Randolph), 1; Amalgan 2, Harzburg 3. Time 1.30½.

Second race, 4½ furlongs—Ben's Pet 1, Gadabout 2, Muggs 3. Time 1.03¼.

Third race, ¾ mile—Gen. Gordon 1, Davy Johnson 2, Ralph Black 3.

Fourth race, ¾ mile—Sallie Harper 1, Prodigal Son 2, Jubilee 3. Time 1.13.

Fifth race, 7½ furlongs—Ceawood 1, Can't Tell 2, Bohemian 3. Time 1.58¾.

THE WRIT WILL BE FILED.

The United States Supreme Court Will Hear the Behring Sea Application.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—In the Supreme Court of the United States to-day Chief Justice Fuller announced that the court had decided to grant the British Government leave to file an application for a writ of prohibition in the Behring Sea matter. A rule directing the District Court of Alaska to show cause why the writ should not be issued was made returnable on the second Monday in April.

The Chief Justice said in delivering the decision that the Supreme Court undoubtedly had jurisdiction in the matter.

Killed Her Two Children and Herself.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 2.—A despatch from Horton, Kan., says: "News reached here to-night of a horrible act of an insane woman who has been living on a farm seven miles west of here. Mrs. Henry Wysong was left a widow two years ago, with three children, the youngest four years of age. This winter she has been almost destitute. The fear of starvation so preyed on her mind that she attempted to kill her children and herself. The oldest, a boy of 12, escaped from her after she had cut his throat with a knife, and then ran to a neighbors, giving the alarm. The neighbor hurried to the house, which he found in flames. The woman had killed the remaining two children, and after inflicting fatal wounds on herself had set fire to the house. The three charred bodies were found. The boy who escaped will live."

Daily Examiner.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1891.

THE Liberal Government of Nova Scotia has established night schools at the principal coal mines of that province for the benefit of those desirous of obtaining an education, who are unable to attend the day schools. The schools are said to be highly appreciated by the mining population. Of course, says the Ottawa Free Press, the Tories charge that in establishing night schools at the mines, Mr. Fielding and his colleagues were actuated by political motives. Perhaps they were. Mr. Fielding is, no doubt, aware that when workingmen become educated they soon come to be Tories. They can be no longer deluded with the silly idea that high taxation is a blessing.

ATTENTION has been called to the fact that nominally, the Dominion Franchise Act gives the franchise to every young man of 21 years of age possessing certain qualifications. Should the election be held now, upon the lists of 1889, no young man under 23 years of age would be able to vote, (the lists being two years old.) It is possible to arrive at a fair estimate of the number of men who would be disfranchised. The census of 1871 showed that there were then in Ontario 90,290 men between the ages of 21 and 23. The census of 1881 showed 40,787 men between the ages of 21 and 23, an increase of 10,507, or 34 7 per cent. Supposing the same rate of increase between 1881 and 1891, we have in the latter year 54,940 men between 21 and 23, all of whom will be disfranchised at the present elections. In the whole Dominion there were in the year 1871 65,377 young men between 21 and 23; in 1881 the number was 87,504, an increase of 32.8 per cent. If the same rate of increase prevailed between 1881 and 1891, there are now more than 116,000 young men in Canada between 21 and 23 who will be disfranchised at the present elections.

THE Canada Herald Journal speaks feelingly on the subject of needless noises and their effect on the nervous system. The slow and almost insensible effect of noise on the nervous system, it says, tends to wear and break it down. The sensitive ear and brain are tortured by the shrieks of locomotive whistles, the hideous yell of the factory horn and the clatter of traffic on the stone-paved streets; when evening comes "saloons pour forth their life, and youths and intoxicated revellers wend their homeward way with loud talking, songs and shouts. Dogs and cats often keep up the racket until soon the milkman and newsboy in the early morning connect the endless chain of noise again with the clatter of the street traffic. And so it goes on, and life is not only rendered miserable from want of refreshing sleep, but is incalculably shortened." The Journal suggests that legislators and the press should strive to make the night as well as the Sabbath a period of rest," This is the city view of the subject, but if the editor of the Journal were in Peterborough he would have a chance to wail; he would be cheered and kept wakeful by the nocturnal howling and barking of worthless curs or the untiring shriek of nocturnal railway trains. A long-suffering public should be protected by the legislators from our too wide-awake towns and cities.

Hamilton Election.

Hon. J. M. Gibson Nominated.

The battle for the vacant seat for Hamilton in the Legislature has begun in earnest. The Conservatives a few evenings ago announced their candidate in the person of Mr. Thomas H. Stinson, whose return at the last election was voided by the judges. The renomination of Mr. Stinson has been made with a great flourish of trumpets and with some idea of showing the supposed strength of the Conservative party in Hamilton, so that maybe no opposition would be made against Mr. Stinson's return. A good many Conservatives conceived the idea that Hon. J. M. Gibson would not contest the seat, as he was too much afraid of being unseated a second time. They can disabuse their minds of such foolish fancies. Hon. J. M. Gibson will be the standard bearer of the Reformers. He is no coward, and will go into the fight certain of being victorious.

The Executive Committee of the Reform Association met this evening and nominated Hon. Mr. Gibson as the Reform candidate. President Carscallen was in the chair, and the executive was out in strong force, full of enthusiasm and eager to do battle for the cause of Reform. A Management Committee was nominated, whose duty it will be to control the various ward arrangements. An advisory committee was also named, and in fact, the organization was perfectly completed for the fight. Hon. Mr. Gibson addressed the meeting, and was greeted with much enthusiasm. He delivered a stirring address in his best form, feeling confident of the result

A mass meeting of the friends and supporters of the Mowat Government will be held in the Palace Rink on Monday evening, when Hon. Mr. Gibson's candidature will be re-affirmed.

Mr. Stinson, the unseated member-elect, held a mass meeting in the Palace Rink tonight. Although the night was wet the rink was crowded, and during the meeting a great amount of cheering was indulged in. President John Milne of the Conservative Association was the chairman, and talked for some time on the present aspect of affairs. Ald. Hatcher moved the ratification of the nomination of T. H. Stinson, which was seconded by Ald. Hancock, and unanimously agreed to by the assemblage. Mr. Stinson thanked the meeting for the continuance of confidence in him by a short pleasant speech. The rest of the evening was given up to speechifying. Alex. McKay, M.P., J. W. Nesbitt Q. C., Senator McInnes, Major Moore, F. Fitzgerald, ex-Ald. Nicholson and others delivered addresses.

Prof. Dorenwend to be in Town.

Prof. Dorenwend, the friend of the bald, is to make a limited visit here. He carries a complete stock of Hair Goods, and calls special attention to his new styles in ladies' bangs, crimpers, wigs, switches, gent's wigs, toupees, &c. Prof. D's goods are becoming to be actual things of necessity to the average person. Few can boast of having a superabundance of hair, but many complain of having too little. Prof. D's goods fill the vacancy, and make it possible for everybody to have a presentable head of hair. There is a chance now for all to be assured of Prof D's claims—that his goods not only add to appearance, but to comfort and health as well. Proof is convincing. His stay is rather short, but it is as much time as he can spare, as he has other places to go to. So don't miss it at Phelan's Hotel, Peterborough, on Friday and Saturday, Feb'y 6th and 7th. 2n42

THE LOVER'S LAMENT.

Your face is like a drooping flower, Sweetheart!
I see you fading, hour by hour, Sweetheart!
Your rounded outlines waste away,
In vain I weep, in vain I pray,
What power Death's cruel hand can stay? Sweetheart! Sweetheart!
Why, nothing but Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The hand of time deals lightly with a woman in perfect health. But all functional derangements and disorders peculiar to women leave their mark. You needn't have them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription comes to your rescue as no other medicine can. It cures them.

For periodical pains, prolapsus and other displacements, bearing-down sensations, and all "female complaints" and "weaknesses," it is a positive remedy.

The "Favorite Prescription" is a powerful, restorative tonic and nervine, imparting strength to the whole system in general, and to the uterine organs and appendages in particular. It keeps years from your face and figure—but adds years to your life. It's guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case. If it doesn't, your money is returned.

World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Well! Well!"

That's the way you feel after one or two of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets have done their work. You feel well, instead of bilious and constipated: your sick headache, dizziness and indigestion are gone. It's done mildly and easily, too. You don't have to feel worse before you feel better. That is the trouble with the huge, old-fashioned pill. These are small, sugar-coated, easiest to take. One little Pellet's a laxative, three to four are cathartic. They regulate and cleanse the liver, stomach and bowels—quickly, but thoroughly. They're the cheapest pill, sold by druggists, because you only pay for the good you get.

Bankers' Banquet.

A very pleasant bankers' banquet may produce very unpleasant symptoms of dyspepsia, which disease is often caused by overloading the stomach with rich food, etc. For years Burdock Blood Bitters has held first place at home and abroad as a permanent and reliable cure for dyspepsia or indigestion in any form. The proprietors guarantee it to cure dyspepsia or return purchase money. 2w61

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam Balsam for coughs and colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle free, that they may try it before purchasing. The Large Bottles are 50c, and $1.00. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption. dw

No Shadow of Doubt.

No sane person doubts that what we say of B.B.B. is true. The evidence of its power and popularity is too overwhelming to confute, besides it is all home testimony making it certain that B.B.B. will cure dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, scrofula, and all blood diseases. 2w6d

Mrs. James Dix, Brock street, Kingston, Ont., says: I suffered with an inflamed throat and bad cough for seven months. Was treated by physicians without success, when six doses of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil cured me. It's as palatable as cream. For sale by all druggists. dw

The marked benefit which people in run down or weakened state of health derive from Hood's Sarsaparilla, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there must follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes creates an appetite, purifies the blood, and, in short, gives great bodily, nerve, mental and digestive strength.

That Tired Feeling

"I derived very much benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla, which I took for general debility. It built me right up, and gave me an excellent appetite." ED. JENKINS, Mt. Savage, Md.

Fagged Out

"Last spring I was completely fagged out. My strength left me and I felt sick and miserable all the time, so that I could hardly attend to my business. I took one bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured me. There is nothing like it." R. C. BROOLS, Editor Enterprise, Belleville, Mich.

The Tongue.

"The boneless tongue, so small and weak,
Can crush and kill," declared the Greek,
"The tongue destroys, a greater horde,"
The turk asserts, 'than does the sword."
The Persian proverb wisely saith:
"A lengthy tongue an early death."
Or sometimes takes this form instead:
"Don,t let your tongue cut off your head."
"The tongue can speak a word whose speed,"
Say the Chinese, "outstrips the steed."
While Arab sages this impart:
"The tongue's great storehouse is the heart."
From Hebrew wit the maxim sprung:
"Though feet should slip, ne'er let the tongue."
The sacred writer crowns the whole:
"Who keeps his tongue doth keep his soul."

AUNTS STORY.

IT was a hot and sultry day, near the middle of June. The roses were in full bloom, and the gentle Summer wind wafted into the sitting-room cooled my fevered brow with its refreshing breeze. I had been sitting here for some time, in the recess of a window, over which wild roses and various other kinds of creeping vines were growing in great abundance. But as my gaze wandered from one object of interest to another they came in contact with the arbor, in which I had spent so many happy hours. This arbor was very nice place; it contained a few nicely arranged seats, and was almost encased in trailing vines and tall trees, which to my mind, seemed quite a romantic place for lovers to meet in.

I say lovers, for we were lovers, Edward and I; and had been so ever since childhood. Our homes were nearly opposite each other, separated only by a short meadow. And many a moonlight night have we wandered to that arbor, or across the meadow, with only the heavens above us and the bright earth below to listen to our plighted vows.

Edward was poor, and I rich. These were the only objections that my father could possibly find to prevent our marriage. Edward's father was the captain of a ship, and spent most of his time at sea. But he was not an economist; and therefore, Edward, if he ever married, must be a penniless husband.

This night was the saddest one that I had ever yet experienced. We were to part, Edward and I, perhaps forever, in the old arbor. We met just as the shades of twilight were gathering, and remained there for many long hours; but we must part sometime; and so sad was that parting I fainted away.

I know not how long I remained there after Edward's departure. I only remember that I felt one burning kiss pressed upon my lips, and one last embrace; all the rest seems like a dream. When my consciousness returned I was completely astounded at finding myself in the arbor, so late at night; but, much to my relief, the events of the previous evening came back to my scattered senses.

Hastily rising, I managed to crawl to bed unsuspected by any of the household. While there, I called to mind the last words of my beloved Edward: "You must be sure to write to me, dearest, and confide to me all your little trials and mishaps. A sailor's life, at best, is a very disagreeable one, but I will write to you all the same. Give me, as a token of your love, one of those bright curls, so that, when a gloomy or despondent day comes, I can look at it, and it will help me to bear my disappointment."

"Oh, Edward, can I ever forget thee?" I sighed; and for a whole week I went about, as it were, like one in a sort of dream.

For three years, I received letters regularly from Edward, containing naught but love and nonsense. But suddenly they ceased, and a dreaded evil was fast creeping over my heart.

"What can it mean?" I often said. "Surely, Edward has not forgotten me for I could never forget him?"

But still the long-looked for, long-expected letters never came.

About three months afterwards I happened to pick up an old newspaper, and while carelessly running over its contents I found something that startled me. It was this: "A shipwreck." Oh! how those two short words thrilled through every fibre of my heart. That vessel proved to be the one that he had sailed in.

Great was my grief, and day by day I grew thinner. My life seemed now only too long; and I often wandered down to the arbor and sat in our old accustomed seat, vainly trying to imagine that Edward was still near me, murmuring those words of love that he had always been wont so freely to use. Often, in my lonely wanderings, the face of Edward, pale and ghost-like, seemed to haunt me like some dim sceptre that I could barely distinguish in the distance.

My father had now accumulated great wealth; and accordingly, I had any numbers of suitors for my hand in marriage. A young gentleman from a distant country, who was very wealthy, had lately moved into our neighborhood, creating quite a sensation, as he took the heart of every young lady there by storm. To tell the truth, everybody spoke of him in the highest terms.

I met him several times at parties, and by his great attention and numerous other little services, he showed that his preference had fallen on me. He proposed; but constant to the love that I bore Edward, I refused. When my parents heard of this they were indignant at me for having refused one of the best offers that any girl might ever expect to have. My father, whom I had always believed good and kind, soon showed the hidden traits of his nature, and became cruel and harsh; and, one day, he showed me the room that I was to occupy, saying, at the same time, that I must either marry Reginald Bertram, or be confined in this room, never seeing any one, and never appearing in society.

After a month of this kind of treatment, I thought it best to submit. An elegant bridal outfit was soon prepared for me; and I was, with [illegible], to the altar, there to be [illegible], only by mere form, as it then seemed to me, to the man that I had long not only disliked, but really despised.

A deathly silence prevailed throughout the church; and, just as the minister, in low, solemn tones, had begun the marriage service, he was suddenly stopped by the sound of voices without, and two stout police officers entered and clasped a pair of handcuffs on Reginald's arms. He turned towards his almost wife with a face as pale as the gloves he wore, and demanded of the officers what this was for?

"Oh, you know!" was the answer.

Then, turning to the congregation, he explained to them the cause of his arrest: he was charged with the crime of forgery. I immediately swooned away on hearing this, and remembered nothing until I was brought back to life; when, who should be bending over me, breathing the tenderest of love's own thoughts, but Edward, my long lost Edward.

After I had somewhat recovered, I was conveyed to my father's residence, accompanied by Edward.

"Dearest!" he murmured; and then I knew his voice, and was satisfied. It brought afresh to my memory the incidents of that scene in the arbor so many years ago.

"Dearest love, will you be mine? I have heard of this cruel story; it was all foul play."

A few murmured words, and a tighter clasp of my hand, was the only answer; and just one month after that we went on our happy bridal tour.

MRS. GLADSTONE'S KINDNESS.

How the Great Statesman's Wife Treated a Pretty American Girl.

A pretty American girl recently called upon Mrs. Gladstone at her London home. She carried a most favorable letter of introduction as a member of a well-known American family. Her brightness and sparkle attracted the wife of the great English statesman, and for an entire afternoon and evening she lived in the Gladstone household. She confessed to Mrs. Gladstone that her visit had a purpose—that of writing an article on the home-life of her hostess for an American magazine.

"But, my dear," said Mrs. Gladstone, "your people are interested in Mr. Gladstone; they do not know me."

"That is just why I came," replied the girl, "In order that Americans may learn a little more of you."

At the tea-table, Mr. Gladstone joined with his wife in entertaining the American girl, and few were ever given a better opportunity of seeing the Gladstone home life.

The quiet part which Mrs. Gladstone has played in the career of her famous husband is known to only a few.

The Handsomest Lady in Peterborough Remarked to a friend the other day that she Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs was a superior remedy, as it stopped her cough instantly when other cough remedies had no effect whatever. RALLY!

A Meeting of the Liberals of Peterborough will be held in the law offices of Messrs. STRATTON & HALL, on

at 8 o'clock p.m. for the purpose of consultation and preparation for the imminent Dominion election contest which has been sprung on the country with unscrupulous suddenness.

Nominations, February 26th; Polling, March 5th.

A large attendance is particularly requested.

THE DOMINION ELECTIONS.

A telegraphic dispatch published in another column announces the great political fight, between the placemen and the people. The Dominion Government with the expected disregard for fair play, constitutional usage and for the public interest, has seen fit to advise his Excellency the Governor-General to dissolve parliament a year before the limit of its constitutional life and to sign the writs asking for a verdict from people, upon voters lists three years old, which lists are over 100,000 names short of being a complete list of the electors legally entitled to vote. With the miserable, fraudulent excuse made by the Government for bringing on the elections prematurely, and thus taking the Liberals at a disadvantage, it is not necessary to deal with at present. The Liberals of Peterborough East and West are face to face with an election contest, and that contest must not be shirked nor one moment lost in making the completest possible preparation. Only twenty-two clear days now remain to perfect organization and prepare for the battle of the ballot on March 5th.

It is a pleasure to see that Liberals are alive to the gravity of the situation and to the necessity of prompt action, and have called to be held as follows :—

The Liberals of West Peterborough will hold a convention for the nomination of a candidate in Bradburn's Opera House on Wednesday, February 11th.

The Liberals of East Peterborough will hold a convention to nominate a candidate, at Norwood, on Tuesday next, Feb. 10th.

Liberals, rally ! rally ! There is no time to be lost. We have been taken at a disadvantage. Let us neutralize this disadvantage by prompt, energetic and united action. Let there be a large attendance at both conventions, and let every nerve be strained to win success in the coming fight.

St. Andrew's Brotherhood.

The regular monthly meeting of St. John's Chapter of St. Andrew's Brotherhood will be held to-night. At this meeting arrangements will be completed for representing the Chapter at the annual convention of the Brotherhood, which commences in Toronto next Saturday.

A Burning Chimney.

At half past twelve to-day an alarm of fire was sounded from Ward box No. Two. The brigade was out inside of two minutes, but had some difficulty in locating the fire. Finally it was learned that a burning chimney on Mrs. Gilmour's house, Park street, had caused the alarm. The firemen went to the place, but their services were not required.

An Expensive Holiday.

A man named Edward Roberts appeared in the dock at the police court this morning with a blood-bespattered countenance. He had been drunk the night before. He said he had just come from Gilmour's lumbering camp with $33 in his pocket, but when arrested his pockets were empty. He promised to return to camp at once and was discharged.

The Lakefield Carnival.

Five young men from Peterborough were tried by Justice of the Peace Hall at Lakefield this morning for creating a disturbance in the village the night of the carnival. Two of them were fined $5 and costs (in all $10) each, and the other three discharged, the offence not being proven. Mr. W. F. Johnston defended them. This makes a total of five fines inflicted upon participants in the carnival row.

A Prosperous Company.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Peterborough Look Manufacturing Company was held Monday afternoon. The shareholders are thoroughly satisfied with the progress of this great industry. An annual dividend of 8 per cent. was declared, and steps taken to issue $50,000 worth more stock, for the purpose of enlarging the works. This amount will all probably be taken up by the present stockholders. During the past year the sales of the Look Company have amounted to $120,000, and some $57,000 has been expended in wages alone. These figures will serve to give some idea of the extent of the business and its importance to Peterborough. Messrs. Jas. Stevenson, John Burnham and Tacy Brooks were again elected Directors, Mr. Stevenson being made President. The same officers were elected. A larger dividend might have been disclosed but the company are establishing a reserve fund.

Rev. Mr. Tully's Lecture.

Last night a fair sized audience assembled in St. Andrew's school room to listen to an address from Rev. Andrew Tully. His subject was the Pyramid of Gizah. His address, which was illustrated by excellent diagrams, treated of the wonderful structure of this pyramid, which argued a mechanical skill and knowledge of science, which was astonishing, and disproved the Darwinian theory of gradual evolution and development, for the men of two thousand years ago showed in some respects as high knowledge and as great mental power, as is current in these days. Reference was made to the theory of this pyramid being built by Job, under Divine inspiration, which theory pointed to the date of its construction as being 2070 B.C. The lecturer proceeded to show that a more tenable theory was that Rameses III was its builder, the purpose of the pyramid being for his tomb. The subject was very pleasantly dealt with, and the lecture much enjoyed by those present.

Councillors' Convivium.

It is a standing custom that the Mayor shall annually celebrate his return to office by an oyster supper on the first night of meeting of the new council. This year the event was postponed owing to circumstances, and it took place last night at the close of the second regular meeting of 1891. The supper was held at the Palace Restaurant, and added one more to the list of pleasant symposiums which the town councillors have enjoyed frequently of late. The tables were spread in good style, and the usual toasts, speeches and songs followed the repast. Here the ready wit and clever retort which occasionally varies the monotony of council meetings had full play; and old scores were wiped out in festive jollity. Mayor Stevenson, in response to his toast, made a characteristic reply, lauding the town and referring particularly to the milling interests. He drew attention to the high price paid here for grain, and instanced the case of a farmer who was so pleased at receiving eleven cents a bushel more for his wheat than he could at home, that he brought all he had to town and told his neighbours. It was facts such as these that were building Peterborough up. Mr. Jos. English, of Philadelphia, an old Peterborough boy, who has travelled the world over since leaving Peterborough twenty-six years ago, also threw out many valuable ideas and hints regarding manufactories and opportunities for expanding the trade of our town and Dominion. The three maiden members of the council were also called upon, and the "password" they unanimously and cordially subscribed to was the rule proposed by the chairman, Mr. Cahill, that they should celebrate their advent into public life by following the Mayor's example and giving oyster suppers in rotation.

A Lenient Sentence

Michael Murray Gets off With One Month in Gaol.

Michael Murray, the young married man who was charged with maliciously wounding bartender Wm. Brown "with a sharp instrument," received trial before Judge Weller Monday afternoon at the Court House. The prisoner pleaded guilty to the charge, and through his counsel, Mr. W. A. Stratton, presented evidence showing his previous good character. His employer, Mr. W. H. Law, of the Bridge Works, and his fellow-workmen testified to his reputation for industry and sobriety as a general thing. Mr. Stratton made an urgent appeal in behalf of the prisoner, bringing out the facts that the prisoner tried to make amends as far as possible, and voluntarily gave himself up to the police.

His Honor in giving judgment pointed out the serious nature of the offence, which allowed of a sentence of three years in the penitentiary. But the object of the law in undertaking these prosecutions was not to procure revenge or money consideration for the injured one, but rather the protection of the public safety; and when prisoners were sentenced to imprisonment it showed that the magistrates committing them considered that they were dangerous to be at large, and ought to be placed where they could do no harm. From the evidence before him, the Judge said, Murray did not appear to be of the confirmed criminal class, and therefore he was disposed to deal leniently with the prisoner on account of his previous good character, and for the sake of his wife and family, who depended on him for support. But the crime could not be overlooked altogether, Murray must be punished in some way, however lightly, to vindicate the laws of the country and show men that crime must be punished. His Honor wished, however, to warn everyone against committing such an offence with the expectation of receiving as light a sentence. The crime with which Murray was charged was a serious one, and it was only the urgent extenuating circumstances in his special case which secured him so lenient a punishment. Drunkenness was no excuse, but rather an aggravation of the offence. However, in view of the circumstances surrounding the case, the court would deal lightly with the prisoner, and hope that he and others would take the lesson to heart. He was sentenced to one month in gaol at hard labor.

Mr. R. E. Wood, C.C.A., represented the Crown. The prisoner's wife sat in the chamber during the trial, and when sentence was passed gave a smile of pleased relief.

Leaving Town.

Mr. Julius Meyers, manager of the Edison Company in Peterborough, leaves to-morrow night for Milwaukee, where he goes to take charge of a large electrical business. Mr. Meyers will probably be succeeded here, for the present at least, by Mr. Martin. It is understood Mr. Meyers' friends will tender him a farewell supper to-night.

BUSINESS TAX ONCE MORE.

A Prolonged Discussion in the Town Council.

The Question Not Yet Come to Vote—A Motion to Relet the Mortgage-Holders—Market Forestalling Will Probably be Abolished—The Town Council Appoints Itself a Deputation to Ottawa.

Another interesting meeting of the Town Council was held Monday night. There was a good attendance of ratepayers, and the proceedings were watched keenly. Business tax was the giant bugbear tackled, and, though the question was not definitely settled, the consensus of opinion seemed to be slightly in favour of the by-law. There were present Mayor Stevenson and Messrs. Dennistoun, Kendry, Langford, Meldrum, Moore, Dawson, Hall, Bradburn, Kelly, Winch, Davidson and Cahill.

Mr. W. H. Law applied for the balance of $300 due him on the towns' grant.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

The Ontario Telephone Company offered to supply five telephones—one for the police station and one for each of the constable's houses—for $60 per year.—Referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

A communication was read from J. H. Burnham, secretary of the Board of Trade, regarding the advisability of the Council joining the Board and the County Council in urging the completion of the Trent Valley Canal upon the Government; also, the request of the Board of Trade that the council urge upon the railway authorities the necessity of earlier mail connection with Toronto.—Received.

Chief Rossal and Constable Jos. Stewart applied for increase of their salaries—Referred to the Committee on Appointments.

An invitation was read to the Mayor and town council from Mr. F. Mason, Secretary of Peterborough lodge of the Sons of Canada, to attend a banquet to be held here Feb. 17th in honor of the visit of Grand Lodge delegates.—Accepted.

A petition signed by 47 merchants of George street was read, asking the council to pass the business tax bylaw.—Received.

Mr. Geo. D. Mitchell objected to a post which had been placed in front of his residence by the Bell Telephone Co., and asked the council to have it removed, as the company's agent had taken no notice of his complaint.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

Messrs. R. P. Cook, W. J. Minore and P. H. Pearce applied for remission of taxes.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

The report was adopted.

A PUBLIC SCAVENGER.

Mr. Dennistoun, chairman of the property committee, made his first official utterance in the council by reading the report recommending that Thos. Wilson be appointed public scavenger for 3 years, subject to his entering into a proper contract to be prepared by the town solicitor and give sureties to the satisfaction of the council.

The report was adopted.

ASSESSORS RECOMMENDED.

Mr. Kendry presented the report of the committee on appointments, recommending that Wm. Aldridge and Angus Williams be appointed assessors for No. one and two wards; and J. J. Hartley and Thos McKee for Nos. three and four wards; salary the same as last year.

The report was adopted.

A JOINT AFFAIR.

Mr. Cahill read the report of the Joint Committee appointed to confer with the County Council, stating that they had visited the Joint Committee of the County Council, and as a result the County Council had passed a grant of $40 to place a hydrant on the hill near the court house. They therefore recommended that the hydrant be placed at the corner of Brock and Sheridan Streets. With regard to House of Refuge, the information they gained was so meagre that they could not make any recommendation, but other information had been promised them by the chairman of the committee of the County Council, with a view to taking such action as the Council deems advisable at the June session of the County Council.

The report was adopted.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall presented a by-law appointing a Board of Health. It was passed, the Board being constituted as follows :—Jas. Stevenson, chairman, Messrs. Wm. English, J. L. Hughes, Dr. Brennan, Wm. Lech, B. Shortly, Edg. Pearse, Dr. Fife and H. Dennis.

ASSESSORS APPOINTED.

A by law was presented by Mr. Kendry, and passed, appointing the assessors as recommended in the report of the committee :—Wm. Aldridge and Angus Williams for No. 1 Ward; J. J. Hartley and Thos. McKee for Nos. 3 and 4 Wards; at a salary of $125 each.

THE BUSINESS TAX.

Mr. Davidson moved, seconded by Mr. Winch,—That the council go into committee of the whole to consider the second reading of the business tax by-law.

Mr. Kelly moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Kendry,—That the by-law be considered six months hence, but the amendment was withdrawn, and Mr. Cahill took the Mayor's chair. The by-law was read, and, after an ominous silence, a stormy discussion began

Mr. Kelly led off. He thought it very unfair that the business tax should be levied on one and not on another. He objected to the exceptions named in the by-law —carriage-makers, blacksmiths and photographers. They should not be exempt any more than the others. Then he did not see where any men on George street were over-assessed—in fact they were not assessed enough. Mr. Kelly had a list of personal taxes paid, taken from the assessment roll, and only three merchants of the lot were fully assessed. He instanced one store that was assessed for $3,900 for real property and only $500 for personal property. He pointed out other wrong assessments, but said there was no injustice done to men paying personal property. Business tax, he said, would mean for every man in business on George street an assessment of 21 mills on the dollar on real property, but not over 15 mills for the outside public.

Mr. Davidson said he thought the matter had been pretty thoroughly discussed. Mr. Kelly, he said, had used some extreme cases. As to the exemptions Mr. Kelly complained of, they were working mechanics and not tradesmen, and therefore did not come under the bylaw. As to the higher assessment, Mr. Davidson said that men doing business in the middle of the town ought to expect to pay more for the special luxuries they enjoy.

Mr. Stevenson said that a baker and confectioner was objecting to business tax. He referred to Mr. Hall, who said his taxes would be increased, and he thought he was paying too high now.

Mr. Davidson said he had figured up the case the Mayor had spoken of, and it would amount to only 75c extra; because the business tax would only affect the part of the building used in the business. Mr. Hall lived over his store, but his dwelling would not enter into the business tax.

HERE'S THE REMEDY.

Mr. Dennistoun held that a better plan would be to levy the tax on the stock, no matter who was in charge. The stock was there and should pay taxes; if the man in charge did not own it, some one else did. Mr. Dennistoun said that he, too, had gone to the assessment roll, and had found that under business tax some of the large firms would have their taxes reduced $100 or less. This by-law was intended to equalize the assessment, but it would be simply shifting the exemption from the poor merchant to the rich one. He further pointed out that under business tax some small stocks, such as fancy goods, would have their taxes considerably increased, for they occupied large premises. As the representative of No. four ward he would have to vote against the by-law, as according to the present assessment the taxes there would be increased.

Mr. Langford questioned a couple of stores in the north ward in which the taxes would be increased just seven cents.

Mr. Kendry said that a milliner had told him that her assessment was $2500 on real property, and under business tax her taxes would be $12 extra. He also instanced the case of a poor man being assessed for the full value of a property he bought on borrowed money. He did not own the property, but was unjustly taxed for it all.

Mr. Moore agreed with Mr. Dennistoun that people should be assessed for what is found on their premises. As to business tax, he said merchants enjoyed special privileges in the middle of the town, and looking at business tax as an alternative for frontage tax, it did not look unfair. But it is unfair for some to be getting these advantages without paying for them. Business tax, it appeared to him, affected only that part of a building which was occupied by the stock, and if that was the case those carrying small stocks would not be much affected. Those who carry small stocks often turn over a lot of goods and make more money than merchants with large stocks. He was inclined to favor the tax but would like more time to consider it.

ANOTHER SIDE OF THE CASE.

Mr. Hall said that those who argued against business tax were under a misapprehension as to the nature of the law. It entirely abolishes assessment on the stock, and does not contemplate whether a stock is big or small. Therefore a man going into a large store knows just what taxes he has to pay, and if he goes into it with a small stock he knows what his risk is and what business he must do to succeed. And a man with a large stock might be content to do business in a smaller store on a side street if it would lower his taxes.

Mr. Dennistoun impressed his point that under the by-law there would be exemptions in any case, and the principle was wrong.

Mr. Kelly again spoke, and emphasized his previous arguments against business tax.

Mr. Dawson said there had been a good deal of talk about the honesty of business tax, but he considered it the only honest way of taxing the merchants.

Mr. Kendry held that the tax would be an injustice to dressmakers doing business in the central part of the town.

Mr. Davidson said the tax only affected those who carried stocks.

Mr. Dennistoun asked if this system had been tried anywhere else? He was told it had been abandoned in Toronto.

Mr. Davidson replied that it had been tried in several places.

Mr. Meldrum asked why the large wholesale manufacturing establishments, which enjoyed all the privileges of the town, should escape assessment under this by-law. He also pointed out that though there were injustices in the present system, the by-law did not overcome the difficulty, but simply removed the burden from one to another.

Mr. Moore supported Mr. Meldrum.

THE CHAIRMAN'S VIEWS

The chairman said this was a question with two sides to it, and he had not been able to decide which was right. The present system was undoubtedly wrong. He held that all property, whether land or bank stocks, should be assessed. The by-law he considered crude, for, for one thing, there was no provision made for separating the unoccupied from the occupied portion of the building.

Mr. Davidson—Yes, that is provided for.

Mr. Cahill—Well, then, there is no provision for vacant rooms over the store. A man using them for a residence was better off than others. The bylaw, he thought, being an unknown law, should be left over for further consideration. Mr. Cahill then called for a vote on the question.

A motion to adopt the first clause was carried by a majority of 7 to 4; Mr. Kelly's motion, that the committee rise and ask leave to sit again, was lost on this vote :—

Yeas—Messrs. Kelly, Kendry, Moore and Meldrum.

Nays—Messrs. Langford, Dawson, Bradburn, Hall, Winch, Davidson and Stevenson.

The second reading was passed, and by mutual consent the third reading was left over for another meeting, Mr. Davidson stating that he was only anxious to get the bylaw passed in time to give to the assessors before they began their work.

AFTER THE MORTGAGE HOLDERS.

Mr. Kelly presented his notice of motion handed in at the last meeting, calling upon the registrar for a statement of mortgages held by residents of the town, for the purpose of assessment. The motion set aside $200 for the purpose.

Some of the council questioned if it was worth while to spend this money. They held that at the most an incomplete list only could be secured. Mr. Kelly and Mr. Cahill claimed that over $300,000 would be added to the assessment. Mr. Hall pointed out per contra that this list would have to be revised every year, as the mortgages were constantly changing. The Mayor proposed that in case the motion carried the amount of the mortgages be deducted from the tax on the lands mortgaged.

This caused some amusement, and after some good-natured discussion the motion was lost, those voting for it being Messrs. Cahill, Kelly and Kendry.

MISCELLANEOUS MOTIONS.

Mr. Winch moved, seconded by Mr. Davidson, that the Charity Committee be authorized to award tenders for charity wood.—Carried.

Mr. Langford moved, seconded by Mr. Dawson,—That the Street and Bridge Committee be allowed to award the contracts for materials for which tenders are asked.—Carried.

Mr. Hall moved, seconded by Mr. Bradburn,—That this council would urgently press on the Mayor, both in his capacity as member of Parliament for this town and county and as Mayor of this town, to urge on the Dominion Government the necessity of erecting a more commodious building for Customs House and Inland Revenue offices on the corner of George and Charlotte streets, than would appear to be intended by the work already done, as the building as it appears now designed is not as all in keeping with the present or future progress of the town.—Carried.

On motion of Mr. Moore, the Court of Revision was empowered to remit the taxes of Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Thornton.

Mr. Hall moved, seconded by Mr. Bradburn,—That the Fire, Water and Light Committee be authorized to purchase the pipe necessary to lay pipes for water to the Edison Company's grounds.—Carried.

OUR MERCHANTS HANDICAPPED

Mr. Langford brought up the matter of market forestalling. He said some of the town merchants had complained that dealers from Ashburnham came to the market at all hours and purchased freely, while the town merchants were prohibited by law until a certain hour.

Several councillors considered the point well taken, but the hour being late, Mr. Langford left the matter at altering the by-law, by doing away with the forestalling clause, till another meeting.

THEY'RE ALL IN IT NOW.

Mr. Hall moved, seconded by Mr. Langford,—That Messrs. Winch, Meldrum, Dennistoun, and Bradburn, be added to the Manufacturers' Committee.—Carried.

A "PRIVATE" SNAP.

Mr. Davidson mentioned the fact that the city of Toronto was asking the Ontario Government to loan a million dollars towards establishing smelting works in that city. Mr. Davidson thought that this council should protest by memorial against making such a use of the provincial funds.

THE ROAD TO OTTAWA.

The communications of the Board of Trade regarding deputations to Ottawa re the Trent Valley Canal was then taken up. On motion of Mr. Hall, seconded by Mr. Davidson, it was decided that as many of the council as possible should go on the same date as the other deputations.

The understanding was that the committee would correspond with other municipalities along the line and arrange for a large and representative deputation to descend upon the capital with one fell swoop.

The Council then adjourned.

Peterborough Water Company.

Annual Meeting—Board of Directors Elected—Work Done During the Year.

The general annual meeting of the shareholders of the Peterborough Water Company was held at the offices, Hunter street, Monday afternoon. The chair was occupied by Mr. R. A. Morrow, vice-president, in the absence of President John Burnham; G. W. Hatton, sec.-treas.; R. B. McKee and A. Stevenson, directors; Messrs. F. J. Lewis, Edg. Pearse, J. E. Belcher, Accountant Adams and Superintendent Henderson were present.

The Board of Directors was unanimously re-elected as follows :

President—John Burnham.
Vice-President—R. A. Morrow.
Sec.-Treas.—G. W. Hatton.
Directors—A. Stevenson and R. B. McKee.
Auditor—W. H. Beddes.

The usual statements were submitted. The auditors' report was presented and adopted. The report of Superintendent Henderson showed a total of about a mile and a half or 7,696 feet of cast iron main laid during the year, of which there are 2,140 feet of 8 inch, 4,669 feet of 6-inch, and 886 feet of 4-inch.

There were set 13 stop valves and 14 new hydrants. This make a total of cast iron main, all sizes, now in use of 10 2-5 miles; 85 stop valves, 87 hydrants and 520 services. There were 62 new services during the year, the excavations for which were two miles all told.

Before the meeting adjourned the usual vote of thanks was passed to the President and Directors of the Company for their services.

Where is the Consistency?

To the Editor of the Examiner :

Dear Sir.—I was much amused and more disgusted at the specimen of inconsistency and hypocrisy revealed by the letter of "Equal Rights" in yesterday's issue of your valuable journal, and it suggested to my mind another sample of inconsistency and hypocrisy to which you will perhaps permit me to refer. I noticed by the Examiner that Mr. J. Hampden Burnham, President of the Single Tax Association, was instrumental in bringing Rev. Father Huntingdon to town to lecture on the Single Tax question, and that Mr. Stevenson occupied the chair. Both thus evidently wished to convey the idea their sympathy with the theories and sentiments of the reverend lecturer, whose most eloquent passages were devoted to the denunciation of tariff walls, and the iniquitous injustice of high taxation, as embodied in schemes like our protective tariff. Yet at the meeting of the Young Conservatives a few days ago, Mr. Stevenson was elected Honorary President, and Mr. J. Hampden Burnham, President, was on hand heartily endorsing the policy of "protection" of the Dominion Government. Do these persons expect to fool intelligent electors by such double-dealing — such transparent trickery—posing as friends of the working classes one day and working the next to fasten on the people afresh the shackles of tariff tyranny?

Yours truly,
CONSISTENCY.

The Street Railway.

Progressive Peterborough will Soon Have an Electric Street Railway.

In conversation with the Examiner yesterday one of the gentlemen who is a charter member of the Street Railway Company, stated that before the summer was over a portion at least of the electric street railway would be built and in operation. He said it was the company's intention to begin work in the spring, and by fall at least the main line down George Street, from Hilliard's mills to the cemetery, would be finished. It was intended to have four electric cars built by the Edison company as soon as they began work here. It is the company's intention of course to run another main line from Ashburnham to the west end of the town, but that may not be built this year. This will be pleasant news to the people of Peterborough. It is hoped the company will see their way clear to carry out their present intentions without delay.

Personal

Mr. John Fanning has sold his stock in Port Hope and returned to town.

Mrs. E. C. Hill is at present very dangerously ill with an affection of the heart, and a fatal issue of her malady is not unexpected.

Mr. D. A. Breckon, business manager of the Fisk Jubilee Singers, who appeared at the Opera House last night, is a brother of Mr. Frank Breckon, of the Examiner composing room.

The many friends of Mr. W. H. Grubbe, of the Bank of Toronto, will regret to learn of the death of his father at Barrie, as announced in another column. Mr. Grubbe was in attendance upon the death-bed for several days, but has returned to town.

A Great Hunt.

Every day there is great excitement on George street. People are hunting for the place to get good bargains in General Groceries, Wines and Liquors, and in the majority of cases manage to drop on the right spot—Stapleton & Ecome, who have a large and fine assortment of General and Fancy Groceries, Wines and Liquors. Another shipment of Dow's celebrated Ale in bottles and wood, just arrived. Call and give them a trial and satisfy yourselves that it is the right house to deal with. All orders by telephone promptly attended to. dw

A Dog's Demise.

Mr. McGregor, of Ashburnham, lost a valuable spaniel dog the other day. It was run over by a train, and decapitated. It is said the dog was lying on the track, and did not move out of the way of the train, but Mr. McGregor cannot believe such was the case. His dog was too intelligent to be caught that way. His belief is that the dog got tired of life and deliberately committed suicide—thereby saving his master one dollar a year taxes. Thoughtful, self-sacrificing dog, that!

The Business Tax Humbug.

A correspondent sends us a letter with the above heading, but it is so violent and personal that it can't be used. He says that a man willingly pays taxes for value received, and that is, he says, the reason why nobody ever grumbles at the price of bawley bros.' teas. They are the best value in quality and price in the country.

SINGLE TAX

Is now the question of the hour; but to those in need of Ordered or Ready-made Clothing, single profits ought to be a subject of greater importance. Yearly importing all our principal lines, we save you the profits of the wholesale men, and you have thus one single profit to pay. That profit is not a large one, and has been made still smaller, as we are determined each and every article of Winter Clothing must go, to make way for Spring Goods. Each and every department has been visited and all goods have been reduced. Don't you buy a dollar's worth of clothing until you have looked us over. Take into consideration that we are selling First-Class Goods with but a single profit, and that it is no trouble to show goods, whether you wish to buy or not.

OPENING THE CAMPAIGN.

ALL THE DOMINION MINISTERS ARE ON THE MOVE.

Sir John to Speak in Toronto Friday—Chapleau to Take Charge of the Montreal District—Foster and Costigan off for New Brunswick—Dewdney will Leave for Regina this Week.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—The reason for the Government's appeal to the country is contained in the following letter from Lord Stanley, the Governor-General, to the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE, OTTAWA,
Dec. 13, 1890.

MY LORD,—I have the honor to send to Your Lordship to-day a telegraph message in cipher, of which the following is the substance. With reference to my telegram of the 10th inst. this Government is desirous to propose a joint commission such as that of 1871 with authority to deal without limitation and to prepare a treaty respecting the following subjects:

1. Renewal of the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854 with the modifications required by the altered circumstances of both countries and with the extension deemed by the commission to be in the interests of Canada and the United States.

2. Reconsideration of the treaty of 1888, with respect to the Atlantic fisheries with the aim of securing the free admission into United States markets of Canadian fishery products in return for facilities to be granted to United States fishermen to buy bait and supplies and to tranship cargoes in Canada: all such privileges to be mutual.

3. Protection of mackerel and other fisheries on the Atlantic Ocean and in inland waters, also

4. Relaxation of seaboard coasting laws of the two countries.

5. Relaxation of the coasting laws of the two countries on the inland waters dividing Canada from the United States.

6. Mutual salvage and saving of wrecked vessels.

7. Arrangements for settling boundaries between Canada and Alaska. The treaty would of course be ad referendum.

FROM OTTAWA.

Movements of the Ministers—All to Start for the Battlefield at Once.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—Hon. Mr. Colby sailed on the 31st inst. for Canada and is expected in Ottawa in a few days.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau leaves to-night for Montreal. He has been entrusted with the division extending from Three Rivers to Pontiac, Quebec. He will make his headquarters at Montreal.

The extra of The Official Gazette announcing the dissolution will be issued to-morrow, 4th inst. It will be the same form used since Confederation. It will announce that Parliament has been dissolved, that it stands adjourned till April 23, and that in the meantime the Senators and members are discharged from their attendance.

Honore Robillard, ex-M.P., will probably be a Conservative candidate in Ottawa.

The Cabinet met at Ottawa yesterday.

Hon. Mr. Foster will open the campaign on Monday at Sussex, N.B.

Sir John Macdonald intimates that he will be a candidate in Kingston only.

Hon. John Costigan will leave for New Brunswick Tuesday.

Hon. Mr. Dewdney says the prospects are that the Conservative party will have a clean sweep in the Northwest and Manitoba. He leaves for Regina at the end of the week.

Toronto Notes.

TORONTO, Feb. 3.—The Conservatives have decided to open the campaign by a mass meeting in the Auditorium on Friday night, at which Sir John Macdonald is to be present. A telegram was read from him that he and two or more of his colleagues would be present, probably Sir John Thompson and Hon. Mr. Foster. Sir John will probably do the old man act and work up the enthusiasm, and allow his colleagues to argue the case, the Minister of Justice from the diplomatic standpoint, and the Minister of Finances from the trade point of view.

Ald. Lindsey wants the Reform nomination in West Toronto.

John Beverley Robinson's name will certainly come before one or more of the Toronto (Conservative) conventions.

John Small may just be the Conservative nominee in East Toronto if trouble threatens from a rush of candidates. William Ball says he'll run sure.

The names of Ald. Graham of St. Stephen's Ward and Ald. Dr. Orr, president of the St. likely to come up with that of Col. Denison in the West Toronto convention.

The Liberals are making a strong effort to induce B. B. Osler, Q.C., to contest Centre Toronto. He hesitates owing to the fact that the elections are so near at hand, but the party is in hopes of persuading him to accept the nomination, believing he is the only man who can defeat G. A. R. Cockburn. It was said that his partnership articles forbade his going into politics, though Mr. McCarthy, his partner, is not so bound. Mr. Osler is A first-class candidate if he can be induced to come out.

Echoes of the Campaign.

John White, ex-M.P. for East Hastings, will probably run in his old constituency.

South Brant Reformers will meet to-day to fix upon a date for a convention.

Henry Mums of Drumbo, the Dominion arbitrator, may run in the Conservative interest in South Oxford.

Alexander McKay and George Tuckett are mentioned as the Hamilton (Conservative) team.

L. Z. Mallette, contractor for the Langevin block, Ottawa, will oppose Hugh McMillan, M.P. (Con.), in Vaudreuil.

Warden John Dickenson will likely be the Reform candidate for the Dominion House in South West worth against Major Carpenter, M.P.

The Halifax Liberals hold their convention next Tuesday evening to nominate candidates. Hon. A. G. Jones will offer for re-election.

E. A. Macdonald is running in East York, and running hard. He has issued his address to the electors and with his nomination from the regularly organized convention he is ready to do battle for his illustrious namesake.

From various parts of New Brunswick reports come that politicians are already on the move. In this city J. N. Ellis will again offer, but it is not decided who will offer with C. W. Weldon in the county. In King's county Foster will so oppose by Domville, while in Albert Dr. Weldon will meet with determined opposition. It is expected every county in the province will be contested.

Mr. Bob White of The Montreal Gazette is in town and goes out to Cardwell to-day to prepare for the Conservative convention which will meet in a few days. W. B. Willoughby, a young Toronto lawyer, who hails from that county, went up there last night. He will contest the convention with Mr. White, and the indications are that the meeting will be one of the liveliest of the election.

In Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Feb. 3.—No great excitement is apparent here over dissolution, it having been anticipated by private despatch. It is not known yet whether Scarth will run or not. Watson is in the field for Selkirk, with Boyd of Carberry as a possible opponent, and Daly for Brandon will not be elected without opposition. In Provencher there is not as yet any opposition to Lariviere, nor in Lisgar to Ross, but both will probably develop in the early days of the campaign.

South Huron Reformers.

BRUCEFIELD, Feb. 3.—At a meeting of the Reformers of South Huron to-day a resolution was passed expressing the meeting's "utter detestation and condemnation of such a base attempt to steal a snap verdict from the people," and heartily endorsing the policy of unrestricted reciprocity.

It was decided to hold a convention at Brucefield Feb. 11 to select a candidate.

Equal Rights Active.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—A prominent member of the Equal Rights Association said to-day: "We shall certainly run a man at the coming election in Ottawa. A meeting of the executive will be called in a few days to select a candidate. We shall work to win this time."

It is hinted that Mr. D'Alton McCarthy may be a candidate in Carleton.

TORONTO TOPICS.

Druggists in Council—Amending the License Law.

TORONTO, Feb. 4.—The semi-annual meeting of the council of the Ontario College of Pharmacy was held in the college yesterday afternoon.

The report of the registrar-treasurer since Aug 1, 1890, was presented by Mr. Lewis. The number of applications of appreatices for registration has been 101. The receipts were $1e,913 and the expenditure $6030. The balance in the Bank of Commerce has increased in the six months from $4278 to $8883. The assets of the college amount to $42,195, including the college building, $1716; furniture, etc., $4675; lot, $5000. The liabilities amount to $15,751, leaving a balance of $26,374.

The report of Principal E. B. Shuttleworth showed that the attendance of students at college for both junior and senior courses was larger than ever before, the numbers being respectively 92 and 76. The fees for the junior course amounted to $3597, and for the senior to $4476, making, with the matriculation fee, a total of $8633 for the entire term. The results of the junior examination in December were satisfactory, but the result of the supplementary examination in January was not so satisfactory, owing to the occurrence of the Christmas holidays. He therefore recommended the abandonment of the latter.

A deputation from the Dominion Alliance waited on the Ontario Government yesterday afternoon and asked for some important amendments to the Liquor Law.

Dr. McLaren thanked the Government for the present legislation on behalf of temperance and then enumerated the desired amendments:

The prohibition of the sale of liquor to persons under 21 years of age.

The adoption of the Nova Scotia system of prohibiting drinking at bars, by which the treating system in its present form may be abolished.

The giving power to the electors in a polling sub-division, by a majority petition, to prevent the issue of licenses to take effect in such polling sub division.

The licensing and inspecting of all hotels and eating houses, whether liquor is sold therein or not, so as to secure their efficient supervision.

Mr. Mowat assured the deputation that the Government would always legislate as much as possible in favor of temperance, but they must remember that all the members of the House were not temperance men. The proposed amendments would receive the serious consideration of the Government.

The annual meeting of the Graud Camp of the Sons of Scotland began in Occident Hall yesterday morning. The reports of the grand secretary, grand treasurer and grand medical examiner were presented, all showing the society to be in a flourishing condition. The financial condition of the society was so good that it was decided to increase the insurance from $500 to $1000. The election of officers resulted: Grand chief, J. M. Wingfield, Toronto, re-elected; grand chieftain, J. McNab, Barrie; grand secretary, W. Banks, 5 River-street, Toronto; grand treasurer, A. Hay, Toronto, re-elected by acclamation; grand chaplain, D. MacKay, Owen Sound; grand marshal, A. Bell, Ottawa; grand medical examiner, Dr. Ross, Barrie, re-elected by acclamation. Various amendments to the constitution were dispatched, after which the society adjourned until to-day.

THE ICE FIELD MOVED OUT.

A Score or Two Fishermen Carried Out on Lake Huron.

BAY CITY, Mich., Feb. 3.—Much excitement prevails here concerning a report that many fishermen have drifted into Lake Huron on an icefield carried out of Saginaw Bay by a strong south wind this forenoon. A number of the fishermen reached Andersville, a suburb of this city, and reported that most of their companions reached shore safely. The best authority obtainable places the number of castaways from 20 to 50. If these do not reach shore before the ice passed outside of Saginaw Bay there is no hope of their being rescued.

MAKE IT PART OF THE UNION.

He Gives Reasons Why Canada Ought to be at Once Secured.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Discussing the Fortification Bill in the Senate, Mr. Blair said he believed Canada would be the great base of any warlike operations against the United States, and therefore Canada ought to be secured and made part of the American Union.

Barnum's $15,000 Tiger Choked.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Feb. 3.—A big tiger valued at $15,000, belonging to Barnum & Bailey, was choked to death by a bone sticking in his throat while eating his breakfast at the winter quarters of the show in this city last night. By the law of compensation a fine lioness gave birth to four beautiful cubs at the same place in the evening, which are valued at $15,000.

EYRAUD GUILLOTINED.

THE STRANGLER DIES LIKE THE RUFFIAN HE WAS.

He Refuses to Return the Abbe's Kiss of Death, Blasphemes the Minister of the Interior and Finally Has to be Thrown on the Block.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Eyraud met his fate this morning with sullen resignation. Eyraud declined a glass of cognac which was tendered him by one of the wardens before starting for the place of execution, and in spite of the earnest solicitations of Abbe Faure positively, even angrily, refused to listen to the good priest's prayers, to pray himself, or to have any religious rites performed in his behalf. He continued impatiently to refuse religious consolation while on the death march to the guillotine, which had been erected during the night in the Place de la Roquette by M. de Paris and his grim assistants. When pinioned and on the point of being overturned upon the bascull of the guillotine—upon the plank which was to glide with him beneath the fatal suspended knife, Eyraud, with a movement as of angry contempt, refused to return the last kiss bestowed on him by Abbe Faure, as is customary in the case of criminals on the point of being executed. The action of the guillotine, once Eyraud's neck was well beneath the uprights, was instantaneous. There was a flash and all was over. Eyraud's head had fallen into the sawdust, then fell into the receptacle which awaited it. The body of the murderer was handed over to his relatives and acquaintances.

Scenes at the Guillotine.

Before Eyraud was strapped to the guillotine he gazed at the faces around him, then angrily exclaimed: "Constans, the Minister of the Interior, was right. He has won his case now—his prize. He will be to-night with Gabrielle. What grand personage is going to decorate Gabrielle Bompard?" When within a few feet of the fatal block Eyraud eluded the executioners for a moment and loudly and angrily shouted to the assembled crowd, "Constans is a murderer. He is more of a murderer than I. Constans is ——."

Before he could complete the sentence the executioner seized the murderer, threw him upon the inclined plank of the guillotine deibler, pressed the knob, and the flashing blade suspended over Eyraud's neck fell with a sharp sliding sound, and the head of Gouffe's assassin rolled into the basket below.

AUSTRIA'S TARNISHED LOYALTY.

A Doubly Fatal Duel Over an Unfaithful Wife, Who Takes Poison.

VIENNA, Feb. 3.—No such sensation has occurred in court circles here since the mysterious death of the Crown Prince Rudolph as that caused by the circumstances surrounding the decease of the daughter and the son-in-law of the famous Princess Pauline Metternich. When Countess Antoinette Pasqualine Waldstein, nee Metternich, was found dead in front of her toilet-table, where she had fallen while dressing for dinner, it was said that she had succumbed to aneurism of the heart. The young Countess, who was a great favorite in Viennese society, had just celebrated her 26th birthday.

Her marriage to young Count Waldstein-Wartenberg six years ago at the famous Metternich Castle of Johannesberg had been a love match, and they lived very happily together. Her sad fate brought sorrow to all who had known her, and when her husband died suddenly at Vienna the other day his death was attributed to his despair at losing his charming and beloved wife. A peculiar circumstance was that his landsteward—an ex-hussar officer, Baron X., who had been his most intimate friend, died about ten days before Count Waldstein. A few days ago it became known, through the indiscretion of Count Waldstein's valet, that Countess Waldstein had carried on an intrigue with the young Baron, and that upon this being discovered she had committed suicide with poison to avoid the exposure with which she was threatened. The young count fought a duel with his wife's lover in the park of his castle of Dux, in Bohemia, a duel which ended fatally for both combatants, the Baron dying within 24 hours; whilst the betrayed husband, who had also been severely wounded, managed to reach Vienna, where he breathed his last a week later, refusing absolutely to see any of his own people or any member of his wife's family. He was connected with most of the great houses of the Austrian aristocracy.

Death of a Noted Welsh Bard.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Thomas Dowies of Pontypridd, Wales, better known as "Derdi of Esyit," one of the most distinguished Welsh poets, or bards, died suddenly, just after drinking a glass of spirits at a local public house. He was about 70 years old, and had taken more Eisteddfod honors than any other Welsh bard.

Insurgents Losing Ground.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Advices from Buenos Ayres say the Chilian insurgents have been obliged to abandon La Serena and Soquimbo, and the harbor of Iquique has been reopened. The Government will raise the blockade at Valparaiso in three days unless the insurgents make another attack in the meantime.

Waldersee Degraded.

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—The North German Gazette publishes a decree relieving Count Von Waldersee from the position of Chief of the General Staff and appointing him to the command of the 9th Army Corps.

Parnell's American Tour.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Justin McCarthy said to-day he had heard nothing about Mr. Parnell and Mr. O'Brien going to America. He added that if it were true that they intended to visit the United States their proposed journey formed no part of the negotiations between the two sections of the Irish party.

Buried with Military Honors.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—The body of Meissonier, the painter, was laid to rest to-day at Poissy. The funeral services took place in this city at the Church of La Madeleine, that edifice being thronged with the leaders in the world of art and letters. An imposing military cortege escorted the remains.

The Italian Crisis.

ROME, Feb. 3.—King Humbert has summoned Signor Zanardelli, Signor Crispi's Minister of Justice, to form a cabinet. The Marquis de Rudini has abandoned the task.

10,000 Shoemakers Strike.

VIENNA, Feb. 3.—Ten thousand shoemakers have struck here for an increase in wages.

A Decision Thursday.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The sections of the Irish party will probably meet Thursday when the result of the Boulogne conference will be announced and a modus vivendi will be proposed.

WHIPPED SAM JONES.

A Texan Mayor Did Not Like His Remarks.

PALESTINE, Tex., Feb. 3.—At a meeting here last fall Rev. Sam Jones, the evangelist, spoke of Mayor J. J. Word's official and private character before a large audience in the severest terms. Jones lectured here last night and as he was about to take a train this morning the Mayor appeared and vigorously caned him. In the struggle the cane changed hands and the mayor received several blows. Heavy bruises were inflicted and both bled profusely.

Incendiary Fires in London.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—An incendiary set fire to the Britannia House stables and the stables east of the Martin House last night. A few hundred dollars will cover the loss in each instance. Assistant Fireman John Aikens fell from a haymow and fractured his leg during the fire.

Personal Liberty vs. Personal Slavery.

We are all free American citizens, enjoying our personal liberty; but most of us are in physical slavery, suffering from Scrofula, a it rheum or some other form of impure b'ood. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great blood purifier which destroys the seeds of disease, gives health and perfect physical liberty.

BURIAL OF BRADLAUGH.

LATEST PHASES OF THE OPARTO REVOLUTION.

One of the Insurgent Leaders Explains That It Was Intended to Sack Oporto and Shoot All the Officials of the City—Loud to His Death.

OPORTO, Feb. 3.—One result of the enquiry made by the military and civil authorities into the cause of the revolt of troops here Saturday is the discovery that an effort was made to involve the Portuguese navy in the uprising. Two sergeants of marines belonging to the Sagres, a government corvet lying in the roads outside of Oporto, endeavored to incite the crew of that vessel to mutiny and seize the ship. The two sergeants were arrested while trying to arrange for the proposed plot. One of the sergeants named Cardoso, when questioned, declared he was a supporter of the project to establish a Federal Republic having its seat of government at Oporto and independent of Lisbon. He added that it was expected the movement in Oporto would have the support of the Spanish revolutionary party.

A decree issued in Lisbon to-day announces that all the crimes connected with the rising here come under the jurisdiction of the military tribunals. This is interpreted to mean that all the civilians, as well as soldiers, connected with the revolt will be tried by martial law and that the ringleaders will probably be shot.

It is now stated 50 persons were killed and 200 injured in the fight following the revolt of the garrison here.

An insurgent leader declares it was the intention of the insurgents to sack Oporto and shoot all officials.

LED TO HIS DEATH.

A Learned Doctor Supposed to Have Been Foully Murdered.

MANCHESTER, Feb. 3.—The details of a foul crime have just come to light. Dr. Lindermann, the assistant librarian of Owens College, has been murdered in Italy, whither he journeyed in search of health. On his way south he met a couple of Germans of middle age, who traveled with him. Such was the learned doctor's mental condition that they gained a complete ascendancy over him. Some days later the two men returned to San Remo, and announced that they had placed Dr. Lindermann in an institution. His friends in Manchester, who had became anxious, came to the Continent to learn what had become of him. They found the body in one of the grottoes of the wonderful Corniche-road. The two men who are supposed to have killed him and taken all his money are missing.

Parnell and McCarthy.

DUBLIN, Feb. 3.—The Freeman's Journal says: "It is curious to note that Mr. McCarthy is following Mr. Parnell's lead. In his Liverpool speech he echoes Mr. Parnell's Ennis speech. All just men will read Mr. McCarthy's speech with pleasure and with reassurance that this week will see settled many momentous matters. Mr. McCarthy's tone is not similarto that of his followers, and it is a hopeful sign to find that Mr. McCarthy recognizes with Mr. Parnell that the granting of real Home Rule is the only way to settle the Irish question."

Colored Ribbons at a Funeral.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The funeral of Charles Bradlaugh took place to-day at Woking. Over 15,000 people traveled from London by special trains to be present. Many wore colored ribbons around their hats.

About 3000 people gathered around Mr. Bradlaugh's grave. Among those present were John Morley, Henry Labouchere, Mrs. Besant and a number of members of the House of Commons. The coffin was covered with floral wreaths, but no mourning garments were worn, nor was there any display of crape or black cloth. Complete silence was maintained by all who gathered around the grave.

Spain Begins to Feel Uneasy.

MADRID, Feb. 3.—On learning of the revolt in Oporto the Government here ordered the troops to be confined in the barracks and other precautionary measures to be taken on the frontier. The official press urges the Governments of Spain and Portugal to be more watchful of the doings of the democracy.

The Big Glove Contest To-Morrow.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Every preparation has been made for the Cal McCarthy-Dixon glove contest, which will take place at the rooms of the Puritan Athletic Club, Long Island City, on Thursday evening next. Both men have trained very carefully for the event and a rattling contest should be the result. The McCarthyites are at present bearing their stock with stories that Cal is not as fit as they would like to see him. He is as fit as he ever was or can be made and he will need to be both when he sizes up against the Provincialist, whose talents the Bostonese were the first to recognize. The doors of the club will be closed at 9 o'clock on the night when the men will meet.

The Ancaster Murder.

HAMILTON, Feb. 3.—Last night word was received from Lyndon to the effect that a strong clue to the murderers of Mr. Heslop had been discovered there. Detective Grear was notified and made an investigation but no arrests. Mrs. and Miss Heslop have both improved in mind and body since the funeral on Friday. It is the intention of the widow and daughter to vacate the old homestead and to take up their residence in Dundas.

BETTER VENTILATION.

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Dr. Boucher, that the property Committee be authorized to place ventilators in the underground rooms of the Collegiate Institute.—Carried.

Mr. Walkey reported the case of a couple of families living outside the town who were sending their children to the north ward school, but were too poor to pay the fees.

The trustees considered that the authorities of the township in which these people lived ought to pay the fees, and the matter was allowed to drop.

The Board then adjourned.

Is Life Worth Living?

The great frequency with which pale, sallow and enfeebled girls are met now-a-days is cause for genuine alarm. The young girls of the present generation are not the healthy, robust, rosy lasses their mothers and grandmothers were before them. Their complexion is pale and sallow or waxy in appearance, and they are the victims of heart palpitation, ringing noises in the head, cold hands and feet, often fainting spells, racking head aches, backaches, shortness of breath, and other distressing symptoms. All these betoken chlorosis or anæmia—or in other words a watery or impoverished condition of the blood, which is thus unable to perform its normal functions, and unless speedily enriched with those natural remedies which give richness and redness to the blood corpuscles, organic disease and an early grave is the inevitable result. Is not this prospect sufficient to cause the gravest alarm? Mothers, are your daughters suffering from any of the symptoms indicated above, or from any of the irregularities incident to a critical period in their lives? If they are, as you value their lives do not delay in procuring a remedy that will save them. Delays in such cases are not only dangerous, but positively criminal. Dr. William's Pink Pills for Pale People is a remedy compounded especially to meet such cases. These pills are not a patent medicine, but a remedy prepared with the greatest care from the formula of an experienced physician, who has used it for years in his daily practice with unvarying success. These pills are especially rich in those constituents which stimulate the blood and give it that rich, red color necessary to preserve health and life. They are in all cases a never-failing blood-builder and nerve tonic, acting upon the system in a natural manner and restoring health and strength to all who suffer from a watery or depraved condition of the blood or from any of those weaknesses peculiar to females. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price (50 cents a box) by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. 4w4d ws

Bankers' Banquet.

A very pleasant bankers' banquet may produce very unpleasant symptoms of dyspepsia, which disease is often caused by overloading the stomach with rich food, etc. For years Burdock Blood Bitters has held first place at home and abroad as a permanent and reliable cure for dyspepsia or indigestion in any form. The proprietors guarantee it to cure dyspepsia or return purchase money. 2w6d

A Sensible Man

Severe Cold Cured.

DEAR SIRS,—My mother was attacked with inflammation of the lungs which left her very weak and never free from cold, till at last she got a very severe cold and cough. She resolved to try Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, and, on so doing, found it did her more good than any other medicine she ever tried.

It Does Its Work.

Mrs. James Dix, Brock street, Kingston, Ont., says: I suffered with an inflamed throat and bad cough for seven months. Was treated by physicians without success, when six doses of Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil cured me. It's as palatable as cream. For sale by all druggists. dw

All the druggists sell that well known preparation, T. A. SLOCUM'S OXYGENIZED EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL, and no preparation for lung troubles, etc., deserves to be better spoken of. Consumptives can now take heart, for at the general office in Toronto, Canada, can be seen the highest testimonials that were ever given a similar medicine. w6w

King of Medicines

A Cure "Almost Miraculous."

"When I was 14 years of age I had a severe attack of rheumatism, and after I recovered had to go on crutches. A year later, scrofula, in the form of white swellings, appeared on various parts of my body, and for 11 years I was an invalid, being confined to my bed 6 years. In that time ten or eleven sores appeared and broke, causing me great pain and suffering. I feared I never should get well.

"Early in 1886 I went to Chicago to visit a sister, but was confined to my bed most of the time I was there. In July I read a book, 'A Day with a Circus,' in which were statements of cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was so impressed with the success of this medicine that I decided to try it. To my great gratification the sores soon decreased, and I began to feel better and in a short time I was up and out of doors. I continued to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for about a year, when, having used six bottles, I had become so fully released from the disease that I went to work for the Flint & Walling Mfg. Co., and since then on account of sickness. I believe the disease is expelled from my system, I always feel well, am in good spirits and have a good appetite. I am now 27 years of age and can walk as well as any one, except that one limb is a little shorter than the other, owing to the loss of bone, and the sores formerly on my right leg. To my friends my recovery seems almost miraculous, and I think Hood's Sarsaparilla is the king of medicines." WILLIAM A. LEHR, 9 N. Railroad St., Kendallville, Ind.

CHARACTER IN EYES.

THEY REVEAL THE DISPOSITION AND CAPACITY OF MAN.

Types of Optical Organs Seen in Every Day Life—In Their Size and Shape is Concealed a Wealth of Information

As the astronomer, sweeping the heavens with his telescope, ever discovers new starry worlds and fresh fields for his investigation, so the reader of character, pursuing his favorite study among the millions of his fellow-men, constantly finds new types and forms that suggest fresh trains of thought.

These types of eyes are taken from the book entitled "Practical and Scientific Physiognomy." They go to show that there is much more in the form of the eye, regardless of its expression, than most people have imagined, and that more traits of character are revealed by it than has been popularly supposed.

THE UNTRUTHFUL EYE (A POLITICIAN.)

Who, for instance, would have imagined that politicianbave a peculiar type of eyes, and that it is indicative of untruthfulness? This is rough on the politicians, and would seem to show that the reader of character who made this discovery had a very low opinion of them. There certainly are politicians who are truthful and honest, but undoubtedly there are also very many who are not. The type of eye shown in the cut, and which is taken from the picture of a well-known politician, is also to be found in salesmen, though not all, of course, and means downright lying and deception in order to carry out some selfish scheme, such as pushing some job through councils or selling short weight or measure in a store.

The Vicar of Wakefield must have had such a visual orb as is shown in the picture of a monogamic eye, for it will be remembered that he was a strong advocate of monogamy. A person with such an eye, in which the lines of the lids spring sharply upward and downward from the corners, loves and marries only one other person at a time.

MONOGAMIC EYE.

Regarding the fine pair of eyes shown in the next cut, a reader of character says: "The conjugal eye is shown in its highest form in those of men and women who love but once in a lifetime and who, through the fidelity of their attachment and the peculiar structure of their emotional nature, can never again experience the same degree of affection that characterized their first love. The normal conjugal character is one which may admit successively of a second or even a third or fourth attachment, but is capable of being faithful and true to each while the attachment lasts. This class of people marry a second or third time if deprived by death of their marital partners."

It thus appears that the conjugal eye must be a very common one, as, indeed, it is said to be among women. A frequent type, also, is the normal eye, which is hare represented by Prince Napoleon. In this the lower lid describes a true curve, not so highly arched as the upper lid. In all departures from the true curve there is some defect. For instance, look at the eye of Jesse James, the noted train robber and desperado, which is a good type of the abnormal eye.

THE NORMAL EYE (PRINCE NAPOLEON),

In this it will be seen that the lower lid makes an almost straight line across the eyeball, forming in connection with the upper lid, a narrow aperture. This type of eye is most often to be seen in criminals and among persons who are very secretive or avaricious. Misers generally have such eyes, and it is a common type among Arabs, Turks, Hindoos and other Oriental people.

Martin Luther was a truthful and honor-the upper eyelid, such as are shown in the picture of Charles Darwin, are common in persons noted for accurate observers, Michael Faraday, John Draper and James Watt had such eyes. This is a type not uncommon, however, among old persons, and it will not do for everybody with such eyes to imagine himself an eminent scientist.

Thank the Children.

They run on our errands, upstairs for our books or slippers, our thimbles, our new magazines; down stairs to tell the servants this thing or that; over the way to carry our messages; to the postoffice with our letters and parcels.

They leave their play or their work dozen times in a morning, to do something to oblige us who are grown-up, bigger stronger, and apt to be less absorbingly occupied than they.

No game of politics, or business in late life, will ever be so important to the man as ball and top to the little lad; and no future enjoyment of the little girl will ever be greater in degree and to kind, than her present interest in her dolls and her playhouse; yet Johnnie and Jennie fly a our bidding, arresting themselves in midcareer of the play which is their presen work, and, alas! half the time we quite overlook our own obligation to be grateful

We do not say "I thank you!" And because we do not say it, we make it difficul for our children to be as polite, as simply courteous, as otherwise they would be by nature, and the imitation which is second nature to all children. — The Household (Boston.)

The Parrot's Joke.

A good story is told of a grey African parrot. It was usually kept in the nursery along with its owner's children, and its greatest delight in life was to see the baby bathed. One day, however, it was somewhat suddenly taken from the nursery to the kitchen, where its cage had not been placed above an hour or so when the whole household was horrified by the parrot shrieking, in the most piercing tones—

"Oh, the baby! the dear baby!"

Of course, everybody rushed in hot haste to the kitchen. Here they found the parrot, wild with excitement, watching the toasting of a sucking-pig!—London Tit-Bits.

A Vagrant's Death.

Henry Fowler, a man aged 60 years, was placed in the jail Monday as a vagrant by a constable from Havelock. The old man was homeless and friendless, and a confirmed drunkard, and was suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia. He died Tuesday, and an inquest was held in the gaol by Coroner Dr. Fife. Mr. McWhinnie was foreman of the jury. A verdict of death from pneumonia, hastened by excessive drinking, was rendered. The body has been handed over to the Inspector of Anatomy, who will forward it to a medical college.

The Queen's Birthday.

Military men in Peterborough are making preparations for the reception of the Governor-General's Foot Guards on May 24th, the understanding being that the 57th Battalion will return the visit on Dominion Day, and take their annual trip this year to Ottawa. With reference to the matter the Ottawa Free Press says:—"An officer in the Governor-General's Foot Guards told the Free Press to-day that the regiment had received an invitation to go to Peterborough on the 24th of May and would accept it providing the 57th consented to come to Ottawa on Dominion Day. "We would then try and arrange for a Montreal regiment to come to the Capital" said the officer, "and then hold a big field day. It is practically settled that we will go to Peterborough if we can arrange rates with the railway company to suit us."

Charlotte Street Congregation.

The annual social gathering of the congregation of the Charlotte street Methodist church took place Thursday evening. There was an overflowing attendance of church members and adherents. A short programme was rendered, Rev. Mr. Shorey being chairman. After an instrumental solo by Mr. Schneider, Rev. Mr. Shorey made an address in which he pointed out the good position of the church as shown by the printed statement. Mr. A. L. Davis gave a vocal solo, after which refreshments were served. Then Mr. Schneider gave another instrumental selection and vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Shorey, Miss Fenerstt and Mr. Knowles, the accompaniment for the latter being played by Miss Clark, of Toronto. Master Brooks also gave an instrumental piece. A very pleasant congregational reunion was closed as half past ten, by prayer.

Our Excellent Orchestra.

The Peterborough Orchestra played at a concert in Beaverton last week, and the local papers speak very highly of the performance. The orchestra was composed of Mr. John Butcher, conductor, flute, Mr. Hayter, first violin; Mr. Jones, cornet; Mr. Carows, clarionet; Miss Butcher, piano. A Beaverton paper says: "Our Methodist friends are to be congratulated upon the choice programme of music played before the audience on Tuesday evening through their efforts. It is not often that we are privileged to have music of such a high class as that rendered by the Peterborough Orchestra, and it does credit to their taste and ability as musicians when such is attempted. The number, selection from "Il Trovatore," was a pleasing effort, as was also that from "William Tell." Careful phrasing and modulation were a distinguishing feature throughout, and the effect was fully appreciated by the audience. The various songs which interspersed the programme were also well rendered."

Mr. J. J. Dillon's Pictures by British and Continental Artists.

The sale of this important collection, which has been on exhibition at 351 George street for the past few days, was opened Tuesday at 3 o'clock by Messrs. Haggart & Kidd, and it was an interesting and important event. Pictures of this character and excellence have never before been presented in this city, and the opportunity is one that should be largely accepted. All the paintings which have been on view are of a high order of merit and include a large proportion of exceptionally fine works, and many choice and valuable examples of such masters as J. J. Barker, A. Hulk, M. Gilbert, H. Lee, G. Knight, G. B. Yarnold, H. Schafer, and others. These works are to be found in the exhibitions of the Royal Academy and other first-class exhibitions of Great Britain. The pictures possess within themselves ample inherent evidences of genuineness, are signed by the respective artists, and guaranteed by Mr. Dillon, under whose auspices they were brought to this country. To the enterprise of Messrs. Haggart & Kidd we are indebted for their visit to Peterborough, and it is hoped the result will justify their estimation of the tastes of their fellow citizens. The sale will be continued this evening.

St. Paul's Organist.

The announcement is made that Mr. J. Churchill Aldridge, organist of the Carleton St Methodist Church, Toronto, has been engaged as organist and choir-master of St. Paul's church. Since Mr. J. S. Parker's removal from town nine months ago the position has been practically vacant, though Mr. John Crane has temporarily handled the organ most satisfactorily. But it was felt that a choir-master and teacher was requisite to undertake the musical instruction of the families in the congregation and as Mr. Crane had not time to spare for these duties, he was not considered an applicant for the position. Mr. Aldridge was in town Monday and met the board of managers. His playing was satisfactory and he was engaged. Mr. Aldridge is said to be a grand choir-master and music teacher. He held a position in the Toronto Conservatory of Music. He is besides an accomplished flautist, and as such will be a valuable acquisition to the musical circles of the town. In addition to all this, he has a fourteen-year-old son, who possess a remarkably sweet and effective soprano voice. Those who heard the lad sing Monday were astonished. The boy will no doubt be considered a member of the choir. Mr. Arlidge will begin his duties next Sunday, but will not probably remove his family to town for a few weeks yet.

The School Board.

Inaugural Meeting—Mr. W. H. Wrighton Elected Chairman.

The initial meeting of the Board of Education for 1891 was held this afternoon. There were present: Messrs. Stevenson (chairman), Hamilton, Wrighton, Dumble, Ferguson, Denne, Rutherford, Corkery, Bradburn, English, Hill, Burnham and Kendry.

A NEW CHAIRMAN.

Mr. KENDRY moved, seconded by Mr. HILL, that Mr. Stevenson be chairman.

Mr. STEVENSON declined the honor. He had been chairman of the Board for 21 years and continuously a member of the Board for the past 37 years. He did not have time to attend to the duties of the position and wished to be relieved. He moved, seconded by Mr. English, that Mr. Wrighton be chairman. The motion was carried unanimously.

Mr. WRIGHTON on taking the chair made a few remarks expressing his thanks for the honor and his determination to fill the office to the best of his ability.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

Messrs. Kendry, Denne, Hamilton, Hill and Burnham were appointed a committee to strike standing committees. They reported as follows:

FINANCE.—Messrs. Burnham, (chairman) Bradburn, Ferguson, Corkery and McKee.

SUPERVISION.—Messrs. Denne, (chairman) Boucher, Hill, Dumble and Kendry.

PROPERTY.—Messrs. English, (chairman) Stevenson, Hamilton, Rutherford and Kendry.

APPOINTMENTS.—The whole Board, Mr. Dumble chairman.

THANKS TO THE CHAIRMAN.

Moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that on the occasion of an election of a Chairman of the Board of School Trustees, this Board regrets that Mr. Jas. Stevenson has declared his intention of no longer occupying the position of Chairman. The Board acknowledges the long and faithful services rendered to the town by Mr. Stevenson in his official capacity as Chairman of the Board. He has always been cautious and fair as a presiding officer, agreeable and pains-taking in his intercourse with the teaching staff, and with the many people with whom he was officially brought in contact. This Board now thanks Mr. Stevenson for his past services, and hopes he may long continue as a member to give his wise and prudent services to advance the educational interests of the town.—Carried. The Board then adjourned.

FAREWELL TO MR. MEYER.

A Company of Friends Feast at the Oriental

And Say Good-Bye to the Late Manager of the Edison Co.—The Town Regrets to Lose Him—And Mr. Meyer Regrets to Leave the Banner Town of the Province.

A farewell supper to Mr. Julius Meyer, the retiring manager of the Edison Company in Peterborough, took place at the Oriental hotel Tuesday evening, and though hurriedly gotten up was attended by some of the most representative men of the town. As a supper it was a great success. Wit and wisdom were showered from the lips of those who spoke, and hearty applause and laughter were frequent. The sentiment of the assembly was unanimously one of admiration for Mr. Meyer, who received unstinted praise for the pluck and perseverance he had shown in carrying on the building operations entrusted to his management. He has accomplished the almost unprecedented feat of laying immense and solid stone foundations and commencing a brick superstructure in the dead of a Canadian winter, overcoming every obstacle and pressing steadily onward in a most business-like manner. His energy is indicative of the enterprise and progress of the firm he represents, and as the representative of the Edison company as well as in his individual capacity his removal from town is greatly regretted. The people of Peterborough realize that the Edison works is of great importance to the town and take an active interest in its movements. Personally Mr. Meyer made many friends in town, the expressions of the speakers implying that as a man of business and a social friend he was equally commendable. All regretted the loss of so pushing and enterprising a man as Mr. Meyer has shown himself to be, though pleased to see that his merits were appreciated and he had been promoted to a larger field of labor, where his abilities and ambition would have wider play.

The farewell supper took place at the Oriental hotel. Covers were laid for about twenty-five guests. Mr. McIntyre fully sustained the reputation of the Oriental for the fine table. Oysters were served with all the usual condiments.

Mayor James Stevenson occupied the chair, the guest of the evening, Mr. Meyers, being on his right, and Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., on his left.

After the repast was ended, "The Queen" was first proposed and honoured, after which, the hour being late, a number of customary toasts were omitted, and the chairman came directly to the toast of the evening, "Our Guest," taking occasion to refer to the Edison Company's works, their extent and prospects, and the deep interest felt in their welfare by the townspeople.

Mr. D. W. DUMBLE and Mr. STRATTON supplemented a few remarks in a happy strain.

Mr. MEYER said it was almost overwhelming in the short time he had been in the town to see so many warm friends gather at the short notice they had received to bid him farewell. He thanked them from the bottom of his heart, and extended the hand of friendship to them. Unfortunately, in his profession, a man was liable to be tossed about and frequently to change his location, and, in this instance, he regretted that such was the case. He had found Peterborough a first-rate town and her people the most hospitable and friendly he had ever met. Mr. Meyer referred to the anticipated social occasion when the floor of the new building would be waxed, and throb to the measured tread of dainty feet tripping merrily over it. He would be sure to come back for the "house-warming." Mr. Meyer interlarded a few pleasantries, and took occasion to urge the importance of the Trent Valley Canal to the people of this district and province. It was the enterprise and pluck of the inhabitants that built up a town, and in the Trent Valley Canal the people here had something worth pushing for. Peterborough also badly need a system of sewerage. He mentioned these things not in a spirit of fault-finding, but because he was friendly to Peterborough. He was sorry to have to leave Peterborough so suddenly, and asked those present to convey his regards to those who had been so kind to him in the home and in business, whom he would not have time to see. He thanked them heartily for the honor, and sat down amidst prolonged applause.

Mr. A. V. R. YOUNG, American Consul, followed in a neat speech, after which

Mr. MARTIN, who succeeds Mr. Meyer in the superintendency of the Edison work, was toasted, and, like his late chief, expressed his delight with Peterborough and the pleasant surprise he experienced in finding it a large and progressive and most hospitable town. He congratulated Mr. Meyer on his promotion, but felt regret at losing such a good companion. Mr. Martin felt himself to be already a citizen of Peterborough, and would always take a warm and active interest in the town.

Mr. JAS. KENDRY added a few remarks, and a toast was proposed by Mr. Young to the "Brooks Manufacturing Co.," coupling with it the name of Mr. J. W. Taylor. This gentleman referred to his own business relations with the town. He intended to make the Carbon Works a success, and in that respect felt himself to be a Canadian, because his interests were now fixed here.

Mr. W. H. Moore, Mr. E. H. D. Hall, Mr. W. H. Meldrum, President of the Board of Trade, and Mr. Brandrette, of the G.T.R., also spoke briefly.

Mr. CAHILL then proposed our "Banking Institutions," to which Mr. F. J. Lewis, of the Bank of Montreal, and Mr. J. L. Gower, of the Bank of Toronto, replied.

The press and the ladies were toasted, Mr. L. M. Hayes replying to the latter, after which the Mayor was honored. "The Mercantile and Manufacturing Interests" was proposed by Mr. Hall. To this toast Mr. George Stevenson, secretary of the Lock Manufacturing Company; Messrs. H. Phelan, M. T. Ostrom and F. Foote, merchants, responded. Mr. Phelan made his debut as a reciter, his rendition of a "Wreck on Lake St. Peter" being warmly appreciated.

Before the gathering dispersed Mr. Meyer added a few final words. He referred to the valuable help he had received from his clever and industrious assistants. He took all the kind words which had been spoken of him as applying mostly to the Edison Company, and he wished to say that where the Edison Company settled it settled for good and brought its capital and enterprise to bear. He hoped Peterborough would become the Pittsburg or Chicago of Canada, and concluded by proposing three rousing cheers for Peterborough.

Councillor H. C. Winch also came in for remembrance, and the proceedings were terminated by the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

Mr. Meyer shook hands warmly with those present before leaving. He takes the train this evening for Milwaukee, where, as was stated in the EXAMINER Tuesday, he has been promoted to the management of a large electrical business.

Elocution and Song.

Concert in the George Street Methodist Church.

The Ladies Aid Society of the George Street Methodist Church gave an entertainment Monday night which, whatever may be said of the financial result, it cannot be questioned was a most pleasing concert. In addition to the local talent, the services of Miss Bertha Harper, a talented elocutionist of Toronto, were secured and lent freshness and strength to the programme. Dr. Fife was chairman. The following programme was rendered:

1. Organ Solo.....Mr. Seward.
2. { a "Lost".....
   { b Wild Zingarella.....Miss Bertha Harper.
3. Vocal Solo.....Consolation
   Mrs. Daly.
4. Domestic Mutual Improvement.....Miss Harper
5. Vocal Solo.....Miss Brandrette
6. "Kit".....Miss Bertha Harper
7. Vocal solo.....Trust in the Lord"
   Mrs. Seward.
8. "Her Name".....Miss Bertha Harper
9. "Auntie Dolefal's Visit".....Miss Bertha Harper

God Save the Queen.....Organ

The local performers, it is needless to say, acquitted themselves well. The solos by Mrs. Daly, Mrs. Seward and Miss Brandrette, were charming selections, and Mr. Seward handled the organ in brilliant style. But chief interest centered in petite Miss Harper, whose recitations won the unqualified admiration of the audience. In light and heavy pieces alike, Miss Harper displayed undoubted elocutionary ability, and established her claim to rank amongst the most prominent Canadian reciters of the day. Her versatility was shown in the wide range of subjects treated, her Scotch recitations being particularly good. The entertainment on the whole was, as an entertainment, highly successful.

When Emergencies Arise.

It is well when the clothing takes fire for the victim to stand perfectly still; this requires presence of mind. Motion fans the flame, so that it burns more rapidly. The victim may roll himself or herself on the floor and roll over and over. A woollen blanket or shawl, or a piece of carpet, may be wrapped tightly around the person; if these articles are wet, so much the better. No time should be lost, particularly if the clothing is of cotton. There are, however, other forms of danger where it is fatal to stand still. Promptness and decisive action, speed and celerity, are most necessary in many cases to save life. The unfortunate mortal, be it man or woman, who finds himself or herself the victim of brain and nerve troubles, must in every case, if they value life, act quickly and without hesitation. Indecision and carelessness will only add fuel to the flame of disease, and cause it to burn with increased vehemence. That worn out tired feeling is a sure indication that your system is out of gear. That nervousness points to rocks and shoals which must be avoided, or you are wrecked physically. That feeling of sleeplessness, that state of languidness and inertia, that condition of melancholy and morbidness must be got rid of, or your lease of life will not be of much value to yourself or family. In such emergencies it is well to know the great rock of safety and have it within reach. Thousands have already crossed the rocks and shoals of treacherous diseases through the use of Paine's Celery Compound. The discovery of this great remedy has done more to increase the happiness of mankind than any other discovery ever made. It has snatched from the grave and raised from beds of sickness thousands, who now delight to speak of it and recommend it to others.

The Desire to be Young.

Dean Swift said: "No wise man ever wished to be younger;" but many men, and many women, too, have wished to live longer. It is a common desire, and a great many persons might prolong their lives if they would at all times give the proper attention to the little ailments that beset them. When they suffer from dyspepsia, indigestion, sick-headache, pains, or loss of appetite, they should take Burdock's Pills, the most popular and effective remedy of the age. w6d

SUSPENDED SENTENCE.

An Asphodel Farmer under a Cloud.

Partially Accused of Stating Two School Houses—The Jury Says Suspicion Points Strongly to Him.

In response to a requisition from the ratepayers, deputy-reeve and councillors of Asphodel, Dr. Bell, Coroner, proceeded to Westwood Tuesday to hold an enquiry into the burning of the school house in school section No. 12, Asphodel, on Dec. 17th, 1890, and also of the building used as a temporary school house after the first fire, on the 1st of Jan. last. The town hall was crowded, and deep interest was manifested in the proceedings.

It seems that Mr. Charles Fox, a resident of the township, is popularly accused of having fired the buildings. After the school house was burned on Dec. 17th, a house close at hand was fitted up and used temporarily. This too was destroyed on New Year's day. It was evidently the work of an incendiary, and suspicion pointed at Mr. Fox, because he was known to be opposed to the present teacher, Miss Kennedy, and was said to have threatened that if she was re-appointed she would never teach there. Mr. Fox, however, denies the implication, and, in a letter published in the EXAMINER last week, publicly refuted the charges and challenged proof.

A large number of witnesses were examined at the inquest, but, though many strong statements were circulated previously, the witnesses were very non-committal under oath. The chief link connecting Fox with the crime was a mit found in the yard the day after the fire, which was identified as Fox's, and which was practically admitted to be his. However, there was no convicting evidence.

The chief witnesses were Mr. James Lancaster, brother-in-law of Fox, and a school trustee; Messrs. Timothy Whitred and John Lobb. The first named stated that the fire was undoubtedly incendiary, as the floor was SATURATED WITH COAL OIL.

Regarding the mit, he said he received a note from Fox with the mate of the mit found on the ground (to prove property) and asking him to send both to Mr. Birdsall. The note added that "they would like to condemn him but there was not proof enough," or words to that effect.

Timothy Whitred testified to picking up a mit smelling strongly of coal oil, in the yard shortly after the fire. Mr. Lancaster remarked that he thought it was "C. F.'s" mit and took it home. Mr. John Lobb gave evidence concerning tracks in the snow near the building, which were traced towards Charles Fox's house. Mr. Lobb said that at one place there were marks of a man having fallen backward, in climbing over a fence, the marks in the snow showing one hand to have worn a mit, and the other none. There was also marks as of a vessel, like a coal oil can, or small pail, having been placed for a moment in the snow. Mr. Lobb thought any marks made during the day or night previous would have been covered by the light snow fall. Mr. Lobb also heard Mr. Lancaster's boys say, "whoever knit our mits knit that one." This statement is given point from the fact that Fox is a brother-in-law of Mr. Lancaster and it is claimed Mrs. Lancaster did all the knitting. Mr. Lobb said further he accompanied Mr. Lancaster to his house when he took the mit along. Mr. Lancaster's daughter took it and said "Ha, ha, look here, ma," and then hid it under her arm. When Mrs. Lancaster saw it she said "My God, burn it. Poor fellow." Mr. Lobb supposed she referred to Chas. Fox.

Other irrelevant evidence was offered by Sampson, Comego, George, Thomas and Mary Lancaster, Fardell, James and George Bathgate, Mrs. Keenealey, Michael Lynch, Geo. Johnston, Mrs. Thos. Lynch, Chas. Leitch and Michael Garvey.

THE VERDICT.

After all the evidence was in the jury returned this verdict:—

That the original school house in section No. 12, Asphodel, was burned on Dec. 12th, 1890, but whether by accident or intentionally, the Jury is unable to decide. That the temporary school house fitted up to replace the above, was burned on the morning of Jan. 1st, 1891, and that the evidence points strongly to Chas. Fox being guilty of having set fire to said building.

A Peterborough Boy.

A handsomely printed brochure, entitled "Fairhaven, Illustrated," has been received. It is published at Fairhaven, Washington Territory, and contains biographical notices of the leading business men of the city. Among these is a sketch of Mr. Fred. Hughes, real estate broker and loans, and son of Mr. J. L. Hughes, town. Accompanying the sketch is a picture of Mr. Hughes elaborate offices, which, if they are an index, indicate a business of very large proportions. Mr. Hughes is evidently a solid, successful and leading citizen of his new home. The many friends of himself and his family in town will unite in congratulating him and wishing him increased and continuous success.

The Business Tax Humbug.

A correspondent sends us a letter with the above heading, but it is so violent and personal that it can't be used. He says that a man willingly pays taxes for value received, and that is, he says, the reason why nobody ever grumbles at the price of hawley bros.' teas. They are the best value in quality and price in the country.

Dicky's Face was Raw

Suffering Instant Relief and Speedy Cure in One Month by Cuticura.

When our boy was six weeks old he had a rash on his cheek. It spread on both cheeks and chin. His face was raw. I doctored with various remedies, but it got no better. Finally a neighbor and friend told me to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I used them faithfully, and in one week the boy looked better. In one month he was entirely cured, and now he is three years old and no signs of it returning. I would say CUTICURA WORKS WONDERS on bad humors. I had to tie his hands down so that he could not scratch his face. I cannot speak too highly of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I recommend CUTICURA wherever I can. I would be glad to have any one call and talk to them of the good it has done my boy.

THE ELECTION CAMPAIGN.

SIR JOHN'S VISIT TO TORONTO POSTPONED.

Foster, Thompson, C. H. Tupper and Others to Speak—How Affairs Look in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia—Conventions Being Called in Many Counties—General News.

Sir John Macdonald gave a dinner party at Ottawa last night.

The candidates for Lanark will probably be B. Rosamond (Con.) and D. G. MacDonald (Lib.).

Peter Mitchell of The Montreal Herald will again be a candidate in Northumberland, N.B.

Hon. L. P. Pelletier gives up his seat in Hon. Mr. Mercier's Government and will be a candidate for the Commons in his old constituency of Bellechasse.

Hon. Mr. Mercier has delayed his trip to Europe until after the elections. He has recalled his colleagues, Hons. Charles Langelier and Robidoux, from New York and organization is being looked after with all possible despatch.

It is expected that J. C. Rykert will be opposed at the Lincoln convention by either Mayor Goodman of St. Catharines, S. Neelon or Dr. Clark, while ex-Mayor McIntyre, Dr. Downey or Henry A. King may be the Reform nominee.

Farmer John Lays, ex-M.L.A., is spoken of as a likely Reform candidate for the Commons in West Ontario. His big farm down there will give him a strong pull with the farmers, and if he would accept the nomination he can probably get it.

With the exception of three constituencies, Algoma, Caribeo and Gaspe, polling will be simultaneous throughout Canada. In the three districts mentioned the returning-officer is authorized to fix the dates of nomination, polling to take place not earlier than 15 days or later than 30 days after nomination.

Laurier En Route for Toronto.

MONTREAL, Feb. 4.—Hon. Wilfrid Laurier left for Toronto by the C.P.R. at 9.45. He arrived in Montreal this morning and spent a busy day conferring with the Liberal leaders here. He stated in an interview that the work of organization was well under way and that advices from different parts of the country were encouraging. He will return to Montreal shortly and will make his headquarters at the St. Lawrence Hall.

In England.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Despite the full cablegrams published to-day, the morning papers are curiously silent on the Canadian elections. Some evening journals have made slight references to them. The Star regards Sir John Macdonald as bent on dishing the Liberals, and compares the present reciprocity proposals to the English Tories offering Ireland Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule Bill.

New Brunswick.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Feb. 4.—D. McLeod Vince, who opposed F. W. Hale, Liberal candidate, at last election and was defeated was renominated to-day by Conservatives of Carleton County. The Hon. G. E. Foster will be opposed in King's county by Col. Domville. G. G. King will be the Liberal candidate in Queen's county.

The Conservative convention will be held at Albert to-morrow.

Gossip From the Capital.

OTTAWA, Feb. 4.—W. C. Edwards, ex-M.P., will not be a candidate.

Dr. Montague, M.P., of Haldimand, is the latest arrival here.

Carleton county promises to be rich in candidates. Already there are four in the field. The last list is Mr. George Dickinson, M.P., Mr. Craig of North Gower, ex-warden of the county, Mr. F. Powell and Mr. Taylor McVeity. The latter being seen said: "Yes, I am a candidate as an independent Conservative of Equal Rights proclivities and Orange principles."

The Equal Rights Association have decided nothing as yet. A meeting of the committee will be held on Friday night.

The rumor that Mr. C. H. Mackintosh, M.P., would not again be a candidate for the city is discredited in well-informed circles. Ald. Cox in conversation to-day said: "Certainly Mackintosh will be one of the candidates."

Among the various statements respecting Russell county is one that in the event of Mr. W. C. Edwards not running a strong effort will be made to induce Mr. Robillard to resign his seat in the Provincial House and accept the nomination for the Federal House.

The names of ex-Ald. Levi Crannell, ex-Mayor Frank McDougall and Mr. N. A. Belcourt were mentioned as those likely to be submitted for nomination in the Liberal interest for the city.

Dr. Valade was talked of a good deal today as one of the French-Canadian candidates whose name will be submitted to the Conservative caucus.

The Workingmen's Liberal-Conservative Association will meet to-morrow to elect officers and organize for the campaign.

Mr. F. Furcell, M.P., Glengarry, arrived in town to-day. He says he will run again in Glengarry.

Mr. G. L. Dickinson, M.P., will run again in Carleton.

Mr. R. G. Vallee, M.P. for Portneuf, P.Q., is in town. He may possibly again contest this county in the interest of the Conservative party.

Mr. Peter White, M.P., Renfrew, arrived in town to-day on departmental business. When asked regarding the statement that he would not run again in Renfrew, Mr. White replied: "All I can say at present is that I am in the hands of my friends."

Mr. F. Routhier of Vankleek Hill, ex-M.P., has been chosen as candidate by the Conservative convention of the county of Prescott. The Liberal party has not chosen a candidate yet. Mr. Proulx of Plantagenet is already in the field as a Liberal, but is not accepted by the party, who would like to have either Mr. Belcourt of Ottawa or Mr. Cloran of Montreal.

Another Cave-In.

WILKESBARRE, Feb. 4.—A cave-in occurred this afternoon in No. 3 slope at grand tunnel opposite the river from Nanticoke and three men were drowned.

Fire at Hepworth.

HEPWORTH, Feb. 3.—About 4 o'clock this afternoon the Hermann House was discovered to be on fire. The villagers turned out and subdued the flames. Loss comparatively light. The fire is supposed to have originated from the kitchen stove.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

THE RELIGIOUS DISABILITY BILL HOISTED.

Gladstone Delivers a Stirring Address and Says He Knows No Obstacle to Prevent Any Person Being Chancellor of the Exchequer — The British War Office.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Gladstone moved the second reading of the bill to remove religious disability, and said: "When we undertook by this bill to remove from the statutes an injustice and an anomaly which are a discredit to us—(cheers)—we hoped it would be necessary to spend only a few minutes in introducing the bill. Now that we needed to trespass at greater length upon Parliament there were mutterings and murmurings. As Chancellor of the Exchequer in 1868 I pleaded for the opening of the most difficult offices to which the most objection was taken. It is seriously doubtful now whether Roman Catholics are illegally disabled from holding the offices of Viceroy of Ireland and Lord Chancellor of England. The Catholic Relief Act did not impose in so many words disability to hold these offices. It provided that no Catholic should be entitled to hold them otherwise than as now legally entitled. What," Mr. Gladstone asked, "is the Catholic's legal position? Before the act of 1829 every subject was entitled personably to hold any crown office, but Catholics were debarred by the Test Act." Mr. Gladstone added that he and a number of good lawyers, including the Chief Justice, were not aware that there was any disability except the Ttest Act, which was repealed in 1863. It was contested whether the repeal effectually qualified Catholics. Parliament when it repealed the Test Act had no specific intention to open these offices, and it was, therefore, his duty not to be deterred from prosecuting this bill, the object of which was simply to remove an anomaly, which was supposed to exclude, and perhaps did exclude, certain of the Queen's subjects from holding certain offices. If the bill was read a second time he proposed to move that it be passed through the committee pro forma, reserving that substantial committee be taken after the report of the bill from that committee.

Does not Affect Succession to the Crown.

The bill, Mr. Gladstone said further, did not affect the succession of the crown because the crown was not open to competition. The Home Secretary, he added, is himself a Catholic and he stood as near the sovereign as the Chancellor of the Exchequer and nearer than the Viceroy of Ireland. Yet nobody disputed his right to hold his office and he (Gladstone) knew of no obstacle against a Jew, Mohammedan, Hindoo or non-religious person being Chancellor of the Exchequer.

William Henry Smith asked why Mr. Gladstone's speech was made now instead of during the many years he had held office?

Mr. Gladstone retorted that he had delivered similar speeches in 1867.

Mr. Smith replied that Mr. Gladstone then was in Opposition, and that moreover in 1881 Mr. Gladstone, in answering a question on the same subject, said that the Government did not intend to advocate the abolition of all the remaining religious checks such as prevented the Chancellor or sovereign being Catholics. Catholics did not demand the bill.

Mr. Smith opposed the bill because it applied to two persons only and moved that it be read for the second time six months hence.

After further debate Mr. Gladstone's motion for the second reading of the bill now was rejected 256 to 223.

In the division Secretary Mathews and Sir William Vernon Harcourt abstained from voting. Three Conservatives and nine Unionists, including Mr. Chamberlain and Sir Henry James, supported the bill. The Irish members, including Parnell, voted solidly with Gladstone.

The War Office Criticised.

There was a sharp debate on the subject of the new magazine rifle, and allegations were made amounting almost to a charge of corruption in the War Office. The debate was not of a partisan character. Hon. E. Majoribanks (Liberal), from the Scotch side of Berwick, began the attack with a motion that a committee be appointed to examine the magazine rifle and report upon the reasons for its adoption.

This was not strong enough to suit Mr. Hanbury (Conservative) from Preston, who in plain language condemned the way in which the adoption of the new rifle had been secured. Of 13 patents connected with the arm in question, one official held 10 in his own name. What was needed was not an isolated inquiry as to how the rifle came to be adopted, but a thorough reform in the methods of the War Office. It was undesirable, he thought, to go into a mere detail of military administration and thereby weaken the full responsibility of the officials who recommended the rifle.

Mr. Hanbury, therefore, moved as an amendment that a committee be appointed to investigate the War Office and recommend any reforms that might seem desirable.

After a sharp debate, in which the War Office was severely criticized, the amendment was carried by a vote of 108 to 74.

Fiscal Relations With the Colonies.

Rt. Hon. James Lowther, Conservative, asked whether the Government proposed to take immediate measures to promote the formation of preferential fiscal relations between Great Britain and the British colonies.

Baron Henry de Worms of the Colonial Office replied that the question was receiving careful consideration, and the Government recognized its urgency.

Mr. Nolan, member of parliament for Galway, moved to extend the operation of the relief works act to Galway and Mayo.

Mr. Madden, the Irish Solicitor-General, promised that Mr. Balfour would make a statement on this subject before Easter.

The House agreed to the motion of Mr. Beach to appoint a select committee to enquire and report as to the necessity of legislation restricting the hours of labor of railway servants.

Arnauts Set Fire to the Government Buildings at Dremitza.

BELGRADE, Feb. 4.—Two thousand Arnauts in the neighborhood of Dremitza have revolted and have set fire to the Government buildings. They now threaten the town of Pristina and the officials of that place have taken refuge at Mitriocotza.

Cable Flashes.

Mr. Gladstone denies that he tried in 1885 to get rid of Parnell.

DISASTER ON THE C.P.R.

A SLEEPER TOPPLES OVER A 60-FOOT BRIDGE.

On the Lake Superior Section Near Schreiber—All of the Eleven Passengers Injured, Four Seriously—The Accident Caused by a Broken Rail.

MONTREAL, Feb. 4.—A little before noon to-day the sleeping car on the through west bound express on the Canadian Pacific was thrown from the track by a broken axle in the forward truck about 15 feet east of a trestle bridge near Schreiber on the Lake Superior section. The car ran half way across the bridge tearing up the ties and was then precipitated over the side and fell 50 or 60 feet to the ground. There were eleven passengers in the sleeping car, nearly all of whom were more or less injured but only four seriously. Some of the sleeping car passengers were fortunately in the dining car at the time and escaped injury.

The Injured.

JAMES HARSTON of Winnipeg, seriously injured about the body.

T. S. HIGGINSON, leg broken.

DR. MCLEAN, injured about body and head cut, injuries not serious.

G. W. ELLIS cut about the head, injured slightly.

LIKE RATS IN A TRAP.

Another Frightful Mine Disaster in Pennsylvania—Water from An Old Working Drowns an Entire Gang.

HAZELTON, Pa., Feb. 4.—A terrible accident whereby 17 men lost their lives occurred at Jeanesville at 11 o'clock this morning in slope No. 10, operated by J. C. Hayden & Co. This working is situated immediately under the old workings known as No. 8 and worked out some five years ago, and which were filled with water. The cause of the disaster was the drilling of a hole through the pillar, which liberated the immense body of water confined in the old workings which flooded the new workings, drowning all the men in that portion of the mine.

The news of the disaster created the wildest excitement and the mouth of the slope was in less than half an hour surrounded by hundreds of men, women and children and it was only after the terrible result was made plain that none of the entombed men were living or could possibly be reached until all the water was pumped out of the slope that the grief-stricken friends of the unfortunate men could be induced to go to their homes.

How long it will take to pump the water out is a question. Some miners say it will take four weeks before the bodies can be reached. Others say it will take twice as long.

TORONTO TOPICS.

TORONTO, Feb. 4.—At Osgoode Hall the motion for a commission to issue to Pachuca, Mexico, in the alimony suit of Netherton v. Netherton, came up before the master in chambers yesterday. The defendant wishes to show by witnesses at that town that he was never married to the plaintiff, but that she was only his mistress. The parties first began living together in Mexico when she was but 16 years of age and have since continued to live together as man and wife until a short time ago, when they separated. For some 20 years they have lived in Ontario, near Chatham, but the defendant now disputes the marriage for the first time. The learned master said that he would grant an order for a commission to issue but that the defendant would have to pay the costs incurred by the plaintiff in employing counsel to act for her there. The order is not to issue till the plaintiff writes to the British Consul and ascertains what it will cost her to employ counsel there.

A writ was also issued on behalf of William Jones against George W. Banks to recover some $1333, which it is alleged the defendant collected for, but failed to pay over to, the plaintiff. The plaintiff also claims $300 damages for wrongful detention.

The Governor-General and Lady Stanley had a busy day yesterday. In the morning Commodore Boswell and Capt. Bruce Harman called at the Queen's and welcomed them on behalf of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, whose guests they are. At noon the party lunched with Mr. A. M. Cosby at his residence in College-street.

At the second day's meeting of the Council of the Ontario College of Pharmacy President Clarke was in the chair and all the members were present.

At the opening of the session Mr. Walters reported for the committee on the president's attendance at the meeting of American boards of pharmacy, commending the action of the president. The report was adopted and the president appointed the representative of the council in the organization of the secretaries of state associations and boards of pharmacy. The council is not willing, however, that there should be reciprocity of certificates with the American boards until they bring their examinations up to the standard of the Ontario College, which is also the English standard.

Mr. G. S. Hobart of Kingston presented the report of the Infringement Committee, which consisted of the report of a detective who had been employed by the council to look up and prosecute cases of infringement of the Pharmacy Act. The committee asked authority to employ a detective by the year to examine the working of the Pharmacy Act throughout the province, to collect fees in arrears and look after the interests of the council.

Mr. Petrie read the report of the Building Committee recommending that the whole of the land in the rear of the present building be occupied by a fine brick structure, costing about $9950, with Mr. Sheard as architect.

Another project is being mooted in the East End which promises to supplement the boom given that part of the city by the proposed reclamation of Ashbridge's Bay. It is none other than the launching of a scheme for the utilization of the natural gas. Mr. A. W. Dingman and several other well-known East End property-owners are taking an interest in the matter. Already 100 shares have been subscribed towards the formation of a company to be known as the Toronto Natural Gas Company. The capital is $10,000 in shares of $10 each.

BUFFALO, Feb. 4.—The action of Edith Sessions Tupper against Ex-Superintendent of Police Morin for $10,000 damages for alleged illegal arrest in Toronto was restored to the docket to-day, at her request, her failure to put in an appearance yesterday having been due to an error of her attorney.

A BROTHER'S FATAL AIM.

Mistaken for a Deer and Shot Through the Body.

RIVER DU LOUP, Feb. 4.—On Monday as two brothers named Corboreau of Caloumet were out in the woods some 30 miles from here deer hunting, one of them shot and wounded a deer and ran to it to kill it with his knife, and as he was doing so his brother perceived the deer. Not seeing his brother, he fired his shot, which struck the brother in the abdomen, the ball entering one side, going through the body and coming out the opposite side. The wounded man managed to walk with his brother's assistance eight miles before they could reach the first house. He lived until this morning.

KILLED BY A NEEDLE.

Peculiar Death of a Young Woman Near Halifax.

HALIFAX, Feb. 4.—Sarah Cummings, aged 21 years, secured a position as domestic in a house in Victoria-road. Six months after entering the house she complained of feeling unwell. She experienced a peculiar sensation in her side which the doctors could not account for. Last night she decided to go to her home at Guyborough. This morning a telegram was received announcing the girl's death. A post mortem held revealed the fact that her death was caused by a needle entering the girl's heart. The needle (a small one), it is supposed, had been swallowed by the girl in food.

SHE WAS FROM CANADA.

A Box of Rat Poison and 57 Cents Found in Her Pocket.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Patrolman Jones of the Fourth Precinct of Jersey City found a young girl staggering and in great agony on his beat in Summit-avenue soon after midnight. She said that she had taken poison and that she was Annie Nagle, 17 years old. Officer Jones took her to the hospital, where doctors worked on the girl with a stomach pump and used antidotes, but in spite of their efforts she died before 3 o'clock. Annie lived at 652 Grand-street and worked in a pocketbook factory. She came from St. John, New Brunswick, Canada, three years ago. She worked yesterday and last evening.

A box half full of rat poison and 57 cents were found in Annie's pocket. There is talk that the suicide was no result of a love affair.

Threatened C.P.R. Strike.

MONTREAL, Feb. 4.—A big convention of C.P.R. conductors is now being held in this city. It is closed to the press, but it has been learned that the trouble has arisen from a question of wages, and Mr. Shaughnessy made an offer which was refused and he will be asked to make another offer to-morrow. The brakemen and switchmen are also dissatisfied and, it is thought, will join the conductors should a strike be ordered. This, a prominent member declared, will surely happen if the demands are not complied with.

Another Postoffice Robbed.

STITTSVILLE, Feb. 4.—Thieves stole a set of tools from a farmer in the village, and with these they succeeded in opening the door of the postoffice. The cash drawer was broken open and its contents, $50, stolen. A couple of watches and two marked coin which were in the same drawer were left untouched.

Muldoon Released.

BUFFALO, Feb. 4.—Commissioner Herscher to-day decided to hold Miller, alias Muldoon, of Toronto in $1500 bail to appear at the Utica session of the United States court. Rich, the Lewiston fisherman, was also held for trial at the same court. Muldoon's wife and children attended the trial.

ON SOAP,

IN RELATION TO THE COMPLEXION.

FROM AN ARTICLE BY

Dr. ANDREW WILSON, F.R.S.E.,

Lecturer on Physiology and Health under the "Combe Trust," Editor of "Health."

"One important caution should be given, and that is concerning the use of soaps. I would strongly advise all who care for their skin to eschew the use of common soap, which simply roughens and injures the skin, and, if you will be advised by me, I would say never buy those artificially coloured and odoriferous abominations commonly sold under the name of 'Scented' or 'Fancy Soaps' which are the frequent causes of skin eruptions. If I am prepared to recommend any one soap to you, as a satisfactory and scientifically prepared article, I would certainly advise you to buy and use 'Pears' Soap.' Not merely from personal use can I recommend this soap, but I am well content to shelter myself under the names and authority of the late Sir Erasmus Wilson, F.R.S., President of the Royal College of Surgeons; of Doctor Stevenson Macadam, or of Professors Redwood and Attfield, the eminent analytical and chemical lecturers at the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain, who testify to its entire purity. Furthermore, I believe it to be very economical, for it contains no free water, and in this respect differs from all other soaps; hence a cake of 'Pears' is really all soap and not soap and water. I know cases of irritable skin which the whole tribe of much-vaunted 'Fancy Soaps' failed to allay, but which disappeared under the use of Pears' Soap, and for the nursery and for the delicate skin of infancy no better or more soothing soap can possibly be used. There can be no doubt that in respect of the care of children, attention to the skin is specially required. If common soaps are irritating to the skin of the adult, (as they unquestionably are), they are doubly and trebly injurious to the delicate skin of the infant and young child. I can vouch that the soap I am recommending is not merely a safe but an advantageous one. It does not irritate the skin; but, while serving as a detergent and cleanser, also acts as an emollient."

Messianic Prophecy.

Whither are we Drifting?

To the 200,000 Methodists scattered abroad throughout the Dominion of Canada, greeting:

I take the liberty of addressing you on a very important matter, in which we as Methodists should feel deeply interested. Let me call your attention to a so-called new theology which is at present being taught in our Victoria University at Cobourg. This new doctrine has been fathered by Rev. Prof. Workman, P.H.D., head teacher of the Old Testament in said institution. What is this new teaching? you ask. Listen patiently for a little and I will tell you something of it, that will make your ears tingle and make your Methodist, if not Christian, blood mount to your face in righteous indignation. Last June Dr. Workman delivered a lecture before the Theological Union of the Methodist Church, on Messianic Prophecy, and was flattered by prominent men in the Bay of Quinte conference—whose names I will give further on—as being a workman that needeth not to be ashamed. When the Guelph conference, which was in session at this time, heard of the teaching that Prof. Workman was giving to the world in the name of Methodism, it at once passed a motion condemning his teaching as being dangerous and totally opposed to Scripture and to Methodist theology. The Bay of Quinte conference, hearing of the action of the Guelph brethren, passed a resolution condemning the Guelph conference for daring to meddle with matters outside of their jurisdiction, and for their audacious conduct in lifting up their voices against teaching which they, the Bay of Quinte men, had heard and could find no fault with. They further resolved and carried that, after examining by a properly appointed committee all the teaching in said lecture, they found nothing in it contrary to Scripture or the principles of Methodism.

MARK THIS WELL,

and remember this resolution of the Bay of Quinte Conference (men who heard the lecture), as you read the teaching of this so-called new theology, smuggled into our beloved Methodism, and taught in Victoria College. Prof. Workman gave this lecture in Toronto some time later, when Dr. Potts protested again: a vote of thanks being given to the lecturer for any such lecture given in the name of Methodism. Dr. E. Harper also protested against this new doctrine, and said he could not agree with Prof. Workman's teaching in one particular.

Now for the doctrine, as we had it set forth in this lecture of Prof. Workman, published in the October number of the Methodist Quarterly. He tells us on page 448 that "in the Prophetic Age" there is no prophetic passage that has an original reference to the New Testament Messiah." Hear that, ye scripture-loving Methodists. If such a statement came from a Huxley or a Bob Ingersoll we would take no notice of it, but it comes from the head master in our Victoria University, at whose feet our young ministers are being trained in the Scriptures. He tells us on the same page that "there is no passage in the Old Testament that refers, directly or predictively, to Jesus Christ." These are his own words that a wayfaring man, though a fool, cannot mistake their meaning. Now, if there is no prophecy in the Old Testament that has any original nor direct nor predictive reference to Jesus Christ, there is no prophesy that can be called a prophecy concerning him at all, and if that be true, then Christ was an imposter, his holy apostles were deluded men, for they all said that prophecy was fulfilled in Christ. He says on page 448, "there is no passage in which the future Messiah stood objectively before the writers' mind or in which the prophet made particular and personal reference to the historic Christ." So particularly and plainly did Isaiah see the person and glory of the future Messiah that it is written of him, Isaiah saw His glory and spake of Him, Jno. xii-41. He also saw his humiliation and spake of Him when he says "He is despised and rejected of men, a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief" "he was brought as a lamb to the slaughter and as sheep dumb before her shearers, so he opened not his mouth" "He was taken from prison and from judgment, &c." Isa. liii. We read on page 450 that the New Testament writers "seem not to have made a critical use of sacred Scripture" or, in other words, he might have said, they used the words "that the Scripture might be fulfill-d" without sound judgment, as to its application, for a critic means one accurate and skilled in judging. Hear him again on page 453, "The New Testament writers it may be seen, invariably, (that means every time—mark the expression) employ the language of the old testament in way of ADAPTATION OR ACCOMMODATION. That is, as Barrows says, "they use its phraseology, originally applied in a different connection (mark that reader) simply as expressing in an apt and forcible manner the thoughts which they wish to convey." Now, I would ask my readers, what confirmation of their doctrine could the New Testament writers find from a prophecy that did not originally apply or refer to the subject to which they applied it, but was merely capable of some

FANCIFUL ACCOMMODATION?

This is ascribing to these writers, or rather to the Spirit of God, a puerility of which any writer of sound judgment would be ashamed. He tells us that that beautiful prophecy of Isaiah vii, 7-14, (which Matthew quotes in Matt. I, 22 23, viz. "Now all this was done that it might be might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet saying, "Behold a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son, and they shall call his name Emmanuel." This "had no direct, much less exclusive, reference to the Messiah," pages 446 and 447. He tells us further that this prophecy was fulfilled in, and applied to a real person living at or near the time of its delivery", 446, and that "Matthew does not here assume, much less affirm that that quotation had a direct personal reference to Jesus Christ. He knew that it primarily and immediately referred to an event which was to happen in the time of Ahaz", 457. Will Prof. Workman, or any member of the Bay of Quinte Conference, who approves of this teaching, show where this prophecy of Isaiah, vii-14 was fulfilled in the time of Ahaz? We have searched for the place in vain where it tells of any, save the holy Virgin Mary, who gave birth to Emmanuel, which being interpreted, means, God with us. That glorious prophecy of Israel lxi, which Christ applied to Himself in Luke iv 18, and after reading it "He closed the book and gave it again to the minister and sat down, And the eyes of all them that were in the synagogue were fastened on him. And he began to say unto them, "This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your ears."

NOW LISTEN

to what Prof. W. would have us believe, and what he is teaching our young theologians in our university to believe. He says this prophecy refers originally to the prophet himself who writes the passage, 447. Let us see if it does. We read, "the Lord spake by the prophet." The Lord is here speaking of the Anointed One Himself, the Christ of God. He tells us a few verses before this in the 60th chapter, "I will make the place of my feet glorious. " " " I the Lord am thy Saviour and thy Redeemer, the mighty One of Jacob"; and the last words just before the passage in question reads: "I the Lord will hasten it in his time." Then come the words which Jesus said applied to himself, and which were fulfilled, "The spirit of the Lord God is upon me; because he hath anointed me (here we have the Anointed One, the Messiah Himself, speaking) to preach good tidings unto the meek, he hath sent me to bind up the broken hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound. To proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord. And in the 8 h verse He says: "For I the Lord love judgment, I hate robb ry for burnt offerings," &c. Could these prophetic words possibly refer to any one himself?

ANY SCHOOL BOY

can see. Every proposition, without exception, quoted by Christ or any of the New Testament writers, is treated in like manner as those referred to. Now, what is the secret of all this darkness? Here it is. He tells us on page 437, "When investigating the meaning of the Old Testament we may keep the New Testament closed. For the time being we are not supposed to know anything of its contents." That's it! He who is the Light of the World, the Word of God made flesh, the Great Teacher who came from God, of whom it is written:—"Never man spake like this man," and who said, "All things that I have heard of My Father I have made known unto you," and of whom it is written again, concerning his disciples, "And beginning at Moses and all the prophets—mark that—He expounded unto them in all the Scriptures the things concerning Himself," Luke xiv, 27th, verse His teaching we do without, whose "name is Wonderful, Counsellor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace." If, in studying the Old Testament, we turn our back on the Great Teacher and also on the lesser teachers, whom the Christ Himself educated and filled with His own Holy Spirit, we make an awful mistake. What think you, reader? Prof. Workman has made this mistake, and if, instead of adopting his so-called

GRAMMATICO-HISTORICAL METHOD

of interpreting the Holy Scripture, he had gone and earnestly sung from his heart that good old Methodist hymn—

"Come, Holy Ghost, for moved by thee,
The prophets wrote and spoke,
Unlock the truth, thyself the key—
Unseal the sacred book"—

he would never have given to the world such a dose of German rationalism, sugar-coated with the name of good, sound Methodist theology. If the Methodist church tolerates any longer such teaching, either in her pulpits or in her colleges, Ichabod shall be written over her doors.

Is the Race Deteriorating?

This is a question that from time to time is discussed in scientific journals, and when one sees the vast number of broken down, listless and prematurely old men found in every community, one is almost forced to admit that the race is deteriorating. The causes leading to this decline in manhood are various, and among them may be mentioned overwork, mental strain, loss of sleep, over indulgence of appetites, and excesses of various kinds, all leading to shattered nerves, loss of vital forces and premature decay, and often to insanity. To all thus suffering Dr. Williams' Pink Pills come as a boon. They build up shattered nerves, enrich the blood, stimulate the brain, and reinforce the exhausted system. All who are suffering from any of the causes that break down and enfeeble the system should use these pills, and will find them a sure and speedy restorative. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent, post paid, on receipt of price—50 cents a box—by addressing The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dyspepsia

Intense Suffering for 8 years—Restored to Perfect Health.

Few people have suffered more severely from dyspepsia than Mr. E. A. McMahon, a well known grocer of Staunton, Va. He says: "Before 1878 I was in excellent health, weighing over 200 pounds. In that year an ailment developed into acute dyspepsia, and soon I was reduced to 162 pounds, suffering burning sensations in the stomach, palpitation of the heart, nausea, and indigestion. I could not sleep, lost all heart in my work, had fits of melancholia, and for days at a time I would have welcomed death. I became morose, sullen and irritable, and for eight years life was a burden. I tried many physicians and many remedies. One day a workman employed by me suggested that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla, as it had cured his wife of dyspepsia. I did so, and before taking the whole of a bottle I began to feel like a new man. The terrible pains to which I had been subjected, ceased, the palpitation of the heart subsided, my stomach became easier, nausea disappeared, and my entire system began to tone up. With returning strength came activity of mind and body. Before the fifth bottle was taken I had regained my former weight and natural condition. I am today well and I ascribe it to taking Hood's Sarsaparilla."

SHIPS OVERLAND.

The Great Prospects Looming Up for Toronto.

TO BE AN OCEAN PORT.

Ocean Vessels to Enter Chicago Harbour in Less Than Ten Years—East and West on an Equality—The Influence This Would Have on Canada—A New Commercial Era in Sight for Ontario.

Truly hath the poet said: "Every gate is barred with gold and opens to but golden keys." To these keys even the obstructions of nature have to give way. Gold is the "Open Sesame" which is to make, in less than ten years, ocean seaports of Chicago, Collingwood and Toronto—inland cities of Ontario and the United States. Projects having this objective point in view have been discussed at varying times during the past half century; but talk is giving way to action and the prospect is bright that before this century closes the anticipations of men who have hitherto been regarded as mere dreamers will be fully realized.

HISTORY OF OVERLAND NAVIGATION.

From the time Noah's ark rested upon the mountain, and finally discharged her freight after six months' patient waiting without injury, to the present time, all peoples have had, up to a certain point, much the same ideas of naval architecture. In the world's early days boats were so fashioned that they might be carried overland, and the Nubians and Abyssinians so constructed theirs that they might be folded up for this purpose. Herodotus describes similar craft employed by the Armenians in bringing their produce to Babylonia. The Athenians were the first people of any prominence who not only constructed large ships but habitually carried them overland. Smaller vessels had been employed in this manner in various countries, but the Athenians found it necessary to construct a tramway at the head of the Bay of Corinth in order to convey their war galleys over the isthmus, and thus elude not only their enemies but the fabled monsters which beset the circuit of the Peloponnesus. "Compassing sea and land" alternately by the same means is therefore no new experiment.

In the earliest history of steam propulsion the very first engine put afloat was one mounted on a scow-built car in the city of Philadelphia in the year 1804, making its own way, like a turtle, over the paved streets one and a half miles to the Schuylkill river, then taking to the water, paddling down the stream to the Delaware and thence back to the city, making better time on land than the ordinary carriages and distancing the wind-bound water craft struggling against the tide, or floating with it, on the rivers. This, it will be noticed, was three years before Fulton's boat and twenty years before Stephenson's locomotive.

The French government is now projecting a ship canal to employ locomotives upon the tow-path, but in the meantime have discovered that they can convey their vessels overland upon the existing railways. A torpedo-boat was to be taken from Toulon to Cherbourg and the land route (850 miles by rail) was tried with complete success.

THE FIRST CANADIAN SHIP RAILWAY.

The first ship railway on this continent was projected by Canadians, and is now in progress of construction. It is to connect the navigable waters of Baie Verte with those of the Bay of Fundy. The distance between them across the land is only seventeen miles, while the distance around Nova Scotia, by way of the Cut of Canso, is about 300 miles. And when this strait is impassable, as it often is in the spring on account of the vast quantities of ice which are lodged in it, the distance then around Breton Island and Nova Scotia is nearly 700 miles. On account of these conditions attempts have been made for over 100 years to connect the waters by this short route across the land. The cost, however, of connecting them by a canal proved to be so great that all projects of this kind were abandoned. It remained for a civil engineer H. G. C. Ketchum, to propose a ship railway for the conveyance of vessels with their cargoes bodily across this isthmus, and in 1882, ninety-nine years after a canal was first projected, the Chignecto Marine Transport Railway company was incorporated by special act of the Canadian parliament. Two thousand men are now employed upon the work. By reference to the usual maps the immense economy of the route will be apparent.

Routes of the three proposed ship canals—Across the Michigan Peninsula, the Ontario Peninsula and via Lake Nipissing. If the Michigan route is adopted, ships will go to Europe via New York, which would be considerably longer than via Toronto.

THE PRESENT PROPOSAL.

Whether the proposed ship railway is to be on Canadian soil, to connect Lake Ontario with Georgian Bay or over the lower Michigan peninsula to connect Lake Erie with the waters of Lake Michigan opposite Chicago, depends upon the vigor and enterprise of the promoters. Both projects are under discussion. Speaking of the first, a writer in the Chicago Times says: "Collingwood is about 450 miles east from Chicago and about the same distance from Liverpool as from New York. This would be a direct cut from Chicago to tide water, via the Straits of Mackinac, and it would avoid the devious channels of the St. Clair river and the treacherous shallows of Lake St. Clair, but it would be almost exclusively through Canadian waters, and would avoid all of our lake ports east of Chicago. It would be a very nice scheme for little Collingwood and not a bad one for Toronto."

Either of the two methods would make Chicago a seaport, and it is gratifying to know that the Canadian route, via Collingword and Toronto, finds most favor even with the experts of Chicago. Said Mr. William J. Hoyt, one of Chicago's financial kings, and one of the chief promoters of the Hurontario ship railways, during his recent visit to Toronto, when speaking of the project: "The idea in building the railway from Collingwood to Toronto is to bring ocean vessels to Chicago by the route which will entail the least expense. Now, if we build from Lake Michigan to Erie we would be building 100 miles of road more than is necessary the other way, and for what object? Simply to have the railway in United States territory. I don't think the capitalists of the United States are going to expend millions of dollars for any such object. We treat the matter upon a purely business basis, and look for the greatest return for our money invested. English capitalists have millions of dollars invested in the United States, because they find that the money invested in our country yields a greater return than that placed in their own. We will have the same object in view in Canada, and for that reason, if for no other, would build the railway from the Georgian bay in preference to all other proposed routes. At the meeting of gentlemen who propose taking stock in the movement there will be several English and German financial houses represented, and it is expected that their interest in the matter will be quite as heavy as that of Americans. It is not probable that these disinterested financiers would agree to spend the extra money necessary to build the additional 100 miles, the object being simply to create a purely American highway. I understand that a bill will be laid before the next Canadian Parliament praying for assistance to build the road from Collingwood to Toronto, and if this aid is granted I think the road will be a certainty within six years at most." Mr. Hoyt is now in New York conferring with capitalists who are interesting themselves in the project. The other day the Detroit Free Press, an eminently well posted paper, furnished this information:

(To be Continued.)

Life Versus Death.

"Life is sweet," is an old saying, and just as true as it is old. No one in his or her right senses courts death; all wish to prolong life to the utmost limit, and yet, in spite of this universal desire to live the allotted three score years and ten—and even longer—thousands upon thousands of people through carelessness and neglect, are hastening the time when they must stand face to face with the grim reaper, and make the plunge alone into "the dark valley of the shadow of death." No disease on this continent claims so many victims as consumption, and reliable statistics prove that fully two-thirds of the deaths occuring from consumption had their origin in catarrh. Nothing but negligence caused this last disease to develop into consumption, and the person who neglects to promptly and persistently treat catarrh until all traces are eradicated, is simply hastening the coming of death. Even should catarrh not develop into consumption, it nevertheless shortens life, as every breath the patient inhales passes over poisonous secretions and thus affects the whole system. For the cure of catarrh no remedy ever discovered equals Nasal Balm, which is recognized from the Atlantic to the Pacific as the only certain cure for this disease. It removes the secretions from the nostrils, stops the poisonous droppings into the throat and lungs, and makes the user feel that a new lease of life has been given him. This great catarrh remedy is on sale with all dealers, or will be sent on receipt of price—50cts. for small and $1.00 for large size bottles—by addressing Fulford & Co. Brockville, Ont.

Everybody Likes It.

Familiar Family Friends.

As a general renovating tonic and purifying family medicine useful at all times, but especially so in the spring, Burdock Blood Bitters is unequalled.

RALLY!

Meeting of the Liberals of West Peterborough will be held in the law offices of Messrs. STRATTON & HALL, on Thursday Evening, Feb. 5th,

at 8 o'clock p.m. for the purpose of consultation and preparation for the imminent Dominion election contest which has been sprung on the country with unscrupulous suddenness.

Nominations, February 26th; Polling, March 5th.

A large attendance is particularly requested.

TO-NIGHT'S RALLY OF REFORMERS.

It is confidently expected that there will be a large attendance of the Reformers of Peterborough at the meeting to-night in Messrs. Stratton & Hall's law offices, Hunter street. Eight o'clock is the hour mentioned, and it is important that as many Liberals as can, by any possibility, be present, should be on hand early. Everybody knows the necessity of prompt action. Important matters will need to be fully discussed, so that the Reformers of West Peterborough will face the coming contest with the best possible organization and plan of campaign. This meeting is held with reference to the mass meeting of Liberals to be held in the opera house on Feb. 11th, and the more largely attended it is, and the more work there is done, the more successful will be the mass meeting, and the greater will be the prospects of success in the coming contest, which will be fought out on the part of Reformers in this riding, as throughout the country, with all the vigour and ardour that animate a party with a good cause, and with the good of the people at heart. Let there be a large attendance to-night at Messrs. Stratton and Hall's office, Hunter street.

Abuse Doesn't Affect Her.

Mrs. Farley, who, not long ago, was nearly murdered by her husband, was yesterday again maltreated, this time by her daughter and her husband. "Jimmy" Farley is in the hospital, but the periodical constantes occur with undiminished regularity in the household. Yesterday they were drinking and Mrs. Farley was found lying bleeding on the snow outside the house by passers-by. She is around again to-day, however, ready for another debauch.

The Best Value.

My stock is complete in all lines of groceries, fine wines and liquors. When you are in want of any fine wine for sickness remember you will get it pure, as I am the ONLY direct importer of fine liquors in Peterborough. I have the only customs bonded warehouse in town. ALEX. ELLIOTT, George street, Peterborough. d

The Cold Dip.

Mr. Thos. Telford observes:— Yesterday morning at sunrise the thermometer stood at 10° below zero, at 9 o'clock 8° below, at noon 5° below, at 4 o'clock 3° below, at sundown 6° below, and at 9 p. m., 15° below, and this morning at 4° above zero, with seemingly a heavy snow storm. This is one more of our sudden changes.

To Keep Her Cake and Eat It.

A lady in the North Ward accidentally found a way to "keep her cake and eat it," too. She had cooked a fine fig cake for a church feed, intending to take it to the church herself. When the time came she found it too stormy to go out and decided to stay at home and eat her cake herself. When she went later to her pantry she made a discovery of a sad want, and the storm did not prevent her going down town that same night to get a supply of hawley bros'. tea.

Off for the Antipodes.

Mr. Jas. Dolan has disposed of his interest in the billiard parlours, with which he has been connected, to Mr. Frank Fairen. Mr. Dolan contemplates making a visit to Australia—but it looks more like a stay, for he is breaking every business bond. He still has the dry goods business to dispose of, and he will make short work of that, for he is selling his goods at such tremendous reductions that the stock will be cleared off like hot cakes.

"Queen Esther" Cantata.

A full rehearsal of the Cantata was held last night. The orchestra was present and the whole piece was gone through with from beginning to end. The rehersal was most satisfactory. The leading characters were all well up in their parts, and the choruses are grand. Mr. Ketchum has made a most skilful disposition of the excellent talent at his disposal. Reserved seats are now being sold at Greatrex's drug store. This will be the great musical event of the season. Don't miss it. 1d

A Great Hunt.

Every day there is great excitement on George street. People are hunting for the place to get good bargains in General Groceries, Wines and Liquors, and in the majority of cases manage to drop on the right spot—Stapleton & Evoms, who have a large and fine assortment of General and Fancy Groceries, Wines and Liquors. Another shipment of Dow's celebrated Ale in bottle and wood, just arrived. Call and give them a trial and satisfy yourselves that it is the right house to deal with. All orders by telephone promptly attended to. dw

Peterborough Protestant Home.

The committee of management of the P. P. Home acknowledge with thanks the following donations for January:—A friend, basket of clothing; A friend, roast of beef, sugar and oranges; A friend, quarter mutton; Mr. Stephen Payne, bag of apples; Mr. R. Fair, clothing and coverlet; Mr. H. S. Griffin, $1 00; Mr. Aldridge, beef; Mrs. Ullyott, milk; Mrs. Winch, Turkey; St. Paul's Church, basket of cakes; Mrs. Hazlitt, raspberry vinegar and black currant preserves; Miss Roger, black currant preserves; Y. M. C. A., bread and butter and cakes; Miss Roger, jelly.

Prof. Dorenwend to be in Town.

Prof. Dorenwend, the friend of the bald, is to make a limited visit here. He carries a complete stock of Hair Goods, and calls special attention to his new styles in ladies' bangs, crimpons, wigs, switches, gent's wigs, toupees, &c. Prof. D's goods are becoming to be actual things of necessity to the average person. Few can boast of having a superabundance of hair, but many complain of having too little. Prof. D's goods fill the vacancy, and make it possible for everybody to have a presentable head of hair. There is a chance now for all to be assured of Prof D's claims—that his goods not only add to appearance, but to comfort and health as well. Proof is convincing. He stay is rather short, but it is as much time as he can spare, as he has other places to go to—So don't miss it at Phelan's Hotel, Peterborough, on Friday and Saturday, Feb'y 6th and 7th. 2w42

The Late Mrs. J. G. Galvin

It is with great regret that we learn of the death of the wife of Mr. J. G. Galvin, of Lakefield, which sad event took place last night. The deceased lady was 54 years of age, and was a daughter of Mr. Isaac Garbutt. Her death will be widely lamented in the community, where she enjoyed the high respect and warm esteem of a very large circle of friends, and more especially, in the family circle, where her faithful fulfilment of all the duties of the various relations she held, brought loving appreciation in life, and made the blank created by her death a most painful one. Her bereaved husband and relatives will have whatever earthly comfort there is in the heartfelt sympathy and condolence of the community. The funeral takes places on Friday at 2 o'clock p.m., from the family residence.

He Wants Work.

Nichols, the man who wiled away the time of his confinement in gaol by painting and decorating the corridors of the court house, is now at liberty and intends remaining in town to complete a couple of outside contracts he has received. Nicholls is a first-class painter, and can "do" anything from a high board fence to an oil painting. He has pictured in oils on canvas a couple of scenes from nature, observed during his travels on the continent. His work at the court house shows that he is a good decorative artist. The county council granted him $25 for the work. It seems strange that such a man should be in gaol, but it is the old story of an insatiable appetite for liquor. Nichols might be a rich man if he would leave liquor alone. He has been imprisoned for several months at his own request, for the purpose of overcoming his thirst. He expects to remain in town for some time and is ready to do decorative painting on public halls and in private houses.

The House Show.

An immense audience at the opera house last night was delighted with Prof. Bristol's Eques-curriculum. It is safe to say that the matinee to-day and the concluding performance to-night will be well attended. Prof. Bristol is meeting with deserved success in his tour. He is now reaping the reward of years of patient toil in training the animals to their parts. Every one loves the dumb animals, and horses in particular are liked because of their tractability and capacity for learning. It is always interesting to watch horses do tricks which apparently require almost human intelligence to perform, and it certainly seemed that some of Prof. Bristols' equines possessed extraordinary reasoning faculties. The donkey "Denver" was a most amusing and thoroughly trained little beast, and several of the horses and ponies were unusually clever. Lack of stage room handicapped the performance, but the dozen horses on the stage did their tricks in arithmetic, swinging, teetering, pole walking, etc., and were liberally applauded. The military march at the close was a grand finale. A splendid orchestra accompanies the show. The music was most enjoyable. Prof. Bristol's Eques-Curriculum travels in two special cars of his own, and street parades are given every day. He is making a highly successful tour of Canada.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

We learn that the attempt to unseat Reeve Finlay has not been dropped, but is being pushed with great energy by his opponents. Mr. J. B. Pearce has taken legal action on the ground that Mr. Finlay was one of the bondsmen of the treasurer of the municipality. One of our Councillors, Mr. W.P. Plant, has also been brought to task by Mr. P. W. Reynolds, on the ground that the former has an alleged contract with the village council. Although the prosecutor may have law on their side, yet we venture to say they have not the sympathy of the ratepayers, and a new election would return both of the above gentlemen with increased majorities.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was dispensed in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday, Jan'y 25th. Preparatory service was held on Friday, previously the pulpit being occupied by Rev. Mr. Torrance, of Peterborough.

Mr. Robert Small, son of Mr. Alex. Small, Dummer, met with a severe accident on Saturday last while delivering cord wood in the village. His leg was jammed under the entire weight of a heavy load, and he was taken home in a helpless condition. We are glad to learn that he has since been improving.

A special meeting of the School Board was held in the school building on Tuesday, Jan. 27th, to consider the resignation of Mrs. Ryckman, Teacher of Moderns in our High School. Her resignation was accepted, and Miss Dellabaugh was at once engaged as her successor, having good qualifications and being highly recommended by Inspector Seath. Mrs. Ryckman has been engaged as Modern Language Teacher in London Collegiate Institute, at a salary of $1,000. This slight interruption will cause none of the classes to be neglected as Miss Dellabaugh will be on hand before the departure of her predecessor.

Little Troubles.

Little troubles are proverbially the ones that cause the most worry, annoyance and vexation. But what are sometimes considered little troubles, if left to themselves, soon magnify into grave evils, producing disastrous results. This is especially true of cold in the head. The sufferer looks upon it as a trifling annoyance that needs no treatment and will speedily pass away. This is a grave mistake. There is not a case of catarrh in existence that did not have its origin in neglected cold in the head, and the longer the trouble runs the more serious the results. Cold in the head, developing into catarrh, renders the breath foul, causes a loss of the sense of taste and smell, partial deafness, distressing headaches, constant hawking and spitting, and in many, many cases ends in consumption and death. No case may have all the symptoms indicated, but the more the sufferer has the greater the danger. It is obvious, therefore, that no case of cold in the head should be neglected for an instant, and that to do so is courting further disease—perhaps death. Nasal Balm, in the most aggravated case of cold in the head, will give instant relief, and speedily effects a cure, thus preventing the developing of catarrh. No other remedy has ever met with the success that Nasal Balm has, and this is simply because it does all its manufacturer claim for it. As a precautionary remedy a bottle of Nasal Balm should be kept in every house. Sold by all dealers.

Apsley.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

His Lordship the Bishop of Peterborough arrived here with the Rev. Father Scollard, on Friday, the 30 h day of January last, and was met by the following deputation:—Messrs. Lynch, O'Brien, Wm. Scott, Stephen Scott, Sr., Hobbins and many others who escorted them to the Roman Catholic Church in Clandon. They remained until Monday, and returning, dined with Mr. Scott, in Apsley, and proceeded in the afternoon to remain over night at Mr. R. Spencer's, Burleigh. They returned to Peterborough on Tuesday morning. His Lordship was much pleased with his visit.

No Shadow of Doubt.

No sane person doubts that what we say of B.B.B. is true. The evidence of its power and popularity is too overwhelming to question, besides it is all home testimony making it certain that B.B.B. will cure dyspepsia, biliousness, sick headache, scrofula, and all blood diseases. 2w6d

The Black Hole of Calcutta.

This celebrated prison was only 18x18 and contained 324 square feet. In the year 1756 Surajah Dowla, Nabob of Bengal, shut up in this place of confinement one hundred and forty-six persons.

This dungeon had but one small grated window, and in less than four hours many were suffocated or died from violent delirium. Eleven hours afterwards only twenty-three persons came out alive. Since that time the Black Hole of Calcutta has been synonymous with disease and death. Figuratively speaking, there are in our midst at the present time a host of men and women who are bound and confined by the chains of disease, and who suffer as keenly as did the unfortunate victims at the Calcutta dungeon. They are crying out as loudly and as earnestly for liberty and release as did the prisoners of Surajah Dowla in their delirium. Many of these around us have been suffering for years from nervous troubles and tired weary brain, with a feeling of queasiness and complete exhaustion. They are unable to sleep at night; recuperation by sleep—nature's great restorer—is an impossibility, and they are continually tossed on the billows of fear and uncertainty.

When these dangerous signals are not heeded in time, and Paine's Celery Compound not used to invigorate and strengthen the nervous system, the consequences are really terrible to contemplate.

We generally find such victims afterwards grappling with increased torments and fatal maladies. A deep seated feeling of morbidness is induced, and we are not surprised to find paresis and insanity. Paine's Celery Compound is the only remedy that can ward off these terrible and dreaded results. This scientific Compound will surely restore to their pristine vigor the nerves and brain, the great essentials to the building up of a vigorous constitution.

An Age of Discovery.

The latter half of the 19th century will pass into history as one into which is crowded more inventions and discoveries for the benefit of mankind than in all the centuries that have preceded it. Among these discoveries none will take higher rank than those in medicine, calculated to relieve "the ills that flesh is heir to," restore vitality, and prolong life. Ladies everywhere will rejoice at the discovery of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, undoubtedly the greatest remedy for their peculiar ailments yet discovered. These pills are the result of an almost life study, and are a certain nerve tonic and blood builder, supplying the elements necessary to enrich the blood and transform pale, sallow or greenish complexions to the pink and glow of perfect health. These pills are an unfailing cure for nervous debility, palpitation of the heart, loss of appetite, headache and all the irregularities of the female system that entail so much misery and distress. Every suffering woman should give them a trial. For sale by all dealers, or will be sent, post paid, on receipt of price—50 cents a box—by addressing The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Beware of imitations.

Otonabee.

This township seems to have a most progressive spirit in the direction of stock improvement. The latest addition to the pure blood herd of Otonabee is the thoroughbred Durham bull "King Cole," (13,419) purchased by Mr. James A. Dickson from Mr. Frank Birdsall, Asphodel. "King Cole" is twelve months old, red in colour, splashed with white and was sired by "Winner," (8603). Mr. Dickson's enterprise will be, no doubt, practically appreciated by the wide-awake farmers of the township.

THE RAT IS USEFUL.

Dr. Hankin Reveals to the Public His Cure for Anthrax.

BERLIN, Feb. 4.—Dr. Hankin, the well-known English investigator who is studying the Koch method at the Hygienic Institute here, has disclosed the nature and method of manufacture of his remedy for anthrax. The remedy consists of proteid matter extracted from the spleen of the rat with the aid of 50 per cent. of glycerine, the extract being precipitated with alcohol. When used it is dissolved in water and injected under the skin.

The Plan of Campaign.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Replying to charges made against him by Mr. Balfour, Mr. O'Brien denies that he is the author of the "Plan of Campaign." Concerning its points he says the farmers remember the campaign as the instrument which, in a single winter, brought the Russels and the Salisburys to the right way of thinking about the reality of the crisis. It was, he said, an instrument which had effected the enfranchisement of a hundred thousand leaseholders and cut off a million pounds a year from rents. It had insured compulsory reductions of judicial rents and saved tens of thousands of families from eviction. All this, said Mr. O'Brien, had been effected by it, without the loss of a life or the eviction from a campaign estate of a single peasant.

The Irish Leaders Confer.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The Times says that Mr. Parnell went to Boulogne on Monday night, conferred with Dillon and O'Brien yesterday and returned to London last night. Immediately on his arrival he drove to the Parliament buildings, where he had a conference with his supporters. Mr. Parnell has decided to address no more meetings in Ireland for the present. He also declines to go to America. Rumors of a hitch in the negotiations looking to a settlement of differences have emanated from both factions of the Irish party.

Mr. McCarthy has issued a summons for a meeting of his followers Feb. 12 and he hopes a satisfactory settlement with the Parnellites will then be ready for ratification.

It is probable Mr. Gladstone will make a public statement regarding the assurances given by him to the Irish leaders with reference to Home Rule.

Hartington Talks to the Liberals.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—At a banquet of the Liberal Union Club this evening Lord Hartington said that it was strange that the ambition for political success could make men so honorable in all other relations of life so indifferent to moral character in their political allies as their British opponents appeared to be. Englishmen, he said, would never consent to have an Irish parliament deal with the land question. The situation now was an illustration of the saying that when rogues fall out honest men get their own.

Feeding the Destitute in Paris.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—Although the weather has moderated, the authorities of Paris continue the supply of soup, free of charge to the destitute. Great boilers, each containing from 1000 to 1200 bowls of soup are emptied several times a day at the refuge in the Champs d'Mars. The number now out of work in Paris, not including habitual dependents on charity, is estimated at seventy-five thousand.

Twelve Killed and Seventeen Injured.

JOANA, Java, Feb. 4.—The Chinese quarter has been entirely wrecked and the European quarter rendered almost uninhabitable. Twelve persons were killed and 17 injured. All the districts of west and middle Java suffered more or less, some severely.

Down With the Blood Tax.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 4.—About 2000 conscripts to-day paraded the streets of Mango, in the Province of Hainant, as a demonstration against compulsory service in the army. They sang the Marsellaise and fastened to their caps cards inscribed, "Down with the blood tax."

An Agrarian Murder.

DUBLIN, Feb. 4.—A man named Reilly and his wife, employed as caretakers on a farm at Ballyjaines, Duff, County Cavan, have been murdered. The crime is supposed to be of agrarian nature.

FREDERIC NICHOLLS, ROBERT CREAN, Auditing Committee of the Board.

The old Board of Directors were again elected, and at a subsequent meeting of the Directorate the Right Hon. Sir John A. Macdonald was re-elected president.

Sir John in reply said:—I am sure gentlemen I am exceedingly obliged for the renewal of your confidence. I do not know that I have a right to claim this laudation so kindly given me by the mover and seconder of the resolution. All that I can say is that I entered into the Company seeing the names that were before me, and knowing that I would be quite safe and happy in such companionship. Since that time, as the mover and seconder have said, the Company has had some trouble in its initiation, and if I have been in anyway of use to the Company, or if my name has been of use, I am sincerely glad. When there was a rumour of trouble I took occasion to say that I would stick to the ship to the last. It is no boast or ground of praise to me now that I should stick to the ship, because it is a prosperous ship with a favouring wind, and under good management, and therefore I like my position very much."

SINGLE TAX

Is now the question of the hour; but to those in need of Ordered or Ready-made Clothing, single profits ought to be a subject of greater importance. Yearly importing all our principal lines, we save you the profits of the wholesaler, and you have thus one single profit to pay. That profit is not a large one, and has been made still smaller, as we are determined each and every article of Winter Clothing must go, to make way for Spring Goods. Each and every department has been visited and all goods have been reduced. Don's you buy a dollar's worth of clothing until you have looked us over. Take into consideration that we are selling First-Class Goods with but a single profit, and that it is no trouble to show goods, whether you wish to buy or not.

Strike Among the Welsh Dock Laborers—Orphan Asylum Burned and Nine Children Perish in the Flames A French Railroad Tragedy

CARDIFF, Feb. 5.—A general strike has been declared here among the dock laborers. The trouble is serious and likely to result in another long struggle between capital and labor. Every tip in Cardiff is idle and the steamer pickets are guarding the entrance to all of the docks. The entire police force of Cardiff is on duty.

The Chilian Uprising.

PARIS, Feb. 5.—A despatch from Buenos Ayres says the Chilian rising was due to violence on the part of Chilian regulars. The rising occurred at Castro. The battle between the regulars and the insurgents lasted three hours. Seventeen of the former and 130 of the latter were killed. Profiting by the revolt the hostile sections of the Chilian regulars attacked one another with knives to settle an old quarrel and the insurgents around the city joined in the fighting, which lasted two days. The lyceum and hospital suffered severely. The number of persons killed is not known exactly, but is large. Aucud is now quiet. The harbor is patrolled by volunteers, who are partisans of the president, assisted by 2000 sailors. The revolt appears to be reduced to the principal harbors. Beaten on all sides, the insurgents intended to retreat to the mountains, assume the defensive and march towards Santiago, which is now denuded of troops. Friends advise the president to convoke Congress, which would settle the quarrel.

Reckless Shooting.

BARCELONA, Feb. 5.—The revolutionary spirit smouldering throughout Spain nearly burst into a flame in this city to-day. There was a peaceful demonstration, in which a parade and speeches were the main features, going on in favor of the Republican leader, Don Nicholas Salmeron, Alfonso Zorillas, co-workers in the propagation of Republican ideas, and naturally the crowds which were attracted by the procession became somewhat excited. This attitude of the populace seems to have alarmed the officer in charge of the troop of mounted gendarmes, who seems to have lost his head and to have ordered the gendarmes to charge the crowd. They did so at a gallop, firing their pistols and carbines right and left. The result was that several persons were more or less dangerously wounded. The action of the gendarmes deeply enraged the people, but the crowd seemed to have dispersed without any open act of retaliation.

As in the Good Old Times.

LEICESTER, Feb. 5.—In receiving a deputation of Irishmen yesterday Mr. McCarthy, in addition to informing that he had summoned a meeting of his followers for Feb. 21, said the Irish Parliamentary party would probably hear on that date the terms which had been made between the two sections that the party might meet again as in the good old times and, standing together like friends and brothers, fight against the common enemy.

Parnell's Terms.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The Standard says it is rumored Mr. McCarthy will read at the meeting of his followers next Thursday a letter from Mr Gladstone giving his views on the present situation, and that afterwards a meeting of the whole Irish party will be held, at which Mr. Parnell will explain the conditions on which he withdraws from the chairmanship and his future intentions.

PARIS, Feb. 5.—A despatch to The Temps from London says Gladstone has given the required assurances justifying Parnell in retiring from the leadership of his section of the Irish Parliamentary party. Dillon, the correspondent adds, will replace Mr. McCarthy as leader of the McCarthyite section and will be selected as leader of the reunited party.

Carlist Riots in Spain

MADRID, Feb. 5.—Despatches report rioting in a number of towns this morning. A Liberal Carlist riot occurred at Logrono. At Haro the Carlist club was wrecked. There was serious rioting at Santo Domingo and Calzada, where many persons were injured.

Imperial Parliament.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—Mr. Morley gave notice in the House of Commons to-day of a motion to censure the Irish executive for its action in the Tipperary prosecution, such action being calculated to bring the law into contempt and bring a violation of the rights of citizens.

A Soldier Obeys Orders.

BERLIN, Feb. 5.—Count Von Waldersee, the retiring chief of the general staff, took formal leave of the staff attaches to-day. In a speech, in which he showed deep emotion, he said: "The Emperor has ordered me elsewhere, a soldier obeys orders without asking reasons."

Disastrous Fire in Strathroy.

STRATHROY, Feb. 5.—About 4 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in a billiard room in Frank-street and spread to the cigar and tobacco store adjoining. Alleged False Imprisonment

BUFFALO, Feb. 5.—The false imprisonment suit of Edith Sessions Tupper against Martin Morin, ex-chief of police of Buffalo, came to trial before Judge Lewis and a jury in the Supreme Court circuit this afternoon. Arthur C. Wade, for the prosecution, detailed the circumstances of Mrs. Tupper's arrest in Toronto and Superintendent Morin's telegraphed orders, "Hold the woman." Wade insisted that Morin was responsible for the arrest and that the Canadian authorities were simply acting under telegraphic instructions.

Mrs. Tupper was the first witness and told her story to the court substantially as she told it in the columns of a New York newspaper somemonths ago.

Dr. Doriu of New York, Mrs. Tupper's physician, was next called. He testified that she was ill in New York, troubled with insomnia, hysteria, morbid fancies and other more peculiarly feminine disturbances.

Mrs. Tupper, being recalled, testified to sleepless nights, nightmares and hysteria, also loss of employment.

On cross-examination witness said she lost a job to do eastern watering places for The Chicago Herald for $300. She admitted that she wrote the story of her experience for The New York World, but said she received no pay for it. It took her four or five days to compose it, she was so rattled.

Asleep At the Throttle.

WELLAND, Feb. 5.—Seven cars of merchandise were wrecked here last night by a rear-end collision at the Michigan Central depot, caused, it is claimed, by the driver of the second train falling asleep and allowing his train to run into the first train, which was waiting at the depot. The contents of the cars were scattered over the platform and close by. The wrecking train soon cleared the track.

A Strike May Follow.

MONTREAL, Feb. 5.—The deputation of C.P.R. train men were closeted with Mr. Van Horne, the president, until after 11 o'clock to-night. They refused to divulge the result, but it is understood Mr. Van Horne declined to entertain their proposals and a strike may ensue.

CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY.

REPORTS FROM THE VARIOUS OUTPOSTS.

A Large Batch of Returning Officers Appointed—Likely Candidates in the Various Bidings—Notes and News from a Points.

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Sir Charles Tupper, the Canadian High Commissioner, arrived here from England to-day and left for Montreal this afternoon. When interviewed on the reciprocity question Sir Charles said: "I am perfectly familiar with the grounds covered by the Governor-General of Canada in his communication to the Colonial Secretary in England. I think the proposition which it contains is of the most practicable and satisfactory character ever submitted for consideration between the two countries. It is the nearest approach to what I consider to be legitimate reciprocity that has yet been devised." Sir Charles continued: "The issue upon which the election in Canada will be fought will be reciprocity. Unrestricted reciprocity is not desired by the majority of our people. If such a thing were brought about either Canada or the United States would want to furnish the tariff prices on foreign goods. If the United States took as a standard the McKinley bill that would not suit Canada, and if Canada submitted the present tariff it would make a big smuggling highway to the States. I would like to see the trade relations between Canada and the United States placed on the broadest and most friendly basis possible and I know such a state of affairs would meet the approval of the Home Government."

In regard to the case of the Sayward, the Canadian vessel seized in Alaskan waters, Sir Charles said: "I regard it as a high compliment paid to the United States by Canada in leaving the whole matter to the Supreme Court of the United States for settlement. It shows Canada has the utmost confidence in the fair-mindedness of that body—one of the greatest judicial tribunals in the world."

FROM OTTAWA.

General Political and Personal Notes—Movements of Politicians.

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—Mr. W. C. Edwards is reconsidering his determination to retire in Russell.

Mr. Domville is out against Hon. G. E Foster for King's, N.B.

L. Z. Mallette, contractor for the Langevin block, Ottawa, will oppose Hugh McMillan, M.P., in Vaudreuil.

The elections for Algoma (in Ontario), Gaspe, Caribou and probably Chicoutimi (in Quebec), and those for British Columbia will be subsequent to the general polling. This will give the outlying districts an opportunity of making themselves solid with the Government in any case.

An effort is being made to induce Mr. Henry J. Cloran, Q.C., of Montreal, to contest Prescott in the Liberal interest.

The views of Chaudiere lumbermen on the probable effect of the Government policy of reciprocity will be looked for with interest. Mr. J. R. Booth was seen to-day He said: No doubt reciprocity would do the lumber trade good, but you know the trouble with us just now is not what we can sell lumber for but what others can sell it for. If the United States lumbermen can sell at a certain price below our own we must come to that price or do no business. It has got to be so now that we cannot compete with the southern red pine which is being placed right in all the northern and eastern markets at from $2 to $5 per thousand less than we can do it, but, of course, the $1 of duty off will help us some. With the duty off, Mr Booth went on to explain, the Chaudiere lumbermen would not fear competition with the Michigan men, but they would still find the southern red pine and negro labor a hard nut to crack.

Sheriff Murray of Pembroke will be the Liberal candidate in Pontiac.

Mr. Alonzo Wright declines to offer himself for re-election in Ottawa county.

LAURIER IN TORONTO.

The Convention Called Off — The Liberals in Good Spirits.

TORONTO, Feb. 6.—The flying visit of Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, leader of the Opposition, to this city yesterday had an exhilarating effect on the party. It is understood that Mr. Laurier confirmed the reports that the redoubtable Mercier already has his coat off Mercier recalled his colleagues from New York and will fight for all he is worth. He can't afford to lose prestige by defeat. Mr. Laurier will probably confine his own work principally to Quebec.

What about Ontario? The great Liberal convention for Feb. 18 and 19 has been called off. Sir Richard Cartwright was in favor of holding it but he was in a minority. The London Advertiser led the cry from dozens of provincial papers that a convention would give a week's start to the Tories. Mr. Laurier was also against it and it was abandoned.

But a great Liberal rally will be held next week as an antidote to the Conservative meeting to-night. One prominent Liberal said their reply to Sir John's manifesto would be so complete that the Old Man would not have a leg left to stand upon.

Mr. Laurier spent the day at the Reform Club in earnest consultation with prominent Liberal workers. "Be sure of one thing," said he, "that we are ready for the fight, and that the prospects of our party all over the country never looked more promising. But our arrangements for the campaign are practically complete, and we intend to fight to win." Having infused his following with his own enthusiasm, he left for the East again in the evening.

Lieut.-Governor Angers Resigns.
